GERMAN PLANE REPORTS ARRIVAL OVER IRELAND

MAKING EFFORT TO SET RECORD

Capt. Henke Is Attempting to Beat Late Wiley Post's Mark of 25 Hours and 45 Minutes.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Aug. 14 (Sunday.)—The German airliner Brandenburg arrived over Ireland at dawn today on its return non-stop flight from New York to Berlin.

The plane radioed it was passing over Clare, Ireland, at 4:40 a. m., middle European time (9:40 p. m. St. Louis time.)

Clare is on the west coast of Ireland, aproximately 90 miles from Berlin.

In regular messages as it crossed the Atlantic, the Brandenburg reported "all well" and said it was flying at about 4000 meters (13.120 feet) altitude.

At midnight it was approximately half way home. Two hours later it reported it was about 500 miles off the coast of Ireland.

At 4 a. m. the plane's position was approximately 175 miles from the Irish coast. It had descended to 6500 feet because of danger of ice forming on the wings.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. — Coast Guard headquarters picked up a series of "all's well" messages from the German airliner Brandenburg today as it headed out over the ocean toward rain squalls on the thirteenth trans-Atlantic flight of the summer.

The all-metal plane, homeward bound on a round trip flight between Berlin and New York, wirelessed its position at frequent intervals as it passed Cape Race, Newfoundland, and swung along the Great Circle Route.

Rain and low clouds were forecast over the ocean, but Capt. Alfred Henke said he planned to fly 2000 to 3000 feet higher than on the westward passage in an attempt to beat the record of 25 hours, 45 minutes, established by the late Wiley Post on the first leg of his around the world flight in 1933.

Clear, bright skies prevailed when 1000 spectators watched the ship with its crew of four take off at 8:02 a. m., at Floyd Bennett field.

Powered by four motors, the plane carried 2370 gallons of gasoline, 100 gallons of oil, and a supply of sandwiches, coffee and chicken broth.

According to calculations, the four airmen should arrive in Berlin somewhere between 3 and 4 a. m. St. Louis time.

Two minor mishaps in landing—a split motor cowling and a leak in the hydraulic oil feed line—were repaired before the plane took off.

COMMISSION SELLER WITHOUT SALES RATED AS UNEMPLOYED

Ruled Eligible for Jobless Compensation Payments in Connecticut.

By the Associated Press.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 13.—An automobile salesman working on straight commission who makes no sales during a week is the same as a man with no job at all, Frank R. Odlum, unemployment compensation commissioner, ruled today in deciding such an individual was entitled to unemployment compensation benefits.

Odlum ruled in favor of Roy F. Nordstrom of West Hartford, who contended he was entitled to $13.41 compensation for a week during which he earned nothing and had appealed from the State Labor Department's denial of his claim.

Paroled to Another Prison.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 13.—Gov. Walter A. Huxman granted executive clemency today to David Orr, serving to 20 years for second degree forgery, releasing him "on condition" to the Missouri State prison where he is wanted for parole violation. Orr had served five years and five months of his term.

Dredger Brings Up Gold In Quest for Sea Treasure

Recovery of $4200 Bar From British Frigate Lutine Wrecked in 1799, Raises Hope $2,500,000 May Be Salvaged.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Gold from the bottom of the sea, recovered from the 139-year-old wreck of the British frigate Lutine, raised the hopes of brokers at Lloyd's today that the salvaging of the long-lost $2,500,000 hoard may be imminent.

As a bar of gold recently taken from the ship went on display, favorable reports from dredging operations indicated that the quest for the sunken treasure, dating back to Napoleonic days, may soon be ended.

The giant dredger Karimata, working 24-hour shifts, reported changing its position slightly for a better approach to the treasure on the bottom of the sea off Terschelling, Holland, after finding a number of gold coins on Thursday.

News of the initial success came in the time-honored manner—signalled by the bell of the Lutine itself.

Brokers at Lloyds listen for that bell today as they have for nearly 100 years. Hanging in the center of the underwriting room, it tolls once for bad news. Two crisp strokes signal brighter news from the ships at sea. So, on Thursday, the traders shouted with joy when the bell rang twice and they heard that ancient gold coins had been recovered from the wreck.

The Lutine's bronze bell was recovered in 1859, at the end of a fruitless, expensive search for the frigate's hoard destined for English soldiers fighting against Napoleon. Since then it has tolled off the good and bad luck of ships, informing the brokers who make their living backing the cargo carriers of the seven oceans.

Day and night the Karimata, world's largest dredger, pans the sand that its endless chain of steel fingers tears from the bottom of the clay spit at the entrance to the Zuyder Zee. While the searchlights were playing on the "dog-watch" shift of early morning a few weeks ago, an engineer found in the screenings a bar weighing seven pounds and 10 ounces, worth $4200. Three cannon have since been dragged up. Those on the dredge say that means they are working over what is left of the stern of the vessel—and they know it was in the stern of the ship that the gold was stored.

If the Karimata does not find the prize within 18 days, another failure will be written in the book. The Karimata cannot navigate in wintry seas. It was built for work in the Karimata Strait in the Dutch East Indies, and it must sail for the other side of the world by Sept. 1.

VOLIVA LOSES FIGHT AGAINST ZION HAVING A HIGH SCHOOL

By the Associated Press.

ZION, Ill., Aug. 13.—Overriding opposition of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, citizens of Zion and Benton Townships voted for a $165,000 bond issue today to give the district its first high school.

The issue carried by the slim majority of 193 of the 3026 votes cast. The amount provided by the bond issue, in addition to a P W A grant of $135,000, will enable the district to build a school costing $300,000.

Students from Zion and Benton have been obliged in the past to attend high school at either Waukegan or Gurnee, with their tuition paid by the townships.

Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic Church and stanch in his declarations that the world is flat, waged a bitter campaign against the bond issue. He contended it would result in more taxes.

J. R. Paxton, president of the School Board, said construction of the building in Zion would start within 60 days. He said he expected it would open with an enrollment of 400 students for the fall term of 1939.

AUTO SINKS IN DIRT ROAD

Disappears in Mud After Being Left in Rain.

CRANDON, Wis., Aug. 13.—When Martin Horn's car stalled in a deep rut caused by recent heavy rains on a dirt road near here, he left it there over night.

When he came back today, the car had sunk out of sight. Men with 20-foot poles were unable to find the car.

ST. LOUIS-BOUND TRAIN WRECKED; MAN KILLED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Aug. 13.—One trainman was killed and another injured when the engine and five cars of a Detroit-St. Louis Wabash passenger train left the rails after striking an unoccupied automobile at a crossing here today. The engine turned over.

The man killed was Frank O. Donat of Peru, Ind., fireman. Engineer George F. Morris, also of Peru, suffered a head injury and burns and was taken to a hospital. His condition was said to be not serious.

None of the 150 passengers was seriously injured, but a few suffered bruises and scratches. A woman suffered a heart attack, but physicians revived her. Engineer Morris' daughter was among the passengers.

The accident occurred about a mile east of the Huntington depot, as the train slowed for its scheduled stop. Cars which left the rails were a baggage car, a combination baggage and mail, combination baggage and passenger car and two passenger coaches. The last car of the train, a parlor-diner, did not leave the rails.

Rails were ripped from the ties for nearly a city block. Railroad officials said the track could not be put in service for eight hours, but traffic was temporarily routed over other tracks.

The driver of the automobile, Steven Fuller, got out of the car when he heard the train whistle. His brother-in-law, George Gump, had been pushing the Fuller car with a truck and the two machines got to the crossing just as the train came in view. Gump backed the truck off the tracks.

The train, designated No. 1, was due to arrive in St. Louis at 10:30 p. m. A substitute train was made up at Fort Wayne, 24 miles east of Huntington, to carry passengers of the derailed train into St. Louis. This train was scheduled to arrive is St. Louis about midnight.

TROPICAL STORM REPORTED CROSSING GULF OF MEXICO

Coast Guard Cutter Sent to Keep Check on Course of Disturbance South of New Orleans.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 13.—Ships in the path of a tropical disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico were advised by the Weather Bureau today to use caution, and small craft from Pensacola, Fla., to Brownsville, Tex., were warned not to venture too far into the Gulf.

The disturbance was described as a tropical storm of small diameter with winds of probable hurricane force (75 miles an hour) over a small area, about 175 miles north or north-northeast of Progreso, Yucatan, at 2 p. m., and traveling west-northwestward at about 18 miles an hour. The center of the storm then was about 400 miles south of New Orleans.

In order to keep a close check on the storm's course, the coast guard today sent the 2000-ton cutter Saranac from Galveston, Tex., to the storm area. The Saranac carried 95 men and officers in charge of Commander L. L. Bennett.

FUGITIVES HUNTED AFTER FIGHT WITH ARKANSAS POLICE

ARMS, AMMUNITION FOUND IN MACHINE

Officers From Three States Join in Search With Bloodhounds Near Oklahoma Border.

By the Associated Press.

DEQUEEN, Ark., Aug. 13.—Two gunmen, one identified as Floyd Hamilton, southwestern desperado, were the object of a man hunt tonight in a wooded mountain area along the Arkansas-Oklahoma border 12 miles north of here.

The men fled into the woods on foot this afternoon after exchanging shots with Assistant Superintendent Cliff Atkinson of the Arkansas State Police and Deput Sheriff Leslie Dillahunty of DeQueen.

Lieut. Earl Scroggin of the State police said tonight there was no doubt one of the men was Hamilton. He said Hamilton's fingerprints were found on articles left in the automobile the two fugitives abandoned near Wilton, Ark., following an exchange of shots with officers late yesterday.

The other man was believed to be Ted Walters, Hamilton's companion in the holdup of the aBnk of Bradley, Ark., last May.

Atkinson and Dillahunty encountered the fugitives at Ladd's Bridge and opened fire on them with a machine gun, forcing them to abandon a stolen automobile. The car was riddled with bullets. In it were found two sawed-of fshotguns, a rifle and an automatic pistol with about 30 rounds of ammunition. Officers expressed the belief that the men now are not heavily armed.

Bloodhounds brought here from Ashdown by Sheriff Jim Sanderson were unable to pick up the trail. Sheriff's officers from Daingerfield, Tex., also brought a pack of hounds here for the hunt but officers decided not to release them until dalyight.

Nearly 40 officers from Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas were engaged in searching the woods and patrolling highways tonight.

$1,000,000-A-YEAR CIGARETTE TAX STUDIED FOR KANSAS CITY

Levy of 20 Cents a Carton Sought to Pay Employes' Full Salaries and Restore Services.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 13.—The city administration is studying a plan to raise approximately $1,000,000 in taxes here annually by a levy of 20 cents per cartoon on cigarettes.

The City Council will consider such a levy within the next week. City Manager H. F. McElroy said today between $600,000 and $700,000 would be needed to pay city employes their full salaries the year around and the remainder to restore six-day-a-week city services.

He said it would not be necessary to employ a corps of inspectors to enforce such an ordinance as the police, city employes, their families and friends could be relied on to ferret out violators.

ENGLISH VILLAGE CASHES IN ON TWO-FOOT SNOWFALL

Boys Sell Jars of It to Tourists Lured by Busses, to "See Snow in August."

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 13. — The little village of Wold Newton cashed in on a two-foot snowfall today.

Visitors flocked to the hamlet, near Bridlington in Yorkshire, in busses which solicited business with such signs as: "Your chance to say you've seen snow in August."

AUTO HITS POLE; MAN HURT

William Tabacnic, department store salesman, was seriously injured last night when his automobile ran off Highway 61 a mile south of the Jefferson County-St. Louis County line and struck a pole.

He was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital. He resides at 723 Syracuse avenue, University City.

LABOR BOARD OUSTS 11 OTHERS, HIRES 7

Victim of Purge Reports Reasons for Discharging Them Varied, but Were Basically Alike.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The National Labor Relations Board and one of its examiners, Hugh C. McCarthy, disagreed today over whether McCarthy had been "fired."

McCarthy, who has worked for the board during the last six months, told reporters he had been "fired." He said board officials told him the reason was that "we have only so many jobs."

Nevertheless, McCarthy insisted, that board hired seven men after dismissing 12, including himself.

Spokesmen for the board said that McCarthy could not have been "fired" because he was employed on a daily basis to do certain assignments. Such per diem employes, the spokesmen said, were re-employed for additional work as needed.

McCarthy Tells of Stopping N L R B Attorney From Badgering Witness.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 13.—Hugh C. McCarthy, National Labor Relations Board examiner, said by telephone from Washington today that he was one of 12 examiners who had been discharged in an N L R B "purge."

McCarthy said his discharge followed a complaint filed with the board by Bernard L. Alpert, N L R B attorney who represented the Meatcutters' Union in charges that the Producers' Produce Co. in Springfield refused to bargain collectively with the union and discharged two employes for union activity. Alpert, transferred Wednesday from Kansas City to San Francisco, is to arrive there tonight.

Alpert's was the second complaint filed against the examiner, McCarthy said, the first arising from an Estherville (Ia.) case, in which the Gamble-Robinson Co., fruit distributors, faced charges similar to those in the Producers' case.

In that hearing, McCarthy said, he stopped a board attorney from "badgering" a witness in a manner "shocking to one's sense of decency and fair dealing."

Another Complaint Indicated.

Claud Hawley, president of the Springfield Central Labor Union, said he thought union men had complained to the board and to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, charging that McCarthy had refused to admit "important" evidence for the union in the Producers' case.

McCarthy said "complaints varied" in discharge of other examiners, but that all were basically the same.

The evidence which he excluded was testimony concerning union activity at the Producers' plant preceding passage of the National Labor Relations Act. The examiner ruled that the purpose of the hearing was to determine whether or not the act had been violated, and that attitude of the company or employes toward union organization before the act became law could not constitute violation.

Failure of the appeal courts to uphold recent rulings of the board is partially responsible for the "purge," McCarthy said he believed.

"The board has met continuous reversals in Circuit Courts of Appeal since last March, because its rulings were not supported by evidence," McCarthy said.

"That would seem to be the natural result, if hearings are to be conducted otherwise than the Producers' hearing was conducted in Springfield.

"None of us is a mind reader, and we should not be torch bearers so long as we are in a quasi-judicial position. But the principle involved (in the National Labor Relations Act) is fundamental; the statute is sound. In time, interfering conditions will be corrected, and the board will function as intended."

Lawyer Calls It Outrageous.

The complaint which caused his discharge followed an almost positive indication at the close of the hearing that McCarthy would find for the union in making his report to the board. The examiner indicated that failure of the company manager, A. L. Farnham, to sign a contract or submit it to the stockholders, after an agreement had

RED COLORING IN WATER ALONG THE PACIFIC COAST

Stretches Five Miles Long and 25 Miles Wide Affected, Sometimes Hindering Fishing.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Scientists are studying the mystery of blood-red stretches of water appearing along the Pacific Coast in the last several weeks.

Early in June off La Jolla, home of the Scripps Institute of Oceanography, the reddish condition of the water became so dense that it interfered with fishing. The affected area was estimated to be 25 to 30 miles long and five to 10 miles wide.

Similar coloring was noted May 15 off Seaside, Wash., and off Copalis Beach, north of Gray's Harbor, the day before.

W. E. Allen, assistant professor of biology at Scripps Institute, suggested the presence of vast masses of microscopic marine organisms, about which much is still to be learned, as an explanation of the phenomenon.

REPAYS $148 RELIEF TO ENTER FATHER DIVINE'S "HEAVEN"

Woman Says He Won't Let Her Into Krum Elbow Until She Pays Her Debts.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13.—Judge Thomas J. S. Waxter, Baltimore relief director, related today that a Negro woman, Mrs. Hattie Read, a former relief recipient, had repaid $148.80, the entire amount she had received on relief in 1933-34, explaining she had to pay her debts in order to enter Father Divine's Krum Elbow "Heaven."

"I want to get into heaven," Judge Waxter quoted her, "and Father Divine—he's God—he says he won't have nothing to do with me until I pay off all my debts, and I owe you some money.

"Don't thank me, paying you back all that money is the last thing I want to do, but Father Divine won't let me go to paradise until I've paid all my debts."

She insisted upon a receipt—her passport to paradise.

TRAVELING MAN ARRESTED, ACCUSED OF MAIL FRAUD

John T. Baird Denies Charge He Tried to Get $51 in Unearned Commissions.

John T. Baird, attorney and traveling salesman, was arrested yesterday and charged in a Federal warrant with using the mails to defraud the American Harvest Hat Co., 808 Washington avenue, of $51 in commissions by forwarding orders he had not received and larger orders than those actually given him. He denied the charge.

In 1930 Baird was disbarred after he had pleaded guilty of embezzling $106 from a client. He was reinstated in 1932. When he pleaded guilty of embezzlement he was sentenced to two years in prison but was paroled almost immediately to enable him to support his invalid wife and four children.

Postal inspectors said he had resided recently at 3690 Laclede avenue.

Dry Ice Leads to Fatal Auto Upset.

By the Associated Press.

WICKENBURG, Ariz., Aug. 13. —An automobile accident ascribed to dry ice resulted in the death of George Kelley, 12-year-old son of Mrs. C. W. Kelley of Kansas City, Mo., yesterday. A block of dry ice which the Kelleys were carrying to cool their car became lodged against the control pedals. While Mrs. Kelley was attempting to dislodge it the car overturned.

MAINE EX-DEPUTY BEGINS LIFE TERM

Francis M. Carroll in Same Cellblock as Paul Dwyer, Who Accused Him of Murder.

By the Associated Press.

THOMASTON, Me., Aug. 13. — Francis M. Carroll, 43-year-old ex-deputy sheriff, entered prison here today under life sentence for the murder of Dr. James G. Littlefield. He was booked as Convict No. 6907.

In the same cell-block was Paul N. Dwyer, 19, also under life sentence for murder—the same for which Carroll was convicted at South Paris last night.

For 10 days, at least, said Deputy Warden Stanley A. Macgowan there was little chance Carroll would meet Dwyer, whose accusations were the basis of the state's case against him. During that period, Macgowan said, Carroll will remain "in solitary" for the customary quarantine.

Afterward the Deputy Warden said, he probably will work on the rock pile until prison officials have determined to what kind of labor he is best suited.

Dwyer, as the State's principal witness, testified he had pleaded guilty of strangling "Doctor Jim" in Dwyer's Paris Hill home 10 months ago solely through fear Carroll would kill him.

Within "three or four minutes" after Carroll's arrival at prison, Dwyer knew of it, Macgowan said, but showed "no reaction." His only comment, since hearing news of the verdict, was that he only wanted "justice to be done," and he has made no mention of seeking an executive pardon, his only hope of freedom.

Dwyer once was the sweetheart of Carroll's 18-year-old daughter, Barbara, and to him, the State charged, the girl told of mistreatment by her father. Dwyer told Dr. Littlefield, Prosecutor Ralph M. Ingalls contended, giving Carroll the motive for the murder.

THREE NAZI CIVILIAN FLYERS HELD AFTER LANDING IN FRANCE

Forced Down in Forbidden Region Near Metz, Along the Maginot Line.

By the Associated Press.

METZ, France, Aug. 13.—Police held three German civilians who made a forced landing today in their bi-motored private plane in a field in the Maginot line area. Their plane was placed under police guard.

The three men said they were members of a Nazi civilian flying corps and had lost their way while flying to Stuttgart from Cologne.

DROWNS AS WIFE WATCHES

Davenport, attempting to swim across a 200 foot pool, became exhausted and sank in spite of the help of a friend, Elmer Minich.

INSURGENTS CAPTURE KEY TO MINING CITY IN SPAIN

FRANCO'S NORTHERN ARMY BLOCKED

Apparently Unable to Recover Positions Lost Between Lerida and Balaguer—American-Made Arms Taken, Rebels Say.

By the Associated Press.

HENDAYE, France, (At the Spanish Frontier), Aug. 13. — The southwest city of Cabeza del Buey, long considered the key to Almaden's rich mercury mines, fell to the insurgents today, but a reinforced Government army kept the door to Almaden closed with new defenses in the mountains.

Heavy fighting still raged around the nearby little town of Cabeza del Buey.

There insurgent Gen. Quiepo de Llano's forces met Gen. Jose Miaja's central armies for the first time in the war. Cabeza del Buey and its ancient plastered houses, ruined by insurgent artillery in the last two days, now were the target of Government artillerymen.

Government reinforcements arrived too late to save the town, but they established new positions dominating the Castuera-Almaden railway line just west of Cabeza del Buey.

(In Madrid a Government report said pilots of 12 Government planes had shot down four insurgent planes on the Cabeza del Buey front.)

Insurgents held the advantage, however, for they took not only Cabeza del Buey but the strategic mountains dominating it to the north.

Government troops threatened the insurgent southern flank along the railway near La Nava. Another insurgent column pounded its way up the Guadiana River valley threatening the important town of Puebla de Alcocer, the center of a web of rural roads some of which lead to Almaden.

Despite insurgent progress in the south, Generalissimo Francisco Franco's northern troops appeared unable to recover ground taken by the last two Government offensives in the hook of the Ebro River and between the cities of Lerida and Balaguer.

A series of heavy attacks along the Ebro, supported by bombing and fighting planes and heavy artillery, captured a strategic ridge just south of Gandesa last night, but by dawn the Government had recaptured it.

Figures released by the insurgents said large quantities of foreign arms, including much of American manufacture, had been captured from the Government since the war began. American-made machine guns were placed at the head of the list. A total of 630 American-made machine guns were said to have been taken, with 577 Russian-made guns ranking second.

The insurgents listed the capture of the following American-made war supplies: 17 tanks, 33 field guns, 3430 rifles and 11,700 shells.

One Plane Bombs Barcelona; Sets Small Boat Afire.

BARCELONA, Aug. 13.—A single insurgent plane raided Barcelona tonight, dropping six bombs along the waterfront and setting a small Spanish fishing boat afire. There were no casualties.

BALBO CORDIALLY RECEIVED BY HITLER AT BERCHTESGADEN

Governor of Italian Libya Visits German Dictator After Inspecting Air Force.

By the Associated Press.

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Aug. 13.—Adolpf Hitler and Marshal Italo Balbo, Governor of Italian Libya, chatted for an hour and a half today at Hitler's mountain retreat here.

Balbo, on a two-week inspection of Germany's air force, was accompanied to Berchtesgaden by high German and Italian officials. The Italian Marshal arrived in an automobile with Rudolf Hess, Minister without portfolio, who met him at Munich.

JAPANESE REPORT NIGHT AIR RAIDS IN CENTRAL CHINA

HANKOW DRIVE STILL HELD UP

Four Fires Started in Second Attack in 24 Hours on Chinese Provisional Capital.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14 (Sunday).—Japanese reported today that their planes had bombed several Central China points in moonlight raids last night.

One squadron struck at Nanchang, main Chinese air base, and was said to have damaged military warehouses, railway tracks, barracks and airplane hangars. Another raided Kian, and still others bombarded Yushan, Ningpo and Lishui.

Japanese airplanes subjected Hankow, provisional Chinese capital, to the second mass air raid within 24 hours today. The Japanese said they set fires in four places and destroyed two Chinese bombers which were attempting to take off from the Hankow airdrome.

In the Yangtze Valley the Japanese were still trying to break through Chinese lines which have held up their advance on Hankow for two weeks.

A Japanese column was reported near Juichang on the center of the Chinese line about 100 miles southeast of Hankow, the provisional Chinese capital.

From Juichang the Japanese hoped to strike overland to cut the Canton-Hankow railway south of Hankow and cut the chief artery for supplies to defend Hankow.

On the Hwangmei, or northern, wing of the Japanese offensive and on the Shahochen, or southern wing, the Japanese were checked by stubborn Chinese resistance.

Japanese reports said five Chinese bombing planes were shot down today in a battle over Lake Poyang, near the Yangtze battle lines, when Japanese planes intercepted them to prevent bombardment of Japanese positions at Kiukiang.

The Japanese also reported bombing and sinking five Chinese vessels carrying munitions on the Yangtze.

Masayuki Tani, Japanese Ambassador-at-Large in China, dispatched a note to foreign consuls saying that many Chinese vessels on the river were flying foreign flags.

He warned foreign craft to keep away from the battle zone and to keep the Japanese Navy notified of their whereabouts to prevent mistakes.

400 Civilians Lose Lives; American Mission Properties Hit.

By the Associated Press.

HANKOW, Aug. 13.—In yesterday's raid 100 Japanese planes bombed Hankow and the neighboring cities of Wuchang and Hanzang. Four hundred civilians were killed by the bombs or the fires they started. More than 300 homes, most of them of the poorer classes, were destroyed.

In Wuchang the chapel of the Order of Saint Anne Convent, operated by a mission of the American Episcopal Church, was demolished by a direct hit, while another bomb tore down a nearby residence in which three American woman missionaries, huddled under a staircase, escaped without a scratch.

Another bomb destroyed the American Seventh Day Adventists' city clinic in Wuchang, killing 12 Chinese patients. Many wounded had just been removed from the clinic when it was struck.

Bombs released from Japanese planes which dived low over the Canton-Hankow Railway terminal blew up entire sections of track and killed the majority of occupants of a nearby building in which there were several girl refugees.

13 AMERICANS, WOUNDED IN LOYALIST SPAIN, IN PARIS

Two Sent to Hospital There; Four Uninjured Comrades Accompany Party.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 13. — Two of 17 Americans who arrived yesterday in Paris from Government Spain were sent to the American hospital in Paris today for treatment of wounds. All except four of the party were wounded in action.

Those sent to the hospital gave their names as Gino Sironi, foot injury, and Thomas Diaz Callado, leg amputated, both of New York.

Other wounded were: Albert Prago, Alexander Schwartzman and Joaquin Pereira, New York; Frank Bonetti, Los Angeles; Alex McMee, Chicago, Ill.; Pietro Sisti, formerly of St. Louis; Jacob Chilingnian, Detroit; Yosua Bolo, Boston; Robert Sullivan, and Louis Zlotnick, Chicago, and Eli Potuck, Worchester, Mass.

MINTON AGAIN ASSAILS NEWSPAPER OWNERS

Tells Press Society Wealthy Publishers Wouldn't Hesitate to Make Nation Fascist.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Senator Sherman Minton (Dem.) Indiana, told newspaper men and women—at a luncheon—today that American newspapers "are big business and they give the people . . . today what they want the people to think tomorrow."

The newspapers, he said, are controlled "by wealth and selfish forces," by the money of men who, in his opinion, "would not scruple to throw this country into Fascism rather than surrender their privileges."

He accused the wire services of "monopolistic practices."

In an open forum after he delivered his prepared speech, Senator Minton said in response to questions:

"I think the majority of newspapers are on the up and up. I think the great majority of working newspaper men and women are on the up and up."

Addresses Press Society.

He addressed the American Press Society. Paul Scott Mowrer, president of the society and editor of the Chicago Daily News who introduced Minton, described the organization as "a national professional organization of working newspaper men and women . . . dedicated to the belief that theirs is an honorable profession which is in the nature of a public trust."

In the question period, several members of the society expressed disagreement with Senator Minton's criticisms, declaring that in years of newspaper work they never had been asked to write an untruth or distort a news story.

"I don't know whether these things exist," Minton said at one point, "but I have given you expert testimony and given you the names of books where you can find more."

He recalled "a little bill" he proposed last year which some newspapers denounced as an attempt to limit the freedom of the press.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association, he said, had made an "impudent and hypocritical proposal," to "censor free speech by curbing the radio," and he had "assumed that if the press had set for itself the task of cleaning up the house of radio it wouldn't mind putting its own house in order."

Recalls Era of Great Editors.

"I proposed," he said, "that it should be a crime to publish as a fact anything known to be false. In other words, it would be a crime to lie, knowing it to be a lie. . . . Then it was that I learned from the great newspaper publishers that they claimed the constitutional right to deliberately lie, and that you cannot run a newspaper without lying deliberately."

Minton recalled the "era of great editors, Greely, Dana, Bennett and Watterson," spoke of the growth of newspaper chains, naming the Hearst and Gannett chains.

Today, he said, the editorial page receives "must orders from the high command."

He said that columnists have replaced the men who once spoke out freely on the editorial page, but that columnists themselves are now edited "on the principle that the owners of the paper must decide what news shall be printed, to say nothing of opinion."

Discussing the Associated Press, he said:

"It is impossible to start a competing paper to one with an Associated Press franchise."

And of the United Press, he said: "Let one try today to establish a newspaper in competition with one of its clients and see how tight the line is held."

138TH INFANTRY GUARDSMEN LEAVE FOR CAMP CLARK

Two Militia Battalions and 4 Special Units Entrain for Nevada, Mo., to Spend 15 Days.

Two battalions and four special units of the 138th Infantry, Missouri National Guard, 40 officers and 700 men, departed last night for a 15-day encampment at Camp Clark, Nevada, Mo.

Under the direction of Col. Lawrence C. Kingsland and his staff, the troops marched from their armory, Market street and Grand boulevard, to the Spring avenue yards to board a special Missouri Pacific train at 9 o'clock. The men carried rifles and bore combat packs on their backs. The families and friends of some went along to the tracks.

For the annual encampment the St. Louisans will be joined at Nevada by the third battalion of the regiment, composed of men from Hannibal, Chillicothe, Fayette, Kirksville and Marshall.

The Producers' company attorney, Arthur M. Curtis, called McCarthy's discharge, "The most outrageous thing I've yet heard about the board."

"I was convinced at the end of the hearing that he would find against us," said Curtis, "but I felt that he was attempting to determine whether or not the law had been violated, and that he went about it in a fair and just way.

"His behavior on the bench was as much that of a judge as I have ever seen."

The producers' hearing here attracted State interest, as it placed the 650 farmer-stockholders of the Producers' Company, marketing agency for the Missouri Farmers' Association, in direct opposition to organized labor.

The company contended that it feared to submit a union contract to the stockholders, lest strong farm sentiment should refuse it, leading to "strikes and serious labor difficulties."

Examiner Found for Creamery Union in St. Louis Hearing.

McCarthy conducted a hearing in St. Louis last June on charges of unfair labor practices against the Blanton Co., 318 South Second street, makers of oleomargarine. In his report he held that the company had violated the Wagner Act during a strike a year ago, and recommended that it be ordered to recognize the C I O United Creamery Workers of America as the collective bargaining agency for production and maintenance employes.

He recommended the company be ordered to rehire nine strikers, and found for the company in stating that six former workers were not fired for union activities and need not be re-instated. The company announced it would file exceptions to McCarthy's report.

ARKANSAS PRIMARY RETURNS

Second Incumbent Congressman Falls of Renomination.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 13.—The second incumbent Arkansas Congressman was declared defeated today as official returns from Tuesday's Democratic primary showed State Senator Clyde T. Ellis the winner over Congressman Clyde A. Fuller. Tabulations gave Ellis the nomination by 109 votes. Ellis received 13,834 votes, Fuller 13,725.

Congressman W. J. Driver, dean of the State's delegation, was defeated by another State Senator, E. C. Gathings.

GERMAN WAR GAMES MAKE EUROPE UNEASY

Britain, France Alert for Move Against Czechoslovakia in Coming Maneuvers.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Germany's preparations for nationwide military maneuvers have put other European powers on the vigilant lookout to prevent anything which might lead to a swift Nazi stroke against Czechoslovakia.

Reassuring reports, however, reached European capitals from envoys in and around Germany. Germany, in a Berlin press release today, sought to allay suspicion aroused by the military exercises which are expected to reach their peak between Sept. 9 and 14. The press release, made available to all German newspapers by DNB, German official news agency, accused "interested foreign circles" of attempting "to stir up uneasiness in the European general public."

German Press Attacks.

The German press today attacked a manifesto issued by Czechoslovak army officers, terming it an "obstruction" to peaceful solution of Czechoslovakia's minorities problem. The manifesto, issued yesterday, declared there could be "no retreat" by the society of Czechoslovak army officers from the Government's stand that the integrity of the republic must remain unimpaired.

Czechoslovakia's Minister to Berlin, Voytech Mastny, conferred today with Premier Milan Hodza at Praha. The Czechoslovak population was confident that military authorities would not be caught napping in the event of a surprise German move. The Czechoslovak press refrained from devoting much attention to this, however, to avoid unnecessary alarm.

All quarters recognized that Europe faced a crucial period in the next few weeks of summer with peace possibly hinging upon Viscount Runciman's efforts to work out a solution of the Czechoslovak-German minority quarrel. The Viscount is Great Britain's unofficial mediator in the long-standing friction betweent he Praha Government and the 3,500,000 Sudeten German minority—a minority among Europe's Germanic peoples whom Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler has vowed to "protect from suffering."

General anxiety was reflected in continued heavy buying of gold in London as a security against political-financial developments. Sales today totaled £1,385,000 (about $6,748,000). The price reached 142 shillings, nine pence an ounce ($34.7774), a penny higher than yesterday's price.

Prime Minister Chamberlain who had returned on Tuesday from a vacation in Scotland remained at his official residence, No. 10 Downing Street, where he is keeping in close touch with the continental situation.

In France, Premier Edouard Daladier and other French officials were equally alert.

LAWYER TOLD TVA TO SETTLE BERRY MARBLE CLAIMS

J. L. Fly So Advised, He Says, Because Deal Involved 'Important Political Figure.'

By the Associated Press.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 13. — James Lawrence Fly, T V A general counsel, testified today he suggested conciliation of marble claims by Senator George L. Berry (Dem.), Tennessee, and his associates.

The attorney told a congressional investigation committee the Berry claims were not an "ordinary matter" because T V A officials were dealing with "an important political figure."

Members of the committee have been pressing for an explanation as to why the T V A board, over objections of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, entered into the agreement after suspicions had been voiced concerning the motives behind the purchase of leases in the T V A Norris Dam area.

Fly said he framed the conciliation agreement in such a manner that it was not binding on either party and that the conciliator had no power to make any award, finding or decision.

"I drew it up in such a way as to limit his functions and powers," Fly said.

This agreement was never consummated, as the Authority finally withdrew and filed suit to condemn the Berry holdings.

The claims were finally disallowed.

KING SIGNS LAW DIVIDING RUMANIA INTO 10 STATES

72 Districts Abolished as Administrative Units; New Governors Take Oath.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 13.—King Carol today signed a law which divides Rumania into 10 provinces, or states, replacing more than 72 districts as administrative units.

In the palace throne room, the King administered the oath to 10 men whom he appointed provincial Governors.

The provincial boundaries cut across old pre-World War borders bringing previously separated peoples together. The Government said the purpose was to bring about closer association of Rumanians of various origins.

Report on Ills of the South As Viewed by Section's Leaders

Rail Rate Differentials, Reciprocal Tariff Policy and 'Too Damned Much Politics' Blamed for Area's Troubles.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 13.—Southern leaders, commenting today on the report of the National Emergency Council as to what ails the South, variously laid its troubles to freight rate differentials, the reciprocal tariff policy and politics.

Many saw in the council's report a challenge to the South and its ability to solve its economic and social problems.

"I don't think there's a thing wrong with the South except too damn much politics," said President Edward C. Romfh of the First National Bank, Miami, Fla.

"If you stand behind a teller's cage in this bank," he said, "you get the heaves watching the wrong people get the money the Government's handing out."

Freight Rates Blamed.

Adverse freight rates were named by Edgar Watkins of Atlanta, attorney for the Southeastern Governors' Conference and former examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission, as one of the South's "greatest handicaps" along with "our low farm income."

The Memphis (Tenn.) Press Scimitar said editorially "the nation" first should "get off its (the South's) back" and lend "a helping hand."

"So helped," the editorial concluded, "the South can be trusted to help itself."

Congressman Robert Ramspeck (Dem.), Georgia, was "glad to see the South's main troubles in the open" where "we can see what's to be done." He said little could be done, however, until favorable freight rates were established.

Welfare Commissioner George H. Cate of Tennessee said he believed "the problem will be solved in the development of the natural and human resources of this largest section of the nation."

Arkansas Comment.

From Dr. C. O. Brannen of the College of Agriculture of the University of Arkansas, came the comment:

"While a national policy and national determination may not cure all economic ills of the South, serious efforts, intelligently applied, would certainly remove some of the effects of unjustified freight differentials, the tariff, soil erosion and low standards of education."

Gov. Carl E. Bailey of Arkansas, said the report of the council "is an accurate report of the conditions in the South."

He added he was in sympathy with any move toward remedying these conditions and that authorities could expect co-operation along these lines from the State of Arkansas. He criticised "those persons" trying to deny these conditions exist.

MARTIN ACCUSED OF PLOTTING TO SELL OUT U A W TO A. F. L.

Frankensteen, Expelled Vice-President, Also Says Union Head Seeks to Destroy CIO.

By the Associated Press.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 13.—Richard T. Frankensteen, expelled vice-president of the United Automobile Workers of America, said today that Homer Martin, president of the U. A. W., was plotting to destroy the CIO and that Martin planned to sell out the union membership to "the reactionary and bureaucratic American Federation of Labor."

Speaking at a meeting of local union presidents hostile to Martin, Frankensteen said Martin has conferred with the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, whom he described as a "bitter enemy of the CIO," with a view to an alliance with an independent organization of Ford Motor Co. workers.

Frankensteen also said Martin had conferred with John P. Frey, head of the Metal Trades Division of the A. F. of L., in an effort to "arrange a deal."

George Addes of Toledo, expelled secretary-treasurer of the auto union, presided at the meeting, called by himself and three expelled vice-presidents — Frankensteen, Wyndham Mortimer and Ed Hall.

TRAINS COLLIDE IN MEXICO

Two Trainmen and Two Men Walking Beside Tracks Killed.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., Aug. 13.—Two passenger trains between Laredo, Tex., and Mexico, D. F., collided head-on near Las Adjuntas and Mariscala, Queretaro State, today, killing two trainmen and two other men walking beside the tracks.

Although the trains are largely patronized by tourists, no Americans were injured. Most members of the crew were hurt and three passengers, whose names were not learned, suffered bruises. Reports to the War Department said the wreck was due to a confusion in dispatches.

ROOSEVELT TALKS OVER EASTERN POWER SITUATION

Also Sees Chairman Eccles of Reserve Board and Takes W P A Head on Week-End Cruise.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—President Roosevelt conferred today with Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson and Basil Manly, member of the Federal Power Commission, whom the President had designated previously to make a survey of the power situation in the whole eastern industrial area.

For years, War Department strategists have hoped for a stronger system of power transmission between such big industrial centers as Philadelphia and Baltimore, Newark and New York, Cleveland, Buffalo, Rochester and Detroit.

After his talk with the President, Johnson told reporters that a report on the power study would be completed sooner than he at first believed.

Roosevelt, just back from his four-week political and vacation tour, also talked over business problems with Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board and John W. Hanes, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Hanes told reporters after his visit that he had informed the President "business was looking good."

Roosevelt departed during the afternoon on a week-end cruise down the Potomac River with Harry L. Hopkins, head of the W P A.

WILLIAM GREEN CALLS FOR SOCIAL SECURITY EXTENSION

On Third Anniversary of Law, He Urges More Benefits for More Workers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, urged today that the Social Security Act be changed to extend its benefits to more workers.

"Labor was a sponsor of social security legislation," Green said in a statement on the eve of the third anniversary of the law. "Labor is pledged to see to it that the act fulfills our expectations. We want to see coverage widened. We want to see states paying out-of-work benefits promptly, with shorter waiting periods, more adequate benefits and longer benefit periods."

PAROLE REVIEW PROMISED SEWARD

J. H. Kniest Writes State Board Will Hear Convict's Plea 'Soon as Possible.'

John H. Kniest, district parole officer of the State Board of Probation and Parole, has written to the Post-Dispatch, stating that the Board will grant a hearing on the request of James Seward of St. Louis, for review of his parole application on his life sentence for murder. Seward has served 15 years, besides two years in jail, for the killing of Andrew Deck, prohibition informer, in Jefferson County in February, 1921.

"The present Parole Board will grant him (Seward) another hearing as soon as it is humanly possible to do so," Kniest said in his letter. "No action was taken on his last hearing because of the Board's desire to secure certain additional information, and now Mr. Seward must wait, along with hundreds of other inmates of the Prison and Algoa, until another hearing date can be set.

"The Parole Board is desirous of giving every inmate an equal opportunity, and Mr. Seward's case will be given every consideration."

Lieutenant Governor Frank G. Harris, chairman of the Parole Board, was asked today by a Post-Dispatch reporter as to Kniest's statement. He replied that Kniest's letter had not been authorized by the Board, but that Seward would have another hearing, in due course of his application, one of many pending before the Board. He would not predict when the case might be reached, but mentioned the fact that a hearing was given Seward by the present Board, Jan. 20.

Seward, now 56 years old, is seeking his parole, or a pardon, on the plea that he was not guilty of the killing of Deck, and that three men charged with complicity were acquitted on evidence which attacked the grounds of Seward's conviction. Speaker John G. Christy of the Missouri House of Representatives and former State Senator A. L. McCawley are interested in Seward's case.

WOMAN UNCONSCIOUS IN PARK

Poison Bottle Near; She Is Taken to City Hospital.

An unidentified woman, about 50 years old, was found unconscious near a wading pool in O'Fallon Park last night. Near her was a bottle which had contained poison. She was taken to City Hospital.

She is about five feet, 10 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds. She wore a white print dress, white shoes and octagonal, rimless glasses. A white purse lay beside her.

WIFE WHO GAVE SAWS TO PRISONER IS JAILED

Charged in Warrant With Smuggling Blades Into Cell Where Bars Were Cut.

A warrant charging Mrs. Dorothy Schroeer, wife of a prisoner in the St. Louis County Jail at Clayton, with furnishing him with implements for escape, was issued yesterday after Chief Deputy Sheriff Arnold J. Willmann reported that she had confessed smuggling six hacksaw blades to her husband.

The blades were discovered in a routine search of the cell block. They were in the cell of Robert West, held for trial on a murder charge. His cell adjoined that of Walter Schroeer, husband of Mrs. Schroeer. Schroeer is charged with first-degree robbery.

Mrs. Schroeer, who is 24 years old and lives at 3302 Vista avenue, told Willmann she threw the blades into the cell when she visited her husband Aug. 6. She said Schroeer had urged her to bring hacksaw blades for several weeks. Two bars of the cell block had been partly cut through.

The offense with which Mrs. Schroeer is charged is punishable by imprisonment from two to 10 years. Her bond was set at $2500 and her preliminary hearing will be next Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Louis L. Hicks at Clayton.

Schroeer, a former convict, was arrested June 16 after he had been identified by tattoo marks as the man who held up Beacon Inn, a tavern, at 3901 Bayless avenue, St. Louis County. A taxicab chauffeur who had been forced to accompany him, reported that on each of the four fingers of his left hand was tattooed one of the letters of the word, "Love."

CHILDREN FALL FROM WINDOWS

Granite City Baby Bruised; St. Louis Girl Suffers Skull Injury.

Pearl Sue, 9-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pelomer Wallace, is in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Granite City, for observation to determine the extent of injuries suffered yesterday afternoon when she fell from a second-floor window of her home, 2431A Illinois avenue, Granite City, to a gravel drive. Her head and shoulders were bruised. She fell, her mother said, after unlatching a window.

In a similar accident, Suzanne Kunes, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert J. Kunes, 2204A Keokuk street, suffered a skull injury yesterday and was taken to City Hospital. She, too, opened a screen in a second-floor window of her home.

WIDOW'S HOMESTEAD SAVED BY COURT ORDER

Writ Temporarily Bars Sale to Satisfy $715 Judgment Against Husband's Firm.

The homestead of Mrs. Agnes T. Brennan, a widow, was saved from execution sale yesterday by a temporary restraining order issued by Circuit Judge John W. Joynt just before the sale was to have been held by the Sheriff.

The property, at 5620 Chamberlain avenue, was to have been sold to satisfy a $715 judgment which the National Enameling and Stamping Co. had obtained against the William J. Brennan Grocery Co. Mrs. Brennan's husband was president of the grocery company. She had been held liable for the judgment because she had signed the appeal bond.

Her attorney, Randolph Mudd, told the Court the property, her home for 25 years, was worth $10,000 and asked for time for an adjustment so that she might not lose her homestead right. Judge Joynt made the restraining order returnable Aug. 23.

In her injunction suit Mrs. Brennan said she was 71 years old, and, because of serious illness, had been unable to attend to satisfaction of the judgment.

Last week she and the grocery company filed suit asking that sale of real estate at 954 Goodfellow boulevard, where the company has a store, be set aside as inequitable. The property was transferred at a Sheriff's sale June 21 to Abner Rosenblatt, 737 Heman street, University City, for $150 under a $412 judgment in favor of the St. Louis County Observer against the grocery company. Mrs. Brennan had signed the appeal bond in that case also.

The petition said the property was worth $12,000 and that the sale price was so grossly inadequate as to shock the conscience of a court of equity.

SENATE INQUIRY INTO ELECTION ABUSES IN 9 STATES TO GO ON

Chairman Calling Session Tuesday for Progress Reports on Six States.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Senate investigators will continue until the fall elections to look into charges of political abuses in nine states, Chairman Sheppard (Dem.), Texas, of the Campaign Expenditures Committee, announced today.

Sheppard said he was calling a committee session here Tuesday for "progress reports on investigations in six states—Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Tennessee. He said these and similar investigations in Indiana, Georgia and California would continue until "after the November elections."

Sheppard said that among matters he would present to the committee Tuesday were newspaper stories saying that Senator Guffey (Dem.), Pennsylvania, had sent a letter to Federal employes in Pennsylvania, asking for contributions to the Democratic State campaign fund.

TRUMAN SAYS HE'S FOR WHOLE DEMOCRATIC TICKET

Senator Speaks at Harmony Rally of Missouri Young Democratic Clubs.

By the Associated Press.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Aug. 13.—Senator Harry S. Truman, speaking at the Missouri Democratic Clubs' "harmony rally" here tonight, called for unity in the party and urged his listeners to: "Go out and preach the gospel of Democracy and liberalism."

Truman, a member of the Pendergast Kansas City Democratic faction, said "I am for the whole Democratic ticket and shall do all I can to elect it in November."

The clubs' executive committee adopted a resolution replying to recent statements by B. T. Mattingly, state Republican chairman, and Arthur Curtis, Republican national committeeman.

"They are the same reactionaries who have controlled the Republican Party in Missouri for the past generation," the resolution said. "Don't be deceived. Vote the straight Democratic ticket."

Marine Recruiting Until Friday.

The Marine Corps recruiting station in the new Federal Building will remain open until Friday to handle additional applications for enlistment, it was announced yesterday. Applicants must be single and between the ages of 18 and 30. Recruits will be sent to San Diego, Cal., for training.

FATHER, SON KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION

Eighth Fatality This Year at Same Road Junction Near Carthage, Mo.

By the Associated Press.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Aug. 13.—Charles D. Ise, president of the Coffeyville, Kan., Board of Education, and his son, Thomas, were killed today when their automobile collided with a truck six miles south of here.

The son, who was graduated from Kansas University law school last June, won the Republican nomination for State Representative from the Twenty-sixth District in the Aug. 2 primary.

The elder Ise, 58 years old, was principal of Coffeyville High School in 1912 and Montgomery County attorney from 1913-17. He was a World War veteran and first commander of Coffeyville Post No. 20, American Legion. He had been president of the Board of Education since 1926. He was a graduate of Kansas University law school and had practiced law 20 years.

L. N. Brown, 30, of Pine Lawn, St. Louis County, driver of the truck with which the Ise auto collided, suffered minor injuries.

Eight persons have been killed this year at the intersecton where the accident occurred.

MRS. OLIVER HARRIMAN LOSES LOTTERY TEST SUIT

Legality of Proposed $10,000,000 Hospital Benefit Denied in Lower Court in New Mexico.

By the Associated Press.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 13. —Mrs. Oliver Harriman, New York, lost in the lower courts today in a test of the legality of her proposed $10,000,000 benefit lottery for the Carrie Tingley Crippled Children's Hospital at Hot Springs, N. M.

District Judge Irwin Moise in effect held the Harriman lottery illegal and paved the way for a State Supreme Court test.

Judge Moise ruled in a demurrer filed by Attorney General Frank Patton in answer to a breach of contract allegation by the Harriman Institute for Social Research against the hospital board. The attorney general was upheld in his contention that the New Mexico lottery law, covering benefits, meant that 100 per cent of the proceeds from the lottery must be turned over to the charity. He argued that the Harriman lottery intended to turn over to the hospital only net proceeds, and pointed out 40 per cent of the receipts were to go as prize money, 25 per cent for expenses, and with additional fees for ticket agents.

TWO HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER IN FATAL HOTEL ROOM FIGHT

Named by Fiancee of San Francisco Victim, They Admit Part in Brawl.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13. — Manslaughter charges were filed today against two men who, police said, admitted taking part in a hotel room fight last night in which Walter Cyril Vibert, Federal Housing Administration executive, was killed.

Miss Rose Fields, of Weaverville, Cal., Vibert's fiancee; who fled from his room and later voluntarily surrendered, named three men as having participated in the fight.

Two of them—Tom White, an electrician, and Archie Andrews, unemployed—were booked on manslaughter charges. The third, Thomas Smith, a bookkeeper, was quoted by police as saying the fight started over a bottle of liquor which Vibert accused Andrews of stealing. Smith was not held.

Miss Fields was released, to be subpenaed later for an inquest. She lives at Weaverville, Cal.

East Side Curfew to Be Enforced.

Enforcement of the East Side curfew ordinance, requiring children under the age of 16 to keep off the streets after 9 p. m., unless accompanied by parents, was ordered yesterday by Chief of Police Michael O'Rourke. He said he had received complaints recently regarding late-hour disturbances caused by children.

MRS. JAMES M. GOLDING

WOMAN FINED TOTAL OF $250 ON FOUR DRIVING CHARGES

License of Miss Margaret La Blanc Suspended for Year; She Will Appeal.

Miss Margaret La Blanc, a waitress, 4535 Clayton avenue, was fined a total of $250 on charges of driving while intoxicated, careless driving, destruction of city property and failure to keep to the right by Police Judge James F. Nangle yesterday. Her driver's license was suspended for a year.

Police testified Miss La Blanc, attempting to operate an automobile July 24 on a bridle path and on the private street car right-of-way adjoining Oakland avenue, knocked over an electric crossing signal provided for equestrians near Macklind avenue, then drove on to Oakland avenue and struck another automobile. Officers testified she was intoxicated.

Miss La Blanc said she had not been drinking before the accident. She had mistaken the bridle path for a drive, she said, and was trying to get back to the street when she struck the signal. After the accident, she testified, a crowd gathered and one of the spectators gave her one or more drinks. Following her testimony Judge Nangle rebuked her attorney, telling him he was imposing on the court by presenting his case in that manner. Miss La Blanc will appeal.

MENTAL PATIENT AT ALTON KILLED BY AUTO NEAR HOSPITAL

James Alderton Struck When Out for Walk on State Highway 140.

James Alderton, 60 years old, a mental patient at the Alton State Hospital, was killed last night when struck by an automobile on Illinois Statae Highway 140, near the hospital, when out for a walk.

John L. Cooke of Bethalto, driver of the car, said that blinding headlights on automobiles coming toward him prevented him from seeing Alderton. Alderton's home was at Quincy, Ill.

HUSBAND, IN WILL, ASKS 'IDEAL MATE' TO MARRY AGAIN

Brooklyn Attorney, 42, in Testament Praises Her as a Wife.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The will of a Brooklyn husband, filed today, urged his "ideal mate" wife to marry again. "She has been such an ideal mate for me that she could continue in that capacity to another man who may be more worthy of her than I have been," he wrote.

The husband, James M. Golding, 42 years old, former assistant District Attorney, and a former commander of the Kings County American Legion, died July 31. The will was dated 1929.

FATHER OBJECTS TO PRINCE MARRYING KING ZOG'S SISTER

Deposed Egyptian Khedive Doesn't Make Public Reason for Opposing Plans of Abdul.

By the Associated Press.

CAIRO, Aug. 13. — Objections of the former Khedive, Abbas Helmi Pasha II of Egypt may prevent the marriage of his son, Prince Abdul Monheim, to Princess Myzejen, 29-year-old sister of King Zog of Albania.

Prince Abdul, 39, prospective heir to a $50,000,000 fortune, is a second cousin of King Farouk of Egypt, who has approved the match.

The former Khedive, deposed in 1914 by the British, refused to approve but his reasons have not been made public. He is traveling in Europe.

COLONEL OF RESERVES QUITS CAMP IN ROW

Col. Marshall, New York, Relieved After Clash With Regular Army Officers.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PINE CAMP, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Col. Robert P. Marshall of New York, at his own request, has been relieved of active duty in command of the 391st Field Artillery, organized reserves, after a conflict with the regular army officers at this camp over the accommodations and training provided for reserve officers. Col. Marshall left camp today, in the middle of the two-week training of his regiment.

Col. Marshall had complained that the mess, quarters and general conditions for his men were unsuitable. Particularly, he had protested that one of his captains who was ill had received inadequate medical attention.

Col. William H. Shepherd, commanding the Twenty-fifth Field Artillery, regular army, which is training the reserves here, replied that the general treatment of the reserves was of the highest order and that Col. Marshall had no cause for complaint. The question was taken to headquarters of the Second Corps Area at Governor's Island. Col. Shepherd was upheld and the request of Col. Marshall to be relieved was granted.

Though other field artillery reserve regiments from the metropolitan district of New York are here, their commanders took no part in the dispute. Any action to relieve Col. Marshall of his regimental command would be initiated at the headquarters of the field artillery group at 39 Whitehall street, New York, and be passed upon at Second Corps Area Quarters.

At Governor's Island it was said tonight that Col. Marshall in his request to be relieved made no mention of a disagreement with regular army officers at the camp.

MADDEN OFFICIALLY MADE CAMPBELL ADMINISTRATOR

Formal Entry in Probate Court; Suits Pending to Decide Heirs of Estate.

Formal entry was made yesterday in Probate Court authorizing Public Administrator Thomas R. Madden to administer the $1350 individual estate of Hazlett Kyle Campbell, who died March 27 at his home, 1508 Locust street. Probate Judge Glendy B. Arnold recently overruled motions filed by four women heirs objecting to the Public Administrator taking charge of the estate. They asked that one of them be appointed as administrator. The court held they were unsuitable to act.

Suit is pending in Circuit Court to determine who are the rightful heirs of a trust estate valued at $1,800,000 which was held for Campbell's benefit but under the provisions of the trust was to be distributed among his heirs-at-law after his death. The trust estate, in which 160 possible heirs are named, in the suit, is separate from the individual estate left by Campbell.

The Public Administrator contends that in connection with the administration of this estate the assets in the rust fund also should be surrendered to him.

FIRST OF 10 PAGEANTS TO BE GIVEN THURSDAY

Separate Playground Performances in Lieu of Annual Central Show.

The first of a series of ten pageants sponsored by the city recreation department will be given next Thursday at 8 p. m. at Buder Community Center, Hickory and Ewing streets, Robert D. Turner, superintendent of recreation, announced.

The ten performances will be a substitute for an annual pageant —usually presented at the conclusion of the public school playground season — in recent years at Municipal Opera. The large performance is abandoned in favor of the smaller pageants Turner says, to develop interest in the communities where the shows are given.

In all, more than 1000 children have been selected for parts in the shows, adopted from popular fairy stories. Action will be in pantomine while details of the story are read over a public address system. A W P A orchestra will play each night.

The complete schedule, other than for Thursday night, follows:

Friday, 4 p. m.—"The Toymaker's Dream," O'Fallon and Fairground playgrounds at O'Fallon, Florissant and Harris avenues.

Friday, 8 p. m.—"A Summer Vacation," Soulard, Madison and Pontiac playgrounds at Soulard, Seventh street and Lafayette avenue.

Monday, Aug. 22, 4 p. m.—"Jack and the Beanstalk," Mullanphy and Columbus playgrounds at Mullanphy, Tenth and Mullanphy streets.

Tuesday, Aug. 23, 8 p. m.—"Lavender Village," Sherman and Riddick playgrounds at Sherman, Kingshighway and Easton avenue.

Wednesday, Aug. 24, 2:30 p. m.—"Rip Van Winkle," Sublette, Fairmount and Adams playgrounds at Sublette, January and Southwest avenues.

Wednesday, Aug. 24, 8 p. m.—"Cinderella," Franz playground, Mitchell and Prather avenues.

Thursday, Aug. 25, 8 p.m.—"Hansel and Gretal," St. Louis, Strodtman, Yeatman and Murphy playgrounds at St. Louis, Twenty-first street and St. Louis avenue.

Friday, Aug. 26, 8 p. m.—"The Six Dancing Princesses," Cherokee, Carnegie and Lyon playgrounds at Cherokee, Thirteenth and Wyoming streets.

BRITAIN TO TAKE OVER COAL MINES IN NEXT 4 YEARS

Lords and Commons Pass Measure to Buy Royalty Rights and Nationalize Industry.

STATE TO ACQUIRE COMPLETE CONTROL

Rich Land Owners to Be Paid for Mineral Rights and Collieries Are to Be Amalgamated.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Coal royalties, assailed by labor for half a century as the major cause of the miner's troubles, are on the way out in Great Britain. In four years, Britain's hugh coal supply will be nationalized as a result of the final passage of the Government's coal bill after months of debate and compromise between the House of Commons and the House of Lords.

Bitterly as some Conservatives oppose compulsory combination of collieries in the interest of economy, they had to yield. Compulsory combinations are an element of the law.

Socialists were resolute in their opposition to the paying of huge sums to the royalty owners, but they had to yield on this just as their Conservative opponents did on the other.

The Government is to pay $330,000,000 to take the coal mines out of the hands of the 5000 land owners and estates which have inherited it and administer it for the benefit of all the people of the British Isles.

Three main purposes of the measures are:

1—Government purchase of privately owned royalties.

2—Voluntary and compulsory amalgamation of collieries.

3—Protection of consumers.

Britain's coal business has been in the doldrums since the Great War, when the export market disappeared.

Chamberlain Backing Plan.

The average number of coal miners is 739,000 and the average annual production is 750,000,000 long tons.

Thousands of coal workers went on relief before 1920 and conditions became so deplorable that they led to the disastrous General Strike in 1926.

In 1886, a group of 60 members of Parliament joined in a memorial branding of the royalty system as a "gross hindrance to the mining industry."

Pressure against the "landlord tax" on coal had increased to such an extent by 1919 that David Lloyd George set up a commission which was unanimous in recommending that coal royalties be nationalized. It was before this commission that Robert Smillie, the brilliant mine worker, appeared and challenged in debate the Duke of Northumberland, who at the time was receiving $470,000 annually in coal royalties.

The Coal Commission of 1925 indorsed the theory of "unification of royalties." Further encouragement was given to the plan by the Coal Mines Reorganization Commission of 1933. The departmental committee which followed in 1934 indorsed the same broad policy.

Court Decision on Royalties.

Coal royalties have been protected since 1568, when the famous court decision, Queen vs. Northumberland, established the rule that mines of gold and silver belong to the King, but mines of coal to the owner of the surface of the land.

Since that time, coal royalty fortunes have grown and passed along from generation to generation. Coal royalty is handled as oil royalties and dealt in as securities. To own the royalty is to own the coal.

The Church of England is one of the principal beneficiaries from coal royalties, receiving through ecclesiastical commissioners the sum of $1,850,000 from coal accounts in a recent typical year. Most of the 4000 principal royalty holders are titled gentry. In an average year the Duke of Hamilton receives $565,000; and the Marquis of Bute $546,000 in royalties.

During 1937, the Master of the Rolls, with two assistants, fixed the sum of royalty payments. The basis is 15 times the annual income, less 5 per cent for mineral rights duty and 5 per cent for the building of pithead baths.

To $332,250 for Mines.

When negotiations were joined, the royalty owners demanded $560,000,000. In final form, the Government will pay out $20,350,000 annually for 15 years. The total bill is $332,250,000, which will retire all private royalties and give the title on all of Britain's visible and undiscovered coal to the nation.

The proposed Coal Commission, which becomes the Government's supreme authority in the industry, will borrow at 3 1-3 per cent to get the huge sum with which to pay for the royalties and $50,000,000 in addition for expenses.

The Treasury has the authority to guarantee the commission's borrowings. It is expected that the annual income from coal and the sale of leases to private companies not only will amortize the loan but provide a fat surplus.

Payments will be made on the basis of valuation as of Jan. 1, 1939.

A central valuation board will divide Britain into coal regions for compensation purposes and allot the $332,250,000 pool.

Regional boards will operate under the central board to assess the valuation of each holding. Provision has been made for appeal in the event any individual thinks he has been dealt with unfairly.

On July 1, 1942, the Government will assume ownership, hand over the cash, and the great experiment will begin.

While the state will have complete control over the industry through its Coal Commission and the ultimate ownership of the coal, it will not actually engage in coal mining.

Firms to Lease From State.

Under the new act, private companies will get all of the coal out, but they will hold their leases from the state and the state will tell them how to operate in the best interests of the whole industry.

As the Government explains it, the whole idea is to give the industry every opportunity of organizing itself for efficient production and the elimination of overlapping, wasteful competition, uneconomic dumping and the further development of organized marketing through central selling schemes.

There was a bitter fight to prohibit compulsory consolidation of small companies. Many members of Parliament were pressed by owners of plants to stave off the Government's desire to get uneconomic individual operations together under one management and cut expenses.

As a result, there will be no compulsory amalgamations until 1940 and Parliament must approve in each case. When the commission proposes to force companies together it must present the case to the Board of Trade, which would present the case to Parliament. If there is approval there, the recommendations would go to the Railway & Canal Commission for execution.

While the coal industry will be the principal beneficiary if the law does what its proponents expect it to, the public will get its reward in a smooth running industry which has been crippled for 20 years.

The man who pays the bills is assured of protection by extension of the consumer provisions of existing legislation which will see that the quality holds up, that the price is held down. Public hearings are provided in every corner of the statute, where miners, royalty owners and the customer who buys so much as a sack of slack can have his day in court and his complaint reviewed by a high authority.

Throughout the long discussion over the last just passed and during the long years of coal troubles that lie behind it, British public opinion has been prepared for a drastic experiment such as this.

The majority may not know what it is—some call it Nationalism—some call it Socialism—some brand it unification. At least there is a general belief that it is an honest effort to solve a harrassing problem. There was general approval among the Conservative and Labor press of London when the bill finally went to Buckingham Palace for the signature of the King.

C I O PLANS DEMONSTRATION AGAINST CLOSING OF PLANT

Mass Protest Thursday if International Harvester Co. Shuts Down at Milwaukee Tomorow.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 13. — The scheduled shutdown of the International Harvester Co. Tractor Division Monday will result in a mass demonstration in protest, it was announced today by Stanley Kikta, educational director for the Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing Committee (C I O).

Kikt said the demonstration would be held Thursday from 1 to 4 p. m. in front of the plant.

About 2400 employes have been notified of the shutdown. The plant has a normal payroll of about 5000. Company officials said the plan to close Harvester plants until orders catch up with inventory has not been changed.

Golden Wedding Celebration.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Roberts of Henderson, Tenn., was celebrated there Aug. 5, with a party attended by the six children of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts including Mrs. Hiram West and Mrs. Charles Tharp of St. Louis. Thirteen of the 14 grandchildren were present.

$300,000 SPENT, TILLES PARK NOT OPEN

Appropriation to Maintain Place to Be Asked by City Welfare Director.

An appropriation to maintain Tilles Park, Litzsinger and Lay roads, Ladue, will be recommended to the city Board of Estimate and Apportionment by Director of Public Welfare Joseph M. Darst after the Board of Aldermen reconvenes Sept. 30, Darst said to a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday. The park was a gift to the city.

Lack of funds for maintenance has prevented the city from opening this park to public use, although development of the area has been practically completed by the WPA at a cost of nearly $300,000, Darst declared. The appropriation ordinance would meet needs for the remainder of the fiscal year, ending next April.

The fact that the WPA has not quite finished its extensive improvements, begun about two and three-quarters years ago, was another reason for delay, the director explained. He placed the time for winding up the work at a month or six weeks, but officials of the WPA, whose laborers work only limited periods, indicated that several months might be needed.

Maintenance equipment costing $5000 and a monthly payroll of $427 will be required for the park, Darst asserted. The payroll would include a keeper at $110 a month, two watchmen at $85 each, a gardener's helper at $4 a day and two laborers at $3.50 a day each.

Several special gatherings have been held at the park under permits last year and this year, including a veterans' reunion a week ago, two Boy Scout encampments and picnics of city employes and of churches. Darst explained that it was comparatively simple to arrange the work needed for specific affairs, in contrast with opening the park for general public use daily.

The WPA finished its main work on the park about July 5. It resumed activities there July 27, with a small force of men, under a $15,000 allotment. Principal jobs now going on are excavation for an athletic field and the building of walks.

There was three and one-half years of delay in undertaking improvement of the site after the park, an attractively wooded tract of 59 acres, was presented to the city by C. A. Tilles. After his death an additional 7.47 acres on the Lay road side, where he resides, will be given to the city. Tilles made money years ago in racetrack and other enterprises and in real estate investment. In donating the park in 1932 he specified that it was to be particularly for the use of children.

JUNK DEALER IS ACCUSED OF BUYING STOLEN PROPERTY

Nine Others, Alleged to Have Torn Up Three Miles of Track, Also Arrested.

Earl M. de Meyer, East St. Louis junk dealer, was charged with possession of stolen property in a warrant issued yesterday after agents of the Illinois Central Railroad had found in his yard angle irons and spikes stolen from a three-mile stretch of track on the unused switching line between Belleville and East Carondelet.

Nine residents of East Carondelet, who are alleged to have torn up the tracks and sold the metal to De Meyer, have been arrested. The metal was valued at about $600.

They FIT the bones WITHIN as well as the foot itself.

"I'M THROUGH GAMBLING WITH LIVES!

PICTURE yourself in the driver's seat, looking out ahead. It's your car you're driving . . . and somebody's kid on a bicycle pedals out just in front of you! Surely, at such a time, only the safest brakes are safe enough!

Hydraulics, admittedly, are the best brakes you can get. You'll find them on all Hudsons . . . Bendix 4-wheel hydraulics . . . self-energizing, powerful, easy acting; accepted as "tops" for day-in and day-out service.

But in any hydraulic system, the fluid can leak away, through accident or carelessness. You might push your foot down and find no pressure there!

So Hudson backs up that hydraulic system with a separate set of mechanical brakes that take hold automatically from the same foot pedal if ever needed. Just push down as you always do . . . and stop! There's the easy acting parking brake, too—still a third braking application.

Also important to safety is clear vision on both sides . . . so Hudson gives you the widest windshield in any popular car. Important is a sturdy, rigid front end; Hudson uses an exclusive type of massive, forged radial arms. Important are bodies all of steel and safety plate glass; you get both in a Hudson.

This pace-setting safety is typical of the way Hudson does things . . . finding the best and making it better. You'll find a wealth of other pace-setting advantages when you drive a Hudson . . . in roominess, performance, economy and the other things that mean a better deal for your dollar. Come to any Hudson showroom and see.

ATTENTION! USED CAR BUYERS —Every car built by Hudson since 1935 has these Double-Safe Brakes.

$694 and up for Hudson 112 (3-passenger coupe), delivered in Detroit, fully equipped; including Federal taxes. Price does not include state and local taxes, if any. For delivered price in your locality, see your Hudson dealer. Attractively low time payment terms, with new Hudson-C. I. T. Plan.

CHINESE RAIDERS SEIZE AIRDROME IN SHANGHAI SUBURB

On Anniversary of Fighting There Drive Out Japanese With Machine Guns and Grenades.

HOIST FLAG AND LATER WITHDRAW

Invaders Captured by U. S. Marines in Settlement Freed on Claiming Military Status.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14 (Sunday).—Chinese guerrillas captured the Japanese-occupied Hungjao airdrome, five miles from Shanghai, in a midnight raid last night and held it until nearly dawn.

At the airdrome they hoisted the Kuomintang (Chinese Nationalist) flag over the spot where the incident which started the Chinese-Japanese fighting occurred Aug. 9, last year. The killing of two Japanese bluejackets there precipitated the war which started four days later.

Foreigners living in Hungjao disclosed that a midnight Chinese guerrillas made a machine-gun attack, then hurled hand grenades at Japanese defenders. The Japanese garrison of about 20, it was said, either was wiped out or fled.

Clash in Settlement.

Three Japanese seized by United States Marines, but released on their saying they were attached to the army, are without military status, the head of the Japanese Army Political Service in Shanghai, announces tonight.

Col. Hitoshi Hamada said the men were "merely army employes" but he added there would be an investigation and possible punishment for them.

The men were taken into custody today in the American defense sector of the International Settlement after an encounter which occurred during widespread disorders, involving also British and Italian sentries, on the first anniversary of Chinese-Japanese hostilities in Shanghai.

Jurisdictional Tangle.

Linked with the arrest of the Japanese was the whole jurisdictional tangle of this highly internationalized metropolis.

As the day drew to a close with scattered outbreaks, settlement authorities and various defense forces charged the disorders were planned to defeat a reported Japanese consular proposal that Japanese military forces withdraw from portions of the settlement north of Soochow Creek Sept. 1.

At least three Chinese were killed and 17 injured in bombings and other disorders yesterday and today.

U. S. Marines Stop Japanese.

The Japanese-American incident occurred when Gunnery Sergeant Milton C. Marvin spied three Japanese in an automobile, bearing Shanghai Defense Force license plates. The Japanese, waving pistols, were demanding that Chinese of the neighborhood lower the Chinese Nationalist flags hoisted in observance of the first anniversary of Shanghai hostilities.

Sergt. Marvin drew his own pistol and ordered the men to sit down in the automobile. Instead they trained their weapons on him. Then a marine sentry ran up with an automatic rifle. Two of the Japenese surrendered their weapons but the third resisted. He was hit on the head and was taken to a hospital from which he escaped to the Japanese-occupied area north of Soochow Creek.

The other two, taken before Japanese Consular Police and Settlement authorities, admitted they were connected with the Japanese army. Thereupon Settlement authorities refused to exercise jurisdiction and it was understood the Japanese consular police likewise refused to handle the case.

QUEZON SAYS FILIPINOS PLAN "SAFEGUARDS FOR PATRIMONY"

President Looks With "Every Confidence to Future" of Philippines After Independence in 1946.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Aug. 14. (Sunday) — President Manuel Quezon said today the Filipinos were "laying plans intended to safeguard our patrimony."

The chief executive of the Philippine commonwealth made the statement in an interview with Paul V. McNutt, American high commissioner, in a broadcast to the United States.

Speaking in connection with the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of American occupation, Quezon said he was "no prophet," but that he looked with "every confidence to the future" of the commonwealth, which is to become independent of the United States in 1946.

"The Filipinos feel certain," he said, "that America will continue to lend a sympathetic ear to our reasonable petitions.

"They look back with gratitude to the day when destiny placed their land under the guidance of the people of the United States."

McNutt said if American policy in the Philippines had "enhanced the position of the United States in Far Eastern affairs, and if American trade has gained a market, no one has just cause for complaint."

LABOR BOARD LOSES AGAIN IN NORTH CHICAGO STRIKE CASE

U. S. Judge Refuses Stay of Mandate; Rehiring of 90 Was Ordered by Agency.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—The National Labor Relations Board lost today another phase of its legal fight to compel the Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation of North Chicago to rehire 90 discharged employes who participated in a sitdown strike at the plant in February, 1937.

Judge Will M. Sparks of the United States Circuit Court of Apeals denied a petition of the board's attorneys for a stay of mandate in the court's decision of July 22. At that time the court reversed the Labor Board's order that the company reinstate the discharged employes.

Judge Sparks ruled the court's decision imposed no restraining order against the board and that therefore no mandate would be issued. The Labor Board already has filed notice of appeal.

10,000 BOOKS CIRCULATED DAILY BY PUBLIC LIBRARY

Cost Is 59 Cents Per Capita Per Year, Charles H. Compton Says in Radio Address.

The St. Louis Public Library circulates about 10,000 books a day, Charles H. Compton, librarian, said in the course of a general talk describing the work of the library on the Community Forum period on Radio Station KSD last night.

Pointing out hat in many cities the cost per capita per year for running a public library is $1 or more, Compton said that the cost here was 59 cents per capita per year. The library receives about $100,000 less now from its special tax than it did a decade ago, he added.

He urged St. Louisans to make full use of the library, especially its reference department, and addressed a special message to parents to train their children in the habit of reading good books.

THOMAS M. PASS FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Valley Park Man Killed Thursday When Truck Overturned in State Park Northeast of Potosi.

Funeral services for Thomas M. Pass, 426 Marshal avenue, Valley Park, who was killed Thursday in a motor accident in Washington State Park, 25 miles northeast of Potosi, Mo., will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m. at the Bopp undertaking establishment in Kirkwood, with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Pass, 34 years old, suffered a fractured skull when the light truck in which he was riding overturned on a curve on a county road in the park. The truck was driven by his brother, Theodore, who suffered minor injuries. Pass, a paperhanger, died before he could be taken to a hospital. His wife, Anna, survives.

STRIKE DEFERRED IN MEXICO

Arbitration Planned by Miners After Visit From Governor.

By the Associated Press.

HERMOSILLO, Sonora, Mexico, Aug. 14.—Unions representing 1200 workers of the Cananea Consolidated Copper Co. notified Gov. Roman Yocupicio today a contemplated strike for higher wages and better working conditions had been deferred pending arbitration.

The action followed an airplane visit by the Governor to Cananea yesterday. In previous conferences between company excutives and representatives of the National Miners' Union in Mexico, D. F., no results had been obtained. Demands include a pay increase of from 25 to 60 per cent over the present 4.50 pesos per day.

Harmonica Contest Winners.

Winners in the harmonica contest held at Soldan High School yesterday are Robert Greco, representing Walnut Park playground, in the beginners' class, and Rocco Benanati, Coto Brilliante playground, in the advanced class. The two boys received chromatic-scale harmonicas as prizes. Eight boys and girls competed in the finals.

BRITISH FEAR OF AIR RAIDS CAUSES BOOM IN RURAL AREAS

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

LONDON—Feear of death-dealing enemy bombs in crowded British cities has caused a boom in rural real estate.

Secluded country homes free from air raid danger are in great demand, especially in Western England, where many estate agents have long waiting lists.

Estate agents say prospective clients have a stock command:

FREY OF A. F. OF L. SAYS COMMUNISTS HONEYCOMB C I O

House Witness Adds, 'In 'Fairness,' That Neither Lewis Nor Majority of Followers Are Reds.

BUT HE NAMES 280 WHO, HE SAYS, ARE

He Asserts Party Scrapped Program in U. S. in 1935 to Get Foothold in New Movement.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. — John P. Frey of the American Federation of Labor charged today that John L. Lewis' rival labor organization was honey-combed with members of the Communist Party, whose purpose he said was revolution.

He told a House investigating committee that 280 Communist party members were or had been on C I O payrolls as organizers and officials, and added "In fairness" that Lewis himself and the majority of his followers were opposed to Communism.

Frey, chief of the metal trades department of the A. F. of L., peered gravely over his spectacles and waved an unlighted cigar in emphasis as he told the committee: "It's time the public knew the truth about efforts of the Communist Party in the United States to carry out the purpose of Moscow and the Third International, which purpose is revolution."

For 20 years, he said, the American Federation of Labor had held Communistic influences in check in the American labor movement. But the Communists had gained a foothold in recent years, Frey charged, through their influence in, and in some cases domination of, C I O unions.

"The sit-down strike and mass picketing have been used by the Communists in our country," he said, "as a training camp in which Communists can become familiar with the tactics they are to apply when their revolutionary program is put into action.

"The sit-down strike and mass picketing have been used as front line trenches in which the mass revolutionists of the future are to receive experience and training to equip them for the day when the signal for revolution is given."

Frey was particularly outspoken regarding the Transport Workers' Union, which he said was "headed by four leading members of the Communist Party who are working under orders of Moscow to Sovietize the American transit industry."

"In recent weeks the transport workers have secured a stranglehold on New York City traction and taxicab companies," the witness said.

Charges Communists Back C I O

JOHN P. FREY,

A. F. OF L. officer, appearing before the House Committee investigating un-American activities.

In addition to charging that 280 Communist party members were or had been on C I O payrolls, he gave the committee a list of 60 others high in the C I O ranks who, he said, were Communists or closely linked with Communism.

More Names Promised.

Frey said he would name 230 more Communist volunteer workers in C I O affiliates when he resumed testimony next week.

Chairman Dies (Dem.), Texas, of the investigating committee, said names of the complete party membership had been obtained and would be introduced as evidence.

"They run into the thousands," he said. He did not disclose how the committee obtained the documents.

The rise of Communism in the American labor movement, Frey said, dated from 1935, when "the Communist party in the United States completely scrapped its program so that it could secure a controlling position within the C I O."

That was the year of the Communist International Congress in Moscow, in which Communists were instructed to discard many old precepts and join with instead of opposing groups and parties with democratic interests. A protest from the American government against statements of American delegates was lodged during the congress, and American-Soviet relations cooled notably when Maxim Litvinov, the Soviet spokesman on Foreign Affairs, rejected it.

At one point, Frey said: "I'm going to show this committee how Communists have gained control of the Teachers' Union in New York City. I'll name names. I'll show how their spread has been as rapid and dangerous in education as it has in the trade unions."

Switches to Religion.

Near the end of the day Frey switched suddenly to the subject of religion, displaying a dozen Soviet anti-religious posters and reading extensively from speeches by Lenin, Stalin and others. He contrasted statement of Lenin's that "we hate Christianity and Christians" with the recent action of the American Communist Party in deciding to increase its membership by enrolling Catholics, particularly those of the working class.

"It seems impossible that clergymen of any religious denominations could be deceived by any cunning Communist blandishments," Frey observed.

Often the witness repeated that his charge of Communist activity in the C I O was not an attack against the C I O in general.

"In fairness to the majority of the membership it must be stated that they are not Communists and they are opposed to Communism. John L. Lewis is opposed to Communism. In many local instances these members of the C I O have risen in revolt against Communist leadership which had secured control and thrown it out. The C I O is not yet a Communist organization so far as the great majority of the rank and file is concerned. The fact seems to be that C I O membership unwittingly became a carrier for the virus of Communism because of the attitude of its leadership."

Brophy and Lewis.

Brophy was singled out for particular attention although Frey made it clear he had no conclusive evidence Brophy was a Communist. Brophy once was expelled from the United Mine Workers' Union by Lewis, it was said.

"We cannot know the motives of which afterward led John L. Lewis to appoint Mr. Brophy as his director for the C I O," Frey declared, "but from the record it is evident that if Mr. Lewis wanted some one as a director who could maintain the necessary contact with the Communist party in this country and its membership he could not have made a better selection."

Among organizations which Frey charged with being Communist-influenced or in some cases controlled he listed the United Textile Workers, United Furniture Workers of America; Fish & Cannery Workers International Union; International Wood Workers of America; United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing & Allied Workers of America; United Office & Professional Workers of America; Department Store Employes Affiliated with the C I O; Fur Workers International Union of New York; Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers Union; Federation of Architects, Engineers, Chemists & Technicians; Transport Workers; United Retail Employes of America; Uuited Automobile Workers of America; National Maritime Workers Union; American Communications Association; United Shoe Workers of America, and the United Radio, Electrical & Machine Workers Union.

Civil Liberties Inquiry.

Frey referred during his testimony to "close contacts" between Communists and investigators for the Senate Civil Liberties Committee.

He named Coleman Taylor, a C I O organizer of Cleveland, who, he said, was a Communist and former Communist party spokesman in A. F. of L. conventions.

"Information has reached us that Taylor has been in constant communication with investigators of the LaFollette Committee who are now in Cleveland and he is supposed to be rendering them valuable aid," he said.

Frey said evidence would be developed later that Communists were active in sponsoring or organizing hundreds of American organizations having cultural, patriotic, educational or otherwise wholly laudable motives.

"The Communists then exploit the good names these groups achieve and gradually work from within to guide or direct their programs or influence their work," he said.

Referring to the United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing & Allied Workers of America, which had its first national convention in July, 1937, in Denver, Frey remarked:

"In checking over the list of delegates at this convention, one almost was led to believe that the Communist Party had simply moved in, bag and baggage."

His testimony disclosed that many of the Communists he charges are now active in the C I O formerly were in the A. F. of L.

Bund Leader Seeks Chance to Deny Charges of Espionage Plot.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Fritz Kuhn, national leader of the German-American Bund, denied tonight charges made in Washington that the Bund was building up an espionage and sabotage organization in the United States.

He said he hoped the Bund would be permitted to offer testimony to the House committee which is investigating un-American activities. Kuhn said, however, he would not testify unless he were invited to do so.

Calling the committee proceedings "filthy" and an attempt to "frame" him, Kuhn replied this way to Investigator John C. Metcalfe's assertion yesterday that Kuhn obtained the removal of the former German Ambassador to the United States, Dr. Hans Luther:

"Supposing that I did have the power to remove Dr. Luther, do you think I'm so dumb as to tell it to a man I've known for only two minutes? It's ridiculous."

INTERNATIONAL SHOE HEARINGS TO RECESS

Temporary Adjournment After Tomorrow—Company Holds Pay Cut Was Justified.

The arbitration hearing on the pay reduction dispute between the International Shoe Co. and the C I O United Shoe Workers, Local 56A, will be resumed at the Civil Courts building tomorrow when the company will present additional evidence in support of its contention that it was justified in reducing wages because of competitive conditions in the shoe industry.

The hearing will be adjourned for several weeks after tomorrow's session because Dean Isidor Loeb, who is serving as arbiter in the case, will be out of the city. Loeb is dean of the Washington University School of Business and Public Administration.

Newspaper reporters have been barred from the hearings. It is said that the company witnesses thus far have testified that the wage reduction was necessary in order that the International Shoe Co. could meet competition in the market. The reduction, which averages about 8.9 per cent, was made May 8 and affected 30,000 persons employed by the concern. The union represents more than 700 workers.

The company asserts the pay cut has actually improved the net salaries of its workers, because the lowering of prices on its shoes has increased the volume of business and increased the weekly hours of employment. Jacob M. Lashly, attorney for the company, said in his opening statement that the average weekly pay during the 10 weeks preceding the cut was $20, while the average for 10 weeks after the reduction was $24.

Members of the union opposing the cut are employed at the South Broadway and the Hickory street plants, where the cutting of sole and counter leather is done. Lashly said that if the pay reduction were set aside, the company could go into the market and purchase cut sole and counter leather more cheaply than it could carry on the operation itself.

George Duemler, of counsel for the union, said in his opening statement that competition in the shoe industry had always been met by cutting the wages of the workers, and charged the May 8 reduction was an attempt to eliminate the union from the company.

The union has obtained a temporary injunction in Circuit Court, enjoining the firm from reducing the pay of its members pending the arbitration decision.

MRS. ISAAC SLEATH and MRS. ISRAEL STIMPSON, sisters, who met yesterday for the first time in almost 49 years.

SISTERS, SEPARATED 49 YEARS, REUNITED

Mrs. Israel Stimpson, Leicester, England, Greets Mrs. Isaac Sleath at Union Station.

After a separation of almost 49 years, two sisters, Mrs. Isaac Sleath, 5639 Julian avenue, and Mrs. Israel Stimpson of Leicester, England, met here yesterday for the first time since Mrs. Sleath left England as a bride in 1889.

Accompanied by her husband, who is a building contractor, and their son, Kenneth, an engineering student, Mrs. Stimpson is making a tour of the United States. Meeting at the Union Station, the sisters embraced for several minutes and then began a rapid discussion of childhood friends and relatives.

Mrs. Sleath is 76 years old and her sister 64. They have corresponded regularly since Mrs. Sleath left England and despite the long separation they had no difficulty in recognizing each other. Mrs. Sleath's daughter, Miss Virginia Sleath, met her cousin for the first time.

The elder of the two sisters moved directly from England to St. Louis with her husband, a Christian Science practitioner. The Stimpsons will leave today for Los Angeles.

NEW YORK POLICY RACKET TRIALS OPEN TOMORROW

J. J. Hines, Tammany Leader, Accused of Intimidating, Influencing or Bribing City Officials.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 13.—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey will open the prosecution Monday in the Supreme Court involving the 100,000,000 a year policy racket of the murdered gangster Dutch Schultz.

James J. Hines, Tammany leader, is the prime defendant—accused of having "fixed" the racket by "intimidating, influencing or bribing" city officials.

So far, the officials named include former District Attorney William Copeland Dodge, Dewey's Tammany predecessor, and two city magistrates. Of these last, Magistrate Francis J. Erwin is dead and Magistrate Hulon Capshaw has joined Dodge in vehement denials of corruption.

In the preliminary skirmishes recently, Defense Attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker, tried in vain to force Dewey to show his hand—to name others involved. Dewey ignored the bait.

Hines' Background.

The son of a blacksmith, reared in the slums of the East Side, himself a blacksmith in his youth, boasting he had shod 40,000 horses, James J. Hines, ward boss, has always been popular with his followers. They meant it when they blessed him fervently. He extended patronage, he got them jobs, he gave lavish parties and free picnics for the children and wives of the voters.

Dewey might charge that Hines could well afford such vote-catching benefices—paying for the free turkeys, food baskets, parties and outings from his share in the policy racket. But the ward's faithful loved Jimmy.

Dewey declared: "Hines entered into an agreement with Schultz in March, 1932, to take care of the courts and the district attorney's office. Hines undertook the court-fixing plan with a $1000 retainer. His share of the racket ran from 500 to $1000 a week."

Rise and Fall of Davis.

J. Richard (Dixie) Davis, lawyer for Dutch Schultz, came from the Catskill hamlet of Tannerville, N. Y., where the Presbyterian minister taught him to play the violin. Dixie Davis advanced from the poverty of a clerk with a reputable law firm to the affluence of $175 suits and $200 topcoats as Schultz's lawyer. The money poured in from the policy racket mostly in pennies, nickels and dimes, but it amounted to millions. Played by 250,000 hopefuls daily, the game draws its winning numbers from a combination of race-track payoff figures—with the winners getting 600 to 1 odds.

Davis maintained a penthouse overlooking the East River and luxurious apartments on West End and Park avenues.

Then, in October, 1935, Dutch Schultz was shot to death in a Newark, N. J., beer tavern. His heir-apparent Dixie Davis, then just 30 years old, took over the policy racket it is alleged, and conducted it for two years. In 1937 Dewey took up the case. Davis was capture in Philadelphia several months ago. Davis pleaded guilty and turned state's evidence.

lovely color for your Gray Hair
Similar to its Former Original Natural Shade

24 years without injury to a single user

If you have gray hair, simply wet it with Canute Water and allow to dry. In from 1 to 3 applications, (depending on shade), it will be completely re-colored. All in one day, if you wish. After that, a single treatment, only once a month, will keep it that way.

You may then curl, wave or set your hair — or get a permanent — if you like. The color remains permanent against sun, air, salt-water or shampooing.

Canute Water is pure, colorless and crystal-clear. It leaves the hair clean and natural to the touch. Even you, yourself, will be unable to distinguish the recolored hair from your natural. You will be astonished to see how completely Canute Water solves your problem.

To the best of our knowledge, Canute Water is the only hair coloring preparation proven perfectly harmless by a noted Scientist in one of America's greatest Universities.

WAGE CUT APPROVED FOR CHICAGO RAILWAY

Court Orders 15 Pct. Reduction, Effective Tuesday, to Keep Line Going.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13. — A 15 per cent wage reduction for the 1300 employes of the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee Railroad was authorized today by Judge Will M. Sparks of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The cut will become effective at midnight Monday.

Jacob I. Grossman, Federal master in chancery, recommended the order after a series of hearings.

A. A. Sprague, receiver for the line, initiated the hearings three weeks ago with a petition to the court asking instructions concerning a wage controversy with employes. The railroad is an electric system operating on the elevated tracks in Chicago, but is a surface line outside the city.

Attorneys for the receiver introduced evidence which they said showed that the road had suffered losses justifying a 15 per cent wage cut proposed by the receiver to become effective Aug. 15 at the expiration of a temporary agreement.

The petition was opposed by the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America.

Master Grossman's recommendation said in part:

"There has been a marked and progressive decline in the revenues of the railroad, particularly during the first six months of 1938, and the revenues have been materially less than the expenses on an out-of-the-pocket basis.

"The receiver has no available reserves to offset these deficits in operation.

"Operations cannot continue in the face of present earnings unless the cost of such operations be reduced.

"To insure the continued operation of the railroad a general wage reduction of 15 per cent, with provisions for a sliding scale of restoration, if the revenues increase, as proposed by the receiver, is necessary and reasonable and should be put in effect without delay, to the end that service to the public and that jobs to employes may continue."

PEDESTRIAN CONTROL LAWS URGED TO CUT AUTO DEATHS

David L. Millar of Safety Council Also Suggests Inspection Ordinance.

Pedestrian control and motor vehicle inspection ordinances, police squads for investigation of traffic accidents and continuation of police concentration on more serious violations of traffic laws were suggested as means of accomplishing further reductions in automobile deaths in a radio address yesterday by David L. Millar, chairman of the Street Safety Committee of the Safety Council.

Reduction of automobile deaths in St. Louis by 40 so far this year was attributed by Millar to adoption of the drivers' license law, improved enforcement of traffic ordinances and better traffic control facilities.

WASHINGTON DOCTORS WARNED ON COERCION

Thurman Arnold Tells Medical Society Not to Punish Health Group's Physicians.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Thurman Arnold, assistant Attorney-General, said today that the Justice Department expected the District of Columbia Medical Society "to discontinue coercing qualified persons in the practice of their profession."

Arnold made this declaration in an exchange of letters with counsel for the society. The department previously had announced that it would lay before a grand jury charges that the society violated the anti-trust laws by punishing physicians affiliated with the Group Health Association, a co-operative organized to provide medical service to its members.

The society's lawyers, George P. Hoover and William E. Leahy, wrote Arnold they had decided that the medical society "is not amenable to the anti-trust laws and that it has not done any act which would make it subject to the charges of having violated the provisions of said laws."

They said in conclusion: "Inasmuch as you entertain different views as to the law, we do not feel that anything constructive may be accomplished by any further discussions."

In reply, Arnold said: "I think it advisable to make it perfectly clear that the department does expect the medical society to discontinue coercing qualified persons in the practice of their profession. I wish to make it clear that any further practices of this kind will be prosecuted. The very purpose of our public statement (announcing a grand jury investigation) was to serve as a warning of that prosecution policy."

MAN SHOT IN QUARREL OVER USE OF HIS AUTO

John Heiner, Who Fired, Says Willard Becker Hit Him With Crank Handle.

Willard Becker, an automobile mechanic of Barnhart, Mo., was taken to Alexian Brothers Hospital early yesterday with a shotgun wound in the abdomen. John Heiner, who resided at Becker's home, told Jefferson County Deputy Sheriffs he shot Becker after Becker had hit him with a crank handle.

The men quarreled over Heiner's use of Becker's automobile. Heiner was held in jail at Hillsboro.

Physicians at the hospital said Becker would recover. He is 38 years old.

Sanctions Use of State Money to Pay Local Government's Shares on W P A Jobs.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 13. — Attorney-General Otto Kerner gave his approval today to the new Illinois law permitting State relief money to be used to pay local governments' share in Federal Works Progress Administration projects.

In an opinion to Leo H. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, Kerner held that a Decatur plan to employ relief workers on a park project was valid. Under the plan not more than $7 a worker a month would be contributed from state funds.

Permission for state funds to be used to meet local governments' shares of W P A projects was contained in the Lager laws enacted by the recent special sessions of the Legislature. Approval of the Governor for specific projects is required.

The attorney-general's opinion said local governments must establish they have no available resources, and that each project must be passed on individually by State relief officials and the Governor.

ULTIMATUM TO WPA STRIKERS IN ILLINOIS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPARTA, Ill., Aug. 13.—Leaders of about 900 striking W P A employes in Randolph County were informed today that unless work was resumed Monday all allocations for projects in the county would be withdrawn. C. E. Montieth, area supervisor, said telegrams giving the ultimatum had been sent from the State P W A administrator's office at Chicago.

The strike, called by the Illinois Workers' Alliance, began a week ago and, with the closing yesterday of a sewing project here, a complete shutdown was effected. Projects involved include county highway work, sewer and garden jobs. Picketing of the sewing project began Tuesday, but 11 of the 20 women employed remained at work until yesterday.

The strikers are demanding free transportation to and from projects, pay for time spent in transit, an increase in pay from the present $40 a month to $55, a guarantee of no discrimination against strikers and pay for time spent on strike.

John M. Svehla, president of the county local of the Workers' Alliance, said that if negotiations for a "satisfactory" settlement failed sympathy strikes might be called in adjoining counties.

Montieth, in charge of WPA projects in Randolph and Perry counties, said all matters pertaining to compensation were regulated by population of counties and cities and that he was powerless to meet the demands. He had announced earlier that no consideration would be given the demands until strikers returned to their jobs.

LA FOLLETTE TO BACK OWN CANDIDATE AGAINST DUFFY

Senator Says He'll Campaign for Progressive Party Man Against Roosevelt's Friend.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. — An initial test of President Roosevelt's ability to cope with the new National Progressive party appeared to be in the making tonight.

Senator La Follette (Prog.), Wisconsin, who has been allied with the President frequently in the past, told reporters he would campaign for his own party's candidate against Senator Duffy (Dem.), Wisconsin, an administration stalwart who is up for re-election this year.

The President praised Duffy warmly last spring in a letter sent to a testimonial dinner, and La Follette's announcement caused speculation that the President might go into the State in the near future to speak another good word for him.

Named to Head Order of Eagles.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 13.—Dr. Fred C. Dilley of Brazil, Ind., was nominated today for the presidency of the fraternal order of Eagles to succeed John W. Heller Jr. of York, Pa. He was named without opposition. Others nominated without opposition were John Abel of Marion, O., vice-president; Dr. A. H. Maze of Winona, Minn., chaplain; John S. Parry of Kansas City, for re-election as secretary; E. L. Jewett of Fresno, Cal., for re-election as conductor, and John A. Bakstran of Fitchburg, Mass., inside guard.

MILK OUTPUT DROPS; ALSO PAY TO FARMERS

Figures for July Compared With Those for Corresponding Month in 1937.

Although milk production in the St. Louis area declined in July, as compared with the figures for the corresponding month last year, prices paid producers also were lower, it is shown by the monthly report of Milk Market Administrator Fred L. Shipley, made public yesterday.

July production of 26,474,156 pounds was 12 per cent lower than in July, 1937, and 8 per cent less than in June, 1938, on a daily basis. The average price paid producers in July was $1.87 a hundred pounds, while for July, 1937, it was $2.08 As compared to June, 1938, the price represented a 5-cent increase.

There were 5005 producers in July of this year, while in July, 1937, there were 8440, and in July, 1936, 10,198. Daily fluid milk sales in St. Louis in July declined 1.1 per cent from those of June of this year and 4.2 per cent from those of July, 1937.

DR. HARRY T. UPSHAW, 47, DIES AT PASADENA, CAL.

Formerly on Staff of St. Anthony's and Faculty of St. Louis U. Medical School.

Dr. Harry T. Upshaw, a surgeon, formerly of St. Louis, died Friday of a heart ailment at his home in Pasadena, Cal., where he had resided for 12 years. He was 47 years old.

In St. Louis, Dr. Upshaw was on the staff of St. Anthony's Hospital and an assistant instructor of surgery at St. Louis University Medical School. A native of Midland City, Ill., he was graduated from the medical school in 1913 and served with the Medical Corps in France during the World War.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Flora Upshaw; two daughters, Coline and Barbara Upshaw, and two brothers, Dr. Paul O. Upshaw of Springfield, Mo., and Dr. R. A. Upshaw, Ste. Genevieve, Mo.

SON OF COUNTESS MISSING

New York Police Seeking Charles de Tavara, Who Disappeared May 24.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Charles de Tavara, 15 years old, son of the Countess Beatrice de Tavara and a grandson of the late Mayor George B. McClellan, was reported by police today to have been missing from his home since May 24.

Police said they sent out a confidential alarm for the boy on May 26. They said he had disappeared on two previous occasions but had remained away only a few days. His mother, wife of an Italian nobleman, said she planned to enlist aid of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

PANAMA PACIFIC LINE RESUMES SERVICE

The City of Los Angeles, one of five sister ships in the service of the Panama Pacific Line which resumed service temporarily suspended in April, has been reconditioned and sailed yesterday from New York for California. The ship, formerly called the City of Havre, was recently transferred to its associate company by the Baltimore Mail Line with four others to replace ships sold to the Maritime Commission.

The ship has been completely overhauled and redecorated. An air-conditioning system has been installed in the dining salon and the passenger quarters have been redecorated to give them the airy coolness of a summer home. Work is going forward on the four remaining ships which will sail from New York upon entering the service.

The ships will call regularly at Baltimore, Panama Canal, Acapulco and Los Angeles en route to San Francisco. Stopovers in these ports will allow time for sightseeing. The running time is 15 days to Los Angeles and 17 days to San Francisco.

"QUEEN ELIZABETH" TO BE LAUNCHED SEPT. 27

Work has been going steadily forward on the new Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth which is expected to be ready in advance of the launching date, which has been set for Sept. 27. This vessel, which is said to be the longest ship ever constructed, will have a number of innovations.

In external appearance the most obvious variation is in the reduction of the number of funnels to two instead of the usual three. The bow has a greater rake, this change being necessitated by the provision of a center anchor. The vessel will have a gross register of 85,000 tons and will be 1031 feet long.

There is to be a third-class passenger deck with promenade space. The Queen Elizabeth is expected to be in commission in time to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the first sailing of the Cunard line.

SCHEDULE OF CRUISES

A program of 20 cruises has recently been announced by the Hamburg American line beginning late in Septemer and continuing through next April. In the first category is a group of three fall vacation cruises. The second will be a Christmas cruise; the third group comprises seven trips to the West Indies and South America followed by cruises down the Rio. There will also be an around Africa voyage and a circuit of South America.

New Highway.

Construction on the Colonial Historical parkway, connecting Old Point Comfort with the historic towns of Yorktown and Williamsburg will be completed by midsummer. Winding along the shores of Chesapeake Bay, the parkway, now partially completed, is said to be one of the most beautiful drives in the state.

Colorado's Peaks.

Colorado has 53 peaks more than 14,000 feet high.

AMERICAN EXPORT LINE TO BUILD FOUR NEW VESSELS

Orders for four new cargo vessels, the first units to be constructed under the Maritime Commission, have been placed by the American Export Lines. The vessels which are to cost approximately two and one half million dollars apiece, are part of the expansion program of this company which operates in the Mediterranean and Black Sea ports.

The new vessels will be built to a standard design developed by the line. They will be 8000 tons and 475 feet long. They will permit a turnover voyage of 61 days as compared with the 91-day requirement now placed on freighters in this service. There will be commodious quarters for the crew and most modern equipment to facilitate loading and unloading. Three new passenger vessels will supplement the cruise service by replacing three freighters if the line and the commission agree on the need of such ships.

AIR-CONDITIONED BUS SERVICE INAUGURATED

A fleet of air conditioned busses has recently been put in operation between Chicago, St. Louis and California by the Santa Fe Trailways. The air conditioning unit is suspended on rubber mounting beneath the floor of the bus and will circulate enough washed cooled air to provide a complete change every three minutes. An inside temperature of 80 degrees is maintained and each bus is insulated against vibration and traffic noises as well as heat.

New safety features have been introduced into the construction of these busses which are solid units of aluminum and steel alloy. The horizontal type motor is suspended from the frame beneath the bus, lowering the center of gravity and making easier riding.

No Honking in Italy.

In many Italian cities it is forbidden to blow any kind of auto horn within city limits. Records show that there has been a considerable drop in accidents involving pedestrians, since drivers who cannot "honk" are inclined to go much more slowly through towns.

Thanksgiving broke very fast and boy rushed him into long lead. He saved ground all the way and in run through stretch drew away easily. Jolly Tar trailed far back for seven furlongs, began to move up turning out of backstretch but was blocked. He was eased back and when the field went bit wide in stretch boy shot him up on inside and, closing gamely, was a fast going second. Fighting Fox well handled, was rated along in a contending position but stopped suddenly in last sixteenth. Stagehand broke slow and trailed far back, was steered the overland route all the way and beat a lot of tired horses at end. Cravat well up for entire trip. Bull Lea was a stout factor for a mile then stopped. Lucky Omen ran well for six furlongs. Stormscud had no excuse. Nedayr lacked speed and trailed far back.

By the Associated Press.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 13.—As if the three-year-old turf division was not scrambled enough before, Mrs. Parker Corning's Thanksgiving inserted himself into the picture today with a five-length victory in the 69th Travers, America's oldest stake.

The Bud Lerner colt, with Eddie Arcaro nursing him along in front for the entire mile and a quarter, took the measure of eight of the division's best still in training to earn the purse of $14,400 and pay his backers 4 to 1.

Jolly Tar, owned by W. M. Jeffords and quoted at 60 to 1, tried to add to the list of upsets in the old fixture. This surprising son of Man O' War, the outsider in the field, staged a heroic stretch rush to finish second, a half-length before William Woodward's Fighting Fox.

Maxwell Howard's Stagehand disappointed as he did in the recent Arlington classic, running past tired horses to finish fourth. W. S. Kilmer's Nedayr, the classic winner, was an even greater disappointment. He never was a factor and brought up the rear, many lengths in the ruck.

Has Earned $31,550.

Thanksgiving, recently an easy winner in softer company, has won three of his 10 starts this year for earnings of $31,550. Today he packed 117 pounds, 10 less than was carried by Stagehand and Nedayr.

In an open betting affair Warren Wright's Bull Lea, second in the classic and more recently winner of the Kinner Stakes at the spa, closed a slight choice at 16 to 5 with Stagehand second on the line at 18 to 5.

Bull Lea followed Thanksgiving and Fighting Fox to the stretch, but when set down by Jockey Basil James he simply did not have it and faded to sixth place. The Fox ran in second place to the final sixteenth, then weakened and gave way to Jolly Tar, which, after being shut off at the far turn, got through on the rail at the home bend and then closed fast.

Before the Travers, the crowd of 17,000 saw a valuable horse meet with a fatal accident for the second time in three days when Samuel D. Riddle's Hauca went down in the Spinaway Stakes not far from where Mrs. C. S. Payson's Thingumabob broke his leg Thursday.

Hauca Breaks Leg.

Hauca, 11 to 10 favorite to take the forty-seventh running of the Stake for two-year-old fillies, broke her left hind leg and had to be destroyed. Charlie Kurtsinger, up on the Wise Counsellor filly, suffered a gash on top of his head and was taken to a hospital for an X-ray examination.

Jockey Sammy Renick was suspended for the remainder of the meeting and 10 additional racing days, effective Tuesday, Aug. 16, and his case referred to the Jockey Club. Renick's suspension was the result of crossing over and causing Hauca to fall, according to the stewards.

The race was won by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Dinner Date, a 6 to 1 shot, with A. B. Hancock's So Rare another three lengths back in second place. Dinner Date ran the six furlongs in 1:13 and collected a purse of $9450.

MR. CANRON WINS KING PHILIP HANDICAP

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Aug. 13.—W. W. Vaughan's Mr. Canron won the $5000 added King Philip Handicap by a nose today at Narragansett Park after a brilliant stretch drive.

A picture was necessary to decide between the Catalan colt and Trouper as they zipped under the wire neck and neck, sending a 22,000 crowd into an uproar.

Mr. Canron, racing over the mile and one-sixteenth route in 1:44 for his third triumph in six starts, paid backers $22.90 to win. Trouper paid $8.80 to place and Felix Spatola's Wise Prince, two lengths back, returned $5.70 to show.

D. B. Midkiff's Flying Bonny won her fifth straight victory in the Debutantes Purse, two-year-old five-furlong secondary feature of the day, as A. E. Silver's Heather Time, a 1-2 choice in the wagering and winner of six of her last seven starts, ran out and burned up $33,944 bet on her.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Are We Growing Soft?

PROFESSIONAL boxers once trained for months before an important fight. They pickled their hands and faces in brine to toughen the skin; they fought real fights in training, unprotected by headgear or even gloves, back in the early days of the ring.

When they fought, their knuckles were bare and not protected by yards of bandages and tape, covered over with six ounces of padded glove. They fought to a finish and were trained to keep on battling even though "cut to ribbons" by the foe.

Now look at them! Boxers today train by rope-skipping and calisthenics, instead of road work and hard knocks.

While training for a fight they are rendered impervious to head blows, protected by padded helmets, then use 12-ounce gloves, and they think they have done a terrific day's work if they box six rounds, or even four, in practice.

In the ring the reaction sets in. Minus all the protection worn in training, they find that the socks of the enemy jar them out of all reason. They can't take it. Their wind and resistance give way too quickly.

It all may explain why so many knockouts occur today as compared with fights of other times when longer battles and better conditioning were the vogue. Perhaps if boys now resorted to the harder work and toughening processes used 40 years ago, they might be able to take it better.

The College Idea.

BOXING STILL is on the sport calendars of many colleges but there is evidence to show that university sport authorities think the game is a little bit too rugged for the students.

Reforms in the regulations have tempered the sport to suit the intellectual idea of what boxing should be. Here are some of the changes to be introduced next semester:

Gloves must weigh 12 ounces instead of 10.

Thumbs must be laced to the palm of the glove—leaving no loose thumbs for opponents' eyes.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 13.

THE Cardinals will conclude their series with Bill McKechnie's Cincinnati Reds here tomorrow afternoon with a doubleheader and then move to Chicago for a three-game series with the Cubs before returning to St. Louis to open a long home stand on Wednesday against the Pirates.

Manager Frankie Frisch will probably pitch Bob Weiland, his ace southpaw, in the first game today, and it will probably be Curt Davis or Clyde Shoun on the hill in the nightcap. Paul Derringer is due to hurl one of the contests for Cincinnati, and almost anyone on the Reds' staff will be ready for the other assignment, but Ray Davis or Whitey Moore will probably get the call.

LAFFOON AND BURKE TIED FOR LEAD IN OPEN

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13. — Bill Burke, the 1931 National Open champion, cheered the home folks here today by shooting a 34-35—69 in the $10,000 Cleveland Open golf tournament to take a place beside Ky Laffoon of Chicago at the head of the parade.

Burke's 69 was just two strokes better than Laffoon's even par 71 and gave him a 210 equally as neat as Laffoon's.

The Cleveland pro birdied the 387-yard seventh hole and the 410-yard tenth, and played par golf the rest of the day. He was long on his tee shots and sure with his putter.

Two strokes behind Laffoon and Burke was Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., who shot a three-under-par 68 for a total of 212.

Laffoon, shooting the round with Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who finished with 71 for 214, had trouble all afternoon. So did Snead. Off the first tee, Snead hooked his shot out of bounds and took a six, two over par. On the second, Snead's approach dropped in a creek and cost him another stroke.

Three strokes away from the leaders, with the final set for tomorrow, were E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Chicago, and Jim Foulis, who equaled the course record with a 67 yesterday.

Harrison had a 71 today and Foulis shot four birdies on the last five holes to take a 69. This gave Foulis, Hinsdale (Ill.) pro and grandson of another Jim who was U. S. Open champion in 1896, a total of 213 along with Harrison.

Foulis' record equaling 67 of yesterday was equaled today by Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, L. I. Hines' round, however, left him bracketed in the group with 215 scores, including Bill Kaiser of Louisville, Ky., Ray Mangrum of Oakmont, Pa., and Ralph Guldahl of Madison, N. J., the National Open champion, who seemed to be having trouble with his putting today. Guldahl finished in even par figures nevertheless.

Willie Goggin of San Bruno, Cal., had a hot 33 for the out-going nine today, but took a 37 on the return trip for a 70. This gave him a 214 total, four strokes behind the leaders.

Don R. Boyd, an amateur from Akron, O., provided one of the two best shots of the day when his second shot on the eighteenth, a try of about 150 yards, rolled into the cup for an eagle two. Terl Johnson of Norristown, Pa., pulled the same stunt from about the same distance on the third hole earlier in the day.

ALEXANDER AND TEAM TO PLAY SOUTH ENDS

Grover Cleveland Alexander and his House of Alexander bearded baseball team will meet the South End semi-pros in a game here tonight at the South End park.

Two Jockeys Suspended After Seabiscuit's Victory

DEL MAR, Cal., Aug. 13.—Jockeys George Woolf and Noel Richardson were suspended today for "foul riding" as an aftermath to yesterday's riotous match race in which Seabiscuit beat Ligaroti by a head.

The pair were set down for the duration of the Del Mar Turf Club meeting and the stewards recommended the suspension last until Dec. 31. The California horse racing board has without exception been attentive to similar requests.

Seabiscuit, one of the country's greatest money winners, set a new track record in adding the winner-take-all price of $25,000 to its earnings. The time was 1:49 flat for the mile and an eighth.

No more than half length separated the winner, owned by C. S. Howard, and the Argentine horse, owned by Howard's son, Lin Howard, and Bing Crosby, president of the track.

The stewards, close-lipped after Richardson filed a protest against Woolf's tactics, refused to enlarge upon their written statement which charged "foul riding."

Browns' Protest Is Disallowed

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—President Will Harridge of the American League overruled today a demand by the St. Louis Browns for a replay of the Aug. 2 game which Washington won, 5 to 3, at St. Louis.

The Browns had protested the game, claiming Umpire Harry Geisel collided with Catcher Billy Sullivan of the Browns and prevented him from scoring. Harridge said the collision was an "incident of the game" and could not be considered grounds for a replay.

COOPER, HOUSTON HURLER, SUSPENDED

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 13.—Morton Cooper, Buff fireball hurler and Texas League strikeout king, departed for his home at Independence, Kan., today, nursing an ailing salary wing and on the Houston suspended list. Cooper drew the suspension when he refused to go with the team last night for a swing through north Texas.

"It's a matter of discipline," Fred Ankenman, Buff prexy, said in announcing the suspension and a $25 fine.

Cooper said today he blamed no one for his arm injury. He pitched out of turn a couple of times, but told Ankenman today he never was ordered to work ahead of schedule.

RIGGS MEETS JOE HUNT IN FINAL AT RYE

By the Associated Press.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Bobby Riggs of Chicago, top-seeded favorite, and Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, current king of the "upsetters," qualified today to meet in the final of the Eastern grass courts tennis championship at the Westchester Country Club.

Tomorrow's meeting between the two will be about their fortieth since they broke into top-flight tennis and from all indications it may be their hardest. Riggs breezed through, as expected, to a 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 semifinal victory over 17-year-old Jack Kramer of Montebello, Cal., while Hunt, playing impressively, downed the veteran Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., 6-0, 6-4, 6-2.

The women's singles final between Alice Marble of Beverly Hills, Cal., and Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., first and third, respectively, in the national ranking, and the men's doubles final, featuring the No. 1 team of Don Budge and Gene Mako, also will be decided tomorrow.

Miss Marble and Mrs. Sarah Fabyan of Cambridge, Mass., the United States and Wimbledon champions, annexed the women's doubles crown today, defeating the British team of Kay Stammers and Margot Lumb, 6-4, 6-1.

Hunt, sixth in the national ranking, today gained his second straight victory over a player seeded above him. Yesterday he routed second-seeded Frankie Parker and today he beat Allison, No. 4 on the list.

The Los Angeles collegian carried too many guns for the 34-year-old Allison. He brought in his service with power and precision and was hit well off both backhand and forehand. Occasionally he was passed at the net when the Texan flashed some of his old-time volleying skill, but in the main Hunt was too fast and too accurate.

Budge and Mako went into the doubles final by beating Russell Bobbitt of Atlanta and Frank Guernsey Jr. of Orlando, Fla., 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. The Southerners tried for everything and occasionally made some surprising returns. Their opponents tomorrow will be Hunt and Sidney B. Wood Jr., former Davis Cup player from New York. They conquered the former national champions, Allison and John Van Ryn, 4-6, 8-6, 9-7, 6-4.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Wild Bill Cox, the young man who came to the Browns with his fast one in a deal that sent Jack Knott to the White Sox, had something on the ball at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon, and, with the Brownies backing him brilliantly in the field and displaying a highly efficient attack, Wild Bill registered his first victory as a member of Gabby Street's recently improving club.

The Detroit Tigers, now under the management of Del Baker, nicked Wild Bill for nine hits, while the Browns were collecting the same total off George Gill. But Sergeant Street's warriors took greater advantage of their opportunities and at the finish Cox, looking like the pitcher Gabby figured he would be, was the winner, 6 to 3.

Harlond Clift made it easier for Wild Bill by whacking his twenty-first home run of the season against the bleacher wall with Buster Mills on base in the seventh inning, the two runs making the fans breathe a bit more confidently as the Tigers made a final threat in the ninth inning.

Enter—the Sergeant.

Pinch-Hitter Walker batted for Gill with one out in the final frame and singled to center, and, after White grounded out, Rogell drew a pass, the fourth issued by Cox. With Gehringer, Greenberg and York, three mighty sluggers, fingering bats in the Detroit rack, the situation was perilous.

But Sergeant Street strode from the dug-out, talked things over with his hand-picked young pitcher, and Cox, steadied by the word from his leader, a veteran of many wars, retired the dangerous Gehringer on a grounder to the graceful MacQuinn to end the threat and send the Ladies' day crowd of 4394 persons home happy.

The only sour note in the contest was the failure of Melo Almada, the scintillating son of Mexico, to continue his remarkable batting streak. But as the Browns won, the fact that his string of 29 games was broken was gladly overlooked.

A single by McQuinn, a double by Buster Mills and a long fly by Bell gave the Browns a run in the first inning, though they also needed a wild throw by Pitcher Gill. Mills, on second when the fly was hit, ran to third and would have been doubled off second easily, wiping out the run McQuinn carried over the plate, if Gill hadn't fired the ball high to second.

Heffner Bats in Two Mates.

Don Heffner, the little man with the stout heart, singled in the fourth to drive in Clift, and Kress, who had walked and advanced on an infield out.

Gehringer produced the first Detroit run when he hit to the pavilion roof in the fifth for his sixteenth homer of the season, but the Browns rallied in their half and scored a run on McQuinn's double and Buster Mills' single.

A pass to York, a triple by Morgan and an infield out netted two runs for the Tigers in the sixth, but that was their last fruitful rally, and, as previously told, Buster Mills got his third safety, a single, in the seventh and Clift drove him home with a four-bagger inside the park.

As is usually true, the Browns, beating a strong team, looked like anything but an eighth-place club, and it was especially pleasing, with the team needing pitchers, to see young Wild Bill Cox come through so bravely.

BROWNIE NOTES.

MEL MAZZERA, Harlond Clift and either Red Kress or Beau Bell will represent the Browns in the long-distance hitting contest with the Tigers this afternoon. Mazzera hit the longest drive during batting practice yesterday, the wallop striking the zero in the 405-foot mark in right-center. Clift ranked second, with Kress and Bell tied for third. Manager Street will pick the third hitter today.

Hank Greenberg indicated in the Tiger practice that he intended to make this Greenberg day. He bombarded the scoreboard above the left field bleachers and is favored to win the slugging contest. Rudy York and Charley Gehringer will be the other Detroit sluggers.

Each contestant will hit 10 fair balls and will be permitted to select his own pitcher. Umpire Hubbard will decide whether the drives are fair or foul. The prize for the longest drive will be $100, with $50 for the runnerup.

Buck Newsom and Oral Hildebrand probably will pitch against the Tigers in the doubleheader, which will start at 1:30 o'clock. Vernon Kennedy and Eldon Auker are due for Detroit.

The opening game of the series attracted a ladies' day crowd of 4394, including 2162 paid and 1264 women.

Mel Almada's hitting streak was stopped by Gill, after the Brownie center fielder had hit safely in 29 consecutive games. White made a glove-hand catch of Almada's line drive in the first inning, the nearest bid for a safety. He flied to White in the third, to Fox in the fifth and grounded to Rogell in the seventh.

George McQuinn ran his string to 22 games, hitting a single in the first inning and a double in the fifth.

AUSTRALIA LEADS JAPAN, 2 TO 1, IN DAVIS CUP ZONE FINAL

BROMWICH AND QUIST WIN IN DOUBLES PLAY

Leaders Need Even Split in Today's Singles Matches to Go Into Interzone Round With Germany.

By the Associated Press.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13. — Australia's Davis Cup team, checked by a split in the opening singles matches yesterday, took the lead over Japan today in the North American Zone final when its doubles team of Jack Bromwich and Adrian Quist whipped Fumiteru Nakano and Jiro Yamagishi, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3.

This triumph, giving the Australians a 2-1 lead, made it virtually certain they will oppose Germany in the inter-zone series at Boston next week-end. They need to win only one of tomorrow's concluding singles encounters to take the series. Quist and Yamagishi, winners of the first singles encounters, will meet in the opening match and Bromwich and Nakano in the other.

Quist's brilliant net work gave the Australians their rather easy victory today. More than making up for his 19-year-old partner's erratic hitting, Quist blasted the Japanese off the courts with bullet-like smashes and neatly-placed volleys.

The little Nakano, who has played surprisingly well in the series, was the target for most of Quist's smashes and he couldn't withstand the pace. Yamagishi wasn't playing so well as when he beat Bromwich yesterday, but even his best hardly would have been enough to halt the Australians.

After moving up to the net for the first time in the fifth game of the opening set, Quist and Bromwich kept the play under control. They remained in the forecourt to win four games and the set, eased up a trifle while the Japanese gained a 4-3 lead in the second, then went on to win easily.

Leonard Schwartz, spare member of the Australian team, overpowered Yasumine Kuramitsu, Japanese spare, 6-4, 6-4, in an exhibition match.

White Sox Hand Allen Fourth Defeat.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Chicago's White Sox broke even in a doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians today when Thornton Lee won a duel with Johnny Allen, 2 to 1, in the second game after the Tribe had overwhelmed the Sox in the opener, 13 to 4. It was Allen's fourth defeat as against 13 triumphs.

Cleveland scored nine runs on seven hits and two walks to start the first game and never lost the lead behind the pitching of Bob Feller, who gave up seven hits in his twelfth victory this season.

Allen permitted the Sox only five hits in the second game, but lost a tight battle with Lee, who held the Indians scoreless until the ninth inning. Rip Radcliff's double with two men on base in the opening frame gave the Sox their two runs.

In a weird fourth inning of the first game, the Sox tallied twice after Feller had fanned John Whitehead for the third out with the bases loaded. Catcher Rollie Hemsley dropped the third strike and instead of tagging Whitehead, or throwing to first, he rolled the ball to the rubber.

Coach Billy Webb of the Sox yelled to the runners to hurry home, as the Indians walked from the field. Radcliff, who had started for left field, scored from third, Mike Kreevich from second, Joe Kuhel reached third and Whitehead dropped his glove and ran all the way to second. An argument ensued in which the Indians maintained Kreevich passed Radcliff on the base path and Manager Oscar Vitt of the Indians said he would finish the game under protest.

Umpire Quinn allowed the two runs.

Luck Chief Factor in Life Of Manager, Tiger Leader Says

By Robert Morrison.

An hour with Del Baker, the Detroit Tigers' new manager, and you are convinced nothing is more certain than uncertainty, and all baseball managers are victims of circumstances, happy or otherwise.

Twenty-seven years in the game have left him with no illusions and a passion for keeping his mouth shut at the right times.

It has been said he didn't want to be a manager.

This was one of those right times.

He took a chair in a light and airy room at the Chase, lit a cigarette and said neither yes nor no.

Two years ago Mickey Cochrane was ill and Baker handled the Tigers. There was an idea then that Baker might make a good manager. A year ago Cochrane was out again with a head injury and Baker again was in charge.

Pressed Into Service.

He didn't want to be manager then, of course. But when the time came a week ago when President Walter Briggs of the Detroit club told Baker he wanted him as manager, that Cochrane was leaving, Baker replied:

"If you think I'm the proper man, I'll try it and do the best I can."

And whatever that best is, Baker firmly believes that luck plays the major role in the fortunes of baseball managers.

"I'm going along the balance of this season with no changes. I haven't had time yet to make up my mind what I'll do to the club next year. It depends on so many things that can't be foreseen. I can't tell how long it would take to make the team a winner again, and it does no good to talk about your plans because anything might happen between now and next year.

"Look at Connie Mack. One of the shrewdest men in baseball and when he scrapped his team, it took him years to rebuild it. No one, no matter how much ego he might have, can say what he can or can't do.

"I don't want to talk about my team as it stands now. It doesn't do any good, and it's unethical. I don't like to criticise anyone, and if I should say something, it might look foolish three months from now.

"We need some ball players but when you find what you need it's just luck. You might run across them any place. Look at Turner and Fette. They were kicked around from pillar to post for years before they came through for Boston.

What It Takes.

"Here's what it takes to make a good ball player: confidence in ability, determination to carry it out and hustle and battle on the field. That's all there is to it—but try and find 'em.

"There's a tremendous scarcity. Out of millions to draw from we have 350 major league players. Think of it—350! But how are you going to find them? Scouts can't do it. Managers can't do it. Nobody can do it. It's just luck.

"It seems to run in cycles. Now we have a scarcity in pitchers and catchers, and we're beginning to have a shortage of outfielders. There is no solution, no way to renew the supply. You just have to let the trend run its course."

Baker came up from the Pacific Coast and Texas Leagues. He was manager at Beaumont, his first connection with the Detroit organization. He developed several players who turned out to be Tiger stars—homer-hitting Hank Greenberg, Schoolboy Rowe, Jo Jo White and others who helped to bring pennants to Tigertown in 1934 and 1935.

It has been said his signal-stealing as coach of the Tigers has helped Greenberg tag many pitches for home runs.

"Nothing to it," Baker said yesterday. "Absolutely nothing to it, and I won't take credit for that."

And that's the way he seems to be. He won't take credit for anything.

"Managers only help ball players," he said. "Ball players make managers."

And if ballplayers make managers, then managers must depend on the human element, and Baker is certain that there is nothing more uncertain than the unpredictable, flighty, quixotic thing known as the human element.

Dodgers Split; Camilli Has Two Triples, Double

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—The Bees held onto fifth place in the National League today by splitting a doubleheader with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bill Posedel's steady eight-hit pitching and a 12-hit attack featured by Dolph Camilli's two triples and a double, gave the Dodgers an 8 to 1 victory in the opener. In the nightcap, the Bees won out, 4 to 3, in the ninth inning, when Johnny Cooney's double and Johnny Hudson's error let Pinch Hitter Harl Maggert score with the deciding run. Three of the Bees' runs in this game scored on errors.

Manager Burleigh Grimes announced the Brooklyns were playing the second game under protest after the fifth inning, when Joe Stripp purposely dropped a soft liner and turned it into a double play with the bases loaded and none out. Grimes claimed it was an infield fly.

DEAN ROUTED BY PIRATES BUT GETS VICTORY

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13.—The Chicago Cubs unloaded a powerhouse attack again today to crush the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates for the second straight time, 11 to 5, although the great Dizzy Dean and his $185,000 arm failed to last through the full nine innings.

It was the second time in a row Dizzy had been unable to go the route, but he received credit for his sixth victory as the Cubs, hot on the heels of the Pirates and Giants, blasted out 17 hits and scored in all but three innings.

As a result the Pirates lost a half game to the second place New York Giants, who split a doubleheader at Philadelphia and are now five games off the pace. The Cubs closed their gap to half a game behind New York.

The Pirates plastered Dizzy with five hits and four runs in the seventh inning, driving him out of the box, but the rally made the game close only momentarily.

Cy Blanton, who had won eight straight games, started for the Pirates but he didn't last the first inning. Frank Demaree, with four for four, including a home run, had a perfect day at bat, and Stan Hack tripled twice for the Cubs. Their hitting helped put the Cubs off to a fast start, three runs in the first and one each in the next four consecutive innings, to which four more were added in the ninth.

Dizzy, who had not worked since two weeks ago today when the Phillies disposed of him in five innings, used his curves and floaters judiciously to hold Pittsburgh to five hits for six innings before he blew up. It was his first effort against the Pirates this season.

Hubbell Hurls Four-Hitter, Then Giants Lose.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13.—The New York Giants looked like a million dollars for 14 innings today, but after that they dropped to about 10 cents worth and wound up with an even break with the Phillies in a doubleheader.

The split, coupled with Pittsburgh's defeat by Chicago, boosted the New Yorkers to within five games of the National League pace. King Carl Hubbell hurled a four-hitter and his mates collected 15 hits to take the opener, 11 to 1. Cliff Melton pitched shutout ball for five innings of the nightcap, then the Phils rallied to pull out a 4 to 2 victory.

Hubbell chalked up his thirteenth victory in the opner. Bill Cissell hit a homer and two singles, driving in four runs.

Big Max Butcher, recent importation from Brooklyn, made his Phils' debut in the afterpiece and pitched a six-hitter. A two-run eighth-inning rally decided the game. Mel Ott was ejected in the sixth for protesting a decision at third base.

Pat O'Brien the movie actor in calling the Seabiscuit-Ligaroti race on the radio announced Ligaroti as the winner. Indicating that once in his life Pat picked the wrong uniform.

It was a head finish. Both jockeys fought a great race and were promptly unseated by the track officials for fouling each other.

It was one of those races on which it was impossible to lose as there was no public betting.

Seabiscuit won but was badly beaten by his jockey. To further complicate matters, Ligaroti is owned jointly by Lin Howard son of the Biscuit's owner and Bing Crosby, president of the track and a crooner of parts.

Amateur boxers who have appeared in public are not eligible to university tournaments.

College officials intend to make boxing a sport for gentlemen, with boxing and not fighting as the keynote.

But this will merely add to the softening of such boxers as may want to try their wings in the open competition of the world.

In a game devoted to hard knocks, you have to be able to take as well as give. And you can't learn the meaning of a crack on the jaw by interposing a pillow between the blow and the chin.

The Case of Football.

WORRYING ABOUT college boxers is just a bit funny when you think what happens to the college football player. The gridiron star has to learn to take it everywhere from head to foot.

He is slammed to the ground while traveling at full speed.

His head cracks the frozen ground harder than any fighter could punch it.

He spends weeks getting himself in condition for about seven games; and then he has to be relieved because of the punishment.

True, the football man wears protective armor. Only sometimes the protective armor for the wearer becomes a deadly weapon against the opponent, inflicting serious harm on the blocker or trackler at times.

If there's any collegiate sport that could stand a little softening, it is football. But, instead, the gridiron athlete must be harder and tougher each year, while the boxers become annually more ladylike.

"It's the principle involved," collegiate heads explain. "In football if a player is hurt it's accidental; but in boxing, it's intentional. We find it hard to indorse as a sport a competition in which the primary intent of the athletes is to injure one another."

Well, it does sound a bit rough. As a matter of fact, there is no animosity involved in ring competition. Beaten fighters grin and congratulate the victor, after losing. Some critics believe there is more planned effort to injure opponents on the football field than in the ring.

Perhaps you might think the same way if you listened in on some football talk just before a big game, in which one eleven is trying to figure how to "stop" a scoring threat on the other side.

Weights Are Changing.

COLLEGIATE BOXING circles have again changed the weight of one division, the bantam. Next season the maximum will be 120 pounds.

This weight class has undergone many changes through the years. Way back in the "can-you-remember-when" days, Jimmy Barry, undefeated bantam champion, weighed about 105 pounds when he was in shape.

Gradually, the weight crept up until it became 116, ringside weigh-in, and remained at that figure for years. Since that time it has been shoved up to 118 and now the colleges are making it 120, weigh-in during the afternoon.

All fight divisions today have maximum weights different from those of the past. The featherweight has advanced from 122 ringside to 126 at 2 p. m.; the lightweight limit originally was 133 ringside, now it's 135 at noon; the welterweight maximum was once 142 ringside, and now it's 147 at noon. The middleweight figure originally was 154 and then 158 ringside; today it's 160 at noon; the light-heavyweight class has not changed from an original 175 pounds, and the heavyweight class, of course, is any old weight you can make.

The changes, especially that one from ringside to noon weigh-in, has been the salvation of many boxers.

Ringside weighing became an unbelievable cruelty in some cases and fighters who were close to the line suffered pangs of hunger, thirst and nervous anxiety that boxers of today are wholly free from.

Forfeits for weight-making were common then, and boys known to be close to the line were asked to put up considerable sums for weight and appearance.

The possibility of losing some $2000 in forfeits, and the match as well, did not put boxers in any too happy a frame of mind, even though they afterwards weighed as required.

Making weight for Bat Nelson is said to have started Joe Gans on the road to physical decline, which ultimately ended in his death from tuberculosis.

YANKEES GET 14 HITS, BEAT ATHLETICS, 11-4

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. — The Yankees had another slugging party at the expense of the Philadelphia Athletics today, banging out 14 hits for an 11 to 4 victory.

Rookie Steve Sundra, going the route for the first time this year, held the Athletics to esven hits, one of them Bob Johnson's twenty-fifth homer of the season with the bases empty in the eighth inning.

George Selkirk, who clouted three four-baggers in yesterday's doubleheader, added another today, and Tommy Henrich snapped out of his slump with a three-run round-tripper in the seventh. The homers boosted the Yankee total in this department for the year to 117.

Nelson Potter, who pitched the first 6 1-3 frames, gave up all the Yankees runs and was charged with the defeat.

MERICAN TEAM SETS 400-YARD RELAY RECORD

United States Leads After First Day's Program by Nine Points — Wolcott Wins Hurdles.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Aug. 13. — America's well-balanced array of track and field athletes established a clear lead today over Germany's best, most of them members of the 1936 Olympic team, in the first of the two-day competition in Olympic Stadium.

The United States team, taking six firsts and as many seconds in the 10 events, scored 58 points to the Germans' 49. The invaders won five of the six track events, finishing one, two in two of them, and captured the two top positions in the pole vault. As expected, the Germans showed their strength in the field events.

A crowd of 60,000 saw the meet open with a surprise victory by Germany's Rudolf Harbig over the American pair of Charlie Beetham and Howie Borck in the 800-meter run and end with a record-smashing performance by the United States quartet in the 400-meter relay. A wet track handicapped the athletes in the early events but it was lightning fast for the relay.

The American team of Wilbur Greer, Mozel Ellerbe, Clyde Jeffrey and Ben Johnson reeled off the 400 meters in 40 seconds flat, only three-tenths of a second short of the world record established by a U. S. four in the last Olympics. The time clipped six-tenths of a second off the old German mark. The Germans also were under the former record with a clocking of 40.3.

Johnson Wins Dash.

Earlier in the afternoon, Johnson and Ellerbe had run one, two, respectively, in the 100-meter dash with the former Columbia University ace flashing across the line in .5 seconds.

The most colorful event from the spectators' viewpoint was the 10,000-meter race, won by Eino Pentti of New York, only Olympic athlete on the American team, in 32:11.2. J. Errol Vaughn of New York alternated at setting the pace and running last, but couldn't keep pace with Pentti when the latter stepped to the front with three laps to go. Fifty yards separated them at the finish with Walter Schoenrock, first of the Germans, another 200 yards back.

Wisconsin's Chuck Fenske, winner of the 1500 meters, was one o the heroes of the day with Germany's younger athletes, who studied his style intently as he steppe the distance in 3:53.8. Getting of to a slow start with Blaine Rideou and the Germans, Harry Mehlhos and Helmut Koertner, Fenske ra third throughout the first 800 meters, speeded up with the rest du ing the next 400 and then took th lead and won easily.

Rideout apparently had secon place won when the Germans mad a gallant bid in the last 200 meter While Koertner fought it out wit the Texan 50 meters from the fi ish, Mehlhose came from behind t beat both with third going t Koertner.

Walkaway for Wolcott.

The 110-meter hurdles was walkaway for Fred Wolcott of Ri Institute, who was clocked in 14 seconds. Allan Tolmich of Wayn University, his nearest rival, w five-tenths of a second slower.

That the Americans would w the pole vault with little oppositi had been expected as also we Germany's victories in the hamm throw, discus and hop-step a jump. America's pole-vaulting pa of Cornelius Warmerdam of Sa Francisco and George Varoff Oregon finished one, two. The fo mer cleared 13 feet 11¼ inches a the latter, 13 feet 7⅛ inches.

Germany's Erwin Blask, who r cently bettered Pat Ryan's 2 year-old world record, won th hammer throw with a heave 187 feet, 8 inches. Karl Hein, th Olympic champion, was seco while Irving Folwartshny and B Lynch, the American entries, we outdistanced.

Willie Schroeder fell far short his world record in the discus b his distance of 167 feet was go enough to beat the American pa of Phil Leby and Pete Zagar.

Wisconsin's Chuck Fenske, winner of the 1500 meters, was one of the heroes of the day with Germany's younger athletes, who studied his style intently as he stepped the distance in 3:53.8. Getting off to a slow start with Blaine Rideout and the Germans, Harry Mehlhose and Helmut Koertner, Fenske ran third throughout the first 800 meters, speeded up with the rest during the next 400 and then took the lead and won easily.

Rideout apparently had second place won when the Germans made a gallant bid in the last 200 meters. While Koertner fought it out with the Texan 50 meters from the finish, Mehlhose came from behind to beat both with third going to Koertner.

Walkaway for Wolcott.

The 110-meter hurdles was a walkaway for Fred Wolcott of Rice Institute, who was clocked in 14.1 seconds. Allan Tolmich of Wayne University, his nearest rival, was five-tenths of a second slower.

That the Americans would win the pole vault with little opposition had been expected as also were Germany's victories in the hammer throw, discus and hop-step and jump. America's pole-vaulting pair of Cornelius Warmerdam of San Francisco and George Varoff of Oregon finished one, two. The former cleared 13 feet 11¾ inches and the latter, 13 feet 7⅛ inches.

Germany's Erwin Blask, who recently bettered Pat Ryan's 25-year-old world record, won the hammer throw with a heave of 187 feet, 8 inches. Karl Hein, the Olympic champion, was second while Irving Folwartshny and Bill Lynch, the American entries, were outdistanced.

Willie Schroeder fell far short of his world record in the discus but his distance of 167 feet was good enough to beat the American pair of Phil Leby and Pete Zagar.

MUSTO BOXES HERE AGAIN, SEPT. 16

Tony Musto, the vest pocket edition of the heavyweight boxing class, who has won his two starts in St. Louis, stopping Leonard Bostick and outpointing Art Oliver, is to box here again on Sept. 16 it was announced last night by Pete Fabro, promoter whose promotions have been artistic successes and financial failures.

It is likely that either Harry Thomas or Otis Thomas will provide the opposition for Musto whose busy battling is rapidly making him a real favorite with St. Louis fans.

POPHAM TAKES LEAD IN ST. CLAIR GOLF

Howard Popham, Edwardsville golfer, took the lead in the first annual St. Clair Country Club invitational tournament with a score of 73, one over par, yesterday. John Mohler, St. Louis, was second with 75.

Of the 200 entrants, about 50 played yesterday and the rest of the field is scheduled to play the 18 holes today.

Belleville's Legion Team Wins by 38-12

ROCHESTER, Minn., Aug. 13.—Belleville, Ill., completely crushed Ottumwa, Ia., 38 to 12, in an American Legion junior regional baseball game here today.

The game required more than three hours to play as Belleville players ran themselves weary in scoring no less than two runs an inning and in one, the third, crossing the plate 11 times.

The big contributing factor to Ottumwa's downfall was commission of 17 errors and generally raggedness of play throughout. The Belleville team punched out 35 hits off three hurlers.

Belleville by its victory advanced into Sunday's regional finals and will meet the winner of the midway post of St. Paul-Cudahy, Wis., contest.

Belleville tomorrow will play the Cudahy, Wis., team in the regional final. Cudahy today won from Midway Post of St. Paul, 20 to 7.

Aubuchon-Dennison Team Plays Memphis Today.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 13.—The American Legion junior baseball championship of the eleventh regional tournament will be decided here tomorrow when the team of Aubuchon-Dennison Post, St. Louis, meets the Memphis, Tenn., team. The Missouri State champion had a bye in the drawing Friday night, while the Memphis aggregation defeated the host club, Wheeling, 8-0, in the opening game today.

The winner here will enter the sectional tourney at Charlotte, N. C., next week-end, when a "little world series" entry will be decided.

WASHINGTON KEEPS PRINTERS' BASEBALL TITLE

Washington climaxed a great comeback to retain its Union Printers international baseball tournament championship yesterday when it crushed St. Louis, 19 to 3, for its fifth consecutive victory following an opening round defeat by Baltimore.

It was Washington's fourteenth championship. Another defeat would have eliminated it in its uphill battle to the title, but it won successively from Pittsburgh, 14 to 1; Twin Cities, 5-3; St. Louis, 18-15; Baltimore, 19-12, and St. Louis again.

George Mosedale, Washington pitcher, gained his third victory of the tournament when he beat St. Louis yesterday, the second time this week. He held the local team to 10 scattered hits, walked five and struck out 10.

For four innings it seemed St. Louis was on its way to its second championship since 1915, at Philadelphia. Joe Splean, St. Louis pitcher, had the Washingtons shut out on five hits, while his mates bunched two singles and a double in the third to push across two runs.

Washington, however, came back in the fifth to score four times on five hits, an error and a base on balls. One of the hits was Phil Boundford's first of two consecutive homers in successive innings, a long drive to left center scoring Schneider.

Washington scored in every inning thereafter, getting five runs in the sixth, three in the seventh, one in the eighth and six in the ninth, one of which was another homer, this time by Jack Reid.

Norman Springett, St. Louis shortstop, scored St. Louis' final run in the fifth with a home run.

The leading batter of the tournament was A. Cooney, New York outfielder, who hit .529. He received the Nelson Memorial Medal. The winning Washington players received medals from the National League and the runner-up St. Louis players medals from the American League.

WOMEN'S STATE GOLF AT ST. JOE AUG. 29

The fourth annual Missouri women's golf tournament will be held at the St. Joseph Country Club, St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 29 to Sept. 3.

It is expected the entry will include between 150 and 200 women, among them the defending champion, Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City.

Mrs. H. N. Stevenson, 1037 Noyes boulevard, St. Joseph is receiving entries. The fee for golfers whose clubs belong to the State Association is $3, for nonmembers $5.

College All-Stars To Start Training Here Saturday

A rigorous training schedule will greet the squad of burly collegians, notified to report here next Saturday to begin practice for the college all-star—professional football game scheduled for Sept. 1 at Walsh Memorial Stadium, Cecil E. Muellerleile, St. Louis University head coach and director of the all-star squad, said yesterday.

The all-star squad, comprised of football players who have completed their college careers, is scheduled to battle the powerful Chicago Cardinals of the National Professional Football League for the benefit of Father Charles P. Maxwell's Boys' Camp fund.

The charity contest will raise the curtain here on the 1938 football season. Tickets go on sale Tuesday, Father Maxwell announced, and a large crew of volunteer workers will cover the city, receiving ticket orders and delivering the pasteboards.

DEAN AND KAMMANN IN DOUBLES FINAL OF EAST ST. LOUIS TENNIS

Mrs. Bert Thompson and Loretta Beuckman defeated Mercedes and Margaret Tribout yesterday, 6-1, 6-2, to gain the East St. Louis women's doubles tennis title.

In the men's doubles event, Norman Dean and Karl Kammann won from Carl Neureuther and Tom Shanklin in a semifinal match, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3. The winners will oppose Pete Shukest and Larry Harper in the final match at the Jones Park tennis courts at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Lillian Tribout and Frank Biegler advanced to the final of the mixed doubles event by upsetting the defending champions, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thompson, in a quarter-final match, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3 and by turning back Florence Lane and Robert Maddux in the semi-finals, 6-4, 6-4.

Margaret Tribout and Randall Klein defeated Geraldine McMahon and Norman Dean, 6-3, 6-4, before losing to Marion White and Pete Shukest, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0. Miss White and Shukest will meet Lillian Tribout and Frank Biegler in the title match this morning.

SID SALOMON IN GOLF FINAL AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Art Doering, the Chicagoan who led all the amateurs in the National Open at Denver, disposed of Don Armstrong, defending champion from Aurora, Ill., one up today in the 18-hole semifinals of the Chicago district amateur golf tournament to advance to tomorrow's 36-hole final in which he will meet Sid Salomon of St. Louis.

In the morning quarterfinals, Armstrong defeated Johnny Krutilla, Chicago, one-up, and Doering won by a like margin from A. H. Anderson, Kenosha, Wis. Salomon came back to win, defeating Jack Frost, Kenosha, one-up, after being two down at the end of the fourteenth.

Keaney, Wiese In Final at University City

Frank Keaney and Ray Wiese, finalists a week ago in the municipal tournament, will meet again for another title—the University City men's open—at the Lewis Park courts this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Keaney defeated Wiese last week in four sets.

Ted Eggmann was the semifinal victim of Keaney yesterday, losing by 6-1, 6-2, 6-4 scores. Wiese won from Wayne Smith, St. Louis County champion, 6-4, 6-2, 7-9, 2-6, 6-2.

The doubles final originally set for yesterday was postponed as Ward Parker, one of the finalists, has not returned from a trip to Minnesota. The match will be played at 4 o'clock this afternoon if Parker returns. Parker is paired with Eggmann and will oppose the team of Herbert Weinstock and Joyce Portnoy.

FORMER ROOSEVELT HIGH STAR WINS TWICE IN MEN'S CLASS A MEET

Henry Boecler, former Roosevelt High School star, now representing Francis Park, won two matches yesterday in the opening of the men's municipal Class A tennis tournament at Jefferson Memorial courts in Forest Park and reached the third round of play.

TWO NEW OIL FIELDS IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS

By the Associated Press.

CENTRALIA, Ill., Aug. 13.—Two new oil fields, opened a few days ago by discovery wells, are ready for further development in Southern Illinois.

Washington County, after many failures, had its first producer in the Thompson-Musial well in Dubois township, southeast of Nashville. Earl W. Thompson, president of the company, said the well would produce at least 50 to 75 barrels daily in the Stein sand at about 1260 feet. A location was prepared for another test across the road, and several other tests were being made in various parts of the county.

A pipeline was laid from the other discovery well, two miles west of Ina in Jefferson County, to a railroad loading rack. The Nollem-Benoist Co., which drilled the discovery, prepared to drill an offset. The Benedum Trees corporation was expected to drill three other nearby tests.

Near Sesser, in Franklin County, a derrick was erected on the Old Ben Coal corporation property, where the Adams Oil and Gas Co. was ready to sink a test. This location is not far from the new Ina field.

71 New Wells Started.

Throughout the basin, 71 new wells were started this week.

Drilling activity continued in Richland, Clay and Wayne Counties, led by the Pure Oil Co. with 12 new locations, 11 of them in the Clay City township field.

In the north Olney field, two wells were completed, two more were near the McClosky sand, and three other derricks were up. In southwest Olney township, a rig was up for a test near the Faris No. 1 well.

North of Noble, one well was being drilled near the McClosky formation. The plug was drilled in a new well in the Mammoth pool, south of Noble. Farther south, in the Wicklund pool, two wells were near the producing sand and a derrick was up for another test.

In the Cisne area of Wayne County, the Pure Oil Co. set casing to the oil sand in one well, deepened another and set up a derrick for a third. The important Walker test in eastern Wayne was coring for the McClosky sand. In the Weinert pool, south of Fairfield, four wells were being drilled. One well was near completion in Big Mound township.

Trouble With Salt Water.

The Leach brothers' test in Edwards County was being deepened after trouble with salt water in the McClosky formation. In Jasper County, Continental was coring in its test, but no oil had been reported.

The Fayette County field between Beecher City and St. Elmo was extended westward into Sefton township by two tests which struck 20 feet of saturation in the Stein sand, one of two producing formations being exploited in the area. The Carter Oil Co. had six new completions and independents had several others.

Townlot drilling had subsided at Centralia after about 400 wells were drilled.

Mussolini Still Italy's Master; Glorifies Himself in War-Minded Country as Heir of the Caesars

Said to Prefer Close Relations With Britain and France to Those With Germany, If He Is Not Obstructed.

LONDON, Aug. 13.

MINDFUL of the contribution of Italy to current international tension and of wide concern as to her future course, the Manchester Guardian has just published a report on the present state of that nation. The report, a series of articles under the general title "Italy: 1938", was written by a special correspondent lately returned from a visit there. It deals with the principal influences within the new Empire of Rome which are molding its destiny: Dictator Mussolini, war power and spirit, the economic system and foreign policy.

Mussolini, the investigator found, is "unchallengeable" master of Italy, exalted as never before, his prestige at home undiminished by Germany's swallowing of Austria. He is not only hailed as founder of the empire, but the personal pronoun designating him is frequently capitalized—Mussolini has become "Himself." Such a trend toward deification seems to fit in with the dictator's present passion for ancient Rome, ruled by Caesars who were worshiped as divinities.

Whatever his ambitions for personal glorification, however, the Duce is represented as preferring accord with England and even, eventually, France to close alliance with Germany—if the democracies will not obstruct his imperialistic plans.

The Rome-Berlin axis is useful in keeping anti-Fascist France uneasy and unhappy, but the peoples of the two totalitarian countries are not close to each other in feeling. In the opinion of the correspondent, Italy wishes to remain on good but not too intimate terms with Germany, their spheres of influence to be quite distinct. She would make concessions to Great Britain to avoid war. In fact, according to this analysis, Italy hopes to achieve a position in which she will hold the balance of power in Europe without resorting to war—except, possibly, against a weak country. France is in great disfavor with Italy; one reason for the Italian backing of Gen. Franco in the Spanish war is said to be Mussolini's desire to triumph over France, from which the loyalists have obtained support.

Mussolini's Martial Mood.

Despite his wish to achieve his ends by scheming rather than force, Mussolini has whipped up a martial mood in his country; such scheming needs the backing of armed power. Orators and writers proclaim that Italy is a "nation at arms." And the Italian people are being prepared from childhood for war. The youth organizations start their training; compulsory military service, officers' training schools and militia continue it. The corporative organization of industry, regimenting both employers and employes, is "recognized as a sort of permanent mobilization for war," says the observer. A recent Government publication stated that Italy could mobilize 8,000,000 men.

The corporative system, putting under State control such important phases of industry as plant expansions, prices, wages and working conditions, has not eradicated capitalism, and, the correspondent reports, in the last two or three years there has been less insistence from left wing Fascists that it should—due to a belief that private industry is needed for the efficient production of war materials. However, private industry is undoubtedly under Government authority, and a further curb on capitalism is the Government restriction and regulation of foreign exchange. A few of the biggest business men are thought to evade Government control. With all the regulation of business, the food and clothing available to the people are of poor quality in some particulars.

Excerpts From Articles.

The foregoing observations of the Manchester Guardian correspondent are amplified in the following excerpts from his articles:

Nearer 60 than 50 years old, a grandfather, and as hairless as the original Caesar at the same age, Mussolini is still the first to give the example of the strenuous life, piloting his own plane, driving his own car, and seizing chance opportunities to march and even to run at the head of military detachments, and to be photographed so doing . . .

This grandfatherly but unwearying hustler draws to himself more, rather than less, of the heat and burden and of the power and the glory than ten years ago . . . He is now Founder of the Empire and First Marshal of the Empire, unique in the former, and in the latter rank coequal with the only other First Marshal, the King Emperor.

Meanwhile the other personages of Italy (apart from the awkwardly placed King Emperor and his smiling son) have remained much where they were or have advanced less quickly than Himself . . . Only as joint First Marshal with the King does he accept a titular partnership with another man, perhaps remembering that the Caesars as consuls, when the consular office was merely honorific, accepted it jointly with heirs of illustrious families.

Mussolini must certainly ponder such precedents, for today he sets the style of an increasing emphasis on the monumental and written records of ancient Rome . . . Close students of Mussolini find that he says "Roman" where a few years ago he said "Italian" . . .

Mussolini's Big Name.

Meanwhile at the very center of ancient Rome (on the western bastion of the capitol) the name of Benito Mussolini is now inscribed in what is (under correction) by far the largest lettering to be found anywhere in that incomparable open-air museum of the Roman Forum, Trajan's Forum, Augustus' Forum and other antiquarian acres that have now been thrown together by the demolition of streets between Capitol and Colosseum. . .

In the world of current and contemporary affairs this Caesar has been able, in 1938, to bear frustration without appearing humiliated. Allow that a few years ago Mussolini openly proclaimed it his purpose to keep Germany out of Austria and that he failed to win Abyssinia without losing Austria. Allow, further, that when he had lost in substance he hoped still for Austrian-German unity to be achieved in circumstances of his own choosing, whereas on March 14 Hitler took him by surprise, showing that he set no great store upon Mussolini's benevolence. Yet Mussolini, with a deft throwing of all blame upon sanctions for destroying Italian-European collaboration, cleared himself. . . . Mussolini is not reproached for failing to restore the Stresa alignment, since by their sanctionist policy England and France are thought to have shown tendencies if anything more dangerous for Italy than those shown by Germany. England is held in part to have changed direction since those days, and thus to be eligible for some renewed collaboration with Italy; not so France.

The Italian of position and power who shows concern about Germany's intentions will very probably go on in the next sentence to show still greater concern about those of France. The Founder of the Empire, then, still has such people's confidence when he claims to be acquiescing, under historical duress, in the uncomfortable embrace of Germany.

He sees the one way out—if any—in resumed collaboration with converted England and, through that, with converted France. But meanwhile from his office under the Capitol he anxiously watches

Pacific Coast Bureau Gives Unions Professional Service

Work of Labor's G. H. Q. in San Francisco

Negotiates With Employers and, on Occasion, Conducts Strikes

H. P. Melnikow, Who Founded Bureau 17 Years Ago, Tries to Bring Intellectuals and Workers Together on Equal Basis.

Regarded as Bogey by Some Employers, Organization Resents, to Extent of Court Action, Charge That It Is Red.

H. P. MELNIKOW.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.

HERE on the Western front the labor war goes on. There has been no real let-up since the siege began in 1934. That is the news in the headlines of the San Francisco newspapers, with the threat, shadowy still but nevertheless real, that bigger battles are yet to come.

In the Pacific Coast Labor Bureau the trade unions of California, Washington and Oregon have a behind-the-lines intelligence service. It is perhaps no accident that the founder of the bureau, Henry P. Melnikow, should have served during the World War in the United States Army Intelligence Service in France. The bureau that he founded 17 years ago runs with a military efficiency and zeal, to say nothing of a military disregard of trade union hours.

What the Bureau Does for Its Union Clients

But military comparisons aside, it is actually the earnestness, the enthusiasm and intelligence of the experts who man this bureau that make it what it is. To the Pacific Coast Labor Bureau with offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle, any trade union can come for aid in negotiation or arbitration, for research, for auditing and accounting service, for general advice and counsel. And the fee will be on a cost-plus basis.

Die-hard employers on the West Coast are inclined in their gloomier moods to see in the bureau a sinister brain trust from which come plans that are hatched, in this lurid view, in Moscow or points east. Sometimes these fantastic legends merely amuse Melnikow and his colleagues. But on at least two occasions recently they have sued for libel at the charge of "Communism" and "Red," determined to put in the record proof of the strictly non-political basis on which they operate.

They are highly trained specialists in labor relations, with an accumulated background of experience. The kind of service they provide is what unions, and particularly new unions, have so often lacked in the recent past. If it is essential in the course of negotiations to buttress an argument with detailed statistics on the cost of living and real wages, these specialists know how to put them together in the shortest possible time.

And yet there is no laboratory detachment about the work of the bureau. The director and his associates are usually to be found in the middle of the argument. Their closest friends are union leaders. No line of demarcation sets off intellectuals from practical trade unionists. Such a line in American labor history has prevented the kind of working relationship between brains—knowledge is a more apt word—and the man on the job, that prevails here.

At the University of Wisconsin in his undergraduate years before the war Melnikow was a protege of Prof. John R. Commons, foremost authority on American labor. He was one of Commons' bright young men, those young men who are now active in the labor movement and in Government. Just before and just after his army service Melnikow was interested, with half a dozen young left-wing intellectuals, including Stuart Chase and George Soule, in the formation of a labor bureau in New York. Particularly at the close of the war there was a marked upswing in trade union activity and the bureau was to provide expert service.

Bureau Has Served About 300 Unions So Far

But leaders of the group developed outside interests and somehow the New York bureau always remained detached from the vital interests of organized labor. A similar bureau had been established in Chicago by another Commons protege and Melnikow came out here with the feeling that he could be useful to Pacific Coast trade unions. Since that time he has served about 300 unions, both American Federation of Labor and Committee for Industrial Organization with the business today divided fairly equally between the two groups.

The bureau now has a permanent staff of 30, plus a force of stenographers and clerks. Frequently when important negotiations or big strikes are on, the staff is doubled. And like a well-trained army the bureau can mobilize its forces wherever they are most needed up and down the whole length of the coast.

Here is the way the bureau works. Say that Teamsters' Local No. 85 in San Francisco (incidentally a client of long standing) comes to the bureau to request aid in conducting important wage negotiations. After some preliminary discussion the head of the union and Melnikow sign a standard contract form that has been worked out. This provides in most instances for monthly payments for arbitration, negotiation and general research, although the union might contract for more limited services. It is to run for a stipulated number of months or years but there is a provision "that the union may cancel this agreement at its option at any time, with the understanding that it shall pay . . . for all work done to date of cancellation on the regular basis of charges . . ." This last is typical of Melnikow's desire to give the union complete independence in dealing with the bureau.

How Bureau Conducts Negotiations With Employer

Once the contract has been signed, very careful plans are laid for the negotiations. Melnikow may be in charge of this preparation or it may be the second in command, Sam Kagel. The first step is to make as thorough a survey of the industry, particularly with relation to wage scales and cost of living, as the time allows. Building up a record is one of the things that Kagel and Melnikow stress and the thicker the record the more confident they are when they go into negotiations.

By signing the contract, the union has not, of course, delegated authority to the bureau. In fact, in all such arrangements Melnikow is very careful to leave authority and responsibility with the trade union. On the day that negotiations begin a negotiator from the bureau goes with a committee from the union to the meeting with employer representatives.

The committee which may be small or large, up to 25 even, sits in on all sessions. While the actual negotiations go on between Melnikow and his assistants and the employers' representatives, the committee members look on and listen. At frequent recesses there are conferences on the progress of negotiations at which the union representatives have a chance to give advice and suggestions. And once a tentative agreement has been reached, it is submitted through the union committee to the rank and file. The bureau always insists on this procedure. Sometimes disapproving a proposed agreement that seems at the moment to contain the utmost the employers will concede, Melnikow or one of his aids recommends to the union its rejection.

Planning Every Detail in Conduct of Strike

When negotiations break down and a strike looms, then the really tough work for the bureau begins. The union does not take a single step without consulting with one of the staff of the bureau. From the moment that a strike has seemed imminent, the bureau had been at work planning the strategy of it in every detail—how to get sufficient funds, the organization of a boycott and picket lines, how to get proper publicity, how to maintain morale.

Therefore when the men are finally called out, there is a carefully prepared plan to follow, with little left to chance. And in the course of the conflict all correspondence with the employers is passed upon by the bureau before it is allowed to go out. The bureau writes all publicity releases. Even the speeches of union leaders are passed upon before they are made. The bureau in labor warfare becomes G. H. Q. and in the event of a big strike it operates on what is virtually a 24-hour basis.

That was true during the general strike in 1934 that grew out of the conflict with the longshoremen and allied trades on the waterfront. The bureau was acting at that time for the longshoremen and the other unions that Harry Bridges has concentrated in the C I O. After the strike was over, Melnikow and Kagel carried on for the union the complicated negotiations which resulted in marked wage increases for waterfront workers. The final settlement ran into millions of dollars. And later, on the mere interpretation of one phase of the award, the bureau was able to get an additional $400,000 for the men.

Melnikow has been close to Bridges from the beginning of his spectacular rise to power. Employers in San Francisco have a convenient way of explaining Bridges' success by reference to the brain trust provided for him by Melnikow. The two have a mutual respect for each other's capabilities and it is on this basis that they have formed a working partnership.

Acts That Have Helped in the Making of Enemies

Naturally since the A. F. of L.-C I O split is more bitter here than perhaps anywhere else Melnikow through his close association with Bridges has made enemies among Federation officialdom. One of these is Edward Vandeleur, secretary of the State Federation of Labor. Vandeleur has sought to turn A. F. of L. unions away from the bureau but despite this virtually all of the old clients have remained.

In other ways, too, enemies have been made. On several occasions Melnikow and Kagel have not hesitated to make public a denunciation of deals which were attempted in the course of negotiations. They felt it their duty to inform the rank and file of what was being attempted. This has won for them some extremely bitter enemies.

On numerous occasions the bureau has taken the initiative for its clients. A striking instance was the service performed for the three unions involved in operation of the ferries in San Francisco Bay, the Marine Engineers, the Masters, Mates and Pilots and the Inland Boatmen's Union.

Work to Win Recognition for Displaced Ferry Workers

Two or three years before work was started on construction of the two great bridges that now span the bay, Melnikow and his aids began to urge the unions to demand dismissal pay, realizing that most of the ferry jobs would be done away with. Within the union there was considerable opposition to such a move. Conservative leaders said it was impossible. There would be nothing to strike about, they argued, no club over the companies.

But Melnikow and Kagel kept up the agitation and in the meantime began to prepare an extensive file showing what a case could be made. Finally the unions gave their approval and then the work of building up the record started in earnest. The research experts preparing the case took the line that the jobs of men operating ferry boats were being condemned in the public interest—for the construction of the bridges—and that therefore they should be compensated just as a property owner is compensated. Editorial support was obtained for this point of view from San Francisco newspapers. The News ran a series of five articles presenting the human background of the men who were to be displaced.

Kagel and Melnikow made several trips to Washington in the course of preparing this case. They tried to persuade Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, that it was up to the Government to provide compensation since the Government was financing the project. This move failed. Later the railway mediator was called in but this line, too, proved unsuccessful.

Finally the three unions took a strike vote.

Social Security Act in Light Of Three Years of Operation; 'Reserve' Fund Matter of I O U's

So Long as Deficits Pile Up Workers' and Employers' Taxes Must Go for Current Expenses or to Pay Old Debts.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.

ON Aug. 14, 1935, President Roosevelt formally approved the Social Security Act. On signing, he said:

"The law will flatten out the peaks and valleys of deflation and inflation. It is, in short, a law that will take care of human needs and at the same time provide for the United States an economic structure of vastly greater soundness."

Three years have passed, and it is now timely to study the administration of the act, particularly the provisions relating to old-age pensions, since these and the unemployment provisions set up the vast insurance reserves which the President later said would be "the foundation upon which we hope in America to provide a real form of financial security for the worker, so that the specter of unemployment and old-age destitution may be banished from the American home and farm."

The study is especially appropriate because the New York Times this week in an editorial widely reprinted throughout the country characterized the old-age pension reserve as a "pious fraud," a "delusion," a "hocus-pocus" which should be ended, thus echoing the views of Senator Vandenberg (Rep.) of Michigan that the so-called Treasury investments in the fund were "one of the slickest arrangements ever invented," a "back-breaking subterfuge," the conception of "fiscal fiddle-faddlers" who, if the special old-age pension reserve had not been set up, "would have had to pay the current Government debts, from time to time, out of general taxation."

Just what are the general provisions of the act and how does the old-age pension section affect the industrial and commercial worker, now paying 1 per cent of his wages into the Treasury, who will pay 3 per cent in 1949 to build up a reserve for Federal pensions starting in 1942?

What the Law Provides.

The Social Security Act is divided into three general parts: (1) it provides for Federal old-age insurance for commercial and industrial workers who have reached the age of 65; (2) it gives Federal funds to states for unemployment compensation systems, for the needy aged, the blind and for orphaned children, and for the extension of services for maternal and child health, crippled children, child welfare, public health and vocational rehabilitation, and (3) it levies taxes on employers and employes for the old-age and unemployment reserves.

The main criticism of the act has been centered on the old-age pension reserves, which by 1980 will reach (on the books) the astronomical sum of 47 billion—not million—dollars, and the fact that the money which is now being invested in this reserve is actually being used to help pay for the current and past operations of the Federal Government. Critics have repeatedly pointed out that with the Federal budget continuing out of balance year after year, these reserves are nothing more than Treasury Department I O U's which will have to be met with additional taxation when the time comes to make the benefit payments.

Purpose of the Study.

It is noteworthy that few, if any, critics of the old-age pension reserve, such as Senator Vandenberg, question the general objectives of the Social Security Act or the old-age pension idea, and it is not intended to imply that any critic is suggesting that these objectives be abandoned. This article is expository and deals only with the practical operation of the reserve set-up, which even President Roosevelt concedes may demand revision, although he has not indicated how this might be accomplished. To all questions relating to the reserves and the act itself, he has replied that the British social security laws antedate those of the United States by more than 25 years and are still being amended.

At Pittsburgh, in 1932, President Roosevelt, then a candidate, said in his famous speech promising a balanced budget:

"The credit of the family depends chiefly on whether that family is living within its income. And that is equally true of the nation. If the nation is living within its income, its credit is good. If, in some crises, it lives beyond its income for a year or two, it can usually borrow temporarily at reasonable rates. But if, like a spendthrift, it throws discretion to the winds and is willing to make no sacrifice at all in spending; if it extends its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay and continues to pile up deficits, then it is on the road to bankruptcy."

Deficit Piled on Deficit.

To use Mr. Roosevelt's own analogy, the Government of the United States is in a situation comparable to that of a spendthrift who is in the hands of the loan sharks. Deficit has been piled upon deficit every year he has been in office, and the end is not yet in sight. The differences between receipts and expenditures have been met by additional borrowings. The Government has been forced to get money wherever it could, and by bookkeeping operations such as the devaluation of the dollar it has even created money out of the thin air. As long as these deficits pile up, the taxes paid by workers and employers for the old-age pension fund must necessarily go for current operations or the payment of old debts.

Thus, the $2500-a-year worker who at present is paying $25 a year taxes on his wages, and who will pay $75 a year after 1949, is harboring a misconception if he believes that cash or income-producing securities are being stored up in the Treasury to pay his old-age pension. The taxes are spent as soon as they come in. The insurance reserve in the Treasury Department consists merely of special 3 per cent Treasury certificates which the Treasury issues to itself to represent the reserves. These certificates are printed with the amounts left blank and every three months the bookkeeper writes in the figures—the latest note was for $38,000,000—and the certificate is put away in a vault as evidence that the Government owes itself that amount of money.

In his public utterances on the old-age pension reserves, President Roosevelt has implied that they were comparable to insurance company reserves built up and held inviolate for the future protection of the millions of prospective beneficiaries. Analysis of this view demonstrates, however, that either he is not informed as to the provisions of the act, or that he has misapprehended the nature of insurance company reserves, which, by the very nature of the situation, could not be copied by the Federal Treasury. Even the fictitious old-age pension reserve fund is far less than the taxes ostensibly collected for that purpose.

Justice Cardozo Saw It.

This discrepancy is easily explained. Because of the Supreme Court decision in the A A A case, which involved the segregation of processing taxes for the payment of subsidies to complying farmers, sponsors of the Social Security Act believed the new law would be unconstitutional if the taxes and the benefits were inextricably bound together. To meet this possible constitutional objection, one section of the act merely provided for the collection of taxes. Another section provided for the benefit payments. When the Supreme

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Physician on Medical Reform.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE head of the American Medical Association, with associates throughout the country, is pleading for the conservative theory of the open competitive practice of medicine as opposed to the modern idea of co-operative medicine which is exemplified by the Co-operative Housing Medical Group in Washington D. C. The group has shown that it can bring medical attention to the middle class at a reasonable cost, whereas before they either neglected their health or had to resort to the free dispensaries.

The monopolistic practices of the A. M. A. are shown by the fact that they suspended doctors from the medical society of Washington and also had them dropped from the staffs of hospitals for being members of the co-operative group.

The Government is making great efforts to give the average wage earner reasonable medical care by stimulating the formation of co-operative groups. If this fails, we will have socialized medicine, because the Government knows that competitive medical practice has been a failure and that millions of Americans in the low-wage group are suffering from lack of medical attention. The writer does not see how certain hospitals have closed staffs and permit only selected groups of doctors to man these staffs. After all, the hospitals claim they are eleemosynary institutions and do not pay taxes on their property. For this reason they should belong to all the doctors in good standing and not to a selected few.

The average American is independent and would rather pay for medical attention than stand all day at the dispensaries.

Mr. Ickes' Slur on Congress.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A SAD commentary on the times is seen in the quotation from Secretary of the Interior Ickes in the article about the Alaska Railroad, published in the Post-Dispatch Aug. 11. In spite of the fact that Ickes and the rest of his reckless fellow spendthrifts have run the country into a tremendous debt, he still has the audacity to refer to a "nickel-pinching Congress." No doubt it is just the spirit of the New Deal.

Questions About the Mayor's Tax Ideas.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THERE are several questions that present themselves to the mind of the average taxpayer in connection with the new "jobs" tax advocated by the city administration:

1. Who are included in this tax? It was said to be a tax on non-resident jobholders. Now it seems that all jobholders are to be taxed and the tax returned to residents who owe no taxes. It appears to be either a straight "job" tax or that the employers are to be made collectors of delinquent taxes.

2. Will this tax be used to help pay the salary of the man recently told off in the papers whose city job did not require that he report to the City Hall and whose duties were so vague as to be indefinable?

3. Are there any more city workers similarly employed and similarly paid?

Child Actors in Municipal Opera.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I AM an opera-goer and have enjoyed all the operas in which children take part. Talking to several children, I learned that in addition to spending a week of practicing and a week of night performances, they must also furnish their own costumes. As a citizen, I would like to ask: Is this fair to the child? I don't think so.

A Criticism of the New Deal.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

SOME of our New Deal disciples are telling us that we must "recognize unemployment and relief as permanent, with us to stay, and after struggling with the problem for the last seven years, it is no nearer a solution today than in 1930."

That is about the frankest admission of economic delinquency and political insolvency of anything I have so far heard or read, and it would indicate that the New Deal had shot its last dud, stuck its head in the sand and abandoned the country.

But while there is life there is hope. All that the New Deal needs is a new vision of something practicable and constructive instead of the old vision of a more abundant life by creating an artificial scarcity and trying to pump prosperity out of a vacuum.

Two Items.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

IN the past few days, two news items appeared in your paper that interested me very much. The first one tells of the city's buying a bronze statue of a cat for $14,000; the second one tells the citizens of St. Louis that Mayor Dickmann says that unless more taxes are levied our city is headed for bankruptcy. There is only one answer to the two statements: "In the presence of human stupidity, even the gods stand helpless."

FRANK KIRTZ.

MR. BOVARD DEPARTS.

Oliver K. Bovard's career with the Post-Dispatch ended yesterday. He joined the staff as a reporter in 1898, rose from the ranks to become managing editor, and for 28 years held that post with rare distinction.

It is the function of managing editor to direct the gathering, editing and display of news. It is he who must each day, from the hundreds of thousands of words pouring in over telegraph wires, from the mail and from the typewriters of reporters, select a picture of the significant happenings of the day.

To this task, exacting in itself, was added, in Mr. Bovard's case, the injunction of the Post-Dispatch platform, "never be satisfied with merely printing news." It was his brilliant execution of this injunction that elevated Mr. Bovard to a commanding place in American journalism. Not to be satisfied with merely printing news means that a newspaper should be more than a passive recorder of events; it should be a positive force for public service.

How Mr. Bovard carried out the injunction of the Post-Dispatch platform has been exemplified many times in his career. When the first faint intimations of the Teapot Dome affair broke, Mr. Bovard sensed immediately, long before other editors did so, a scandal of national importance. For six years this story, in all its many ramifications, was unfolded in the columns of this newspaper, and it was the Post-Dispatch which caused the reopening of the case to settle the unfinished business—disclosure of the disposal of the Continental Trading Co. bonds, which had been issued for corrupt purposes.

One of the most difficult of enterprises is to bring about the impeachment of a Federal Judge, whose prestige of office is often sufficient to cloak unworthy deeds. When he became convinced that Judge George W. English of Illinois had demonstrated unfitness for office, Mr. Bovard directed an investigation which caused his impeachment and brought about his resignation on the eve of trial before the United States Senate.

Persistent publicity, following careful investigation, brought about the breakup of the Birger-Newman gang in Illinois; the successful prosecution of the Kelley kidnapers; the disbarment of jackleg lawyers; the conviction of numerous racketeers who preyed upon the public. Once Mr. Bovard, by a re-examination of the facts and the application of pure deduction, solved a murder eight years after it was committed. When promoters tried to saddle on St. Louis a perpetual franchise for street car lines, at a time when that form of transportation was obviously dying, Mr. Bovard directed a news campaign which caused the Governor to veto the franchise bill.

A classic example of the thoroughness of the Bovard method was the exposition in the summer of 1936 of St. Louis vote frauds. After a long and painstaking canvass by this newspaper's staff, it was conclusively shown, by a mountainous pile of printed evidence, that 40,000 ghost voters were on the 1936 registration rolls and that an orgy of vote stealing, dishonest counting and ballot-box stuffing had occurred in September, 1935. This showing caused the Governor summarily to dismiss his own Board of Election Commissioners—an action unprecedented in Missouri history—and won for this newspaper the Pulitzer prize for distinguished public service.

A catalogue of Mr. Bovard's creative news achievements would be long. He was not satisfied, however, with the ephemeral crusade, the spectacular news coup. He looked beyond the hurly-burly of the day's events in a desire to integrate current happenings into long-range and philosophic interpretation. Thus, in 1931, after a year in which his spare moments were spent in reflection and the gathering of material, he caused to be written a dispassionate diagnosis of our economic ills, an article entitled "The Country's Plight—What Can Be Done About It?" which later, in pamphlet form, was read throughout the nation.

His conception of a newspaper is that it should function as everyman's university, that it should act as an educative and cultural force to supply what men could not or did not get at schools. When the Post-Dispatch, after two years of preparation, published its Fiftieth Anniversary Number in 1928, its distinctive feature was a collection of original articles by the great thinkers of the world, later collected in a book entitled "The Drift of Civilization." The contributors included men of the stature of Guglielmo Ferrero, Martin Andersen Nexo, Maxim Gorky, Benedetto Croce, H. G. Wells, J. B. S. Haldane, Bertrand Russell, Michael Pupin, Andre Siegfried, Albert Einstein and James Harvey Robinson.

For that kind of editorship that "writes down" to people, Mr. Bovard has supreme contempt. He has a deep faith in the intelligence and good judgment of men in the mass, believing they need only the enlightenment of facts. This influenced him constantly in his selection of news, and particularly in his choice of material for the first page of the Sunday editorial section, which for many years has reflected the world's best thought on the political, social and economic problems that assail us.

Obviously, Mr. Bovard brought to the task of editorship many fine qualities—a passion for public affairs and a desire to do something about them in the interest of general welfare; the power of decision; coolness of judgment in times of great stress; tenacity of purpose; intellectual integrity; a fierce hatred of injustice, hypocrisy and corruption; and an unerring sense of good taste.

The Post-Dispatch salutes Oliver K. Bovard!

TILLES PARK REMAINS CLOSED.

Though virtually completed early in July, Tilles Park, the city's 59-acre recreation tract at Litzsinger and Lay roads, has remained closed throughout the heated season and probably will not be opened until fall, if then. It is unfortunate that the people have been deprived of the opportunity to use these facilities, made possible by the gift of C. A. Tilles and by W P A and city funds totaling $300,000.

The reason given for the park's gates remaining locked is the lack of city funds for maintenance. Equipment costing $5000 would be required, plus a monthly payroll of $427. Joseph M. Darst, Director of Public Welfare, says he will ask for an appropriation when the Board of Aldermen reconvenes Sept. 30. It is regrettable that the necessary funds were not sought before the previous session adjourned, so that the public might have enjoyed the attractive new park at a time when its use would be most appreciated.

Tilles Park has been viewed as the first unit in an outer park system, which the city has long needed. St. Louis park areas rank far below those of other cities, and it is high time for the lack to be remedied. Since the Tilles tract was presented to the city in 1932, it is not unreasonable to urge that it be thrown open to the people's use at the earliest possible moment.

MISUSE OF THE W P A AT CHARLESTON.

An arrant and inexcusable diversion of relief funds has come to light at Charleston, Mo. Forty W P A workers, who were supposed to have been busy on a mosquito eradication project, were taken from their legitimate task and put to work building a spur track from the main line of the Missouri Pacific Railroad to a plant of the Brown Shoe Co. Other W P A employes were used to build a sewer and to install a water pipe to the factory.

Officials responsible for this misuse of public funds have attempted to justify it on the ground that the $60,000 building in which the shoe plant is housed was donated by the business community in order to induce the company to come to Charleston. This is no justification at all. It is still a private enterprise.

Business men have been unsparing in their criticism of relief authorities for "boondoggling." Yet here we have the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other business men of Charleston revealed as parties to a scheme by which relief funds were used to subsidize private enterprise, which is usually outspoken in its desire to be left alone and to stand on its own feet.

To say, as does the editor of the Charleston Enterprise-Courier, that the "process probably was illegal or extra-legal, but the end justifies the means," is to ignore the plain ethics of the situation.

That the W P A executives themselves realized the irregularity of their act is shown by the fact that the time-sheets were falsified to make it appear the men were still working at mosquito eradication. Ironically enough, the whole affair might have been permanently concealed except for an earlier indiscretion of a W P A foreman, who aroused jealousy by removing sod from the Courthouse lawn to his own front yard when excavation for a new county jail was begun last spring.

The regional director of WPA at Chicago has pursued the only possible course in dismissing those responsible for this misuse of relief funds. The Government should see to it that all W P A funds used in the installation of the spur track and other facilities for the shoe plant—the diversion totals about $4000—are promptly restored in full. Such a course will serve as a permanent warning that such manipulations of relief funds will not be tolerated.

THE PAROLE BOARD AND THE SEWARD CASE.

John H. Kniest, Probation and Parole Officer, has addressed the following letter to the Post-Dispatch, in reply to an editorial of Aug. 11, which reviewed the strange case of James Seward, who has been in confinement for 17 years for a crime which many students of his case believe he did not commit:

"Friends of Mr. Seward may be interested in knowing that the present Parole Board will grant him another hearing as soon as it is humanly possible to do so.

"No action was taken on his last hearing because of the board's desire to secure certain additional information, and now Mr. Seward must wait, along with hundreds of other inmates of the prison and Algoa, until another hearing date can be set.

"The Parole Board is desirous of giving every inmate an equal opportunity, and you may be assured that Mr. Seward's case will be given every consideration."

Fair enough. Because of the unusual character of Seward's case, however, and of his long service in prison, would not the Parole Board be justified in departing from its routine and setting the hearing at an early date? Seward has not had a hearing but only routine reviews for 10 years and he is now nearing the age of 60. If he is, in fact, innocent, as is urged, no red tape should stand in the way of early action.

SWIMMING FOR JOBS.

If any employer wants two young men of proved courage, endurance and persistence, Irvin Unger and Walter Ellerbock Jr. have recommended themselves to him. The reason for their 28-mile swim down the Mississippi River from Alton to Eads Bridge, they related after its successful completion in seven hours, was to attract attention in the hope of getting jobs.

"It was a crazy thing to do," Unger said, "but you have to do something crazy to get something to do." That indicates the low stage to which the opportunities of youth have fallen in this day of recession and 12,000,000 unemployed.

All the jobless youth, of course, can't get work by conceiving a daring stunt and executing it. It's encouraging, however, to find this spirit of initiative in a day when C C C or W P A or parental support often seems the only solution. Here's hoping the boys find, after their grueling swim, that they have landed on somebody's payroll.

AN ECONOMIC VICTORY FOR THE NEGRO.

In the Encyclopedia Britannica's account of the Harlem area of New York City, mention is made of the few employment opportunities available there for its predominantly Negro population, and this statement appears: "The district has not yet awakened to the necessity of a group consciousness in business." The declaration will have to be revised in the next edition, in view of a development that has just taken place.

An agreement between Negro welfare groups and retail employers is announced, whereby the stores guarantee to Negroes one-third of all their white-collar jobs. This is the result of a growing awareness among Negroes of the district, as elsewhere in the country, that they were spending their money in establishments that refused to reciprocate by employing members of their race. An ingenious technique was evolved, involving negotiation and extending to boycott, on which we commented in an editorial two months ago.

This fair and intelligent campaign, whose leaders scrupulously stressed quiet procedure, without violence, has now scored its greatest triumph in the Harlem agreement. Employers elsewhere will doubtless find in growing numbers that such an arrangement is not only a measure of economic justice, but is good business.

Directors on the Ills of the Movies

Motion pictures have deteriorated in quality and increased in cost because of the lack of co-ordination of their own efforts and those of the writers, directors say; they also resent "the army of inept" associate producers and supervisors, whom they accuse of wasting creative talent and virtually proscribing originality and freshness.

From an Analysis of the Motion Picture Industry, Prepared by the Screen Directors' Guild, Inc.

THE cry is ringing out of every studio today, "What can we do to rehabilitate the motion-picture industry?" It is the firm conviction of the Directors' Guild that rehabilitation lies first in changing the present "system of production" which pervades the industry—namely, eliminating the involved, complicated and expensive system of supervision which separates the director and writer from responsible executive producers; which practice has steadily lowered the quality of motion pictures through a number of years.

No director questions the need of executive supervision, nor are the directors endeavoring to tell the producing companies how to run their businesses, and no director questions the contribution of many individual producers who have given prodigiously to the industry.

We speak here of the army of the inept, who have been promoted to positions of authority for which they are unqualified, inexperienced and utterly lacking in creative ability.

A survey of the major studios has revealed that 40 per cent of the cost of production is represented by overhead and miscellaneous. Never in the history of the industry has this cost been so high. We believe that it is to be explained by the "system of production" described above.

In recent years most studios have faced an ever-increasing difficulty in meeting their release dates, and have fallen short of making the number of pictures yearly contracted for. This in spite of the increasing number of producers and associate producers. In large measure this can be attributed directly to the growing estrangement between the producer and the director on the one hand, and the director and the writer on the other.

Let us be factual. Following is a brief summary of findings covering the position of the director today—in comparison to 10 years ago. The most alarming and significant fact uncovered was the amazing increase in the producer class during the decade. This table tells the story:

	1926-27.	1936-37.
Directors with feature credits,	246	234
Producers, including supervisors and associates — — — — — — —	34	220
	1927.	1937.
Feature American-made releases,	743	484

Times without number when the producer has prepared a story without assistance or advice of the director, situations, stunts and scenes are incorporated into the script which are either impossible of satisfactory achievement or involve an expense out of all proportion to their importance to the picture. In many of those instances, had the director been present, he could have brought this to immediate attention and suggested mechanical alternatives that would have expedited the writing and facilitated the shooting.

Millions of dollars' worth of story properties are in the vaults of studios. Much of this material never was of any value, much of it never will be of any value, and most of it was the ill-conceived product of the unqualified. A great portion of this money is tied up in fully completed screen plays which will never be made. Of all the people in the studios, the directors have not been asked to go over this material for salvage and reconstruction.

Weekly conferences on production take place in every studio. Here production questions relating to scripts to be bought, scripts on hand, scripts in work and general policy are discussed. In a large majority of instances the directors are not invited. Millions of dollars' worth of fresh material is now, at this writing, being readied for the cameras. The one man who, in the great majority of cases, has nothing to do with the preparation of the material is the man who will finally have to direct its exposure on film.

Because of the separation of the director and the writer, when a script is finally handed to a director he often finds in it an accumulation of writing done to order with little clarity or entertainment value which he must attempt to infuse with life without changing a line, a scene or coming in behind schedule.

In the making of "B" pictures these conditions are even more prevalent and are aggravated by the fact that the economy of production is paramount. In the majority of cases the men in charge of these pictures are utterly unqualified. They have little respect for the medium, less respect for their audiences and excuse their lack of imagination by ridiculing it in others. The result is an inferior product.

The significant fact remains that even today the best pictures made in the industry are largely those in which the director has had real participation in their dramatic and mechanical structure from inception in direct association with the executive producers without the interference of intermediaries. The success of this practice has had no weight in the industry—on the contrary, the practice of developing this approach to pictures is on the wane—and many directors who, until recently, were offered creative opportunities are finding the doors progressively closed to them. This costs the industry quality and time, which are money.

What built the motion picture was "individuality," freshness of approach, the unique touch which gave vivid experience. This individuality was largely the contribution of directors and writers. Today the system offers a virtual proscription against originality and freshness in pictures. This costs the industry millions of dollars.

To meet this dangerous state in our industry, the Directors' Guild earnestly recommends that closer unity be established and maintained between the real producer on the one hand and the director and writer on the other, and that the directors bend every effort toward the re-establishment of the collaborative system which was, and still is, the money-making and good-picture-making fact of the past.

Strachey Charts a Course

Books in the News

THREE years ago a 34-year-old graduate of Eton and Oxford and one-time Labor member of Parliament from Birmingham by the name of John Strachey came to the United States to lecture. He had hardly more than arrived when he found himself suddenly basking in the warm sunshine of the front pages. The Department of Labor had ordered his deportation. For some time a teapot tempest raged; then the order was revoked and Mr. Strachey reaped a harvest of book royalties and lecture receipts.

When Mr. Strachey comes again this fall to make another round of our forums, there will be no need for anyone to be in doubt about his political and economic views. To such books as "The Coming Struggle for Power," "The Menace of Fascism" and "The Nature of Capitalist Crisis," he now adds "What Are We to Do?" (Random House, New York), a history of British and American labor movements in which he gives his answer to Lenin's famous question.

Mr. Strachey's serious judgment is that Marxian Socialism must be followed unswervingly. He thinks that the capitalistic system has begun to weaken and that, weakening, it will not continue to make the concessions to workers which are commonly spoken of as social reforms. When the weakening has progressed far enough, the concessions will cease and a grudgingly allowed social progress will be stopped.

That moment come, Mr. Strachey contends, labor should make the most of its opportunity by applying the Marxian doctrine; for if labor is halting, capitalism, he reasons, will quickly move to reduce democracy and to lower living standards. Much of his book is devoted to the support of democracy as against Fascism, but as between democracy and collectivism, it is democracy which he calls from the stage first. This is a fact which must be kept in mind when reading his profession of devotion to the principle of representative government and democratic living standards.

When he is through reviewing the long history of the labor movement in England and organized labor's shorter life over here —Fabian Socialism he says, in effect, had so weakened the labor movement in his country that the British Labor party was unequal to its opportunity when it came into power in 1926—he sets down his answer in a simple A, B, C and D form:

The labor movement should be provided with the ideology of scientific Socialism. Next, as the core and heart of the labor movement, there should be developed a party built upon the new model. Then the labor movement should be unified upon a policy of "active defense of peace, democracy and the national standard of life." Finally, around this policy there should be gathered "the very widest possible alliance of all popular and progressive forces."

By means of this deepening and broadening, "and by means of it alone," Mr. Strachey concludes, the American and British labor movements "can rise to the height of their historical opportunity in the twentieth century, and save the world."

What each reader will think of this program will be determined by his views of capitalism and collectivism and what he thinks about Mr. Strachey. At one time or another, American and British Communists, the British Labor party and Mosley's Fascists have disowned him.

GEORGE TO REPLY TO ROOSEVELT IN TALK TOMORROW

Several Georgia Newspapers Say Federal Patronage Pressure Is Being Exerted for Camp.

RIVERS' ATTITUDE IN RACE IN DOUBT

Co-operative Labor Legislative Committee Indorses Senator—Comments by Opponents.

By the Associated Press.

ALTANTA, Aug. 13. — Senator Walter F. George of Georgia will take the stump Monday for the first time since his unqualified acceptance of the challenge in President Roosevelt's bid to defeat him in the Democratic primary Sept. 14.

He declined today to disclose what he would say in the address to be broadcast from Waycross but acknowledged there would be "references, to the President's history-making speech" at Barnesville last Thursday.

Thus far in his campaign George has stressed his support of most of New Deal farm and labor legislation and has defended his fight against the President's scheme to remake the Supreme Court, saying he "Would do it again." He voted also against the President's executive department reorganization and the original wage-hour act.

Newspaper Support.

Several newspapers which are backing George, including the Atlanta Constitution, carried news stories today that Federal Government pressure was being brought to bear for Lawrence Camp, young U. S. District Attorney indorsed by Roosevelt for George's seat. Camp is campaigning as a 100 per cent New Dealer.

"The vast majority of Federal office holders in this state are men and women of too strong character to be induced by anyone to vote against their convictions," George said.

Earlier in the campaign he complained to the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee that Erle Cocke was removed as Georgia Director of the National Emergency Council a non-paying job, "Probably for the sole reason that he intends to vote for me." This was denied by Lowell Mellett, N E C executive director in Washington.

More echoes of the President's speech were heard in campaign speeches of candidates for George's seat.

Rivers' Attitude in Doubt.

Gov. E. D Rivers, seeking re-election on a platform calling for completion of his "Little New Deal," has been an ardent admirer of the President, but so far he has given no indication he will back Camp. Many of Rivers' supporters are for George.

Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., another strong figure in the Senate, has remained aloof from the contest so far although he, too, is rated as a New Dealer.

Senator George today received the indorsement of the co-operative labor legislative committee of Georgia. This group, representing the State Federation of Labor and the "Big Four" Railway labor organizations, included him in its list of approved candidates but said it did so "reluctantly" because custom dictated the State body follow the recommendation of national officials.

William Green, A. F. of L. president, indorsed George some time ago. Labor's Non-partisan League, dominated by the C I O, earlier condemned George and pledged its support to Camp.

What Opponent Say.

William G. McRae, Atlanta Townsend plan advocate who was not mentioned by the President, said "The necessary steps to make the President a real dictator is for the people to be dumb enough to name his 'rubber stamp' to Congress."

Former Governor Eugene Talmadge, although he long has fought the New Deal and was frowned on by the President in the Barnesville address, defended the President's right to speak his mind, ading "He didn't dare attack my record."

Camp said he felt "70 per cent of the voters" agreed with Roosevelt.

That the fight is not quite without precedent in Georgia's history was brought out today when the Macon Telegraph recalled that in 1918 the late Clark Howell, editor of the Constitution and then Democratic State committeeman, released a letter from President Woodrow Wilson calling for the defeat of Senator Thomas Hardwick, a critic of Wilson policies. Labor's G. H. Q.—How It Works in San Francisco

Eight hours before the deadline Melnikow and committees from the unions met with Angus MacDonald, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad, operating the principal ferry line, and a tentative agreement was arrived at. The agreement ultimately signed means that the men will be paid a total of about $4,000,000. Men who are retired are awarded one month's pay for every year of service. In the case of a pilot making $300 a month this will amount to several thousand dollars. Before the case was concluded the bureau had built up a record that filled three files.

Santa Cruz Cannery Case.

James Lande, one of the negotiators in the bureau, represented the union before the National Labor Relations Board in the Santa Cruz cannery case. The company denied that it was engaged in interstate commerce and therefore under the jurisdiction of the board. Although he is a lawyer, Lande acted to supply wage and other data since the legal phases of the case were handled by the board's own counsel. Chief Justice Hughes wrote a highly significant majority opinion in this case, holding that while only 37 per cent of the company's products went into interstate commerce, the company nevertheless came under the board's jurisdiction.

Ordinarily, the bureau does not supply legal services, although legal advice may be incidental to the work that is being done. Most unions have their own attorneys.

Nursing Along New Unions.

In several recent instances the bureau has nursed along unions that are just getting a start. That was true of the Newspaper Guild on the Pacific Coast. From the first the Guild has retained the bureau. And it was members of the bureau's staff who directed the strike on the Seattle (Wash.) Post-Intelligencer. Guild officials say that for the relatively small charge made each month, the bureau has given endless care and attention to the problems of the Guild. If this were charged for at the hourly rate of even a modest law firm, it would amount to thousands of dollars a year, according to Guild heads.

This is true in other instances. What Melnikow likes to do with a new union is to offer a three or four year contract which calls for a nominal sum each month the first year, with increases in the second and third years that somewhat make up the difference. The charge is always on a cost-plus basis, no matter what the size of the award.

Job Like That of Doctor.

His job, Kagel says, is rather like that of a doctor. He never knows what time a call may come nor how late he may be held at a hearing. "You get very little private life in this kind of work," he says. "You have to snatch it if you get it at all."

Melnikow is reserved and somewhat diffident in manner, his appearance being on the scholarly side. By contrast Kagel is friendly, blunt-spoken, on terms of close friendship with union men up and down the coast.

There is one thing in particular that unites the two heads of the bureau and, for that matter, all the men on the staff, and that is a sense of the need to bring intellectuals and workers together on an equal basis. Melnikow and Kagel cite the example of British intellectuals who through the Fabian Society exerted a profound influence on the British labor movement. They look, in a sense, to Sidney and Beatrice Webb, Fabian economists, as models. It was in the course of doing research for British trade unions that the Webbs compiled material for some of their most important books, Kagel points out.

Just now no one in the bureau can see any time ahead for writing books. Besides directing strategy in the warehouseman's strike, the bureau is conducting important negotiations for retail employes in department and other stores. And this fall the longshoremen's fight may break again. That is the immediate job. The books may come later, and if they ever get down to writing them, these men will have a world of first-hand experience to record.

Justice Hughes' Ruling in Santa Cruz Fruit Packing Case.

IN AN opinion delivered March 28, 1938, by Chief Justice Hughes, the United States Supreme Court affirmed a ruling by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals that the National Labor Relations Act was applicable to the Santa Cruz Fruit Packing Co. of Oakland, Cal. It was shown that the fruit company shipped 37 per cent of its output in interstate or foreign commerce. Justice Hughes in his opinion said:

"There is no question that the petitioner was directly and largely engaged in interstate and foreign commerce. We have often decided that sales to purchasers in another State are not withdrawn from Federal control because the goods are delivered f. o. b. at stated points within the State of origin for transportation. . . .

"When they (warehousemen) found themselves locked out because of their joining the union they at once formed a picket line and this was maintained with such effectiveness that eventually 'the movement of trucks from warehouse to wharves ceased entirely.' The teamsters refused to haul, the warehousemen declined to handle and the stevedor es, between dock and ship, refused to load petitioner's goods. These became, in the parlance of the men, 'hot' cargo. Petitioner says that this was an unlawful conspiracy of those sympathizing with its discharged warehousemen, but it was the discrimination against them which led directly to the interference with the movement from the plant and elicited the support so effectively given.

"It would be difficult to find a case in which unfair labor practices had a more direct effect upon interstate and foreign commerce.

"The relief afforded by the board in requiring petitioner to desist from the unfair labor practices condemned by the act, and to reinstate the discharged employes with back pay, was properly sustained by the Circuit Court of Appeals, and its order is affirmed."

ROGERS-POST MONUMENT DEDICATION TOMORROW

12-Foot Obelisk Erected in Arctic Wastes; Less Than 12 Whites Live in Settlement.

By the Associated Press.

BARROW, Alaska, Aug. 13. — A 12-foot granite obelisk will be dedicated Monday on the Arctic barrens near the spot where Will Rogers and Wiley Post crashed to death in an airplane three years ago.

On the monument will be this inscription:

It will stand only 100 yards from the Arctic ocean shore, on the Walakpa lagoon where the Post-Rogers plane crashed en route from Fairbanks to Barrow. The granite came from a quarry at Claremore, Ok., Roger's home town.

Less than 12 whites live at Barrow, the nearest settlement, and probably no more than that number will visit the spot each year. Even the number of natives who venture to the out-of-the-way spot during the short Arctic summers will not be large.

WAGE-HOUR FIGURES ARE REVISED UPWARD

Labor Department Officials Estimate 4,000,000 Will Obtain Shorter Week.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Labor Department officials estimated today that as many as 4,000,000 workers—about 1,750,000 more than Congress counted on—might obtain shorter working hours ultimately under the new wage-hour law.

Estimates as to the maximum number who would receive wage increases by the time the law's provision for a general 40-cent-an-hour minimum takes effect—in 1945—remained unchanged at "upwards of 1,000,000."

Officials said the upward revision of the number to receive shorter hours resulted largely from two factors:

1—Narrowing of the interpretation of "seasonal" industries which are exempt from the law's regulation of hours.

2—Indications that many employers, in a so-called "twilight zone" of uncertainty as to whether they were subject to the law, would comply with its provisions rather than risk the penalties of violation, which include fines of double the difference between the wages paid and the amount required by the act.

Exemptions Up to Court.

The uncertainty on the part of employers is due to the fact the law gives the Administrator no authority to rule that any industry or specific group of workers is exempt, such decisions being solely for the courts to make.

Regarding exemptions for "seasonal" industries, officials said it was clear Congress had intended such concessions only for industries which operate in particular seasons and not for those which operate on a year-round basis but have employment peaks in certain months. The truly seasonal industries will be permitted to work their employes in excess of the maximum work-week fixed by the law without being required to pay them time and one-half for overtime.

Law Effective Oct. 24.

The act, which becomes effective Oct. 24, requires generally that industries in or affecting interstate commerce must pay not less than 25 cents an hour and work their employes not more than 44 hours a week. The general wage minimum will increase automatically to 30 cents at the end of the first year and to 40 cents at the end of seven years. The work week will decrease to 42 hours after the first year and to 40 hours after two years. However, minimum wages higher than 25 cents an hour but not more than 40 cents may be fixed immediately, in a given industry, on recommendation of a committee appointed to study that industry.

Elmer F. Andrews, who is leaving the job of State Industrial Commissioner in New York to administer the wage-hour law, is expected to come here next week to assume his new duties. One of his first tasks is to appoint committees for the different industries.

COMMERCE GROUP ASKS FOR IDEAS ON AIDING RAILROADS

Conference at Washington Sept. 14 for All Interested in Transportation Program.

CALL ISSUED BY GEORGE H. DAVIS

Consolidation or Pooling of Interests Proposed, Also Speeding Up of Reorganization.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States invited transportation intrests today to pool their ideas on solving the problems of the railroads and other carriers.

George H. Davis, president of the chamber, summoned all interested persons to a conference here Sept. 14 and 15. He said congressional committees had promised to utilize findings of the Conference in preparing a transportation program for the next session of Congress.

President Roosevelt asked the last Congress to do something for the railroads, but made no comment on the ideas of experts and officials which he transmitted to the legislators. The volume of other legislation and the controversy over a proposed reduction in railroad wages caused Congress to postpone action.

The conference was suggested, Davis said, by the chamber's transportation committee, which is headed by Samuel T. Bledsoe, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway.

He predicted the meeting would consider "policies having to do with railroad revenues, policies affecting economics in railroad operations, problems of competition among transportation agencies, and the question of the organization of Government agencies dealing with transportation."

Administration officials studying the railroad problem have suggested many immediate and long-term remedies.

Some favor forced consolidation to eliminate "uneconomic" competiti,on others mere pooling of facilities. Several experts have concentrated on means of speeding up reorganization of bankrupt railroads.

Davis said:

"The purpose of the conference will be to appraise the chief outstanding difficulties of the different transportation agencies, particularly the railroads, to promote general understanding and agreement as to remedial measures and to further co-ordination of effort. . . .

"It is hoped that, in bringing to bear wide business experience in its many fields upon the transportation situation, the conference may be able to propose helpful measures in the interest of the transportation agencies and of benefit to the public at large. The problem is of widespread national importance."

STAR ROUTE MAIL CARRIERS OF LAST CENTURY RIDE AGAIN

LONDON, Ky., Aug. 13. — Three Star Route mail carriers of the 1800's swung saddlebags across their horses and carried the mail once again today.

People swarmed to this Southeastern Kentucky village to view a repetition of the mail-carrying which was a flourishing business in London until the beginning of the century.

With a wave of their hands "Uncle George" Ohler, 88 years old; "Uncle Mack" Bennett, 76, and Jerry Parker, 82, were off to Barbourville, Somerset and Williamsburg with 100 pounds of mail in special commemorative envelopes which were eagerly bought today as collectors' items. They rode but a short distance on their mounts and then transferred to automobiles.

After they had taken mail to the three towns and returned more to London, they were honored at a "Star Route celebration" at the Levi Jackson Wilderness Road State Park.

Ohler began carrying mail when he was 16 in 1866. His route was between London and Barbourville. Barnett's service on the London-Williamsburg route dated from 1876, and Parker first rode the London-Somerset trail in 1875.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY MODEL AIRPLANE MEET TODAY

The Mississippi Valley Model Airplane Meet, in which 278 entries will compete for 52 prizes and medals, will be held today from 9 a. m to 6 p. m. at Parks Air College on Highway 3 south of East St. Louis.

Contests will include events for model planes with internal combustion motors, for cabin and open type models driven by rubber bands, and a sweepstakes for builders of rubber-powered models, who have not won prizes in any scanctioned meet.

A dinner for the contestants will be given at the De Soto Hotel at 7 p. m. Speakers will include George Page, chief engineer of an airplane manufacturing company, and James Malone, a former test pilot.

Social Security Act's Three Years

Court, by a 7 to 2 decision, upheld the old-age pension provisions of the act, the late Justice Cardozo, in the majority opinion, pointed out this separability and held that the taxes levied were merely an "income tax on employes" and "an excise tax on employers." The opinion emphasized that "the proceeds of both taxes are to be paid into the Treasury like internal revenue taxes generally and are not earmarked in any way."

Referring to the creation of the old-age reserve account by the Treasury Department, Justice Cardozo explained that while the taxes were then being collected, Congress has not yet made the appropriatons authorized by the statute to start this fund.

"How large they (the appropriations) shall be," he observed, "is not known in advance. The amount sufficient as an annual premium to provide for the required payments is to be determined on a reserve basis in accordance with accepted actuarial principles . . . Not a dollar goes into the account by force of the challenged act alone, unaided by acts to follow."

Theory and Practice.

Thus the Supreme Court approved the provision to turn the flow of employer and employe taxes into the general fund of the Treasury, and the authorization that Congress might annually appropriate money to build up the reserve fund.

What actually has happened is this: Since Jan. 1, 1937, when the taxes became effective, until June 30, 1938, there has been collected, ostensibly for old-age insurance, a total of $708,981,974. During that same period the total investments by separate congressional appropriations have amounted to $662-300,000. During the fiscal year just ended, $514,406,000 was collected in these taxes; the investments amounted to $395,200,000.

By 1942, when the annual benefit payments will start to the qualified persons over 65 years of age, the reserve fund will total about $3,656,000,000. The Social Security Board declines to estimate the total taxes that will be collected by 1942.

Difference Explained.

Here is where the Treasury bookkeeping must be explained to discuss why the Government cannot build up a reserve comparable to a life insurance company.

To an insurance company, as to an individual, wealth is income, not mere possession. A Government, in the main, can have no income except what it takes directly from its citizens. An insurance company must invest its money in outside business enterprise or in Government securities, national, state or local. The initial requisites are that the investment must return income, and eventually principal. The Treasury Department's field of possible operation is much smaller. It is confined to Federal Government securities, which themselves are issued by the Treasury. The comparison of insurance company and Treasury Department reserve funds is thus misleading.

The private insurance company is required by law to maintain a true reserve fund of income-producing investments, so as to be able to meet the company's contracts when they mature. The private company has no security to back up its contracts except productive and sound investments in other enterprises.

The Government is in a different situation. Its only security so far as the old-age pensions are concerned is its ability to levy taxes in sufficient amounts to meet required payments. It can increase or decrease taxes, or it may, by legislative enactment, increase or decrease payments to beneficiaries, or, what is more likely, increase the number of beneficiaries.

Vide the Soldiers' Bonus.

Because of the Government's inability to invest in outside securities, and because the Social Security law requires that the old-age pension taxes must go into the general fund, unsegregated and unearmarked, these taxes are spent, just like any other Federal revenue, for salaries, national defense, interest payments, W P A and P W A projects, and a hundred other items of current expense. When Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau appeared before the House Committee handling the Social Security bill, he glowingly predicted that the funds would be used to retire the Government securities held by the public. But recurring annual deficits since his testimony—deficits larger than the proceeds of the taxes—have put operation of this idea into the distant future.

But even if the budget were balanced with ordinary revenues, the Treasury bookkeeping would be the same operation by which the Treasury spends the money as it comes in and gives itself an interest bearing I O U for the trust accounts. The old-age pension bookkeeping is precisely the same as that used under the Republicans, when Congress voted, in 1924, for payment of the bonus beginning in 1945. An insurance scheme was followed, by which Congress annually appropriated millions of dollars to the adjusted compensation reserve. The Treasury issued its special certificates to this bonus account—and when the bonus was prematurely paid in 1936 neither the money nor the negotiable securities were in the Treasury to meet the advanced contract. The Government had to go into the market and borrow the money to pay the veterans, although on paper the Treasury had hundreds of millions of dollars set aside for this very purpose. The same thing would have happened if the bonus payment had followed the original schedule.

Vandenberg's View.

This is the way Senator Vandenberg in several speeches has simplified the Treasury bookkeeping operation, taking for the sake of clarity the collections to be made in 1943, which will be the first billion-dollar year, so far as the annual old-age reserve contribution is concerned:

"The Treasury collects the billion in payroll taxes—half from employers; which when passed on to the public is the equivalent of a sales tax—half from employes; the equivalent, mark you, of a gross income tax on the lowest-earning income group in the country. The Treasury gets a billion in cash. It goes into the general fund. If it went into a special old-age pension fund it would be palpably unconstitutional, as determined by the Supreme Court in connection with the processing taxes. Congress then takes it out of the Treasury by appropriating a billion dollars to the 'reserve'—assuming that Congress keeps faith. The new billion has to be invested in United States bonds yielding no less than 3 per cent. So the Social Security Board hands the billion in cash back to the Secretary of the Treasury and takes from him a special series of 3 per cent bonds. The board has the bonds—a sort of permanent I O U, inasmuch as the principal is never to be cashed. The Secretary of the Treasury has the billion of money, collected in payroll taxes. He can use the billion to retire regular Government debt obligations in the general market, or, thanks to a special quirk in the law, he can apply it on his current operating deficit. As things are now going, we shall still have deficits. In either alternative event, the billion is a nice, snug cushion. The cash, collected in payroll taxes for old-age pensions, goes either to pay the current running expenses of the Government, or to reduce the general debt obligations of the Government long since incurred for other purposes. Old-age pensions get a new promise to pay, if, as and when.

"Paper Prosperity."

"Everybody is happy, particularly the Treasury, and paper prosperity gets a new boost. Everybody is happy except those realistic souls who, declining to be Ponzi-minded, decline to fool themselves about what has happened. What has happened, in plain language, is that the payrool taxes for this branch of Social Security have been used to ease the temporary burden of the general public debt or to render painless another billion of current Government spending, while the old-age pension funds gets a promise to pay which another generation of our grandsons and granddaughters can wrestle with, decades hence.

"It is one of the slickest arrangements ever invented. It fits particularly well into the scheme of things when the Federal Government is on a perpetual spending spree. It provides a new source of current revenue which, while involving a bookkeeping debit, providentially eases the immediate burden of meeting current debts and deficits. I do not charge that this was the purpose, but I assert it is the highly convenient result."

$1,406,000,000 for Interest.

Looking forward to 1980, when the old-age pension reserve will reach its maximum of 47 billion dollars, which he calls the "47 billion dollar blight," Vandenberg insists that the Government will have collected—and spent—47 billion dollars without justification from an insurance standpoint. Nevertheless, the annual interest charge on this vast sum will have reached $1,-406,000,000, and this must be met by general taxation.

In preparing his criticism of the old-age pension reserve, Vandenberg wrote to the executive heads of all the great life insurance companies of the country asking if such a reserve, even if it could be amassed by the Federal Government, was justified. He reports that 70 answered his questionnaire and that 69 replied with "conclusive fervor" that such an enormous reserve was wrong. The seventieth simply expressed his confidence in the Social Security Board and withheld judgment on the reserve plan.

Looking Forward.

It is interesting to see how this huge reserve will be piled up by 45 years of collections and interest payments. During these 45 years the taxpayers of the country will have paid in a total of 108 billion dollars for the old-age fund, of which the beneficiaries will have received 61 billion dollars. The difference, 47 billion dollars, represents the money collected and spent for other purposes, for which the Government will have only its own I O U held in the so-called reserve fund.

In other words, the employers and employes will have paid billions of dollars into the general fund of the Treasury and those billions theoretically will be invested in Treasury certificates bearing 3 per cent interest. The general public, through other taxes, will be called on to pay this 3 per cent interest, but this money will also go into the general fund. The interest charges during the current fiscal year will amount to $23,000,000. The public contribution is essential because the special Treasury certificates are not, and cannot be, invested in what is generally accepted as income-producing securities, such as are purchased by life insurance companies.

Criticism and Reply.

Many criticisms have been directed at the old-age pension reserve scheme and the bookkeeping system of the Treasury, which demands the creation of an ephemeral account in which non-income producing securites are credited with incomes. So far the only detailed defense of the reserve has come from Chairman Altmeyer of the Social Security Board, who testified before a Senate committee that under this arrangement "the beneficiaries of the plan will be sufficiently taxed to cover their future benefits, whereas under the pay as you go system the potential beneficiaries are not taxed sufficiently to cover their future benefits, but the general taxpayer will be required to pay all the benefits." To this Senator Vandenberg replies:

"When $47,000,000,000 worth of Treasury I O Us has piled up in the coffers of the Social Security Board—the actual money itself having been long since dispersed on general Government debts — the general taxpayer will have contributed $33,000,000,000 of the $47,000,-000,000 in the form of accumulated annual interest on these Government bonds. That hardly sustains the contention that 'the beneficiaries of the plan pay for their own future benefits'."

Roosevelt's Answer.

President Roosevelt has a simpler way of answering these criticisms. Speaking at Madison Square Garden at the end of the 1936 presidential campaign, he said:

"When they (the critics) imply that the reserve thus created against both these policies (unemployment and old-age) will be stolen by some future Congress, diverted to some wholly foreign purpose, they attack the integrity and honor of the American Government itself. Those who suggest that are already aliens to the spirit of American democracy. Let them emigrate and try their lot under some foreign flag in which they have more confidence."

In debating terms, this is known as an argument ad hominem, or to the man, and is a rhetorical trick of catering to the prejudices of the listeners by ignoring the points made by an opponent and damning him, for example, as a "Bolshevik," "economic royalist," or a "copperhead."

Since the old-age pension reserve fund can only be explained in a technical bookkeeping jargon almost totally incomprehensible to the fiscal layman, that is the easiest way out; but it does not explain why billions are being collected, of which less than 60 per cent will be paid out to the eventual beneficiaries.

WYOMING PRIMARY TUESDAY; STATE, LOCAL ISSUES ONLY

Gov. Miller, Democrat, Opposed for Renomination by One Man; Five in G. O. P. Race.

By the Associated Press.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 13.—Wyoming voters will make their choices purely on state and local issues when they go to the polls Tuesday to select nominees for congressional, state and county offices.

Congressman Paul Greever enters the primary unopposed on the Democratic ticket. Frank O. Horton, Wyoming's Republican National Committeeman, opposes Alonzo M. Clark, former Secretary of State.

Five men seek the Republican nomination for Governor. Tom Nicholas, Gillette attorney, has waged his campaign on a promise o flower gasoline prices. John F. Raper, Sheridan attorney, seeks to provide work projects instead of relief, with $100 a month minimum salaries and $50 monthly pensions for all persons over 60. Nels H. Smith, Weston County livestock man, Dr. J. M. Holland, Mayor of Evanston, and S. S. Hoover, Mayor of Green River, are the other candidates.

Gov. Leslie A. Miller, who seeks his second full term, is opposed for the Democratic nomination by Gus Engelking, Converse County rancher.

Probation Officer Writes Neighborhood Association.

A request that the Neighborhood Association sponsor additional athletic and social clubs, for young men in the tenement districts was made in a letter sent to the Association yesterday by Frank X. Reller, chief probation officer of the Juvenile Court.

Reller said that in the areas in which the association had established clubs juvenile delinquency cases had shown a decline. The clubs sponsored by the association have a total membership of about 500.

Six-Day Decline in Stock Prices, Large-Scale Buying of Gold at London by Hoarders Mark Week

Nervousness Over Political Situation in Europe Cited as Main Bearish Influence —Stock Average Down 3.22 Points.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Stocks along with other markets retreated a few precautionary steps this week as the clouds of another crisis thickened on the European horizon.

Traders figured the speculative markets were ripe for a setback anyhow in view of the big mid-year advance and seized upon the return of war fears as an added excuse for going over to the selling side. Share prices sagged, gained momentum on the downside toward the end of the week but still were a long way from the starting point of the spectacular upturn on June 20.

Most disconcerting to some bulls was the way the dealings expanded on the decline. Transactions yesterday increased to about 1,400,000 shares, the largest this month. Farm products, chiefly grains, had pointed the way down for security markets, causing doubt in speculative camps whether hopes for autumn business improvement in the United States had not been pitched too high.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 3.5 points during the week to 47, largest loss for any week since March 26, and reducing the average to the lowest since July 11. Actually, it left the market 1.4 points under the peak of the spectacular June 20 to July 2 upturn.

The Dow-Jones average of 65 stocks was 3.22 points lower for the week. Saturday the loss was .14.

The market today, for the sixth consecutive session, ended on the losing side.

While pressure lessened appreciably against leading issues, and declines, on the whole, were confined to minor infractions, intermittent rallying attempts met with only feeble response.

Eyes on Europe.

With the exception of continued apprehension over possible warlike developments in Europe, the market encountered little news of a depressing nature and brokers thought the further quiet retreat was more of a technical slip-up than otherwise, constituting an added "correction" of the sharp mid-summer upturn.

The ticker tape idled throughout the greater part of the proceedings, with transfers totaling 396,200 shares against 829,060 a week ago. The turnover for the six days—5,462,760 shares—though, was around 1,000,000 shares ahead of the preceding week.

A large-scale shift of capital out of European currencies into gold and American dollars diverted attention from business improvement in the United States to foreign affairs. Generally this urge to put funds in a place where they could be reached readily in an emergency was accepted in Wall Street as a measure of war fears.

There was a temporary lull in the London gold rush following the truce agreement in the Japanese-Russian border struggle. But the demand for gold and dollars again became a scramble at the week-end and compelled traders here to take account of reports of German military preparations and gossip about a possible mid-August Nazi coup in Czechoslovakia.

Tone of Business News.

Foreign exchanges plainly exhibited the symptoms of uneasiness and seemed to communicate the feeling to Wall Street security and commodity markets. Many associated the selling in such commodities as cotton and wheat, both important export items for the United States, with the fall of foreign exchanges and the revival of dormant war fears as result of German ambitions in Central Europe.

Business news from industry at home hardly afforded an explanation for the cooling of bullish sentiment in the stock market. Most reports pointed to continuation of the summer trade upturn. The rise in steel production levelled off but electric power consumption, building, and textile operations made further headway. The Associated Press weekly index of industrial activity stretched its advance to 74.1 from 72.9 the preceding week and the year's low of 65.8. Most of this advance has been recorded the last five weeks.

Also judged a significant indicator of revival was the marketing of about $100,000,000 in new corporate issues and plans for additional financing.

Sellers, however, seemed to go on the assumption the stock market, on its spring and early summer recovery, adequately discounted these gains. Taking precedence in market calculations was the question how badly the recovery trend would be hit in the event a Nazi coup in Central Europe really did lead to large-scale conflict.

Big Gold Movement.

Once more Europe's troubles were expressed in a resumption of the flow of gold to New York. More than $22,000,000 of the metal was engaged during the week up to Friday for shipment to this country from abroad, the largest for any week since October. Much of it came from England, where the selling of foreign exchanges centered. Another $9,000,000 was announced today.

Ordinarily, an inflow of gold would be considered bullish in speculative markets. But Wall Streeters saw the shift of capital as indication Europe was on the anxious seat, with Germany speeding its military preparations. Gold mining stocks had flurries of strength as the London open market price of the metal continued to mount.

Meanwhile, it was recognized the United States had no need for the additional millions of gold headed for the U. S. Treasury's stores, already well over the $13,000,000,000 mark.

How much would be clipped off rural buying power by the fall in farm prices this month could not be figured quickly. Offsetting the price decline, brokers noted, were the Federal program for sustained farm income by loans on key crops and the larger harvests moving to market. The bumper yields provided by nature this year were emphasized by Government August crop estimates, mostly above trade expectations.

Farm implement and mail order shares were among the chief losers on the week's retreat from the mid-year bull drive. Losses in some issues ran to 5 points or more compared with the July tops. A few issues staged belated upturns during the week, only to join the market on the way down later.

Changes at Week End.

Bringing in some support at week's final session for recently lagging steels, motors and rails were forecasts of improved steel mill operations next week, a steady rise of motor car production after shut-downs in preparation for new 1939 models, and the belief rail earnings, with general economic betterment gaining momentum, would maintain the improved trend that got under way early in June.

Restraining sellers also was the report of Secretary of Commerce Roper to the President stressing business gains in July and a contra-seasonal industrial advance during that month.

In addition the Associated Press index of industrial activity pushed up for the fifth consecutive week to around the high mark for the year.

On the other hand, the rush for gold abroad exemplified the nervousness over a possible German-Czechoslovak flare-up and the price of the yellow metal in London was lifted to a record peak. Engagements of $9,000,000 of gold at London for shipment to the United States was announced, the largest from any country for any day since June 10, 1937. Leading foreign currencies, though, exhibited a relatively steady tone in terms of the dollar, but during the week sterling and the French franc dipped to new lows for the move.

Giving up fractions to around a point on the day were shares of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Caterpillar Tractor, American Telephone, Western Union, Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, du Pont, Johns-Manville, Texas Corp., and Air Reduction.

Finishing with small advances were General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Phelps Dodge, N. Y. Central, Delaware & Hudson and Standard Oil of N. J.

CURB MARKET HAS RAGGED APPEARANCE; TRADE NARROW

Turnover of 46,000 Shares Is Smallest Since June 18.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The Curb market had a ragged appearance in idle and narrow dealings. Lake Shore gained ½ at 52⅜, Eagle-Picher was ⅛ ahead at 9¾ and Sunray Oil added ⅛ at 2¾. Ending lower were Humble Oil at 66½, down 1¼, Aluminum Co., 1½ lower at 104¼ and Cities Service off ¼ at 8½. Turnover of 46,000 shares was the smallest since June 18 and compared with 87,000 a week ago.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 13.—Wheat futures reacted from slight early gains to finish with net losses of ¼d to ⅜d on reports of selling by importers and a slow United Kingdom millers' inquiry.

After declining early cotton futures recovered to close 1d to 2d net lower when Bombay and trade buying developed and found contracts scarce. The international situation was viewed calmly.

Series of Plunges by Sterling And Franc, Spurt in Gold Price

European Capital Apparently Passes Week in Continual Fear of What Would Happen Next.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—European capital apparently passed the week in continual fear of what would happen next.

Fighting in the Far East between Japanese and Russian troops had barely been stopped by truce when German troop movements near the Czechoslovak border started another rush for gold and dollars.

Coupled with war fears as factors in the series of plunges by the British pound and French franc to new low marks for the year or, the case of the former, more, were the rumors in banking circles the fall in the pound was due mainly to speculative raids based on the hope the British Government—in an effort to give British industry a shot in the arm—would allow sterling to settle to the pre-1931 parity of $4.867.

As spectacular as the drop in the pound—which has lost more than 15 cents in terms of the dollar since February this year—was the scramble to convert foreign monies into gold in the London open market. As the pound declined, the price of gold soared to the highest in nearly two years and hovered most of the week near the "gold point," the price at which the metal may be profitably shipped from England.

During the week $22,024,000 of gold was engaged abroad for shipment here, the largest for any week since last October, and of this aggregate, $12,964,000 was engaged in Britain.

Foreign exchange dealings were at slower pace today. Sterling and the French franc held relatively steady, though money traders kept a close watch for developments touching Czechoslovakia.

Demand for gold in London, however, capping - week of heavy buying, showed only few signs of abating as the price soared to the highest level since May, 1935. The present quotation is just about at the "gold point," when the metal may be profitably shipped to the United States.

The British pound remained unchanged while the French franc, beset alike by international developments and internal unsettlement, dipped .00⅛ of a cent. Also unchanged was the Swiss franc while guilders advanced .02 of a cent. The belga was .00¾ of a cent lower.

The already bulging supplies of U. S. Government gold were slated for a further addition when the Federal Reserve Bank reported the engagement of $9,000,000 in gold in England for shipment here, the largest single engagement in any country in more than a year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Foreign exchange closing rates follow: Great Britain in dollars, others in cents. Great Britain 4.87¼; 60-day bills 4.86½. Canada, Montreal in New York, 99.59¾; New York in Montreal 100.40⅝; Belgium 16.83; Czechoslovakia 3.45½; Denmark 21.75; Finland 2.16½; France 2.72¾; Germany 40.09, benevolent 20.10, travel 22.60; Greece .90; Hungary 19.85; Italy 5.26¼; Yugoslavia 2.34; Netherlands 54.50; Norway 24.48; Poland 18.87; Portugal 4.43; Rumania .75; Spain unquoted; Sweden 25.12; Switzerland 22.90; Argentina 32.47n; Brazil (free) 5.85n; Mexico City 20.40n; Japan 28.41; Hongkong 30.49; Shanghai 16.30.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The United States dollar marked time in foreign exchange trading today as it finished 4.87⅛ to the pound, unchanged from the previous close. Sterling in New York overnight was $4.87 3-16.

French francs ended net unchanged, 178.87 to the pound.

ACTIVITY IN METALS SLOWS SOMEWHAT

Vacation Shutdowns in Some Consuming Industries Affect Market.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. — Activity in metal markets slowed down last week, due mostly to vacation shut-downs in some consuming industries and reduced buying by European countries. Price levels remained practically unchanged, although tin dropped almost a ½ cent a pound and copper was somewhat unsettled at the week-end.

Copper demand was moderate with the electrolytic price unchanged at 10⅛c. Encouraging statistics on supplies showed domestic stocks 19,000 tons lower in July and foreign stocks off 9000 tons. Scrap copper was cut ¼c a pound late in the week in line with easiness in London metal markets. Some copper was reported available at concessions but producers held unchanged.

Lead prices were unchanged at 4.90@4.95 cents New York and 4.75 cents East St. Louis. Demand was moderate.

Zinc sales were satisfactory and consumption was said to be on the upgrade as galvanizing operations improved. Surplus supplies declined and domestic shipments were good.

Tin slid lower through the week in quiet markets and lower far eastern prices, ending the week at 43.15 cents compared with 43.60 cents at last week-end. Output of tinplate continued at 35 per cent of capacity.

Antimony, Chinese grade, was unchanged at 14 cents a pound. Some irregular demand was noted for the metal for the first time in some weeks. Sales were small.

Steel operations remained steady around 40 per cent, and news that auto makers expect to go into fairly large scale production within the next month was a cheering item. Steel scrap prices stayed generally steady and pig iron output was good.

CORPORATION STATEMENTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Garlock Packing Co. and subsidiaries reported for the six months ended June 30 net profit of $210,548, equal to $1 a share on the capital stock, compared with $659,814, or $3.15 a share, for the six months ended June 30, 1937.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET IRREGULARLY LOWER

Hamilton-Brown, Most Active Issue of Week Scores Major Gain for Period.

Prices of securities listed on the St. Louis Stock Exchange moved irregularly lower during the last week. It so happened, however, that the most active stock of the list, Hamilton-Brown, advanced a point and a half. Transactions in this issue too made up approximately one-half of the week's aggregate business.

Wagner Electric, which has had a sharp advance in recent weeks, reacted more than 5 points. Sterling Aluminum and Key Co. were other stocks shading prices.

In the upper group at close of week were Missouri Portland and Burkart.

A number of shares were unchanged for the period after minor ranges.

WASHINGTON BUSINESS NOTES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—June collections on open credit accounts by department stores were 2.6 per cent less than a year ago, the Commerce Department reports. Collections on installment accounts were 5.5 per cent behind.

Chocolate Manufacturers reported to the Commerce Department their June sales totaled $8,847,112, compared with $9,091,718 in May and $9,177,656 in June, 1937.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET IRREGULARLY LOWER

Hamilton-Brown, Most Active Issue of Week Scores Major Gain for Period.

Prices of securities listed on the St. Louis Stock Exchange moved irregularly lower during the last week. It so happened, however, that the most active stock of the list, Hamilton-Brown, advanced a point and a half. Transactions in this issue too made up approximately one-half of the week's aggregate business.

Wagner Electric, which has had a sharp advance in recent weeks, reacted more than 5 points. Sterling Aluminum and Key Co. were other stocks shading prices.

In the upper group at close of week were Missouri Portland and Burkart.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY INDEX NEAR 1938 TOP

Measure Shows Rise of 13 Per Cent Since Recession Low Point Late in May.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Industrial activity statistics released this week indicate operations were stepped up for the fifth week in succession, to within striking distance of the year's best levels.

The Associated Press seasonally adjusted index jumped to 74.1 per cent of the 1929-30 average from 72.9 the previous period and compared with 102.4 last year.

From the low point of the current recession in the final week of May, this measure of industrial tempo has risen 13 per cent.

Three important industries close to the consuming millions throughout the country—residential building, cotton manufacturing and electric power production—swept up to new peaks for the year.

Home constructiton was the only major series to top the comparable week last year, although cotton manufacturing came within a fraction of duplicating 1937 figures.

Automobile assemblies, on the other hand, slipped into new low ground for the year as manufacturers started to prepare for changeover to 1939 model production. Steel mill operating rate dipped moderately.

what more than seasonally, although miscelaneous shipments—the major industrial classification—was unchanged after allowance for this change.

The index, with its seasonally adjusted components based on latest available data and with 1929-30 as 100, compared as follows:

	Latest Week	Prev. Week	Yr. Ago

COTTON IN LOW GROUND FOR MOVEMENT AT WEEK-END

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Cotton eased into new low ground for the current movement today under domestic liquidation and Bombay selling. December sold off from 8.29 to 8.21, closing at the low, with final prices 3 to 4 points net lower.

The market opened 2 to 6 points higher in response to steadier Liverpool cables and on a little trade buying. Demand was slow, however, and prices soon turned reactionary under local selling and commission house liquidation promoted by favorable weather in the South and unsatisfactory cotton goods turnover at slightly easier prices. Bombay was a consistent seller throughout the session while demand was limited principally to price-fixing on a scale down.

Prices at the close eased to a basis which would make a cotton loan mandatory as prices in Southern spot markets followed the New York decline to an average of 8.258.

Cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the close of the week was estimated at 26,000 bales against 14,000 last year and 29,000 two years ago.

Cotton futures closed 3-4 lower.

SHORT SESSION IN WHEAT ENDS AT A DECLINE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—A recovery movement budded in the wheat market today but failed to bloom and after an upturn of ⅝ cent prices slipped back to ¼ to ½ cent net loss for the short session.

The market encountered support credited to mills, exporters and "shorts" during the first two hours but a late burst of selling apparently was inspired by hedging pressure from the Northwest, where the spring crop movement is increasing, and a break of almost 2 cents in Duluth durum. Weakness in securities for the sixth consecutive session also was an unsettling factor.

The wheat market closed at the day's low point or just about a cent below the early high, ¼@½ down compared with yesterday's finish, September 61⅝, December 63⅞@64. Corn was ⅜@⅝ higher. September 51⅝@¾, December 48½@⅝; oats unchanged to ⅛ off; rye ½@⅝ down, and lard unchanged to 2 cents higher.

Selling early in the session was timid in the wheat pit with prices near five-year lows but there was no strong incentive to buy. Traders said the usual pressure from farm marketings has been minimized because many producers apparently are dissatisfied with prices and are holding their grain. There have been no country offerings on a to arrive basis for several days. Receipts this week were half those a year ago.

Little export business was confirmed. After a slight upturn, Liverpool closed ¼@½ lower on selling by importers and a slow mill inquiry in the United Kingdom. Buenos Aires was ¾ to 1 cent up.

Independent strength which lifted corn as much as 1⅜ at one stage was credited to short covering and exporters. Country offerings continued light and cash corn rose ¾ to 1 cent. Because of low prices farmers were reported unwilling to sell and with Chicago stocks and visible supply down exporters were reported more active buyers. There was no confirmation of export sales but more business was understood to have been worked.

Oats were steady but rye declined with wheat. Firmness in cottonseed oil helped lard.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Aug. 13.—Forward deliveries of grain were not quoted here today.

Winnipeg wheat opened unchanged and early was ¼@½c higher. The close was net unchange dto ⅛d off.

Liverpool wheat closed ¼@⅜d lower after opening ⅛@⅜d up.

Argentine wheat ⅛c higher and corn ⅛@¼c up. The close was ¾@1c higher for wheat and ⅞c up for corn.

Local wheat receipts, which were 103,500 bu, compared with 192,000 a week ago and 144,000 a year ago, included 47 cars local and 22 through. Corn receipts, which were 30,000 bu, compared with 52,500 a week ago and 39,000 a year ago, included 16 cars local and 4 through. Oats receipts, which were 16,000 bu, compared with 56,000 a week ago and 22,000 a year ago, included 6 cars local and 2 through.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

In the cash grain market Saturday, soft wheat was ½@1c higher early in the session, but steady to ½c up late. Supply was light and demand good. Trading basis was maintained. A couple cars of top quality grain went to order buyers and the bulk of the offerings to elevators. Corn was 1@2c higher. Demand was good and the available supply was quickly cleared. Mill, elevator and order buyers showed interest. Premiums were unchanged to ¼c better, with No. 1 yellow selling ½@1c over, No. 2 and No. 3, ½c over, No. 1 white ¼c over and No. 3, 1c under the September delivery. Oats were ½c higher. Trading was slow, with only one car changing hands.

AVERAGE INDEX OF COMMODITY GROUP IS OFF

Setback in Weighted Figure Is Broadest Since Last November — Agricultural Staples Hardest Hit in Week's Trading.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—After swinging in a narrow range for more than a month, commodity prices broke sharply this week and heavy liquidation swept the market places.

Aug. 1 crop estimates by the Department of Agriculture for cotton, corn and wheat were considered bearish by the trade. The subsequent flood of selling orders found buyers only at substantially lower levels.

The Associated Press weighted index of 35 important wholesale spot staple quotations slumped to 66.07 per cent of the 1926 average from 67.48 the previous week and compared with 89.10 a year ago.

This week's setback was the broadest since last November, measured by this index. Only two among the commodities in the index advanced while 18 fell back. The remainder were unchanged.

Agricultural Staples.

Hardest hit—pricewise—were agricultural staples, industrial raw materials giving ground slowly and stubbornly. Farm staples crashed to the lowest levels in four years or more because of heavy over-suppies that will hang over the market after this season's harvest is in.

The grains—corn, wheat and rye—broke heavily as support was withdrawn in face of the selling barrage. Livestock fell further from the high point for the year established about a month ago. Cattle, lambs and hogs were down sharply, the latter losing almost a dollar a hundredweight at $8.75.

The 11,988,000-bale cotton crop estimate issued this week by the Government was almost half a million bales above the average trade guess, and was followed by quick downward price readjustment.

Market-basket items shared the weakness in other farm products, also slumping to a four-year low. Among the foods feeling the effects of this selling-wave were eggs, cocoa, lard and flour.

Hides alone among the major industrial staples chalked up a gain. Metals, with steel scrap and tin setting the pace, weakened, although volume was light. Rubber, turpentine and burlap also dipped.

Textiles fell back, and have lost about one-half of the gain that followed the boomlet in stocks late in June. Cotton cloth was down for the second week, and silk also slipped.

What Index Shows.

MID-JUNE BOND ADVANCE MEETS FIRST CHECK

Some Corporate Issues Sell Off Sharply From July Highs, but Losses on Moderate.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Bonds experienced this week the first real interruption to the climb in prices that got under way in mid-June.

Traders regarded the reaction as about due and heralded by the market's hesitant backing and filling performance in the previous week.

Some corporate issues sold off precipitately from their July highs, but losses on the average were moderate.

Some of the factors operating at the same time to restrict buying and prompt profit selling in corporate loans were weakness in the stock market; failure of railroad managements and labor representatives to reach an agreement on the wage reduction question; anxiety over the situation in Central Europe.

The rather sharp setback in various rail liens was regarded in some quarters partly as the result of technical weakness growing out of the rapid rise in the last few weeks. While the deadlock in the wage cut negotiations caused some disappointment, it was tempered by promise of further improvement in rail revenues. Preliminary estimates indicated August returns would give the carriers a surplus afer charges for the second consecutive month. The wage dispute is now before the Federal Mediation Board.

Utility companies accounted for a big share of the week's new financing, which ran to much larger figures than the average of recent weeks. The largest offerings included Toledo Edison's issue of $30,000,000 mortgage 3½s; New York Steam Corporation's $27,982,000 mortgage 3½s and a $10,000,000 bond issue by Public Service Electric & Gas Co. bearing 3¼ per cent interest.

Japanese dollar bonds recovered sharply on the truce in the Siberian border conflict, but foreign issues generally tended to sag on reports of unsettlement in Europe.

The 8s of '52 broke 4⅝ to 65⅜ and the 8s of '51 dropped 3⅛ to 65⅝. German 5½s dipped ⅜ to 23¾, but the 7s were steady. Japan issues were fractionally higher.

Volume totaled $2,223,500 face value lowest since June 18, compared with last Saturday's total of $3,054,000.

U. S. Governments were quiet and irregular, changes ranging from a decline of 3-32 to an advance of 1-32.

Southern Railway 6s at 55 and general 6s at 53½ each were down 3½. New York Central 5s dropped 3 to 58¼. Southern Pacific 4½s of '68 lost 1⅞ at 46½. Erie 5s of '75 were up ½ at 14.

Walworth 4s dropped 2 to 66. Down a point each were: Studebaker 6s, American & Foreign Power 5s, American Water Works 6s, and International Hydro-Electric 6s.

Down fractionally were American Telephone 3¼s of '66 at 103; Bethlehem Steel 3¾s at 99; Texas Corp. 3½s at 106⅞; and Utilities Power & Light 5s at 48½.

Co-incident with the announcement that only 63 per cent of the required 80 per cent of bondholders of Tennessee Public Service had deposited their bonds as proposed in the T V A-Knoxville plan, the 5s climbed a point to 94¼.

Horses and Mules.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Aug. 13.—Horse and mule receipts were a little larger the past week and trading proved fairly active at steady to firm rates. Several good buyers were here for top fillies and young mares and there was an outlet for Southern mares. Branded horses, on the other hand, did not encounter a very vigorous trade and this was particularly true if they were wild.

The mule trade showed more life than at any time recently. Pack animals, shippers and good cotton offerings sold well; in fact, most of them cleared on the alley. There were buyers here for all grades of colt mules.

*NATIVE HORSE QUOTATIONS.

Good to choice draft, $125@150; medium to good draft, $100@125; good to choice chunks, $90@110; smooth mouthed chunks, $65@90; large farm mares, $125@150; medium farm mares, $90@110; fillies, yearlings and twos; small, common, $30@50; good size, $60@85; extra size and quality, $120@150 (horse colts sell $15@25 per head less than fillies); good Southern mares, $75@100; small Southern mares, $40@60; small cheap horses, $30@50.

*MULE QUOTATIONS.

Farm mules, 15.2 to 16 hands, $110@140; colt mules, small, $60@85; draft mules, $150@200; mine mules, 14.1 to 15.2 hands, $120@160; choice cotton mules, 14.3 to 15.2 hands, $160@200; small green mules over 3 years old, $50@85.

*Quotations are for average animals and do not cover those of outstanding quality or the very cheapest grade.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY STOCKYARDS.

CATTLE—With the exception of veal calves, general market fully 25c lower for the week. Some instances on short fed and grass cattle off more. Good to choice lightweight steers and butcher yearlings, $9@10; medium kinds, $7@8.50; choice heavy steers quotable $11 and up; medium to good grass-fat yearlings, $6.25@7.25; common grades, $5.50 and under; beef cows largely $4.75@5.75; cutters and low cutters, $3.50@4.50. Closing top on sausage bulls, $6; veal calves 50c higher; top Friday, $10.

HOGS—The hog market was sharply lower this past week, especially on light light pigs; heavy finished butchers scarce; 190 to 250 lbs, finished, mostly 75c lower; 260 to 280 lbs., 45@60c lower; extreme heavies about 25c lower; light lights and pigs 85c@$1.25 lower. Top for the week, $9.25; sows 15@25c lower, most loss on lightweights; bulk, $8@7.25.

SHEEP—Lamb market to city butchers and shippers closed the week about steady. Lambs on packer account 25@50c lower. Top to small interests, $8.50; packer top, $8.25. Bulk of the better lambs, $7.75@8; throwouts 50c lower, largely $4.50@5.50; sheep steady to 25c lower, mostly $2.50@3; few lights to $3.25.

Mussolini Still Italy's Master

to see whether the conversion is a genuine one. Or do the sanctionist countries still want to subvert secular Romanism and throw that immense inscription "Jussu Benito Mussolini" in the dust?

Of all Roman aphorisms called back into service in modern Italy "Si vis pacem para bellum" (If you wish peace prepare for war) is perhaps the most exploited, though each hope for peace is qualified by doubt (sometimes amounting to a rather contemptuous contrary certainty) whether peace is to be had on any terms. The army meanwhile is continually reminded of Roman antecedents:

A strong army (says the preamble to the latest army budget), formed in the Fascist atmosphere of high moral tension, wholly insures the future and the prosperity of the new Empire of Rome, founded by Mussolini . . . In the new "passo romano" (goose step), as robustly executed by the marchers, echoes the indomitable will of the legions of Rome. . . .

In discussing war preparedness the corporative organization of industry and, more generally, the Fascist framework within which the whole nation is organized and ranged is frequently claimed as giving great advantages. . . .

In the words of an official document:

Thanks to the plans of the Duce, the Fascist party brings the young Italian of military age to the threshold of the barracks, already individually trained and assigned to his due post; then, when he has done his Army service, drafts him into the Volunteer Militia for National Security, which keeps him trained and in form.

The G. I. L. (Italian Youth of the Lictors Rods, the senior branch of the youth organization) gives 'premilitary training in automobilism, wireless, and other technical accomplishments of military usefulness. Children of school age are, with ever fewer exceptions, drawn into the youth organizations for both sexes. . . .

Those who are to become reserve officers arrive at the barracks with an exceptional training gained in the Officers' Training Corps at the university. . . University students can also follow naval courses of study during two summer vacations, and are then eligible, on taking their degrees, to fulfill their military obligations as Naval Reserve officers, serving for one year. (The rank and file of the Navy are volunteers, signing on for four years.)

Air Force Recruits.

The Air Force is henceforth to be recruited, according to a law recently promulgated, by a compulsory selection from those due to serve their year in the Army of such young men as are specially suitable, physically and morally. . . But it is still only a minority of ex-conscripts who belong to the militia (which lately numbered some 400,000 in all, compared with an annual contingent of 300,000 completing Army service). A far larger part of the nation, male and female, is organized in the syndicates or cell units of the corporative system, which some time ago counted, on the employes' side, 5,000,000 persons. The corporative system, which through the agency of a vast bureaucracy presides over employment in every branch of activity throughout Italy and is further responsible for price control and a large part of the social services of the State, has a military value well recognized by the heads of the armed forces. For example, the industrial population is ready organized for "A. R. P." purposes in the syndicates, and not the employes only but the employers also. Moreover, the military authorities are able, through the corporative organs, to address their requests and admonitions to industries as a whole. . . .

For the time being the heads of the armed forces regard the regimentation of the nation in the youth sections for both sexes and in the syndicates as giving Italy a much better preparedness against war than is possible for more loosely organized nations. . . .

Italy is a nation at arms, a warrior people! Rome is reawakened! Not only the leader writers and political orators proclaim it; one may well find it announced in treatises on architecture or foreign exchange. For five centuries Italian poets and essayists, from Petrarch and Machiavelli to Leopardi and Carducci, echoed to each other the call to arms to break the long and comfortable subservience of Italians to soldierly foreigners. Then, from 1859, in 60 years, the Italians won their independence not so much by renewing Roman prowess as by adroit playing upon the discords and sympathies of Europe. And now, when they are as much their own masters as the British or French, when none dreams of challenging their self-rule, Italians cannot yet take for granted what English and French people assume without talking about it. For centuries they upbraided themselves and submitted to be upbraided for want of valor; now they risk forgetting that discretion is any part of valour at all.

Setup for Emergencies.

Thanks to the corporative organization, the Fascist State exists in permanent readiness for national emergencies. In every workshop a fiduciario (trustee), an employe of the firm, is in touch with the local secretary of the syndicate or syndicates in which the workers are enrolled. These are responsible to provincial secretaries for the individual trade, while a provincial general secretary for the entire organization of industrial workers presides at headquarters in each provincial capital (and, similarly, a provincial general secretary for agriculture, transport, and so on). All the higher officials are nominated by the Ministry of Corporations. . . .

For 13 years the Fascist Government has been elaborating and modifying the corporative institutions. At the present stage these essentially consist in the workers' syndicates, grouped in provincial federations and national confederations; the employers' organizations, which are substantially the old associations with the word "Fascist" inserted in their titles; and over all, the Ministry of Corporations. . . .

The men in positions of command on the employes' side of the corporative organization give the greatest importance to the powers of inspection, investigation, and joint control which in the name of the employes they assert over the whole field of privately owned enterprise. Syndicalists who envisaged the complete expropriation of the capitalist, or his absorption as a salaried and pensioned manager, subject to the authority of workers' councils, have all along persisted as a left wing in Fascism, with varying degrees of encouragement from the highest quarters. These highest quarters have, since 1935, somewhat checked the open preaching of a Fascist syndicalism that would altogether supersede the capitalist in industry. . . .

. . . The corporations are still only shadowy consultative bodies, without independent staffs; the Minister of Corporations summons them as joint committees to discuss from all possible points of view intended changes in industrial practice. . . .

For the time being, then, the corporative institutions do no more than hold the population and its resources well regimented for any future emergency, and at the same time apportion by authority, by means of price control, wage regulations and regulation of factory conditions, the consequences (so far inevitably losses) of the recent and current Abyssinian and Spanish emergencies. The Ministry of Exchanges and Currencies, where Dr. Felice Guarneri sits as distributor of the available foreign exchange resources to those clamoring for them, superimposes a further control upon all trade operations involving imports and exports or international payments on other accounts. The privilege of acquiring foreign exchange is, in principle, reserved to those who already before the emergencies of 1934 and later years were acquiring it, and is only extended to them (in some proportion determined by the Minister in consideration of the available total) for precisely the same uses. For example, a manufacturer who acquired £10,000 sterling in 1934 to acquire South African wool will in 1938 have the right to acquire a proportion, it may be 60 per cent, of £10,000 sterling, but only for the very same purpose—not, for example, to buy South American wool. Merchants who do not want their rights can sell them. . . . The continued cutting down of imports is necessary to preserve the small balance of exchange now in hand—no more, all recognize, than in a single year might be needed for exceptional imports if all classes are to maintain even their present curtailed consumption of goods.

Merchant Princes.

According to widespread belief, the half-dozen merchant princes of Italy, magnates of the electricity, automobile, chemical, and other industries, have been too powerful for either the corporative institutions . . . or the exchange controller to shift much of the burden on to them. . . .

These few men, conducting businesses with foreign connections of the first importance to the State, evade control, and are believed to hold vast fortunes abroad, of which they acknowledge a bare tithe in their income tax returns, whereas humbler citizens own up to a full third. But manufacturers and traders of less exalted rank find their activities and earning power circumscribed and restricted by the rationing of materials, the control of prices, and the multiple official and unofficial public calls on their purse. Finally, "the people" (a favorite word in Fascist publicity) must take the day wages they are allotted (with sometimes very few days' work to a week) and buy what goods are within their reach. Theirs not to reason why. And, after all, the same corporative institutions, through which alone they are entitled to seek employment, have at their disposal means of bringing many of the good things of life within the range of collective enjoyment, from concerts and films at next to no price to seaside and mountain holidays and trips abroad. . . In the corporative offices male and female employes stand at attention and give the Fascist salute on the approach of a superior. . . .At the head of the big offices, however, are men who make it their task to press the industrialists to a continuous improvement in working conditions and intend more and more to invade the privileges of the owner. . .In other words, the corporations are manned at the top by men with ambitions for great social change.

As Heir of the Caesars.

Marshaling the citizens of Italy in guilds for work and play, training them from childhood and on into middle age in the arts of war, pressing them into early and abundant parenthood for the good of the State, promoting agriculture and founding peasant-soldier colonies, the Duce presents himself as the heir of the Caesars, and particularly of the present favorite among them, Augustus. Unlike Augustus, he has at the gates of Italy, or at a few hours' flying distance, nations as numerous and as skilled as his own which have no thought of bowing to a Roman primacy. If he yet aims in foreign politics, as in all else, at unique pre-eminence, he will seek to compass this by adroit maneuvering, with violence as a reserve method, applicable only when he can tackle a weak opponent unsupported by alliances. . . .

As a faithful disciple through all external changes of the philosophies of conflict, a connoisseur of struggle and despiser of placidity, Mussolini must see Europe as the field of a trial of strength and make it his next task to find Italy's —his own—place in the alignment, so chosen that Rome can emerge as arbiter of the destinies of both factions. . . .

Many people believe that the Duce must be in far too great economic straits today to have any further ambition than to extract himself from difficulties. Two years after the foundation of the empire, that was to satisfy Italy's land-hunger and lack of materials, the population has to put up with war-time bread (bad enough in some small places for rioters to invade the bakeries), short rations of coffee, and clothes which, however smart on first appearance, wear poorly. The Minister of Exchange Control might well have to spend half his present reserves of foreign exchange to provide in this year of bad (though not catastrophically bad) crops the equivalent of the food consumption of the past year. In Italy the traveller hears no such anxious or enthusiastic comments on the Spanish war as, three years ago, on the Abyssinian war. . . .

Indeed . . . you may hear from undoubted and even distinguished Fascists that they admire the heroism of the Reds and recognize some of the best of Spanish citizens and soldiers among them. Yet . . . they accept the Duce's word that only by Franco's victory can Spain be brought to the first stage of recovery, though in a later stage many would not at all mind seeing Franco disappear and some of the Barcelona leaders taken into partnership by his successor.

Spain would then be a Latin country, in whose affairs Italy would not meddle, but Rome would have backed the winner against a rival party that cared nothing for her authority. In the next place, the rulers of France, also recalcitrant to any suggestions from Rome, would have been definitely worsted and in Mussolini's mind those Frenchmen, from Blum to Herriot, are the continuing allies of those in Italy who resisted him and go on resisting him.

France Said to Be Decaying.

At the present moment, Italians in the intellectual system of Fascism, and even those at its edge, announce on every possible occasion that France, under the present rule is decaying and disintegrating. . . .

But with the Rome-Berlin axis Mussolini, besides frightening the French, enters into close relations with a nation that cares as little perhaps for Rome as for Mecca—or, maybe, since German interest in the world as a whole is very great, as much. . . . Most Italians feel the German to be anything but a kinsman. Fascist officials find the German political organizations (as one of them frankly said) "much more on Russian lines than ours." For Germany Mussolini can have but one desire; that her expansion should be toward Central and Eastern Europe, not to clash for a generation at least with Italy's desire to fill the Eastern Mediterranean with Italian ships of trade. . . .

Mussolini would like to be on terms of mutual respect with the Government of a Great Britain which took the intentions of the new Rome in the Latin world to be none of its business. Mussolini would surely prefer to recognize Britain's permanent right of way through the Mediterranean, even with stations in Malta, Cyprus and Suez, rather than to come to a trial of strength. . . .

Mussolini seems still to stake his hopes on the axis-partner keeping a respectable distance and allowing him in the sphere of Italy's radiation, to shine alone as the creator of the new Romanism described in these articles.

The sharp upward spurt in July permits lifted the aggregate for the first seven months of this year to $668,269,264, as compared with $677,517,268 for the same 1937 period. This represented a loss of only 1.4 per cent, as against a drop of 10.0 per cent shown for the six month's comparison. The New York total for the seven months amounted to $249,156,101, in contrast with $153,942,319 last year, giving an increase of 61.9 per cent.

The record of building permit values for the first seven months of 1938 and 1937, for the 215 cities, as compiled by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., is given herewith:

CHURCH BUYS BUILDING AT 4321 OLIVE STREET

St. Stephen's Congregation Acquires Double Residence West of Pendleton for School.

St. Stephen's Evangelical Lutheran Church has purchased the two and one-half story double residence at 4321 Olive street, with 75 by 152 feet of ground. The transaction was handled by the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co. Mrs. Rose Kriegshauser was the former owner.

The acquisition gives St. Stephen's a total of 245 feet on Olive street, including a row of stores, with 70 by 152 feet of ground, just west of the church building, which stands at the northwest corner of Pendleton avenue.

Plans are under way for converting the building acquired into a school to be operated in connection with the church. The first floor is to be given over to class rooms, and the second floor is to be occupied by the pastor of the church until there is need for additional class rooms.

In 1935, Louis H. Waltke presented the church with a new chancel in memory of his son, the late Louis Albert Waltke.

Providing for an entirely new setting, the gift included an altar, reredos, pulpit, lectern and choir stall, carved in oak by Alois Lang, Bavarian craftsman, son of Anton Lang, the "Christus" of the Passion Play at Oberammergau.

A life-size carving of Christ, in the center of the reredos, is the outstanding figure of the remodeled chancel. The remainder of the reredos, as well as pulpit and lectern are intricately carved.

In keeping with the new setting, the congregation fitted the church with new oaken pews, and a new organ. The congregation took over the church building when St. George's Episcopal congregation vacated it with the merger of their church and St. Michael's. The Rev. Arthur C. Nitz is pastor of St. Stephens.

TIRE CO. LEASES BUILDING AT 1058 S. VANDEVENTER

The B. F. Goodrich Co. has leased the one-story building at 1058 South Vandeventer avenue for its district office through Arthur S. Martin & Son. The building comprises about 30,000 square feet of available floor space and there are 58,000 square feet of ground available for trucks and shipping purposes.

The property is served by the Missouri Pacific Railroad. It is owned by the Electric Storage Battery Co.

The Goodrich company has also leased the two-story building at 4375 Duncan avenue, owned by Sam Rotenberg, president of the Consolidated Petroleum Products Corporation, for use as a retreading plant.

DODSON SCHOOL BUYS BUILDING ON WEST PINE

Acquires 21-Room Residence at 4569, With Lot 150 by 180 Feet.

The Dodson School, a private institution, has purchased the former Fruin Colnon residence at 4569 West Pine boulevard from interests represented by the Mississippi Valley Trust.

Institutional in appearance, the two-story structure contains 21 rooms. It has a lot 150 by 180 feet, with ample space available for playgrounds. In the rear of the premises is a two-story building, garage facilities and a six-room apartment with bath.

Plans have been completed for altering and remodeling the structure, which will replace the school's former building on Cabanne avenue, damaged by fire last February.

The school's country grounds are on the Mississippi River, near the White House, and about six miles below Jefferson Barracks, with a commanding view of Illinois. The tall pipe at Herculaneum, Mo., is distinctly visible to one looking south.

The Barngrove Realty Co. and Lawrence Darst of the Darst Realty Co. represented the Dodson School in the negotiations for the West Pine property.

LEASES ON BUSINESS QUARTERS CONCLUDED

The Mott Carton & Paper Co. has leased the building at 2236 Eugenia street as an office, stockroom and factory.

Robert Thomas has leased ground at 809-15 Delmar boulevard for a parking lot.

The Smart Millinery Co. has leased the entire second floor in the building at 1517-19 Washington for office, stockroom and factory purposes. Dave Rosen of the Rosen Hat Co. has leased the sixth floor and the Rhodes Manufacturing Co. has leased the eighth floor of the same building.

Arthur S. Martin & Son represented the lessor in the above mentioned three leases. The lessees were represented by Mullin-Walters Realty Co., Inc.

D. J. Gray has leased the storeroom at 4658 Shenandoah for office, stockroom and factory.

F. G. Nicolay has leased the entire one-story building at 111 South Tenth street for as office, stockroom, salesroom and factory.

JULY SALES AGGREGATING $250,000 ARE REPORTED

July sales totaling at more than $250,000 are reported by Walter H. Lerch, salesmanager of the Dimmit-Rickhoff-Bayer Real Estate Co., Inc. This is the largest amount reported by the concern for any month since Sept. 1937. Lerch is optomistic as to the outlook.

BUILDING FUNDS ADVANCED IN JUNE

Loans of Association for First Six Months of 1938 Approximate $500,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Although loans advanced by savings, building and loan associations throughout the nation during the first half of 1938 were 21 per cent less than in the corresponding 1937 period, funds diverted into construction trades increased sharply late in spring and early this summer. Last year lending activities of these associations were at a seven-year peak level.

Statistics compiled by the United States Building and Loan League showed today that in June the loan associations made more advances for new construction, repair and modernization than in any month since last September.

New construction loans totaled $30,053,800 while repair and modernization advances were $6,516,400. Not only was the actual amount loaned for these services the largest in 9 months, but they represented a greater percentage of the total credit issued by the associations than in any month in recent years. The proportion of total savings, building and loan financing going into new construction in June was 31.4 per cent compared with 29.9 a year ago.

Loans to help people buy homes also showed an increase. The league estimated $30,158,800 went into purchase loans in June, amounting to 31.5 per cent of all money lent. The month saw considerable progress in home ownership, approximately 9000 families borrowing to build and 11,500 to buy existing property.

Total loans of associations for the first six months approximated $500,000,000, compared with $637,000,000 the corresponding 1937 period. New construction loans for the period totaled $143,937,000, a decrease of $44,000,000 compared with a year ago. Purchase loans totaled $145,737,000, a decrease of $70,000,000. Repair and modernization loans totaled $33,353,000, a decrease of $3,000,000.

Loan volume the second quarter registered a seasonal gain of 31 per cent over the first quarter. Construction loans gained 44 per cent and purchase loans 37 per cent. Total contracts awarded for residential building increased 56 per cent.

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR REALTORS CONVENTION

Men Present at Association's Founding to Be Honored at Meeting in Milwaukee.

There are thirty-two men still in the real estate business who attended the meeting 30 years ago in Chicago at which was formed the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, now the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Those men wil be guests of honor and the accomplishments of the past 30 years in the establishment of standards of practice in the business of real estate, for which the Association was founded, will be reviewed as dramatic background of its thirty-first annual convention, to be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, during the entire week beginning November 7, with the Milwaukee Real Estate Board as host.

On three fronts, plans are already under way for the convention, the largest and most important meeting of the real estate year.

The Hotel Schroeder will be convention headquarters. Now being listed for the meetings:

1. Important pending questions of national, state and local community policy affecting real estate. These will be discussed at general sessions of the convention, to open Wednesday morning Nov. 9.

2. Significant new conditions, new ideas and new business plans in the fields of real estate appraising, financing, sale, leasing, management and development, including home building, the handling of downtown properties, industrial housing and farm land brokerage and management. This whole great subject matter will come before "staggered" sessions of the association's specialized institutes and divisions covering these fields. Each specialized group will hold three half-day sessions.

3. Entertainment features.

The association's board of directors and Executive Committee, and the governing boards of its various institutes and divisions will hold important meetings preceding the convention proper. These executive and committee meetings will fill morning, afternoon and evening of Nov. 7 and 8.

Joseph W. Catharine, Brooklyn, N. Y., president of the association, heads the general convention committee, and will preside at all general sessions of the convention. Plans for these sessions are being developed directly by the general committee.

The specialized institutes and divisions of the association, through their own executive boards acting as program committees, are now canvassing subjects of the greatest practical importance to be brought before the convention in their meetings.

The entertainment program, according to plans outlined at a recent meeting in Milwaukee of the host board's Convention Committee, will be climaxed Thursday evening, Nov. 10, with a "Night in Bavaria." A reception to President Joseph W. Catharine is to be held on the evening of Nov. 10 and a pre-convention "mixer" is being planned. Special entertainment is to be arranged for visiting women.

Emil Koepke, president of the Milwaukee Real Estate Board, will represent the host board on the general Convention Committee. Ray P. Hiller, past president of the board, will head its Convention Committee.

Host Board Has Three on "Old-Timers'" List.

Three past presidents of the Association are among the 32 persons living and still active in the real estate business who were among the 120 delegates assembled in Chicago May 12-14, 1908, for the Association's first convention. The three:

Alexander S. Taylor, Cleveland.

N. J. Upham, Duluth, Minn., and St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Milwaukee Real Estate Board, host to the coming convention, was among the real estate boards of 19 cities which took part in the organization meeting 30 years ago. Three men from the host city are among the 32 who will be honored at the old-timers' party now being planned. They are R. Bruce Douglas, Ed. Porth, and E. A. Conrad.

Among the permits issued last month were those for many large tenement house projects in the New York area, including those for the huge slum clearing program in the Borough of Queens. This resulted in a sharp rise in volume of building permits for July, a month in which permits are usually dropping off from the Spring peak.

The July permit figure for the 215 cities regularly reporting to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., rose to $140,708,758, the largest aggregate in more than seven years, or since April, 1931, when permits totalled $152,000,000. The sum involved last month was 60.6 per cent above the $87,636,427 for June, and 54.1 per cent more than the $91,334,405 recorded in July, 1937.

New York's total went from $22,436,761 for June to $72,966,921 in July, a gain of 225.2 per cent, and contrasted with $16,426,736 in July last year, or a rise of 344.2 per cent.

Outside of New York permits were valued at $67,741,837 last month, as compared with $65,199,666 in the preceding month, an increase of 3.9 per cent, but were 9.6 per cent less than the July, 1937, amount of $74,907,669.

IN MEMORIAM

DIGAR-FERDINAND — In loving memory of our dear son who passed away Aug. 16, 1937.
His memory is as dear today
As the hour he passed away.
Sadly missed by
FATHER AND MOTHER.

BURKE, MINNIE—In remembrance of our dearly beloved mother, who died Aug. 11, 1937:
A precious one from us has gone;
A voice beloved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
FATHER, JOHN AND AUDREY.

DIGAR, FERDINAND JR. — In loving memory, who passed away Aug. 16, 1937. Gone but not forgotten.
Sadly missed by
AUNT RUBY BLOCKER.

One of His Daily Helps—Want Ads

The experience of a large factory manager recently led him to point out the value to him of the Post-Dispatch Want Ad Columns.

Not only useful in calling help, but he used them to dispose of waste materials and factory by-products more profitably.

Used in more than a hundred ways, Post-Dispatch Want Ads are a daily help to business men.

Post-Dispatch Want Ads also tell of opportunities open each day.

IN MEMORIAM

ESSWEIN, JOSEPH—In memory, who died Aug. 15, 1937.
Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall.
You had a kindly word for each,
And died, beloved, by all.
Absent but not forgotten. Sadly missed by WIFE, CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILD.

GRIMES, JAMES EDWIN—In loving memory of our dear son, grandson and nephew who passed away Aug. 12, 1936. Sadly missed by his MOTHER, DADDY and all who loved him.

HAAS, JOHN—In loving memory of our dear father, who passed away Aug. 16, 1937.
Dearest father, how we miss you; no one knows.
Sadly missed by daughters,
KATHARIANA AND MATILDA.

KAELIN, WALTER — In loving memory, who died Aug. 10, 1937. Gone but not forgotten. Sadly missed by the KAELIN FAMILY.

LEDERMAN, WALTER—In loving memory who departed this life Aug. 16, 1937.
Oh, what would I give to clasp his hand,
His dear kind face to see;
To hear his voice; to see his smile,
That meant so much to me.
Sadly missed by his WIFE AND CHILDREN.

McKNIGHT, HARRY V.—Died Aug. 14, 1937; in memory.
MOTHER AND SISTER.

MUNTER, EDWARD E.—Who passed away 1 year ago, Aug. 16.
His love and deeds of kindness
We will always cherish here
Our time we spend in memory of one to us so dear.
MOTHER, DAD, SISTERS & BROTHER.

BATH, JOHN, JR.—
What would I give to clasp his hand, his happy face to see;
To hear his voice and see his smile
that meant so much to me.
FATHER, MOTHER AND BROTHER.

REMMLER, ANNA—In loving remembrance of our dear beloved mother, departed this life Aug. 17, 1936.
And while she lies in peaceful sleep,
Her memories we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by children,
JOSEPH, BERTHA AND HILDA.

SUMMERS, LEE R.—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, who died Aug. 13, 1935.
MOTHER AND SISTERS.

"Only Small Down Payment"

That's the message from many used car dealers who are making special inducements at this time to reduce their stocks of used cars.

Or if the old car can be traded in it may not only take care of the down payment but cover a substantial part of the balance.

Many of the cars now on the market are later model trade-ins, affording opportunities for securing a better Used Car on very satisfactory terms.

SMALL LOAN COMPANIES

Get Out of Debt

RECESSION EMERGENCY LOANS

New Budget Refinance Plan

If you are sick, you go to a doctor. If you want your car repaired you go to a garage. If you have financial trouble, you go to a financial adviser. We don't care how much you owe, we have helped thousands get on their feet with our new Budget Refinance Plan.

Here Is Our New Plan

1. We will make you a Recession Emergency Loan of $5 to $50 on your own signature to tide you over.
2. If you own a car and still owe a balance on it we will make you a second mortgage loan of $10 to $100. You do not have to pay off your present balance—Save refinancing costs.
3. We will total all your debts and work out a repayment schedule with all your creditors.
4. We will budget your income and reduce your payments to fit your purse.
5. We can also make personal loans up to $300. Total all your debts, pay them all off, and have only one place to make small monthly payments.
6. You can also get $10 to $300 on any 1931 to 1938 Auto. Refinance, cut payments in half and get additional cash immediately.

STARK IS INVITED TO BACK G. O. P. CANDIDATE FOR COURT

Mattingly Calls on Governor to State His Stand on Albert M. Clark, Backed By Pendergast.

Barak T. Mattingly, chairman of the Republican State Committee, in a statement issued yesterday, called on Gov. Stark to state whether he will support State Senator Albert M. Clark, Democratic nominee for the Supreme Court, full term. Mattingly commented on the statement of Clark, that he "had and appreciated the support of the Kansas City organization" in the primary.

"Mr. Pendergast," the chairman said, "indorsed more than one candidate for the Supreme Court in the recent campaign. Judge Billings was not the first who secured the boss' indorsement. His first choice was Albert M. Clark. Pendergast needs but one more vote to control the court. If it was wrong to nominate Mr. Pendergast's last choice in the primary, it would be worse to elect his first choice in November."

Mattingly called attention to the record of Judge William F. Frank, Republican member of the court, running for re-election for a full 10-year term, who is opposed by Clark. The candidates for the unexpired term (6 years) are Judge James M. Douglas, Democrat, and former Judge Conway Elder, Republican.

Visit to Harlem 'Heaven,' Where Father Divine Leads 'Angels' of Strange Cult

By JOHN LEAR,
Associated Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—To see "God" it is necessary to make an appointment, so I called "heaven" on the Harlem telephone exchange:

"Peace!" said a pleasant soprano voice.

"Peace, sister," I answered, "is Father Divine there?"

Father Divine, any of his followers will tell you, "is God." He is a Negro.

Father was there, but he was busy communing with his disciples. I would have to see his chief secretary, John Lamb, a white man. Brother Lamb would be free in three-quarters of an hour.

"Thank you, sister," I said, and she replied: "Thank Father."

There was no mistaking "heaven" when I reached it, although it stood in the middle of the block. It had a brownstone front, painted blue, and extended across three houses built in a solid row. On the front door of the middle house, red letters proclaimed "Father Divine's Peace Mission." On and around the steps was a crowd of Negroes, laughing and talking, calling to each other "peace" and "I thank father."

Shaves for a Nickel.

Inside the door, people seemed to be everywhere—mostly Negroes, but some whites. They filled the barber shop, where shaves cost a nickel. They filled the banquet hall, with its two long tables, where meals are served for 10 or 15 cents. They occupied virtually every step of the stairway which led to "God's" office on the second floor.

The waiting room outside "God's" sanctum was almost a solid mass of people—again mostly Negroes with a few whites. They smiled to each other, and one Negro woman said: "Are you keeping the faith, sister?"

The woman to whom the query was addressed leaned down and said: "Sister, I've got to keep the faith."

The door to Father's office opened slightly. A tall, white woman slipped out. A minute later she appeared in the street below, driving off in a limousine.

The door to Father's office opened again, and a young Negro woman peered at me. If I was looking for Father Divine, she said, please see Brother Lamb downstairs.

Brother Lamb's Office.

Brother Lamb's office was a strange assortment of plain furniture, placards and banners devoted to "God" and his work, and a brass standard topped by a round white frosted light globe on which glowed five huge red letters: "Power."

Around the globe was a brass halo with these words cut out in the metal: "Father Divine is the light of the world."

I learned at once that Father Divine had stopped giving interviews more than a year ago because, Brother Lamb said, he "wants to keep his peace mission movement impersonal." Besides, he was occupied with giving his disciples advice in personal, political and business matters in the room upstairs.

While the disciples conferred, I tried to unravel the mystery of "God" and His accomplishments with the aid of Brother Lamb, who assured me there was nothing mysterious about it. Everything could be explained, he said, "by the magnetism or attraction which is the power of the universe."

Some Questions and Answers.

Where, then, did "God" get the wherewithal to finance his real estate deals and his charities to his followers?

"The spirit of consciousness of the presence of God is the source of all supply and will satisfy every good desire."

Who is Father Divine?

"He is God."

How old is he?

"When Jesus Christ was asked that question he answered, 'Before Abraham was, I am.' Father Divine gives the same answer."

What about the police story that Father Divine was George Baker and was trimming hedges in Baltimore around 1889 and in 1914 was arrested in Valdosta, Ga., as "John Doe, alias God" and was chased out of town as a mental aberrant?

"Not a word of truth in it."

"Father never accepts anything. Many people have offered him large sums of money and property, but he always tells them, 'Whatever you think I ought to do with it, you do with it.'"

How did he begin gathering his followers?

"The magnetism of attraction which is the power of the universe. Wherever he was, he attracted people. It is the same today. All he needs to do is appear somewhere, and people know it—in a grocery store—in a gasoline station—in one of his missions, or in a private home."

However it was, the followers came. They progressed from followers to "angels." They were "born again" and took new names like "Dove Peace," "Sincere Smile," "Mary Magdalene," "Happy Boy Joy," "Flowery Bed of Peace," "Love Love Love," "Wonderful Wisdom" and "Precious Heaven."

They acquired property after property—either through purchase or lease—in New York City, mostly in Harlem, until today the Father Divine Peace Mission directory lists 14 "kingdoms, extensions and connections under Father's personal jurisdiction," in addition to two Peace Mission garages, and "kingdoms" (Father Divine prefers this designation to the more popular term of "heaven") in Sayville and Jamaica, N. Y., and Bridgeport and Milford, Conn.

The recent purchase of Krum Elbow, 500-acre Hudson River estate opposite President Roosevelt's Hyde Park home, for $51,600, and acquisition of a 50-room Madison avenue mansion for $24,500 to serve as Father Divine's private home and personal headquarters, are but the latest in a long series of real estate deals. Probably 50 retreats have been established in Ulster County—including "The Promised Land" at Kingston, N. Y., and Greenkill Park with its 30 buildings of eight to 10 rooms each—to provide city unemployed with country homes equipped with all modern conveniences.

None of these properties is owned by Father Divine, at least not in the eyes of the law. His name appears on no deeds, each of them being signed by several angels.

Father Divine has, in fact, no material connection with any of his "heavens," Brother Lamb emphasized. This is why the Government cannot collect income tax from Father, although he rolls around in high-powered cars, dresses in good clothes, commands a dozen secretaries and has a suite of rooms available at all times in each of his "heavens."

Testimonial Meeting.

I tried again to interview "God." I was told to return at 8 p. m. for a "righteous government meeting."

This meeting was held in a long room with one red paneled wall bearing the big word "Heaven." In the ceiling, in colors that shaded from silver to green to orange to red, was the exhortation "Peace."

There they sat, hundreds of them, mostly Negroes but some whites, sweltering in an unventilated room that they might hear the words of "God." They sat that way for three solid hours, listening to testimonials and giving them.

Finally the meeting adjourned to the banquet hall for a meal presided over by Father Divine. There was a great shout of "peace" when he appeared at the main table. He picked up a bell and rang it. He sat down, and shook hands with me. He listened to my first query, and replied: "I speak not at the command of men but at the command of the spirit."

That was all. "God" wouldn't talk.

26,000 TROOPS AT STATIONS FOR WAR GAMES IN TEXAS

Regulars and Guardsmen of Southwest Take Part in Maneuvers at Camp Bullis.

By the Associated Press.

CAMP BULLIS, Tex., Aug. 13.—Twenty-six thousand soldiers, divided into two armies, hid in the hills and brush tonight awaiting the call to a bloodless battle.

Just to make sure the "war" will be safe for the "combatants," the men will not get nearer than 100 yards of each other to prevent over-zealous soldiers from slugging with their fists.

Major-General Frank Rowell, commanding the "brown" army, and Major-General Claude V. Birkhead, commander of the "blue," conferred with their staffs on final instructions for zero hour around midnight.

The armies are composed of regulars and national guardsmen from Southwestern states. Observers expected cavalry units would play a heavy part in the four-day maneuvers.

P W A GRANT FOR VALLEY PARK

$15,954 to Be for New School or Addition to Old One.

A Public Works Administration grant of $15,954 has been made to Valley Park for the construction of a new grade school or an addition to an existing building, it was announced at Washington yesterday.

Dr. Frank P. Knabb, president of the Valley Park Board of Education, told a Post-Dispatch reporter it had not been decided whether a third grade school or an addition to one of the three present buildings would be built. A proposal to issue $18,000 or $20,000 in bonds for the board's share of construction costs will be submitted to the voters in a special election early in September, he said.

DEATH FOR RUSSIAN TEACHERS

Two Condemned for Promoting Immorality in Orphanage.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Aug. 13.—Newspaper reports said today two men, teachers in an orphanage, had been sentenced to death in the town of Kazakh for organizing drinking parties and promoting immorality among children. Three others were sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Ex-Sheriff G. F. Crowe Dies.

G. F. Crowe of Alton, former sheriff of Madison County, died last night of informities of age at his home after having been ill a year. He was 81 years old. A retired grocer, he served a term as alderman in Alton at the age of 25, and was elected to a 4-year term as sheriff in 1902. Funeral services will be held Tuesday. His widow survives.

ADDITIONAL SPORT NEWS

SCHWENK IS A CANDIDATE AT ILLINOIS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Aug. 13.—Included in the list of football candidates invited to report for fall drill at the University of Illinois on September 10, are a number from St. Louis and southern Illinois cities, and these men are expected to put in strong bids for regular positions on the team. Coach Bob Zuppke, who is starting his twenty-sixth year as Illini mentor, has asked candidates to call for their uniforms on Sept. 9 and to be ready for the twice-a-day workout starting the following morning. When school opens on September 21 only the usual afternoon drill will be in order.

Harry Lasater, Fairfield, Ill., letterman tackle upon whom Zuppke was depending considerably, will not be back this fall due to a lame shoulder for which he will undergo an operation. The shoulder was dislocated while swimming several weeks ago. Lasater will be available the following year however.

Among candidates for the end positions expected to report for the opening drill will be Duane Fults, Springfield; James Wham, Centralia, and Robert Arnold, Buda. For the tackle positions there will be LeRoy Harrison, Alton, and Jim Reeder, Tuscola. Guard candidates include Eugene Blades, University City, Mo., and Walden Ingle, Mattoon. Bob Cherry of Girrard wil be among those striving to land the center berth but Capt. Jim McDonald, Champaign, apparently has the job safely tucked away.

In the backfield there will be Mel Brewer, Carbondale, and Ralph Ehni, Pekin, for the quarterback position; John Thistlewood, Cairo; Bill Usinger, Alton, for the halfback berths, and Wilson Schwenk, St. Louis, and Ralph Bennett, Alton, for the call for fullback.

Among the more than three-score men invited to report this fall are 17 lettermen from last season and 1935. Illinois line will again be heavy, as was the case last year, a decided change from the several previous seasons when Coach Zuppke had an extra light forward wall. Illinois season will open on Oct. 1 with DePaul playing in the Memorial Stadium here.

27 Playgrounds To Start Title Series This Week

More than 1800 boys and girls of the 27 city playgrounds will begin championship eliminations to determine the playground title this week.

The preliminary track meet for South Side playgrounds will be held at St. Louis Softball Park, Shenandoah and Iowa avenues, starting at 1 o'clock on Tuesday. Similar prelims for North Side playgrounds will be held Wednesday, 1 o'clock, at Murphy Playground, Nineteenth street and Cass avenue.

The divisional playoffs in games will be held on Aug. 22, 23 and 24 at a place and time to be set after the prelims.

All finals, in games and track meet events, will be held on two days: for girls on Aug. 29; for boys on Aug. 30. These two days' events will start at 12 o'clock each day and be held at St. Louis Softball Park.

LEADING HORSESHOE PITCHER AVERAGES CLOSE TO .700

The runnerup Mrazek team, led by the pace-setting Alvin Segbers' sensational shoe tossing, will play the Wacker-Helderles in one of the feature contests of the eighth round of the Municipal Horseshoe Pitching Association tomorrow morning in Carondelet Park.

The league-leading Steinmanns, who lost their fist match in four years last Sunday, will play the fifth place Budweisers. The Speh team that upset the Steinmanns a week ago, will oppose the third-place Gordons. All matches will start at 9 o'clock.

After Sunday's matches, only two weeks of schedule remain.

Segbers has attracted quite a following with his consistently high ringer shooting. His successive recent ringer averages of .716, .620, .715, .689, .684, .723 and .747 have done much to place the Mrazeks in a close contending position. Last Sunday Segbers broke a season's record by scoring 169 ringers in 226 tosses to register his .747 average.

CHEVROLET DEALERS' SONS who have graduated from the company's School of Modern Merchandising and Management are to be organized into a permanent alumni body, it was announced Monday at a luncheon which T. O. McLaughlin, director of the school, gave at the Coronado Hotel for graduates and prospective students in this region. McLaughlin was here as the representative of W. E. Holler, Chevrolet general sales manager, who conceived the idea of providing this intensive training for Chevrolet dealers' sons. Two schools, each of seven weeks' duration, have been held in Detroit, and the graduates now number nearly 60. Their course includes lectures and laboratory sessions covering the important aspects of the automotive business, from the drafting room right on through the factories, and even the dealership itself. With the aid of E. A. Nimnicht, Midwest regional manager, and officials from the latter's office, McLaughlin gave prospective students an outline of the work which the school sets out to do. This is intended to help dealers' sons who plan to enroll for the next session, opening Sept. 12. Several of the graduates voiced keen appreciation of what this special training had meant to them since completion of their courses and of what they expected it to mean as they continued in their fathers' business. The prospective students present were selected by the zone offices in this region, in keeping with the Chevrolet policy which restricts attendance at the school. It is Chevrolet's conviction, McLaughlin said, that maximum benefits from the training can be realized only by careful selection of the men who are to be trained.

JOHN COBB, THE BRITISH driver, who is tuning up his 2500-horsepower racer for an attempt to beat Capt. E. T. Eyston's 311.42 miles per hour record on the Bonneville salt flats in Utah, has selected a Dodge three-ton truck for his service unit. The truck is equipped as a part of Cobb's racing technique, because his streamlined racer must be pushed until it gathers speed enough to get its own power into operation, at a speed of about 20 m. p. h. A push rod attached to the truck slots through the tail fairings of the racer to a socket-shaped connection on the turtle-shaped racer. When the truck has pushed the racer to the requisite speed, the latter pulls away, leaving push rod and truck behind. The truck also must run 13 miles in 15 minutes to the point where Cobb ends his first speed run, to service the racer quickly for the return run. Cobb will require about six miles in which to reach his highest speed for the run over the marked mile and then about six miles to slow to a stop. The truck will be driven by Edward Madison, a Chrysler test driver.

DURING THEIR TWO-YEAR program of research on the company's new passenger car tire, just recently announced, engineers of the B. F. Goodrich Co. reached a number of general conclusions about all tires. Among them are: 1. Brakes should preferably be applied gently, because when sudden application locks the wheels the tires have less grip on the pavement than when they are turning against firmly applied but not locked brakes. 2. Skidding is affected by types of road surface, speed, amount of moisture on the road, dust film, and even filler used between bricks or material used between joints of other type pavements. 3. On wet pavement, as speed increases friction between tires and road decreases, and so does tire traction. 4. Sole function of a tread in reducing skidding on wet pavement is to wipe the pavement dry, so that the rubber in contact with the road can get its best grip. 5. Effective tread design must be of a pattern that provides wiping action plus channels for the quickest possible flow of water from under the tire.

OF THE 241 PILOTS FLYING planes for American Airlines, 113 received their training at army fields, 12 were navy trained and one came from the Marines. The other 114 pilots had private instruction, graduated from barnstorming or worked up through the ranks with some of the pioneer air companies. Most of the younger pilots who fly American Airlines' Flagship Skysleepers and Clubplanes are members of the Reserve Officers' Corps of the Army, and several times a year take regular training flights in army planes to keep abreast of military areonautical advancements.

REOPENING LAST WEDNESDAY, the Willys factory in Toledo will have 1000 men at work by tomorrow night resuming production in the body department after a shutdown for several weeks. The assembly line is scheduled to resume operation Aug. 22. David R. Wilson, president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., said that the factory was out of certain body types for which a demand had developed following the reduction of prices of Willys cars and trucks, and that all cars to be produced in the current manufacturing period would be 1938 models. Wilson said also that Willys cars were being handled in this country by 62 distributors and 2040 dealers and that the company has export representation in 86 countries.

PAUL G. HOFFMAN, PRESIDENT of the Studebaker Corporation, reports the sale of 3471 passenger cars and trucks in July compared with 4381 in July of 1937. Sales increased throughout the month to such an extent that in the last 10 days they were 13 per cent ahead of the corresponding period last year. For the first seven months Studebaker sales were 23,949, compared with 61,025 in 1937.

THE 1938 SALESMAKERS' JUBILEE for the Oldsmobile St. Louis zone will be held tomorrow at the Norwood Hills Country Club as the outstanding event of the year for Oldsmobile salesmen. The program will begin with a buffet luncheon at noon, and the afternoon will be devoted to golf, soft ball games and other sports. In the evening, a banquet, with music and other entertainment, will be held on the club terrace. To be invited to the jubilee, a salesman must have become a salesmaker by July 30 by obtaining at least $10,000 net dollar volume of new and used car business. H. A. Klees, zone manager here for Oldsmobile, will be in charge of arrangements.

TODAY AN ALL-DAY PICNIC will be held by the Automobile Salesmen's Association of Greater St. Louis at Gray's Grove, Chambers and Florissant roads. Members of the Committee of Arrangements includes the officers of the association—R. E. Campbell, president; Lester I. Weiss, vice-president; J. Arthur Miner, secretary; A. C. McQuillan, treasurer, and J. N. Kellerman, sergeant-at-arms.

HENRY FORD'S DEMONSTRAtion soy bean factory, near Saline, Mich., has begun operating. More than 700 farmers with a 200-mile radius of Saline are growing soy-beans on 22,588 acres from seed furnished by the Ford Motor Co., and the Ford Co. has 15,624 more acres seeded under contract. The total yield of soy-beans from this acreage is expected to be around 312,480 bushels. The farmers are to return equivalent amounts of seed to the Ford Co. at the end of the season, and then will be at liberty to sell their crop to Ford at the market price or to other buyers. The cleaning and flaking plant at Saline and similar Ford plants at Tecumseh and Hayden Mills have a capacity of 300,000 bushels a year, while the oil extraction plant at Saline can handle 140,000 bushels of soy-beans a year and a similar plant now being erected at Milan, Mich., will have the same capacity. The oil extracted from the flaked beans is used in making auto finishes and for binding foundry cores. The meal from which the oil has been extracted is bagged for use in making plas- ments include the officers of the tic parts for Ford cars.

PURCHASE OF AN AUTO IN the lower-priced field will create almost exactly 100 man-days of work for others, and of a car in the higher-price brackets, 150 man-days of work, according to C. H. Bliss, director of sales of the Nash Motors Division of the Nash-Kelvinator Corporation. He said that on this reasoning was based a job-making drive by all divisions and dealers of the corporation through August and September in which more than 5000 Nash distributors, dealers and salesmen were engaged in an effort to help the corporation in its attempt to create 1,735,000 man-days of work in the two months. Awards to salesmen engaged in the campaign will be made. To earn an award, a salesman must sell 400 man-days of work.

A TEST CHAMBER INSTALLED by United Airlines at Chicago's Municipal Airport is designed to simulate conditions for ascents to altitudes up to 65,000 feet in to the stratosphere for trying out oxygenization equipment and performance of radio and other mechanical equipment. The chamber is a steel tube, four feet in diameter and five feet long, with large circular, air-pressure proof windows at the sides, top and ends. By evacuation of air from the chamber effects equivalent to those up to 1 miles above sea level can be created.

MAJ. EDMOND C. FLEMING has been elected vice-president and a member of the firm of Grace & Bement, Inc., of Detroit, a national advertising agency. He is widely known in the military and diplomatic service and as a writer. He was a member of the Commission of Inquiry and Conciliation in the Bolivia-Paraguay Gran Chaco dispute and war and served as military attache in the United States Embassy at Buenos Aires and in the legations in Uruguay and Paraguay.

TOTAL CHEVROLET NEW CAR and truck sales of 51,047 units in July, exceeding the June total by 5423 units and so reversing the normal trend at this season, are reported by the Chevrolet division of General Motors. W. E. Holler, general sales manager, reported sales of 13,044 units at retail in the first 10 days of July, 16,814 in the second 10 days and 21,190 in the third 10-day period. He also said that Chevrolet dealers achieved in July the greatest used car stock reduction in a single month in the company's history. Used car sales by Chevrolet dealers in the month, he reported, were 135,558 units and the net reduction in used car stocks was 28,185 units in the face of increased new car sales.

UNEXPECTED STRENGTH IN summer retail sales, with July deliveries in the United States falling only 100 cars short of June deliveries, is reported by Cadillac-La Salle. D. E. Ahrens, general sales manager, also reports that since Jan. 1 Cadillac and La Salle dealers have reduced their used car inventories by $1,000,000.

A NEW BANTAM "60" COUPE announced by the Bantam factory carries a $399 price at the factory in Butler, Pa. The price covers Federal taxes and complete equipment, including bumpers, spare tire and wheel and radiator ornament. The coupe has syncromesh transmission, four-wheel brakes, double-acting shock absorbers. In addition to the coupe, there are Bantam four-passenger speedsters, station wagon, roadsters, pick- and panel trucks and a boulevard delivery car.

THIS NEW YORK

By LUCIUS BEEBE

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.

IMPIOUS and rowdy-minded citizens hereabouts are looking forward to the impending World's Fair as an agency for turning the town into a screaming bear gardens for a whole lovely year, maybe two. It's no secret that carnivals of this sort bring in their wake an incidental saturnalia of low living as the inevitable complement to the high services to education, culture, religion and what-have-you to which the hot-dog stands and sword-swallowing acts are dedicated. Romping and stomping are just around the corner from the exhibit showing in its cultural detail the inside processes of the tinned shrimp industry, and wicked and leering fellows around town are agreeable to your odds that New York will have the most bedizened, hilarious and splendidly depraved interlude since the time of Wouter Van Twiller once Uncle Grover Whalen has thrown away the key to the high-minded doings over on the Flushing ash heaps.

LUCIUS BEEBE.

Already there are signs pointing toward a more or less Byzantine scheme of things. The town is being "cleaned up" as the inevitable moral gesture which precedes the happy period when things will get entirely out of the hands of the authorities and the dancing in the streets becomes general and tacitly overlooked. Here and there various gin palaces and cheering parlors are being suppressed by the Center street boys, and the more flagrant and irregular resorts of wickedness are being warned to wash their faces.

—o—o—

Everyone knows that this program of decorum will be forgotten by the time the out-of-towners descend with fire in their eyes and cash in their pockets and an irrepressible urge to go to town because there may never be such an opportunity again. If the word gets back home that New York isn't as infamous as everyone of the late Odd McIntyre's readers wants to believe, there just won't be any customers for Uncle Grover's doings, a very vexing idea, indeed. You can bank on it that Manhattan will have its points of interest by the time that Navy steams up the Hudson.

● FROM LONDON come dispatches from John Hoysradt, who, as even he himself is willing to admit, is one of the successes of the summer season with the same sketches and impersonations which got him such handsome notices at the American Music Hall and the Rainbow Room only a few months ago.

"Nobody here is really sober, and so am I," he writes, "and London is simply past all endurance, with the very charwomen riding in Rolls-Royces with crests on the side and a guinea cover charge in the sorriest pubs in Bloomsbury. Where all the money is coming from I don't know, but it's here, and as long as they spend it coming to see me at the Dorchester I don't mind. And they do, fortunately, and I am the event of the town. No one, apparently, has ever seen a coconut straw hat with a puggree band, and you can count the people fainting as I walk from Woods Mews to Curzon street. Do you know about the Lambeth Walk? It's the latest wow in the London dance world, and it makes the Big Apple look like a Sam Goldwyn tornado. The climax comes when the boy links arms with the girl, executes a slow 'pas sur terre,' and at the conclusion cries, 'Hey!' That is the really abandoned moment in the evening for a Londoner."

—o—o—

MOTHER TO FIFTY CHORUS GIRLS

By MARGUERITE MARTYN

CLARA is the name one hears more often than any other back stage at the Municipal Opera. Clara is chief wardrobe mistress. Anybody with personal troubles, anybody sick in the audience or cast, the first shout is for Clara. She mothers the whole show. She has another name but it's quite a mouthful, Laubersheimer—so everybody calls her Clara. They know her that well, for she's been there 14 seasons.

Everybody in the cast has occasion to come in contact with Clara fitting the costumes or seeing that they already fit as they come from a costume company in New York. She probably has more intimate contact with women of the company than anybody else. Knows them right down to their bare skin, you might say, and she is the traditional wardrobe mistress, repository of confidences and troubles.

Another wardrobe mistress, representative of the costume company, is sent out from New York, and she is trouble shooter not only on the women's but the men's costumes. This year it is Mother Duncan. Asked what her real name is, she says she's been called Mother or Ma so long she's forgotten any other name. She is white haired, stooped from long bending over her stitching, experienced, quiet, efficient, grandmotherly-looking, while Clara is middle-aged, matronly and maternal.

The backstage gossip Clara picks up while adjusting Marilyn's shoulder strap or getting Gertie into her girdle would doubtless cause any member of the audience out front to lend an appreciative ear. She gets them in the raw, the 25 girls of the dancing lineup and about the same number in the singing chorus, besides all the stars and principals—with their actual and metaphorical hair down. At their fussiest when costumes are not becoming or don't fit, and at their most melting tenderness when glamorous costumes are slipped over their heads and the chrysalis blossoms into a gorgeous butterfly. That's when they are likely to throw their arms around Clara's neck and tell her things lying nearest their hearts. "What do you think my boy friend means in this letter, Clara?" "Who does he think he is, bawling me out that way—a fourth assistant stage director!" "Oh, Clara, my mother is so sick and I have to go on and dance tonight."

"Yes, I hear plenty of stuff like that," admits Clara. Undoubtedly she knows more of the human interest stories we seek back stage to appease the natural appetite of the 60,000 to 70,000 who troop out to the opera every week than anybody else. More stories she can't tell!

"I'd be a fine kind of a confidante if I did," she said with fine scorn.

"I can tell you about my good girls," she agreed when pressed. "But," she quickly amended, "they are all good girls. They really are. Muny Opera girls are different from those of the ordinary theatrical troupe."

—o-o—

"CHORUS girls are alike the world over," objected Mother Duncan, who has worked with many a New York production and been out with many a road show.

"I mean," insisted Clara, "my girls all live here in St. Louis, come from good homes and good families. If there are any of the cat fights and jealousies you hear about in other companies, I don't hear of them as the usual wardrobe mistress does.

"That's because our chorus girls are not away from home. They have their own mothers to tell things to. What they tell me goes in one ear and out the other anyway, things happen so fast here, with one production piling on top of another. Some things I have to keep on my mind. Right now there's the little dancer in St. Mary's Hospital with a broken ankle. We always have somebody laid up with an injury or heat stroke. And those two children a young mother in the dancing lineup brings to work every day and turns loose in the park to play. We wardrobe women keep an eye on them. If it's romances you are looking for, all this hand-holding and affectionateness you see doesn't mean a thing. We have three engaged girls, but that's an open secret. None of them engaged to men in show business either. My favorite star? Well, I don't mind saying it's Baxter."

"Amen!" came in chorus from the other wardrobe women. "And Margie Carlisle," suggested another. "She's in the show next week. Give her a hand."

"I guess we like Gladys Baxter and Margaret Carlisle because we've known them the longest, coming back so many seasons," reasoned Clara.

—o-o—

TUESDAY is the big day in the wardrobe room. It's then the costumes are assigned for next week's show. Clara makes a chart with each girl's name and each change in which she is to appear. "Then it's a scramble getting things sorted out and each girl matched with the clothes that have been measured and tagged with her name in New York. Everything must be tried on and sometimes it's a case of matching a girl with a costume instead of the costume to the girl. Then I am very popular for there are always girls trying to appear in more numbers and other girls trying to get out of work and I'm the one to make the decision."

After the big Tuesday try-ons, the rest of the week is spent making alterations, lengthening a skirt here, shortening one there, taking up a seam, putting in a piece, and assembling accessories, such as shoes, that are bought in St. Louis.

There are daily sessions with the cleaning firm representative who spends all his time there, grabbing costumes that have met with some accident, whisking them off to the cleaning plant and back the same day. After a rainy night at the opera, he gets a big order. Evthing has to be cleaned and pressed.

The magnitude of the job of providing costumes for the huge shows runs into impressive statistics. Twenty or 30 enormous trunks filled with 500 to 600 costumes for "Show Boat" were already being unloaded on top of the empties waiting for the return of "Knights of Song" costumes still hanging in the dressing rooms. It's a problem finding space for all the huge trunks and keeping them where they can be shifted as needed.

Yet all was surprisingly orderly in the wardrobe room. One might say it had a cosy, homey atmosphere. On racks extending back under the balcony occupied by scene designer Raymond Sovey and his staff of draftsmen and by the office of Stage Manager Richard Ber-

ON THE FLICKER FRONT

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 13.

HOLLYWOOD, a place where almost nothing is real, believes in almost anything. One of the firmest beliefs is that deaths of movie folks ALWAYS comes in a set of three. Frequently the superstitious ones have to wait some time before they can point to the third death, or even the second, but the passing away of John Blystone, a widely known film director, gave the "There, you see?" people a quick run for their money. Blystone died here in Hollywood just a few hours after Warner Oland died in Sweden and Oland's ending came the day after Pearl White died in Paris. Strangely enough Oland had been closely connected in film work with both Miss White and the director. When Pearl White was the queen of the serial stars—remember her "Perils of Pauline"? — in the early silent days Oland was the villian in many of her blood curdling mellers. And villians were real villians then. If the films were silent the customers were not and the man who did the dirty work always got more hisses than the heroine did cheers. Later when the "Charley Chan" series began—a series although not a serial—it was Blystone who directed Oland and brought him to his greatest success as a Chinese detective. Yes, they seem to fade out in threes and Hollywood is wondering, somewhat anxiously, who will start the next cycle.

DARRYL ZANUCK, head of the Twentieth Century-Fox studio, times his return to California from his European jaunt with his polo ponies very nicely. Zanuck, knowing how well advertising pays for his stars, sees no reason why it isn't a good thing for bosses, too, and although he had expected to get back here last Sunday he found that business would keep him in New York a bit longer when he got word that Shirley Temple, his top box office bet, was due to arrive home that day. It was just as well for, boss or no boss, he would have been lost in the crowd of 5000 or more enthusiastic fans who crowded around the depot in Pasadena, where little Miss Temple disembarked, to pay homage to their favorite. It was the most riotous reception Shirley had ever had. Eddie Cantor was on the same train and also got off at Pasadena but nobody noticed him. And Cantor has been a star for about three times as many years as little Temple has been on earth. That's fame—in the picture business.

HOLLYWOOD believes in a lot of things besides worshiping child stars and the "death goes in threes" thing. Take the new California Pension Plan which, if successful at the polls, and the money is provided from some source as yet undiscovered—will give everybody $30 a week just as soon as he, or she, reaches the ripe old age of 50. The originators of the idea have even gone so far as to name the payday. It's to be "$30 every Thursday" and the organization has more than 150,000 active members who are sending in "penny-a-day" financial backing at the rate of $50,000 a month. Sound trucks are boosting the game along all over the State, speakers over eight radio stations broadcast the good news daily and, unless the courts take a hand before then, more than a half-million voters are expected to be back of the scheme before next November—a large part of them being Hollywood residents who would enjoy getting $30 every Thursday. They might even be willing to put it off until every Saturday. The idea had just 40 founders. It now employs a clerical staff of 200, and a force of 100 orators who hold 25 or more meetings a night. Good old Dr. Townsend, who flourished here, is almost entirely forgotten, for he was only a piker with his promise of $50 or so a month. And he didn't set a day for payment.

IN OUR SET: When "Topper Takes a Trip" goes into production this month it will have the same cast which helped make the original "Topper" farce such a tremendous hit with Roland Young, Connie Bennett, Cary Grant, Alan Mowbray and Billie Burke in their old roles. . . . Arleen Whelan of Pueblo, Colo., who just a short while ago was a Hollywood manicurist, will play Mrs. Jesse James in the Missouri outlaw picture which Twentieth Century-Fox will make. We have the word of the publicity department that the original Mrs. James was a sweet, pretty young thing who looked very much like the red-headed Miss Whelan. Well, maybe she was. . . . THE WORLD AS WOMEN SEE IT

by

Martha Carr

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WE read your column every day and my daughter is very much interested in it. Whatever advice you give to others, she adopts for herself. So I am coming to you for help for her. She had very nice clothes and she is a nice looking girl, but she makes herself conspicuous by wearing belts to her dresses and coats far above her waistline, and she wears them so tight she looks like an hourglass. The entire family has tried to talk to her about this, but to no avail. I try to tell her the seam at the waistline must be covered by the belt, but she thinks that's old-fashioned. She is 18 years old and goes out quite a lot, but even her friends' opinions have no effect. We all love her and it makes us sick when we hear what others have to say about her appearance. She is tall and slim and really pretty.

HER FAMILY.

One wonders sometimes where in the world a girl finds encouragement for such distortion of style. If there is one thing the well-dressed woman avoids, it is "skimpiness"; that word, even, is a bugbear. It is the reason that sometimes girls who come from small towns and the country are conspicuously badly dressed; this added to their adoption of extreme fashions that are never seen on stylishly, handsomely gowned women and in best establishments, tag her small town.

Ask this young girl to look carefully at well-made clothes and in the windows and showrooms of really high-class merchants and observe just how the belt is used to cover the seam. Not to do this and to draw the belt too tight would make any gown or coat look cheap.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

● I AM A GIRL 14 years old. I am five feet, four inches tall and weigh 104 pounds. Will you please tell me how much I ought to gain and how to do it.

TEEN AGE.

You should weigh about 123 pounds. Sleep well and eat wholesome food; also, if milk and cream and butter agree with you, use a good deal of these foods. If you will write in, sending self-addressed, stamped envelope, I shall be glad to mail you suggestions on gaining and developing.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I WOULD LIKE TO KNOW if there is a home for a disabled old person. All we would be able to pay would be $2 or $3 a week. People tell us it would cost $40 a month.

Mrs. Carr, if you could help me, I would be very grateful.

ADEL.

Inquire at the Good Samaritan Home for the Aged, 4500 Washington boulevard, FOrest 5888.

Some of the homes for the aged govern the fee by the ability of the applicant to pay. If your case does not meet with the requirements at this home, they will know, I am sure, how to direct you about finding a suitable home. If you would like a list of all the homes for the aged here, send me self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

● MY BOY HAS WON a Washington University scholarship from Blewitt High School. But he needs help badly for books, laboratory fees and materials, before he can enter college this September. He intends to study electrical engineering. If you will please print my letter, Mrs. Carr, there may be someone willing to help a boy who wants to make good. We can barely get by on what my boy and I can find to do. We both make wood-fiber flowers and sometimes walk all day and cannot sell any. I am sending inclosed references.

MOTHER.

There are a number of funds, known to the St. Louis Community Council, which might reach a boy who has tried to do so much for himself. Tell him to go to their offices and ask about them. If any other suggestions come from correspondents for you and your boy, we shall be glad to let you know.

Dear Martha Carr:

COULD YOU please tell me whether Joe DiMaggio, the baseball player, is married and, if so, to whom and when he was married?

M. S.

Joe DiMaggio is not married.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

● I AM A YOUNG WOMAN, living in a second-floor flat, the entrance of which is on the street. The stairs are narrow. Should I go up first or last when meeting there, a middle-aged man, an elderly man, a couple, a young man. I shall appreciate an answer very much.

BRICK.

The age of the man does not make any difference. Although you might like to show especial consideration for the elderly man, probably he is a gentleman and, having shown the proper deference all his life to a woman, he might resent this especial concession to age. In ascending a stairway, a man stands a moment for the woman to go first, and in descending the stairs the man goes first.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

PLEASE GIVE THE addresses of Alice Faye and Tony Martin.

A. B. C.

Twentieth Century-Fox Studio, Hollywood, Cal.

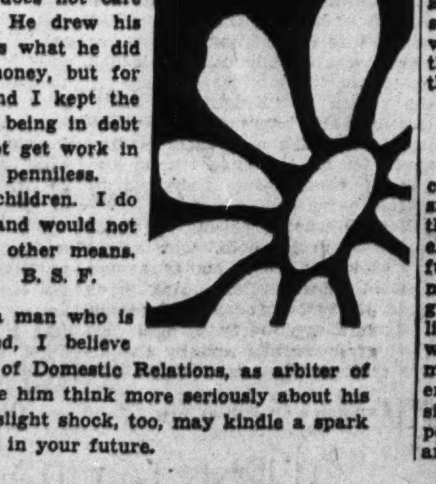
Dear Mrs. Carr:

I HAVE BEEN MARRIED seven years, have worked all this time, but since June of this year, I have had only a few days a week doing cleaning.

My husband is cross and irritable when I am not working and he does not care whether he works or not. He drew his last check and no one knows what he did with it. He makes good money, but for two years he had no job and I kept the home going. He blames our being in debt upon me and says if I do not get work in a few days, he will leave me penniless.

I have no people and no children. I do love my husband very much and would not like to leave him if there be other means.

B. S. F.



If you can still care for a man who is so thoroughly cold-blooded, I believe the mention of the Court of Domestic Relations, as arbiter of your difficulties, may make him think more seriously about his own responsibilities. The slight shock, too, may kindle a spark (if a wary one) of interest in your future.

Lesson to Be Learned From Small Stream

"Lie Beside It for Quiet Hour; You Will Discover Many Things."

By Elsie Robinson

A TRICKLE of water seeps from the south spring, loiters along the edge of the pine woods, then breaks—tinkling, murmuring—into the open field.

It is only a tiny stream, no wider than my hands; a thin glint of light, nearly hidden in the tangled grass. But if you will lie beside it for a quiet hour you will discover many things.

With the years, the thread of water has cut a narrow bed for itself. In some places it runs through the red loam. There the water is a ruddy gold, dappled with sunny flecks, that flow and part and flow again, like drops of mercury. In other places the bed is cut through quartz and granite sand, and the water is a shining gray, shot with gleams of mica.

And, again, the water spreads into a little pool, dark as old amber. The pool is no larger than a cup, yet it mirrors the majesty of pines and holds within its shallow shadowed depth the mystery of peace.

Many things root in the tangle that borders the stream. Damp mosses, with their pads of emerald plush. Delicate grasses, with stems fragile as spun glass, and quivering seed pods like small, crystal beads. And other grasses, of a harsher green, with lusty, thrusting stems jointed like bamboo. And weeds with red gnarled roots. And frail ferns with hair-thin stems as black as ebony.

YET, LYING CLOSE, with your face at their level, you see that nothing is just green, or red, or black. Everything is shot with light, drenched with color. Along green grass blades there run veins of turquoise blue. The crystal seeds are garnet in the sun. The gnarled, red roots are splashed with violet and each black stem is spattered with pale gold.

And, here, too, is a wilderness of flowers. Scarlet "snapdragons" spurting tongues of flame. Blue "star flowers," smallest of the iris clan. A tiny, nameless thing, inch high, with seed-pearl bells. A swaying bloom of rosy lavender, with silky petals so transparent that the light streams through them, as through bright stained glass. And tufts of dandelions, gone to seed, their glistening globes a network of gauze stars.

Small creatures live here, also; busy flies or ants. A striped, green snake. An old, fat toad who has a home beneath a twisted root. A little wood mouse, small as his own squeak. Red lady bugs, with polka-dotted wings. Lean "water-scooters" skating on their silvery bulbs of air. Bright-eyed bird visitors come down to bathe.

UNSEEN, but sharply urgent, comes the smell of mountain earth—that soil which is the dust of blossoms, fragrant gums and aromatic leaves, crumbled to ash beneath long, summer fire.

Light, fragrance, color and sweet, tinkling sound. All these one finds, framing an urgent life—a tiny, gay, fierce world, as real as that which men inhabit. Love, hunger, hate, soft dreams and sudden forays; birth, death and resurrection, maybe. But always growth. All these are here, strung on that sparkling thread.

Some lives are like that stream—obscure; half lost beneath the larger plans; lacking, it seems, in beauty or significance. Yet, if you'll live beside them, for a quiet space, you may discover secret loveliness and strange campaigns.

Quaint Evening Dress

One of the gaiest and youngest of the new evening dresses that typifies the trend of the coming season has a distinct air of quaintness. Two shades of taffeta are used for this success, the darker of the two fashioning the wide skirt, low-cut bodice that has deep puffed sleeves, and the outer surface of a very flaring peplum. A wide girdle that laces at the front and the peplum lining contrast in such a striking manner that the waistline looks more slender and the wearer much taller because of the ingenuity of designing.

Black Woolen Coats

Trim coats of black woolens that could pose as dresses with equal smartness are appearing to satisfy the demands of late summer travelers. Some have the slight bloused fullness at the back introduced by means of vertical tucks. Others give the impression of a bloused line because of the handling of wide belts. Since collars are trim, metal ornaments adorn lapels. Later, the owner will add her cape of silver fox or one of those less expensive fur gilets that the shops are showing.

LOVELY though it's midsummer

NOTED BEAUTY NEWS AUTHORITY

GET ready now! It's time for beauty repairs. True, summer is still being registered by thermometer and calendar, but the smart girl looks ahead. Take this leaf from her book: Don't yield to the temptation to "let yourself go" in a beauty way for the few weeks of summer that remain. It's a pretty disheartening job, come mid-September, to get yourself, your skin and your hair reconditioned, all three at once. It can't be done in the well-known jiffy. It takes time, skill and enduring patience to be an attractive autumn girl.

Take what remains of the summer sun most judiciously. Slip into your beach pajamas or beach coat upon finishing your swim and wear that becoming and protective straw sombrero. Enjoy your fun at bicycling, sailing, riding or hiking. Do any or all of those figure-beautifying sports. But don't get leather-skinned on their account. Instead, before going forth for an hour or a day of fun in the sun, make easier your job of later beauty reconditioning. Prevent additional threats to your skin and begin the repair like this: Anoint face, hands, arms—all exposed skin places—with rich, easily absorbed protective lotions or creams. Remove the surplus by patting on a mild, cool astringent lotion (over-exertion in the sun causes pores to relax). Finish with face powder darker than your skin tone. Lip pomade is best as a lipstick base. It forestalls dryness, keeps lips moist.

Continue to pamper your eyes. You cannot be good enough to them. Wear your sun specs as religiously as you have all summer. But be more zealous in using eyewash. Bathe eyes daily in one of those cool, soothing solutions. And whenever they feel unduly strained, place upon them sterile cotton pads dipped first in very hot water, then in ice water or ice-cold skin tonic. Remember the hot followed by cold tea leaves your grandmother put over your eyelids when you had a headache? Their easeful job is now done better—and less messily—by herbal eye-packs ready for use.

There are so few oil glands about the eyes that the hypersensitive skin there rarely gets enough natural lubrication. That's why, especially in summer and in preparation for fall, eyes needs daily creaming. Leave cream on during sleep.

Be careful not to pull or stretch the skin as you gently press cream into the skin beneath the eyes. Use a deft, light touch using balls of the second and third fingers. The motion is always outward and upward to, and including the temples. Puffiness (unless due to illness) can be relieved by placing beneath the eyes crescent-shaped, sterile cotton pads soaked in anti-wrinkle lotion. Odorless castor oil is excellent, too. Lie down during the treatment—10 minutes each day. Following with mild astringent to remove oily residue.

The eyelids fall heir to early crinkling unless you cream them daily. It's a becoming makeup trick as well, no matter whether you use cream or oil alone, or over shadow. Creamed lids are dewy, a youthifying makeup accent.

If you are planning a new permanent after the Labor day holiday, you have time for several hot oil treatments. No need to go to the hairdresser's for them. Preface each shampoo with a home administering of warmed olive oil to the scalp and down the hair length.

Part the hair into strands. Then anoint the scalp between the partings with a cotton pledget soaked in warmed olive oil. That done, squeeze out the cotton and give the hair itself a generous oiling down the full length. Wrap the head in a warm Turkish towel. Rest, relax. Read, do your nails, sew for an hour. Wipe off excess oil. Dampen scalp and hair with warm water. Then a vigorous shampoo.

This sort of mid-August preparation for your autumn permanent is a real recipe for hair health and gloss. It assists in restoring true pigment color to sun-scorched hair and it banishes dry, flaky scalp annoyances. Care like this coupled with daily brushing—one hundred strokes up from the back of the neck, up from the hair lines framing the face—promises lovely "doable" hair for many months. But it must be kept up if lasting coiffure loveliness is to be yours.

Four oil treatments a week apart, followed by a shampoo, are necessary before each permanent or to recondition naturally wavy hair after summer-sun indulgences. Plus that, you'll need to shampoo every 10 days your life long—or more often, if you need it.

And finally, no hair and scalp can be kept in healthy fettle unless stimulation, cleansing and polishing are given daily. The weapon for all that is, of course, a good hair brush.

Beauty Editor's Summer Memo

REMEMBER that the nose is the most conspicuous feature of the face. If the skin is in ill condition, it can mar the picture. If it's sun-parched even the best powder can't do its best job. From now on undo what the sun's done. Get ready for the coming indoor social season.

NAILS feel the loss of oil due to the sun. Massage about the sides and base of all 20 nails with anti-brittleness oil or cream.

FOREWARNED is forearmed. Today's cautions are meant to make easier the real beauty reconditioning work you'll go in for in September.

KEEP those delicate ears of yours shaded. Don't let their perfect skin texture be freckled, or pigment stained. Warm olive oil or tissue cream will help in assuaging harm so far. Apply behind as well as at the sides of the ear—to offset wrinkles.

still going around together. . . . Johnny Weismuller seems to think that this time Lupe Velez really means business—divorce business—and he is escorting a blonde young woman to the movie hangouts. . . . The script calls for Kitty Kelly to die in "Men Without Wings." The day before she began work and stepped on the set for the first time they photographed her funeral. It will be in the right place in the picture, however. . . . Hedy Lamarr, who was headed for stardom just as soon as the Hollywood producers saw her swimming in "Ecstasy," will get her first American starring role under the direction of Josef von Sternberg, who comes out of a long retirement for the purpose. . . . Since Robert Monte Cristo Donant can't be persuaded to come to America to make a picture, the mountain will journey to England. MGM is to produce "Goodby, Mr. Chips" in London, with Donant as Mr. Chips. . . . Lionel Barrymore is to play Scrooge in MGM's "Christmas Carol," and John Barrymore, long considered at his best in Shakespeare, will dance The Big Apple in "Hold That Co-Ed."

Low-Heel Sandals

Low-heeled sandals of blue alligator are the type of sports footwear that will make college girls forget their devotion to last year's brown and white sport oxfords. They are built like little sister's strap sandals and have a careless emphasis that should please. For dress-up occasions, a high-heeled pump with a pleated suede instep section will attract attention.

MOTHER TO 50 CHORUS GIRLS

ger, were hanging neatly assorted according to the numbers in which they appear, the costumes of "Ginger Bread Man." There are long cutting tables and six sewing machines for the six seamstresses Clara directs. Another is occupied by the drapery seamstress who works directly for Sovey, making all the curtains he uses, stitching long seams in tremendous lengths of heavy materials, lined satins, velours, sometimes oil cloth, or on flimsy rayon fabrics as the case may be. This hot day she was almost buried under yards of canvas.

Off the wardrobe room are two long fitting rooms, one for the boys, the other for the girls. At one side is a really domestic set-up, a gas plate and electric ovens. Usually there is something cooking. Pretty soon, at noontime, I was to see a cutting table cleared and an ample meal of roast veal, bowl of salad, plates of fruit, pies, coffee and iced tea set forth. Sovey climbs down from the balcony, a favored stagehand or two drifts in. The stout representative of the cleaning company is on hand. They all gather round the board with the wardrobe mistresses, each having first procured and helped his own plate.

"This is really the only substantial meal we get," explained Clara. "We come to work at 9 a. m. and remain, except for an hour off at 5 p. m., until after the show; all night Saturdays and sometimes Sundays for the dress rehearsals.

"It's the heart of the whole theater," observed Sovey appreciatively as he asked for the community napkin, a Turkish towel in the middle of the table.

In what ought to be hub-bub and confusion, but isn't, the wardrobe women, Clara setting the example, are singularly placid and composed, raising their voices only when the rhythmic clop of the dancing feet rehearsing under the same roof just outside the wide opening, or singing voices soaring, make it necessary. They even find time to plan feasts and parties. There was to be a birthday party with two cakes Saturday night between performance and dress rehearsal in honor of a wardrobe woman and a girl dancer. The dancer happened also to be one of the engaged girls and so rated a shower.

"THERE are only seven changes in 'Gingerbread Man,' so we are kind of laying down this week," said Clara. "Otherwise I wouldn't have time to talk to you or anyone else. Would you believe it, I haven't seen a show from out front this whole season. Of course I catch the dress rehearsals but from the sides where I can see how the costumes look."

I had enticed her to a bench on the rehearsal stage. Immediately a blonde girl in brief practice shorts and shirt twined an arm around Clara's neck. She was Frances Winkelmeyer, one of the engaged girls. Despairing of extracting any confidential information about the girls from Clara, I asked Frances what the girls thought of her. "She's my second mother," said Frances. "She advises me about home making and lets me come in and learn to cook. She's pretty good to all of us and only gets cross and bawls us out when we let something happen to a costume. She stands on the bridge at night as we go on and shouts to us, 'Hold up your skirts, girls. Remember I just had those things all cleaned and pressed for you today.'"

Jackets for Sports Frocks

SLEEVELESS lumberjackets, knitted weskits and oddly-colored suede vestees will go over many sports frocks during the autumn season. The lumberjackets are made of fluffy woolens in bold, plaid patterns, striking furs such as leopard or baronduki and of leather. Some have drawstring waistlines to exaggerate the bloused emphasis.

Many of the weskits that are being featured for fall combine blazer striped fronts with plain knitted backs. Some of these extend to hip length while others stop abruptly at the waistline. The fur weskit also is appearing in the shops and is to be worn over coats as well as over dresses.

When it comes to striking shades, no fabric seems to equal the vividness of leather. Dyers have mixed their colors until there are violet blues, purplish reds, orange and rust tints and many other novelties which make the suede vestees as well as other suede accessories the most impressive part of a costume.

Dangling Jewelry

Dangling jewelry will be in vogue for autumn. You will wear a heavy sterling silver chatelaine on your tailored suit or your winter coat, bracelets of gold or silver that have long metal drops or series of charms suspended at intervals, necklaces composed of coin discs that are arranged in dangling clusters, pendant themes of heavy metals, disc belts with drop trimming of links or metal balls and many other ornaments that are unusual in design and rich in appearance.

GIRL ABOUT TOWN

By Clarissa Start

IN case you're planning on winning a trip to Europe by writing why you prefer Sinko Soap or how your dachshund cries for Crispy Canine Crunchies, it might be a wise idea to find out if your birth was ever recorded at the Bureau of Vital Statistics. You'll need this information for a passport. All births pursuant to February 1910 are supposedly recorded but due to the numerous unlicensed attendants at births many were not.

We discovered this and other more or less vital information when we spent the other morning hanging around the bureau, which is in the Municipal Courts Building and under the direction of Elmer S. Rosenthal. Rosenthal's assistant had previously told us of an old record they had come across in the files on which the listed cause of death was given more descriptively than accurately. Instead of heart trouble or pneumonia or some such ailment, the doctor had written laconically, "Just petered out."

But this time she insisted nothing of additional interest had come up except one letter which she was answering. A woman from Pennsylvania had written in, asking for possible information about her birth. She had been abandoned in a lumber yard, she wrote, in August, 1910, taken in by foster parents and left in ignorance of her adoption until recently. The only information she had was her first name, the abandonment story, and the fact that the name of the hospital where she was born began with a B.

Leaving the Bureau of Vital Statistics we trotted back to the newspaper files, keen on the scent, and thumbed through the August, 1910, newspapers in hopes of finding an account of the birth, but, we are sorry to report, our detective efforts came to naught. All of which makes our mystery story a case for Scotland Yard or the basis of a romantic plot—that is, if any writer could wake up his flagging brain or raise a weary finger for anything besides beckoning to a waiter for another Tom Collins.

WE DID COME ACROSS an arresting article in the 1910 files, however, especially so since we had spent the evening before aboard the President. The story on file concerned a similar moonlight excursion of the Grey Eagle, described as a floating Palace of Love. Two paragraph headings caught our eye. One read, "Spooners lose no time getting under way" and that brought forth a chuckle as we recalled the clinging ivy effect of the couple who sat in front of us on the top deck. The paragraph related the shocking case of two 15-year-old girls who climbed to a similar top deck. "Where's Anne?" asked one. "Oh, you'll probably find her hugging with somebody," her blase companion retorted.

The expose further stated that "One dancer passes all the rest in contortions." We believe we recognized the descendant of that young fellow, too. He would applaud loudly as each fast number began and then start his tour of desecration, leaving a trail of skinned shin bones and ankles in his wake. We wonder if the young bloods could "contort" as destructively to "Maple Leaf Rag" as they do to "Flat Foot Floogie."

One of the current attractions not mentioned in the old-time account is the loosing of balloons and toy monkeys from the ceiling, which is the signal for a mad and trampling stampede, with the best man winning and the others being left for the sea gulls. We consider this a grievous sign of selfishness and greed on the part of the younger generation, one worth a lot of morbid thought as to its character building influence. Besides, we didn't get a balloon. Somebody stepped on our neck just as we dived into the melee.

ANOTHER mirth provoking headline in the 1910 newspaper was one in which a fashion writer "Sees a Simple, Martial and Man-like Attire for Women of the Coming Generations With Practicality and Freedom Dominant." That cannot fail to cause many a loud and vulgar haw haw, considering the latest fashions.

ONE OF THE trade-in furniture stores has what we consider an intriguing bit of scenery in its show window. A strip of linoleum has been bent up around the edge, held in place with the skeleton of a wooden packing case and thus a fish pond has been created, with, of course, the aid of some water and a dozen or so gold fish. At feeding time quite a crowd gathers around to crane their necks at our aquatic friends, who pause, nibble and taste at the bits of food proffered them, and then glide nonchalantly on their way, oblivious to onlookers. The wilted spectators, by the way, look downright envious!

case you're planning on win- ng a trip to Europe by writing hy you prefer Sinko Soap or your dachshund cries for ppy Canine Crunchies, it might a wise idea to find out if your h was ever recorded at the Bu- u of Vital Statistics. You'll need information for a passport. All hs pursuant to February 1910 supposedly recorded but due to numerous unlicensed attend- s at births many were not.

e discovered this and other e or less vital information when spent the other morning hanging und the bureau, which is in the nicipal Courts Building and un- the direction of Elmer S. Ros- nal. Rosenthal's assistant had viously told us of an old record had come across in the files which the listed cause of death given more descriptively than urately. Instead of heart trou- or pneumonia or some such ail- nt, the doctor had written lacon- ly, "Just petered out."

ut this time she insisted nothing additional interest had come up ept one letter which she was an- ring. A woman from Pennsyl- ia had written in, asking for sible information about her h. She had been abandoned in umber yard, she wrote, in Au- , 1910, taken in by foster par- s and left in ignorance of her ption until recently. The only rmation she had was her first e, the abandonment story, and fact that the name of the hos- l where she was born began a B.

SCREEN CAREER FOR DORIS DUKE CROMWELL?

The Very Shy Tobacco Heiress, One of America's Wealthiest Young Women, Takes Movie Tests, and Curious Public Wonders Whether She Is Going to Come Out of Hiding for Film Work.

By POLLY
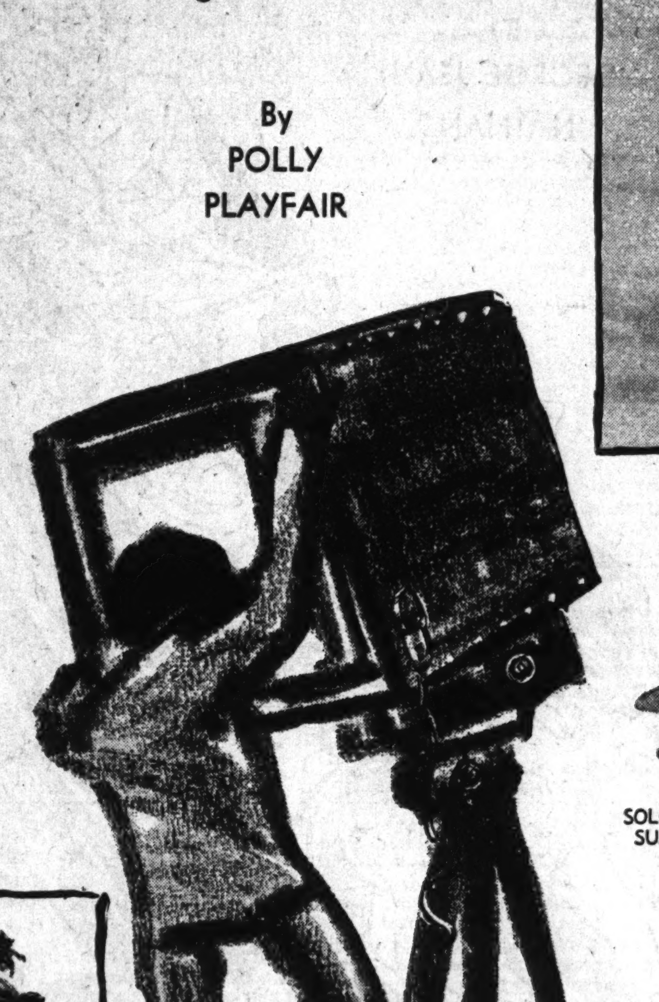
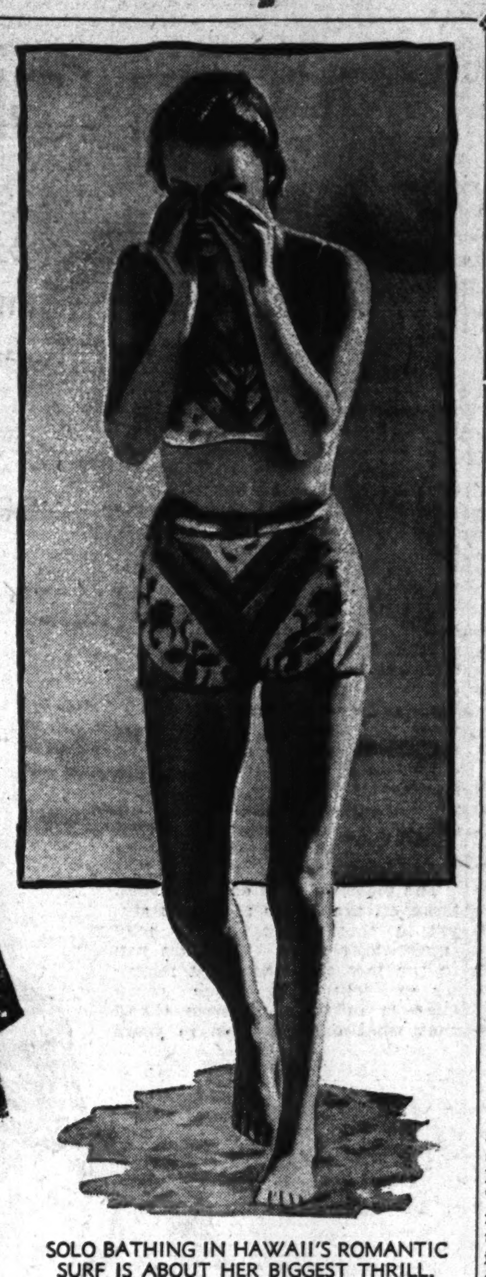
PLAYFAIR





SOLO BATHING IN HAWAII'S ROMANTIC SURF IS ABOUT HER BIGGEST THRILL.

YOU pay your money and you take your choice. What is Doris Duke Cromwell, the "wealthiest girl in America," up to? Is she going to follow the social-service career upon which she seemed so definitely launched a few months ago, or is she going to have a post-adolescent fling? Is it going to be resettlement projects or the rhumba, crime control or the cinema, trades unions or tap-dancing? The odds are even, gentlemen, so step up and lay your bets.

Doris' intimates in New York's social circles are puzzling over the latest word from Hollywood. A few weeks ago, columnists reported that the Duchess of Somerville, as Doris is sometimes called, had been given a secret screen test by M-G-M. Friends who thought they knew Doris, laughed it off as an inaccuracy, particularly since it was reported that she had taken the tests under an assumed name. But when the report was followed by more circumstantial dispatches and finally a picture of Doris with M-G-M's Edgar Selwyn at a Hollywod party, questions began to fly back and forth.

The interest in Doris' screen tests springs not so much from the fact that a multimillionairess may be flirting with a screen career, but from the fact that such a career would be so far removed from anything in which she has shown an interest heretofore. Was the idea her own, friends are asking, or was she prevailed upon to take the tests?

Aside from her publicity value, Doris has one attribute that the movie moguls avidly seek. She has that slim, almost angular grace that seems to photograph particularly well. At the same time, her unusual height might prove a liability. It would be difficult to find men sufficiently tall to play opposite her. After all, she is but half an inch shorter than the late Rosamond Pinchot, who found her height a serious detriment to a screen career.

Of course, there remains the possibility—if it is not a probability—that Doris is merely letting off steam. Perhaps she is doing now only those things which other girls do at an earlier age. Nowadays it is the style for half of the fashionable debutantes to seek a Broadway or Hollywood career.

Perhaps Doris is seeking gay compensation for the long years during which her life has been so completely circumspect because of her conspicuous position in the world. It would seem logical to assume that an ebullient spirit is beginning to leaven life that always has been concerned with the stern realities of being one of the richest girls in the world.

Such a point of view would explain the baffling and contradictory tangents that Doris' life has followed during the last several months. First were the stories of new enchantment with the quiet life of Hawaii. Then came accounts that she had become deeply interested in the resettlement projects so dear to the heart of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. There were photographs and newsreels of Doris and the first lady visiting some of these projects, talking to the men and women who are trying to re-establish their lives through these economic experiments, examining the products of handicraft or community factory.

To those who knew Doris, these accounts were interesting but not surprising. It was, they said, the sort of thing in which one might expect her to be active.

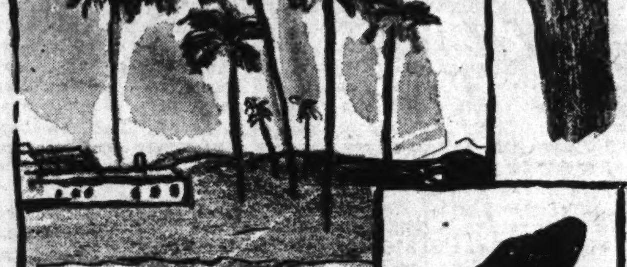
But scarcely had this concept been digested than came reports of Doris taking tap-dancing lessons from Bill Robinson. When they were completed, the Negro maestro of the heel-and-toe routine grinned and said, "She's good enough to go right on the line in any chorus."

"Dee-Dee's" friends were not prepared for this. It was a bit of a shock—something on the order of a cold plunge after a session in the steam cabinet. But as usual, Doris offered no explanation. Finally her friends shrugged their shoulders and opined that perhaps tap-dancing was just another accomplishment Doris had determined to master—like her agility in Italian or French.

And then the pendulum swung back in the other direction. From Trenton, N. J., came an official statement from the office of Gov. Harry Moore. Mrs. James H. R. Cromwell, it said, had been appointed to the Board of Control of the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies. This is the bureau that supervises all of the State charitable and penal institutions.

Doris took her appointment seriously. She visited a number of the institutions and acquainted herself with the responsibilities and problems.

Unlike many of the Society daughters who made their debuts in the late twenties and early thirties, Doris always has been impressed with a sense of her responsibilities. Perhaps because their only child was a daughter, the late James Benjamin Duke, fabulously wealthy founder of the American Tobacco Co., and his wife, Nanaline Holt Inman Duke, took particular pains to see that Doris' training was such as would fit her for the position she would have to assume in life.



HER FAVORITE HIDE-OUT IS A GORGEOUS HOME IN HAWAII.

"Buck" Duke, as the tobacco tycoon was familiarly known, was as good a Methodist as he was a business man, and Doris was brought up in this faith. The final accounting of his estate, in 1934, set the total at $133,389,000, exclusive of the homes in New York, Newport, Sommerville and North Carolina!

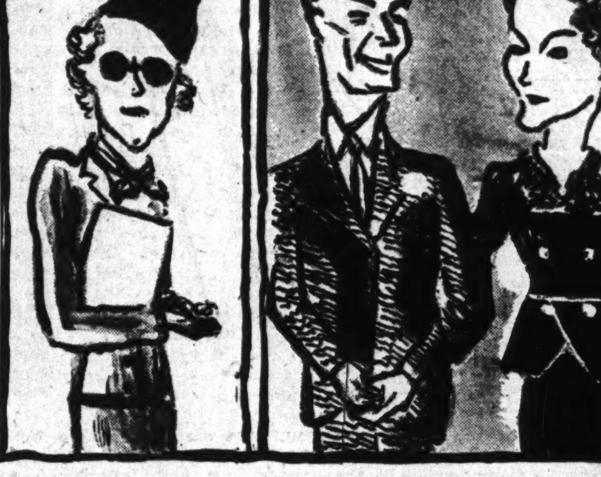
—o-o—

IN actual schooling, Doris Duke Cromwell can give most girls of her age cards and spades and still win in a walk. First there were tutors in the big house in Somerville. Then Doris attended the Brearley School in New York. Although favored by the rich and ritzy, Brearley does not stress courses in social grace or finger crooking. A course in the Sorbonne in Paris topped off the educational bill-of-fare.

There are few indications that she ever showed an inclination to "kick over the traces" or that she was attracted by the tinsel which has seemed so magnetic to many other rich girls.

It is fortunate that Doris did inherit this level-headedness. In 1925, when she was only 13 years old, her father died. Upon Mrs. Duke developed the responsibility for charting Doris' course through the remaining years of adolescence.

There always has existed between Doris and her mother an enviable spirit of happy companionship. On her twenty-first birthday, when Doris came into actual possession of the first of the many millions, she spent the day alone with her mother. She thought it strange when reporters suggested that a celebration of some sort had been expected.



DORIS DUKE CROMWELL, AT RIGHT, CAUGHT IN A PENSIVE MOOD. ABOVE, AN ARTIST'S CONCEPTION OF MRS. CROMWELL WEARING HER FAMILIAR DARK GLASSES, AND STANDING WITH HER HUSBAND, JIMMY. HIS PLAYBOY ANTICS HAVE GIVEN WAY TO WHAT IS REPORTED TO BE SERIOUS STUDY.

While other girls of her age have succumbed to the hand-kissing and broken-English blandishments of titled foreigners, her name never has been linked romantically with any of the Counts, Dukes or Princes, phony or the real McCoy, who have overrun America since the war.

The world at large probably never will know when Doris first fell in love with Jimmy Cromwell, to whom she was married three years ago. They first met in 1929 when she was a sub-debutante spending the summer in Bar Harbor. When she made her debut and began to move in adult social circles it was only natural that she should meet the son of Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury and the stepson of the senior partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., at dinners, charity parties, etc.

Chivalrously, Jimmy declares that he fell in love with Doris the moment he saw her. There is little reason to believe that this attachment was seriously reciprocated, however. Jimmy was 15 years older than Doris; he had just been divorced from the wealthy Detroit motor heiress, Delphine Dodge.

But what is more to the point, Jimmy was definitely the playboy type. He did not have the seriousness of purpose Doris looked for.

Possibly Doris realized that Jimmy would settle down. Possibly she saw, beneath his fun-loving exterior, the serious side of his nature which was to manifest itself in an interest in economic studies and political problems. At any event, six years were to pass before she and Jimmy were married. During these years Doris had many beaux, but never did she show any real interest in any one of them.

—o-o—

WHEN Doris was ready to marry, she did so quietly, without any fanfare or publicity. The marriage was solemnized in the privacy of her own home and in the presence of the family.

Jimmy Cromwell of today is engaged in translating his interest in economics and politics into action. His playboy days are over; are Doris' about to begin?

It would be incredible to think that Doris Duke Cromwell is about to toss overboard all of the worthwhile, socially important interests she always has supported and worked with. It is easier to believe that her tap-dance lessons, her screen tests and anything else of that nature which she may toy with are for her own amusement. From the safe vantage point of society matron she is sampling the harmless indulgences denied her as the richest maiden in America.

But should it be that Doris is seriously considering a movie career, her life indicates one sure bet. Any screen career that Doris may embark upon will be modeled after that of Greta Garbo. For like Garbo, Doris can get columns upon columns of publicity by avoiding it!

New Fashions Offer Variety Of Suit Modes

They Are Being Shown in Many Different Shades and Fabrics.

IT isn't too early to start thinking about the suit you will be wanting for autumn and deciding now not only on the color scheme but upon the type of model.

The new fashions offer such a variety of suit modes in so many different shades and fabrics that every woman who likes to wear a suit during the first crisp fall days should be able to find one to her liking. Starting with the very casual tweed models designs for most practical occasions to the handsomely trimmed velvet costumes for afternoon wear there are suits for every need and every income.

Among the three-piece wardrobes which offer a maximum in service is a reefer model made of a soft shetland wool and available in soft pastel shades as well as travel colors. This consists of a full-length single-breasted reefer coat, a skirt that is gored and a short, collarless cardigan jacket. Because this cardigan looks so much like an overblouse, and the fabric is so soft of texture, such an ensemble offers many different possibilities in the completion of an autumn wardrobe.

ANOTHER three-piece suit of tweed has the same type of hip-length cardigan, a skirt that has a kick pleat at the center front and a knee length topcoat which has a wide plastron of beaver fur. The fur is applied in a flattering manner, the band being narrow at the neckline and gradually widening until it covers the entire front section at the hemline of the coat.

Although two-piece suits which have short packets are not as numerous as they are in the springtime, there is interest in several new trends. One theme concerns the longer jacket. Wrist-length is the approved one although some are slightly longer. A double-breasted coat of herringbone tweed or a striped worsted accompanied by a solid colored skirt is an alliance that is smart and gives an opportunity for the wearing of different colored accessories. It also suggests the addition of a fur scarf of the stole type.

The two-piece suit that follows tailored lines, but adds its own fur trimming is another to consider. Short-haired furs, such as mink and Persian lamb, look most appropriate for these models, the fur covering little turnover collars and marking the top of pockets. Large, envelope pockets of beaver also appear on several two-piece suits that are made of flecked tweeds in rich color tones of brown and gold, green and red, or blue and wine.

THE COSTUME SUIT which has a fur jacket over a skirt or a one-piece dress has increased in popularity during the last few years and promises to be even more prominent during the next few months. Skunk is being used extensively for these jackets now and is rivaling kidskin and lapin among the moderately priced pelts. The beaver jacket is another that is chic for autumn and may be worn for many different occasions.

When it comes to "dress suits," the trend turns to handsome-looking fabrics, such as velvets, velveteens and duvetyne. Some cleverly styled two-piece suits which have contrasting blouses are included in the new arrivals in St. Louis. Such shades as gray blue, forest green and golden brown add to the interest in this style, although black suits that are trimmed with brown furs have a classical significance. The short jacket which has a bustle-like peplum is sufficiently quaint to appeal to many and the full-length coat designed after the manner of a coachman's model is of interest as part of afternoon ensembles.

Gray Veil Adds An Autumn Note

IF YOU want to add an autumn note to your between-season dark costume throw a gray veil over your hat. This shade of accessory is a popular one to start the fall season and since it looks cool is being introduced for earlier wear than many wintry accent tones. You see gray veils that cover entire hats and others that take the place of millinery trimming. A bag or a flash of silver jewelry should repeat this same contrasting note.

PARIS DESIGNERS UNDECIDED ON SILHOUETTES

THE French designers are having a hard time making up their minds whether the silhouette for autumn shall be slender or bouffant, according to reports from their recent Paris openings. This indecision is illustrated especially by the trend in evening dresses, many of the leading creators of women's clothes presenting slinky and exaggerated hemlines. Vivid colors, elaborate trimmings and handsome fabrics are the rule.

Vionnet is one of the indorsers of the slender silhouette and even goes so far as to introduce a trouser mode. In direct contrast to this, however, is one evening dress which has one very full skirt and a cape-like bertha over the bodice. The severe, tight-fitting skirts are accompanied by very brief bolero jackets while the bouffant skirts have cape themes at the shoulders. Such soft-finished fabrics as duvetyne and velvet appear extensively, many of them being studded with metallic encrustations.

Chanel divides attention between one evening silhouette that has restrained fullness from the knees to the hemline and an 18-gored skirt. Lace that is embroidered with metal threads is a handsome medium for many dresses and there are many velvet ribbon trimmings on all dresses of the formal type. Renaissance influences are apparent in the daytime as well as evening costumes, many crepe and velvet afternoon dresses adding heavy lace collars, jabots or cuff ruffles.

The vogue of lace is reflected in other showings of afternoon and evening dresses. One departure from recent fabric fashions is the introduction of black lace for afternoon, sometimes in combination with chiffon. Lace yokes are striking additions to black crepe dresses of the tailored type shown in several of the collections.

Reflections of the Louis XIV period and of the 1900 era are repeated in many of the new fashions. Braid trimming is a feature of coats as well as dresses. Old-fashioned fabrics such as zibeline cloth are being revived. Panne velvet is effective for capes and evening coats as well as for dresses. Moire that has velvet ribbon decorations likewise recalls past periods when glamorous fashions dominated. Skirt hemlines finished with ruchings, dust ruffles and fur bandings indicate the elaborate use of trimmings. Furs likewise go back to courtly days when flaring peplums were the feature of many sealskin coats and a fur cape was a necessity rather than a luxury.

Ostrich Plumes As Decorations

OSTRICH plumes not only are being used to decorate autumn hats but dresses, evening wraps and coiffures. They take the place of flower ornaments.

One evening dress that is made of black moire has the ostrich tips in tones of rose and blue pinned to the front of the strapless corsage. Another displays clusters over the shoulders, the colors being tones of green against a dark green velvet frock. The feathers are placed as borders on evening wraps as well as used to outline cape collars.

Men are plungers, gamblers, chance-takers. Women, I think, prefer to know rather than to guess.

That's why so many women seek knowledge about funeral services, and funeral prices, in advance of necessity. They realize that if they wait until the very instant of need, they will not have the time to make a sound decision, and will have to take a chance on snap judgment.

Modern funeral firms like C. R. Lupton & Sons, 7233 Delmar Blvd., realize that this procedure is both logical and becoming more and more commonplace. Accordingly, they invite anyone desiring to do so to call at any time to discuss whatever problems may be confronting them. Honest, friendly counsel is assured.

Features of General Interest

LET ME SUGGEST

by Josephine Walter

HAVING given brief descriptions of the different periods of furniture in England, France and America, during the past few weeks in this column, I feel that I would be shirking the job if I did not conclude with a few remarks about the "modern" style. This is, of course, hard to do, as it is a style that has not yet crystallized but is still in a stage of being changed, refined and molded into a definite style.

Because modern is a style that is really being created under our very noses, and we have no precedent to go on, it is the most difficult of all styles for the novice to handle and handle correctly. If you decide to choose modern for your own home, study and analyze it very carefully. Don't select it merely because it is in style at the moment, for it may not be a few years hence and you have to live with furniture a long time. See if the lines are pleasing to you and try to figure whether they will continue to be for some years hence.

—o-o—

ON THE other hand, many people turn up their nose the minute the word "modern" is mentioned, without giving the style a chance to prove itself. After all Chippendale, Sheraton and Heppelwhite were all modern in their time and we would have had nothing from them if the people of their period had not given them ample opportunity to show what they could do. And it is true that modern has come out of its swaddling clothes. It has passed through the phases of being as austere as a monk's cell or the gas pipe effects of a Rube Goldberg cartoon and is rapidly coming into its own as a style that is simple, yet sophisticated and eminently suited to our modern apartment house life.

—o-o—

The big news in modern furniture at the moment is what is termed "Swedish Modern." There is no doubt that the Scandinavian countries have done much of the creative work that all modern furniture is based on, and that they have never been guilty of many of the bad designs that for a time threatened to swamp this style.

—o-o—

● AS I HAVE said before, it is difficult to give any hard and fast rules about a style that is still in a state of being created. One big reason is that each furniture manufacturer has his own interpretation of the style and, as most people buy their furniture according to what is available instead of having pieces specially designed for them, it is these available pieces which, in the long run, influence the style. However, I will try to give you some sort of working knowledge of this new "Swedish Modern" style which is such a big influence in furniture styles today.

—o-o—

One of its features, to me, is that it has lost its self-consciousness and taken on an air of simple sophistication. Although it has retained the rectilinear outlines which are more or less basic to the modern style, it no longer insists on absolutely straight lines and ungainly angles. It permits the introduction of curved lines to add a softening touch and a graciousness to the end of a bed, the legs of a chair, or the apron of a bookcase. Many of the lines that used to be square, blunt, and block-like are now slender and even tapering. Frequently chair legs are rounded in the front and square in the back, or often they curve outward at the bottom. Beds frequently have concave footboards and convex headboards.

● LIGHT WOODS are suited to a style such as this with its lightness of feeling and gaiety of spirit. The new bleached tones in mahogany such as wheat, harvest and straw are all extremely popular, while other bleached woods such as cherry and walnut are also seen. Some of the unusual modern woods such as zebra, acacia and palazata, which are highly figured, are used for veneered pieces.

There is very little in the way of trimming on the furniture of this modern style. Occasionally there is an inlay or there are drawer pulls made of brass or pewter. One of the most interesting innovations is the use of cane for chair backs, door fronts or the headboards of beds. Leather is quite often applied to the frames of the furniture being frequently for the tops of tables, sometimes in a tiled effect. Fiber is also applied to pieces and even such striking effects as black leather in a basket weave design have been utilized.

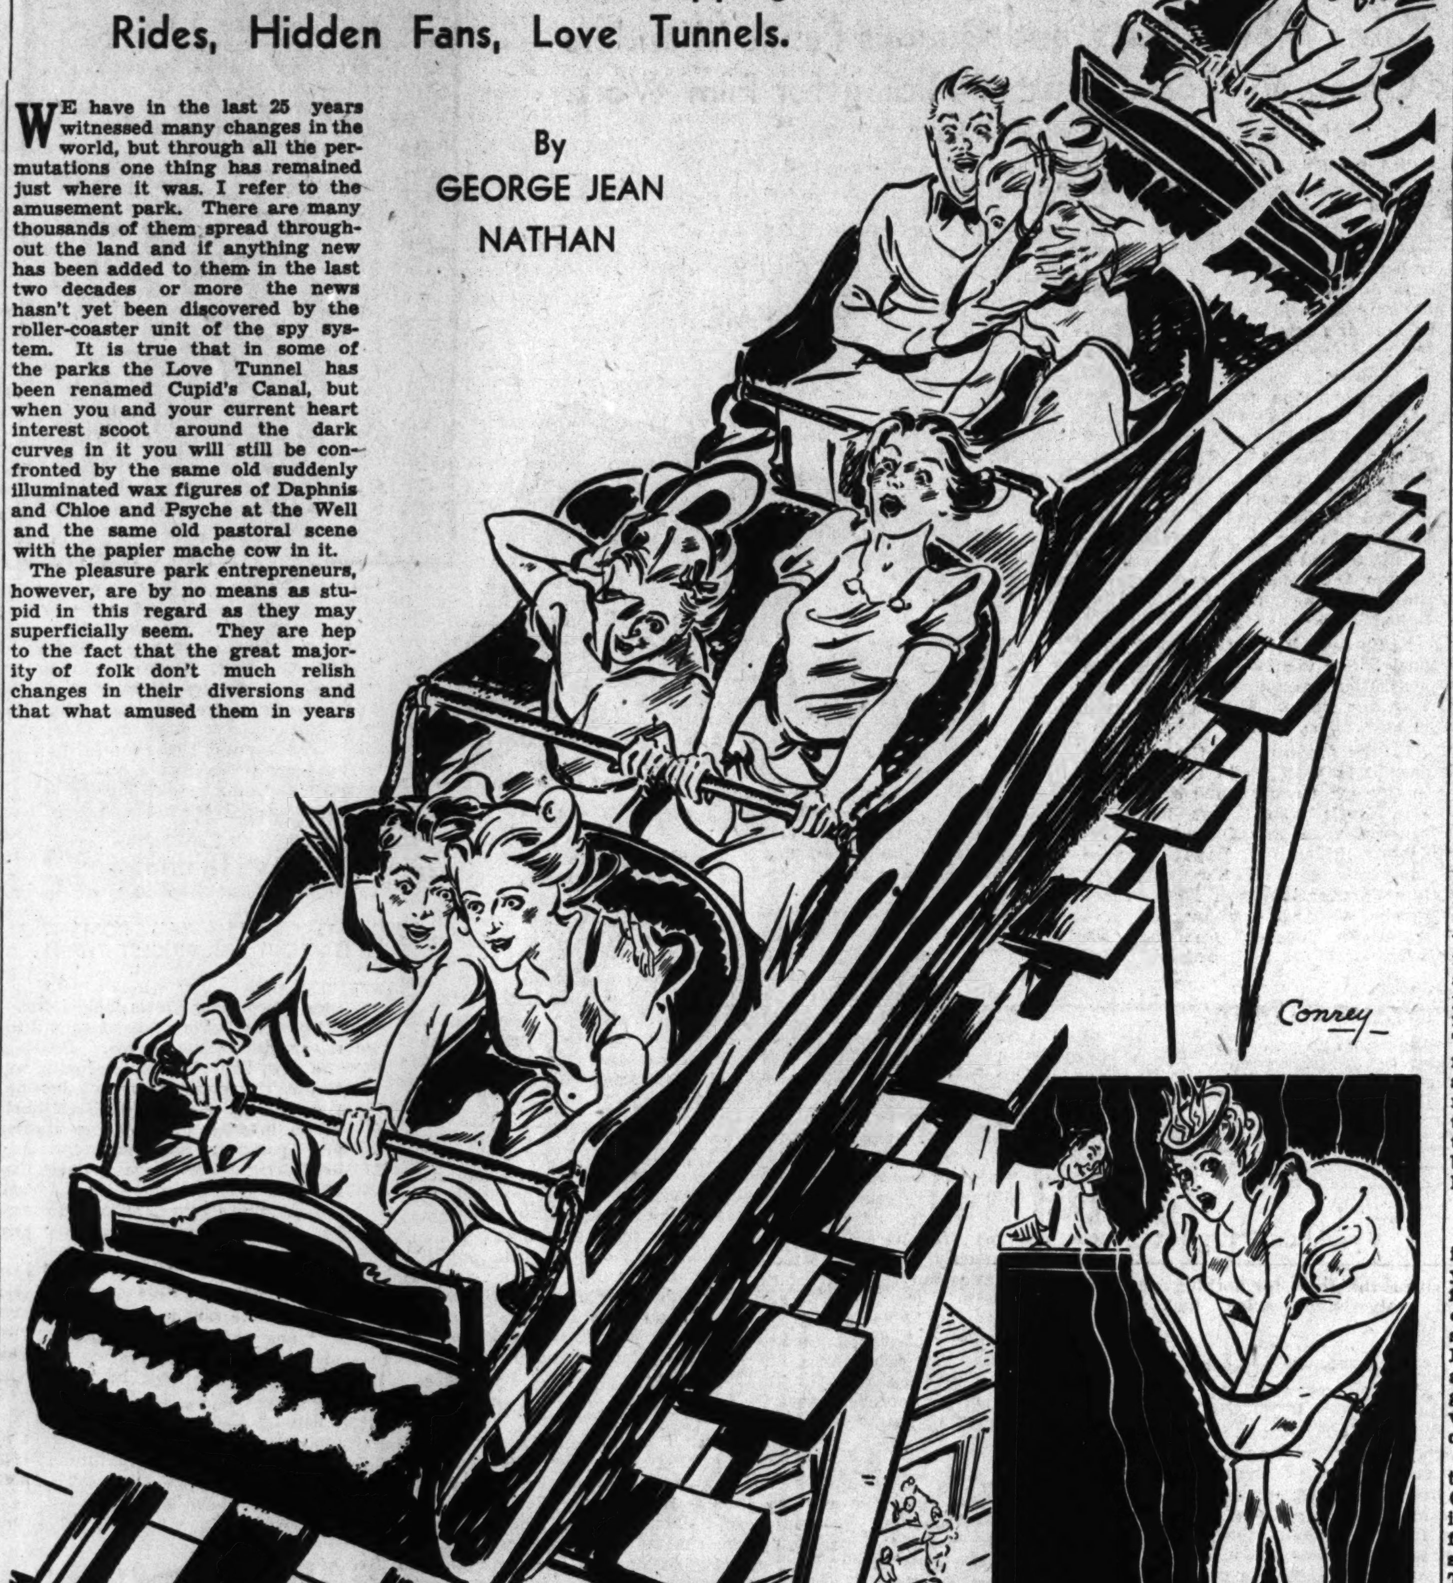
JUST WHAT this new "Swedish Modern" style will lead into is hard to predict. Certainly, it is a long step in the right direction of modern design. Many designers now are beginning to create what they term Continental modern rather than Swedish, feeling that the modern style is widespread in Europe and can be improved from various sources. Then, too, there seems to be a notable tendency among the moderns towards a willingness to borrow from the past instead of sweeping everything away and starting anew. And, after all, the moderns must admit that the old furniture makers had much that could be studied profitably.

UNCHANGING in a Changing WORLD

Amusement Parks of Today Exactly Similar to Those of 25 Years Ago, Asserts Writer—Same Heart-Popping Rides, Hidden Fans, Love Tunnels.

By GEORGE JEAN NATHAN



WE have in the last 25 years witnessed many changes in the world, but through all the permutations one thing has remained just where it was. I refer to the amusement park. There are many thousands of them spread throughout the land and if anything new has been added to them in the last two decades or more the news hasn't yet been discovered by the roller-coaster unit of the spy system. It is true that in some of the parks the Love Tunnel has been renamed Cupid's Canal, but when you and your current heart interest scoot around the dark curves in it you will still be confronted by the same old suddenly illuminated wax figures of Daphnis and Chloe and Psyche at the Well and the same old pastoral scene with the papier mache cow in it.

The pleasure park entrepreneurs, however, are by no means as stupid in this regard as they may superficially seem. They are hep to the fact that the great majority of folk don't much relish changes in their diversions and that what amused them in years past continues to amuse them equally today. People are creatures of habit. If you invade their habits with too much novelty you are likely to confuse them. Think what would happen if men were overnight asked to use round handkerchiefs, or collars that buttoned at the side of the neck, or shirts that had to be pulled on over the feet, or triangular bed pillows, or anything else markedly dissimilar to what they have long been accustomed to.

It is the same with amusement parks. A minor change may be made here and there in the switchback railways, but if they still didn't knock the breath out of people and almost break their necks when they shoot around corners, they'd starve to death. Imagine the financial consequences of suddenly changing the color of frankfurters to green, or of a fortune teller's alteration of her name from Mme. Tzigane to Bessie Jones, or of a merry-go-round organ that played Beethoven, or of a Zulu Village concession that didn't smell something awful.

The routine of the average pleasure park, accordingly, remains wisely immutable from year to year. When you enter one, you can bet your bottom dollar that you will encounter for the thousandth time the hidden electric fan that will blow the skirts of the girls up above their heads, to the theoretical great embarassment of the sweet one and the glee of the hundred or so collarless gents who remain rooted to the vantage spot for hours on end; the Ferris wheel that first made its appearance at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893; the butter that will ooze through the paper popcorn bag and send you to the washroom where they'll nick you a nickel to wash it off your hands; and the male midget, immaculately clad in black, who will inevitably be smoking a cigar that would be too big for Jim Farley.

THEN there's the chute-the-chutes on the seat of which the previous occupant has left a gob of soft taffy that sticks to your pants; the Wild Waves ride that bumps you black and blue and gives you a sore neck for two days afterwards; the photograph booth that takes your picture for a dime showing you languishing like a blase millionaire against a Monte Carlo backdrop; and The Great Mystico Who (according to the placard outside his booth) Can With Equal Ease Foretell The Past And Future.

The Great Mystico, need I remind you, is a card. His chin impressively adorned with a sinister black goatee, his body enveloped in a purple velvet robe embroidered with stars and moons, and his fingernails at least three Satanic inches long, The Great Mystico receives you into his occult parlor, also decorated with stars and moons, with the soft suavity of a combination floorwalker and undertaker. He bids you be seated before a table on which rests a large glass ball which looks like a goldfish bowl upside down and which is illuminated with a greenish-lavender light. In tones that resemble a beer-garden basso gargling absinthe, The Great Mystico now demands your name. "Joe Shaughnessy," you confide to him. His brow wrinkles. He pauses. His voice come from far-away. "I see," he drones, "a strange country. It is many years ago, how many I cannot say. A man, your father maybe, your grandfather maybe, or maybe it was your great-grandfather, is setting forth for a new land—America. Wait a moment—please—just a moment. I have it. Ireland! You have Irish blood in your veins!"

Having achieved this remarkable feat in divination, The Great Mystico proceeds further to astonish you—that is, if you aren't a fresh guy and tell him your name isn't Joe Shaughnessy at all, but Siegfried Oberfelder, in which case The Great Mystico will smile indulgently upon you, inform you that he can do nothing if you do not collaborate with the Fates, bid you hand him his fee of four bits, and tell you to get the hell out. If, however, you are disposed to follow his behest and collaborate with the Fates by being honestly Joe Shaughnessy, The Great Mystico will give you an added run for your money.

He will gravely admonish you to watch your health if you are to achieve long life. He will predict that some day you will make a long journey. He will detect in you great resources of character and willpower. He will reassure you that not often are you swayed by the influence of others. He will thrill you by informing you that some day you will meet your Ideal Love. He will do all that and more. All you, in turn, have to do, as he says, is to collaborate with the Fates, and give him 50 cents.

And now that you've had another wonderful time in the amusement park, you buy a five-cent glass of beer for 10 cents and annually keep unsuccessfully swearing off amusement parks for another 25 years.

Less Formal Fabrics in Use For Upholstery

By Elizabeth Boykin

THE real news in the upholstery world is the removable cover—not a slip cover but a regular attached upholstered cover that will come on and off for cleaning. The secret of course is in snaps and zips that attach the pieces of the cover to the frame of the chair, and the idea works quite as well for an all-upholstered chair as for the wood frame chair. When this becomes a reality in our homes, we'll buy both summer and winter coverings when we buy the chair, quite as a matter of course, and there will be easy ways of re-ordering new covers for old chairs. However, this has only just been introduced to the trade, so it will be later in the fall before you can actually say, "Send one out."

In the meantime, what about all the frayed and faded chairs that will have to "do" for quite a while to come? They need recovering, and most of us would like to perk them up a bit. Then there are the rest of us who will go to market for the good old tried and true upholstery covers that are sewed and tacked on the same as always. For fads may come and fads may go, but these continue to be favorites because of their good sitting.

Furniture coverings are going to be a bit plainer than they've been because walls and rugs are getting fancier. So you'll see many interesting plain-effect materials that will be as fine as silk for fall decorating. But of course if your floor and walls are plain or fairly so, you'll still find plenty of flowered materials to bless yourself with. The plains will, however, steal the fashion picture, for they will emphasize new textures that are not so nubby and tweedy as formerly but the unusual surface effect. Sometimes this will be achieved by combinations of rayons with cottons, linens or wool.

—o-o—

LEATHER for upholstery is going to be the very last word, but you'll be seeing new surface effects. Cowhide stamped to look like ostrich, reptile or other unusual skins will be the smartest thing. Raw hides will be very much in, and interesting color effects are going to be featured. Such as, white sage greens, and all the range of the warm browns.

Stripes are literally everything in the figured world. Broad stripes (up to six inches in width!), medium stripes, pin stripes. They afford the effect of pattern without seeming to clutter up the picture. They can be used to introduce complementary or matching color, or just to introduce a dashing note of chic. So don't pass them up when you set out to shop for new upholstery fabrics.

Floral designs are working toward smaller scale designs as a reaction from the huge motifs that have been the rage these past seasons. And there are rather foraml classic medallions, a great many floral stripes and lovely all-over sprigged designs. Backgrounds include some fine deep reds, many amber-to-russet tans, a deep dull green, a gunmetal tone that seems to go with anything. In the light tone grounds, white continues to hold its own. The blues as usual take the center of the stage, but they're gray-blues or warm deep blues rather than the familiar green-blues.

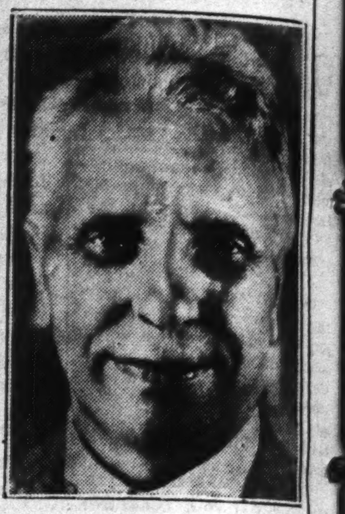
TRIMMINGS LEND glamor and individuality to upholstered furniture. And a loose flounce is smarter around the bottom than a fastened or pleated one. This loose flounce will be finished with braid and will often have kick pleats at the corners only. Or it will be scalloped and edged with fringe (preferably boucle in an uncut loop). Hollow brass ball fringes are going to be turning up, too, says an important arbitor of decorative fashion, and the wood, glass and moss fringes are still going to be used with a flourish. They're unexpected and exciting on upholstered furniture, which is all the more reason for using them.

You'll find combinations of materials very much in—that is, a plaid for the seat and a plain for the rest of the piece. Also watch for shirred cushion tops on upholstered pieces for stylized rooms, because you're probably going to be seeing them about. Extra odd cushions in square, round or oblong shape continue to add fresh details to the decorative picture and to provide a way to introduce or accent a color.

The main caution about upholstery this year is that the hale and hearty wear-like-iron materials aren't the whole show. They haven't the style that the less permanent materials have . . . any more than clod-hopper shoes can compete with a trim pair of open-toed sandals, even if the clod hoppers would wear out four or five of the cute little numbers. So don't go for the mohairs and brocatelles just because they are so sturdy. At least consider the lighter smarter fabrics.

Domination Affronts Intelligence

By Angelo Patri



ANGELO PATRI

"CLARA, go set the table."

"Yes, mother."

A few minutes, perhaps three, went by and Clara continued to tie knots in the bit of netting she was making for her sewing class next day.

"Clara," shouted her mother. "You heard what I said? When I speak to you move instantly. Don't you wait a second once I speak or you'll get something you'll remember."

"I was going to set the table just as soon as I tied those knots."

"Oh, you were? Let me tell you that when I speak I intend to be obeyed. I don't intend to wait until you are ready to obey. Obey instantly. And for waiting until you were ready you don't go out this evening."

Clara began to cry. "And no crying. You brought it on yourself. All these years I've been teaching you to mind. But you mind when you're ready. Not in this house, young lady."

Clara set the table, trying hard to keep from crying. She ate little of the food on her plate. "What's the matter with Clara?" father asked.

"Oh, she's sulking because I said she couldn't go out tonight to the movies with you. She's going nowhere until she learns to mind."

"I did mind," sobbed Clara.

"When you got ready. After dinner you go to bed. I'm just sick and tired of seeing you crying and sulking about the place. The sooner you make up your mind that I'm in authority over you the better it will be for you."

Too bad. Children who have reached the age of intelligent self-direction, able to set the table, are too intelligent to accept domination without rebelling. The only people, and that includes children, who obey without thought, or hesitation, are those without intelligence. All intelligent obedience is directed by a thoughtful mind.

In teaching little children to obey one tells them what is to be done, then waits for their minds to interpret the order, their bodies to get under control, and the action to be performed. That takes time. When a child is old enough to be helpful about the house he and she is old enough to understand co-operation. The time for commands and threats is certainly not at this stage of their growth. No good, but great harm, results.

Children are people. They have the same feelings, their reactions to people and their attitudes toward them are those of the older people. They are quicker to feel affronts, more sensitive. They have not experience enough to discount personal characteristics and manners of others. They take them as they are and if they are crude and harsh, they suffer.

The best relationship that can be established between children and their parents, and their teachers, is that of mutual respect and co-operation. Children are not inferior to grown people. They are different, but they are quite as important, quite as worth while in every way as their elders. They need teaching, leadership, friendship, far more than they need domination. They will not accept domination because it affronts their intelligence, so we will save time if we ask for co-operation and forget about the power and the glory of the boss.

Along The Potomac

By Harlan Miller

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.

ON THE last day of the last Congress, there were 145 bills on the calendar, the pale, haggard survivors of thousands . . . Fifty-six of these were bills for the benefit and "relief" of individuals, out of hundreds of such bills which members had been cudgeled to introduce . . . Most of these still lie where they fell, and I have been poring over them.

—o-o—

IF YOU HAVE a claim against the Government and can't make any headway, someone will suggest sooner or later that you induce your Representative or Senator to introduce a bill for your relief. He won't really want to; you'll have to blackjack him into it; it's a forlorn hope.

—o-o—

● EVEN if your Senator can get it over all the hurdles, and by a miracle it passes both houses, the President's apt to veto it . . . That, unless my memory betrays me, is what happened to the bill for the relief of the gentleman whose turkeys' family life was disturbed by army planes so they didn't procreate.

—o-o—

MANY OF THE CLAIMS are so tenuous that few members will let their names appear on the calendar opposite a bill . . . Maybe they do not wish to be associated with a pathetic little raid on the Treasury; perhaps they just don't want other Zilches among their constituents to harass them.

—o-o—

Not all these petitioners for justice are after money; some merely want justice or glory . . . The aim of H. R. 667, for instance, was merely to correct the records of the War Department to show "that Guy Carlton Baker and Calton C. Baker, or Carlton C. Baker is one and the same person.

—o-o—

● YOU CAN ALMOST HEAR this lad telling the sergeant "I'm the guy, Carlton Baker," and see the sergeant writing it down Guy Carlton Baker; and later you can see another sergeant taking his drawl literally and writing it down Calton. Such might have been the background of S. 2864, "a bill to correct the military record of Clayton R. Miller," sponsored by Ohio's Bulkley.

—o-o—

Most of these personal bills are like H. R. 9795, for the relief of Michael J. Muldowney, who spent $2000 in defense of an election-contesting case against him, or H. R. 9691, for the relief of Pompeo Ercolano, "who shall hereafter be deemed to have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence," or S. 3339, authored by Senator Walsh for the relief of Lieut. Svend J. Skou of the Navy, who wants his retirement pay raised; or stranger or more commonplace.

—o-o—

● MORE OF THESE BILLS might pass were it not for the stern conscience or natural cantankerousness of a few lawgivers like Senator Wheeler, Montana's Cicero, who is on his feet much of the time on the final day declining to give "unanimous consent." . . . They often object to acts like the one designating February as "the Month of American Music," sponsored by the late Senator Copeland of New York. . . .

—o-o—

OR LIKE Senator Lee's bill to force people to lend money to the Government in war-time; or Senator Logan's bill for experiments with rotary-wing planes; or the one to proclaim the week of May 31, 1939, as National Flood Prevention Week—perhaps on the ground that it might rain every day.

—o-o—

BUT NEARLY HALF of the legislative grist is composed of bills like H. R. 8589 for the relief of Pasquale Lobrano, who doesn't want to be deported, "existing law to the contrary notwithstanding," or blithe Senator Reynolds' bill to make John Sneed Adams a second lieutenant in the Army . . . Lawmakers must think of everything; maybe Second Lieutenant Sneed Adams is the man to win the next war for us.

Taffeta Evening Dress

One glance at those new evening dresses of tufted taffeta is sufficient to convince a girl that she must add a formal dress of this unusual fabric to her wardrobe. The material looks as though it had been quilted by hand. One model on display has the strapless bodice and a skirt extremely wide.

Corduroy Wardrobe

A complete casual wardrobe ranging from a short-sleeved shirt to a pair of slacks can be obtained of finely waled corduroy. As for the color range there are soft muted greens, russet and wine tones, gray, blue and rose. A reversible coat has a "rainy day" side, and one for crisp, cool days. When it comes to active sportswear short-sleeved cardigan that buttons straight up the front may be worn or one of those popular bush jackets with big pockets that have envelope flaps, a full bloused back and a wide, tight belt. Skirts that are gored for generous hemline fullness fit high at the waistline.

Red, Green Alliance

Red and green form one of the best color combinations for casual costumes. Advance fashions for autumn that are arriving in the St. Louis shops bring out this alliance repeatedly, especially in youthful types. One outfit that is typical consists of a red and green plaid topcoat and overblouse accompanied by a dark green wool skirt. Another good-looking ensemble that college girls will like has an olive green skirt with a shirtwaist of red and green tie silk. The skirt is cut with gores and has an attached belt of the wool fabric trimmed with the print of which the blouse is made.

Glove Trimmings

Gone are the days when a woman who prided herself on the distinction of her accessories insisted upon sleek, untrimmed gloves. Now she accepts the vogue of trimming to the extent that a contrasting finger or a gaily braided cuff is regarded as a conservative trimming. Black suede gloves are decorated with grosgrain ribbon, stitched bands of bright colored felt and inserts of black satin. The black glove which has one brown fur finger is listed as a fashion highlight for cold weather wear, the fur being matched to the trimming of a coat or hat.

Seafood Cocktail

One cup cleaned, cooked shrimps.

One cup chilled cooked crabmeat.

Two-thirds cup finely chopped celery.

One tablespoon minced pimientos.

Two teaspoons lemon juice.

One-eighth teaspoon salt.

One-fourth cup chili sauce.
One tablespoon catsup.
One tablespoon horseradish.
One teaspoon granulated sugar.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon paprika.

Mix and chill ingredients. Serve on top of cocktails.

A WOMAN'S NEW YORK -:- -:- -:- By Alice Hughes

NEW YORK, AUG. 13.

I SUPPOSE the happiest phase of young America's life is when, to cop the dear old line, "Boy meets girl." The saddest, without a doubt, is when he doesn't. Heaven alone knows how many thousands, nay, millions, of young people walk the country's streets, lonely and anxious for companionship. My spouse tells me that the most tragic times of his early years spent wandering the Middle West in the newspaper business were those when he had no way of meeting the pretty girls he saw, and inviting them to have a chocolate soda.

New York is even worse, in this regard. There's the hysterical rush of this insane town, the armor that even the youngsters assume. One day a college kid, just handed his sheepskin, strolled Forty-second street with a pal. They were lonely. They saw pretty girls. There was no way of meeting them properly or at all. So an idea was born. The college lad, whose name was Joseph Clauson, figured some way to bring such lonely youngsters together. The result of Joe's figuring was the "Introductions by Clauson," complete with offices and files. For a modest fee, solitary kids of both sexes register, filling out enormous questionnaires. Preferences in looks, types of mind, dances, and all that stuff. The clients, by checking, meet.

All right—call this a business, if you choose. But a youngster tried to do something for the unhappy problem of young people, boys and girls, alone in our cities. I hope it is properly run, and works out. I went up to see this Clauson kid, and feel sure he is honest about it. I could tell stories my helpmate has told me, of his solitary newspaper days as a young reporter that would reduce you to tears. There are thousands like that. My niece Barbara, of Cornell, tells me that they have a "date club" run something like this. But Joe's is far more important!

NEVER LET IT BE SAID that a Rockefeller isn't sentimental. When they tore down the 80-year-old home of the late John D. last month, most of the bricks were saved. I learn that his granddaughter Abby, now Mrs. David Milton, is going to use them in constructing her new house on the family's Pocantico Hills estate. Or is it thrift? . . .

—o-o—

GERTRUDE LAWRENCE has just done a nice bit of publicity for herself and our World's Fair by taking a scroll and a couple of plants to Major Rossi of San Francisco, where she is opening her long tour in "Susan and God." But what tickled me was the fact that our Mayor LaGuardia wrote a little note in Italian to his Western paesano Signor Rossi. Give a bit to know what it said. Probably something like this—"Gertie is a great kid. Give her a great big hand and key to the Golden Gate!" . . .

—o-o—

AS THIS is tapped, Saratoga is moaning faintly because the no-gambling lid is still clamped down tight. Looks as though if this lawbreaking isn't permitted by the rural gendarmes, the Spa will be badly lamed. But the horses run, and the old folks rock on the porches, and the pretty kids hold hands under the big nightclub tables. Among the twosomes are Addie Moffett, the social lass singing there, and Eddie Reeves, chainstore scion, and Gloria "Mimi" Baker and Bob Topping. This last pairing seems serious—to them, I suppose. . . .

GERTRUDE LAWRENCE . . . CARRIED PRESENTS TO SAN FRANCISCO'S MAYOR.

I HEAR that Gloria Swanson has rented an office in Rockefeller Center. I don't know what the business is that requires a desk and a buzzer. . . .

—o-o—

AMONG THE FIRST SHOWS of '38 will be "You Never Know," Cole Porter's musical which toured last spring. Lupe Velez and Clifton Webb will be in, but Libby Holman has quit it cold. Ah well, the Cincinnati girl has a lot of tobacco dough and a cute little son. What does she want to be torch-singing for, anyway?

—o-o—

WE GOTHAMITES think we are pretty smart with our Lewisohn Stadium concerts in the summer, which costs the customer from 50 cents up, but I was put in my place in Boston, where I found 50 members of their famous symphony playing in the open air beside the Charles River—for free! These summer Esplanade concerts draw between five and ten thousand people an evening, and the most they can spend is a dime for a folding chair. But if they want to sit on the grass for nothing, why fine! My civic pride took a sock! . . .

—o-o—

OUR STADIUM CONCERTS do draw enormous mobs for special features. I saw 19,000 people crowd in to listen to Heifetz as soloist with our symphony not long ago. Jascha turned loose on Brahms' D Major Concerto, and as we kids say, he swang it . . . Speaking of elegant musicians, I find that all the famous trap drummers mutter to themselves as they give out the rhythm. Gene Krupa, of course, drones "Lyonnaise potatoes and one pork chop." Magic stuff, what? On the other hand, Maurice Ourtill, of the Tommy Dorsey Symphony, mutters "Dutchess got the crutches got the dutchess got the crutches" —which simply proves that the whole world is entirely wacky—especially this month. Do you know any absolutely sane people in August? Just name one!

—o-o—

EARLY in September Atlantic City will go through the annual monkey-shines of picking "Miss America," and the other day I got a questionnaire from officials. A few of the queries, and my own answers, but don't you answer me back! It's too hot. "What qualification of beauty is most necessary?" I say "Skin." "What section of America produces the healthiest and most beautiful women?" I say Texas, but I don't know why. "What beauty essential is most neglected?" I should say the hair. Okay, Atlantic City? . . .

—o-o—

I SIT HERE punching away, dying of heat and humidity, and a headline on a society page stares up at me. "Round of Parties at Southampton"! Oh shut up!

—o-o—

AN APARTMENT HOUSE owner has pulled a new one. He polled all his 100 clients on how he should redecorate the spacious lobby, as to period, color and so on. The votes have been counted. Of the 100, 43 tenants voted for modern, 32 for eighteenth century English, 10 each for neo-classic (?) and renaissance. The moderns won easily, and the lobby will be done in chartreuse green.

—o-o—

I GET A GUFFAW over a rumor here that three "Hawaiian" Girls now working in a local hotel floor show are being beaued about by three local newspaper columnists. Hard-boiled sophisticates, eh? And they go for a grass skirt! I'd hate to turn them loose at an old-time street carnival with a dollar bill! They'd die of hot dogs!

—o-o—

THOSE COLUMN FELLOWS meet nearly every morning at 2 a. m. at the Stork Club bar to talk shop, have a soothing tonic and pick up items in the joint. Anyone with a morbid, unhealthy desire to see what those night-blooming vacuum cleaners look like can usually gratify it by dropping into Uncle Sherman Billingsley's place.

How Sight of Middle-Aged Is Corrected

With Proper Care, Degenerative Changes Can Be Postponed Indefinitely.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

UNDER the slogan, "Sight Begins at Forty," the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness wages its campaign of education for better eye health.

Sight, of course, in many instances begins to get dim at 40, but the society's purpose is to cheer up those who regard this as inevitable, and to spread the idea that if properly cared for middle-aged eyes may be as efficient as they were in youth.

This is worth while, because many people enter the period of middle life with a feeling of profound discouragement. They are acutely conscious that they can no longer do the things they once did easily and tirelessly. And since their activities are cut down, they have to depend more on their eyes. Here they find that time has played them tricks, too. The eyes tire sooner than they did and the vision is not so automatically clear. There may be superimposed on the general discouragement, the fear of going blind.

THIS IS NOT justified, because with proper care the discomforts and chronic infections of the middle-aged eye can be mitigated and degenerative changes postponed indefinitely.

The almost inevitable change—presbyopia or "old sight"—can be corrected with glasses, and while these are a nuisance, they are better than nothing. At least better than trying any of the new crop of lotions, drops, tonics or reading lamps which come out each year and are offered to the middle-aged as substitutes for glasses. The youth does not need glasses because his lens is as clear as crystal and as elastic as live rubber. He can see far and near equally well (unless, of course, he has an ocular defect). As we get past 40, the lens remains transparent but its loses its elasticity. We see perfectly at a distance but the near point recedes steadily. The lens will not accommodate, but glasses will do it for us. Do not get glasses stronger than you need, so as to get dependent on them too soon. It is better to leave some of the focusing of the eyes to themselves.

CATARACT is the condition in which the lens does become less transparent. Opacities gradually form. Sometimes the beginning of a cataract will be announced by the fact that the vision suddenly improves. Your aunt lays away her glasses and is very proud of her "second sight." This arouses suspicion in the mind of the good oculist. The cause is that in the very beginning of a cataract the lens is still transparent, but it swells and makes the eye near-sighted. Hence the second sight.

Usually the opacity of cataract begins around the edge of the lens and causes no great disturbance of vision for years and years. The average period is 15 years between the time symptoms begin and a cataract is ripe enough for operation.

Monogram Shoes

Monogram shoes are the latest attention to the "personality" fads that increase in popularity with the seasons. The initials are displayed on the flap tongue of these suede models. School emblems also may be flaunted. These collegiate shoes are made of suede.

GIVING AUTUMN TINGE TO SUMMER COSTUMES

EVEN though you are wearing a summer frock you can give it a tinge of autumn by the addition of a new bag, a pair of pumps in a striking color, a hat that smacks of extreme style or some other accessory typical of the coming season. The shops have a collection of tempting costume accents that will make an old dress look up to date or a new one that much smarter. Here are some suggestions picked up in a tour past tempting counters:

Antique gold jewelry is no more impressive than the silver costume accents that look as though they had been created by very old silversmiths. These metal necklaces, brooches and bracelets are heralded as extremely important in the trend of autumn fashions so whether they are old, or merely look so, they contribute a chic note to a costume. Some women are wearing them with that flattering shade of stone blue, but they are equally as interesting with black, wine or navy.

—o-o—

A LITTLE SUEDE HAT and a matching suede purse are the sort of accents to a costume that college girls like. Mother, doubtless, will be wanting them, too, when she discovers that the newest suede hat can be worn at least four ways and that there are many colors besides black. The bag that goes with this jaunty chapeau has a plaid lining.

—o-o—

ANOTHER ACCESSORY designed for the college girl is a vanity case that is patterned after the regulation tobacco pouch. Since it isn't very large it may be slipped into a topcoat pocket. If the owner wants to carry it in her hand there's a little ring with which to hold it. There are versions of leather for sports, Roman striped fabrics for use with "date" dresses and handsome brocaded models for evening.

—o-o—

"ROLL YOUR OWN" now applies to twisted turbans so every girl likes to have a collection of scarfs and handkerchiefs that may be worn over the head peasant fashion or done up into sophisticated toques. A clever girl can manipulate her own square into the most flattering topknot arrangement, but a chart is provided with one design of cashmere scarfs in soft weaves and rich looking patterns.

—o-o—

FELT FLOWERS have captured the hearts of everyone who likes an accent reminiscent of the Austrian Highlands. Perhaps Lanz of Salzburg started the craze with its felt hearts and flowers. Anyway, they are all over belts for autumn as well as adorning some tricky suspenders created for the skirt-and-blouse addicts and being clustered into gay buttonieres. In other words you buy them by the yard or dozen and place them where you wish.

—o-o—

A STRIPED CARDIGAN is the sort of casual jacket that you'll don for cool mornings on the golf course or wear with skirts and sweaters throughout the autumn. One in blazer stripes is typical of the trend. Sleeves are lined for greater comfort and service and the shoulders are padded sufficiently to give that little shelf emphasis that is so necessary in the newest styles.

Tomorrow You'll Wear—

THE Gay Nineties air, with a blousey look; a bird on your hat, pushed over one eye; a massive locket set with cameo; a tippet of fur.

—Fur sleeves in your winter coat, adding to the bulky top of a bloused silhouette.

—Longer jackets—especially in fall suits, about finger-tip length.

—Bulky furs. The short coats in long-haired furs again popular, but the new styles are longer—finger-tip or three-quarter.

—Beautiful, sleek black caracul.

—White polar wolf, if size doesn't concern you.

—Victorian stand-up sleeves, if you do care, and like to add height and slimness.

—More of the dirndl, in modified versions, if this is your pet rave.

—o-o—

BOLERO JACKETS that are made of velveteen are intended primarily for wear over evening dresses that look too formal for many occasions, but the rich shades that are featured will prompt many followers of fashion to wear them with afternoon dresses, too. Wine red, royal blue, black and forest green are among the shades that enable a jacket to play a dual role. A taffeta lining is a feature of most of these brief coats.

Bow Trimming

Bow trimming plays such an important part in the decoration of new clothes that coats as well as dresses and hats are done up like gift packages. You see a fluffy bow of velvet ribbon holding the neckline of a silver fox cape in place, a wide sash of velvet with a bow tied at the front of a little velvet coat for evening wear, grosgrain bows marching up the front of a trim little coat in place of the customary buttons, and suede bows at the neckline and waistline of a jaunty golf coat.

Metal Leaves

Metal leaves attached to an elastic base form a wide garland around the waistline of a simply black frock and supply the only decoration that is needed. Another new dress that concentrates its trimming at the waistline has a wide belt covered with variegated felt flowers. A third introduces insets of gold mesh between stripes of elastic suede, the combination forming a wide corselet that shapes itself to the figure.

Evening Gowns Designed for College Girls

YOUTHFUL evening frocks designed to please the girls who are starting off to school early and who are looking for rush party clothes may not always please their mothers because the majority of these new dresses subscribe to the vogue of uncovered shoulders. The strapless bodice, introduced some months ago as a sophisticated mode, has become the pet of the youngsters who are choosing it for their most formal occasions. They like it of taffeta, tufted faille or velvet.

Next in numbers and early popularity is the dress which has a halter neckline or a bodice which ties at the shoulders. For the halter type, moire is a favorite material, especially if it has a touch of metallic ribbon trimming. One dress that is typical is made of black moire, the neckline a low V in front and a slender halter at the back. Moire bows lined with gilt material are placed on the front of the bodice and also trim the hemline of the skirt. An Eton jacket of matching moire turns this into a double-duty costume.

The formal frock that has a bodice tied at the neckline is seen in many versions, but a striking model that is moderately priced typifies the trend. Wine colored velvet flowers are placed at either shoulder and their color repeated in a flower design painted on the wide hem of the skirt. The bodice is fitted at the waistline and skirt fullness starts above the hips.

The heart-shaped bodice is another favorite with young girls and is equally attractive with covered shoulders as with a more formal theme. Black velvet ribbon shoulder straps and ribbon bowknots on the skirt are the flattering accents on one black taffeta dress which has the heart-shaped bodice. Another combines short-sleeved velvet bodice with a black taffeta skirt that is banded with the velvet.

Black taffeta that is striped with silver lines is an arresting fabric for an evening dress and looks most striking when made with a hip-length fitted bodice to which is attached a very full, gathered skirt. Stripes of the skirt are vertical while those of the bodice go around the figure. A large taffeta flower in gold and black is placed high on the left shoulder.

Ever-Popular 'Show Boat' At Opera for Third Time

Ziegfeld Success to Run for Two Weeks, Concluding the Season—Norma Terris Cast in Her Original Role of Magnolia Hawks.

THE most popular American operetta of the last decade and Municipal Opera's only two weeks' success in its entire history, comes back to Forest Park tomorrow night. "Show Boat," repeating its engagements in 1930 and 1934, will run for 14 performances, to end the season.

Among its principals, Municipal Opera presents Norma Terris, who created the leading feminine role of Magnolia in the original Ziegfeld production, and Margaret Carlisle, who followed after Helen Morgan in the role of Julie, in the Ziegfeld show. Ronald Graham is cast as Magnolia's gambler husband, Gaylord Ravenal; George Rasely essays the important characterization of Cap'n Andy Hawks; Helen Raymond is Parthy Ann Hawks, the Captain's wife and Magnolia's mother. Earle MacVeigh is Steve, opposite Miss Carlisle. Jack Sheehan and Vicki Cummings represent the comic pair, Frank and Ellie; Joseph Macaulay is the Sheriff; Minto Cato plays the Negro mammy, Queenie, and Kenneth Spencer, new Negro baritone, is Joe, who sings "Ol' Man River."

Success has attended "Show Boat" in whatever form it has been presented. First a best-selling novel by Edna Ferber, it was adapted to operetta form by Oscar Hammerstein II, and Jerome Kern wrote his most famous musical score for it. In addition to "Ol' Man River," "Make Believe," "Why Do I Love You," "Can't Help Lovin' That Man" and "You Are Love" have remained popular song numbers since the show first opened.

The New York presentation marked the apogee of Ziegfeld's career and was set down as his greatest accomplishment. Two motion picture versions have been made, one when the silent era was giving way to the talkies, and the other in 1936. The screen rights lately were bought by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio with view to still another production.

—o—o—

IN ITS first appearance at Municipal Opera, the same year in which it had run at the American Theater, "Show Boat" drew an attendance of 106,305 persons and in 1934, with some rainy weather, 98,000 more.

Although the last week this season might have seen the production of a new European operetta, which could not be obtained, the extension of "Show Boat" for the extra seven days is in keeping with the scope of the production. Scenic investiture, casting and chorus preparation all make such extraordinary demands that a two weeks' run is virtually necessary to justify the outlay.

Raymond Sovey, designing a "Show Boat" for the first time in his Forest Park experience, will represent not only the Cotton Blossom itself, outside and inside, but scenes from the Chicago World's Fair, a ballroom at the turn of the century and many other smaller and colorful backgrounds.

Although this year's production has only two experienced "Show Boat" players, direction is in the hands of Zeke Colvan, who staged the original show for Ziegfeld and who has had charge at the Municipal Theater in 1930 and 1934.

Miss Terris, whose role of Magnolia went to Charlotte Lansing in 1930 and 1934, made her Municipal Opera debut in 1936 in "Bitter Sweet," a performance which is accounted by opera veterans as one of the finest in the whole 20 years of park entertainment. She played the heroine in "Glamorous Night" the same season.

Miss Carlisle was the Julie of the 1930 show but her place in 1934 went to Gladys Baxter. Graham follows after Guy Robertson and Allan Jones, who went from Municipal Opera to the movies and was the Gaylord Ravenal in the picture production. W. C. Fields was Municipal Opera's first Cap'n Andy, incidentally, and William Kent the Cap'n in 1934.

The plot extends, from 1890 to the present day against a background of charm — show boat troupers, stevedores, beautiful Southern belles and gallant beaux, river audiences, World's Fair sightseers, Chicago restaurant crowds on a New Year's Eve. The incidents, with quaint flavor and suspense, take place not only along the Mississippi, on the decks of the Cotton Blossom, in its kitchen pantry, in its auditorium and stage — but also on the levee at Natchez, on the Midway of the World's Fair, in St. Agatha's Convent, in Chicago in the Trocadero Restaurant in Chicago and a New York apartment.

The Cotton Blossom, an old-fashioned show boat plying up and down the Mississippi, is the place where Captain Andy Hawks, its proprietor, lives and moves and has his being. With him are Parthy Ann, his strait-laced Massachusetts wife, and his daughter Magnolia, and the troupe which presents the plays. Gaylord Ravenal, young aristocrat, gambler, and somewhat of an outcast, coming to the show boat one day, sees Magnolia and falls in love with her, as she does with him. The sudden tragic departure of the leading lady and the leading man compels Captain Andy to let Magnolia step into the leading lady's shoes and to give Ravenal a trial as leading man. This brings the young lovers together much more; they have to move with great caution, for they are watched with cat-like closeness by the disapproving Parthy Ann. Captain Andy, however, is all on their side and finally, when Parthy is off on a little trip for a morning, he gives Magnolia and Ravenal a rip-snorting wedding and send-off. There the joy becomes bitter sweet however, for Magnolia and Gaylord lead a checkered life through the years.

They separate but after their daughter, Kim, has grown to young womanhood and has become a successful musical comedy singer, Magnolia and Gaylord are reunited. The happy ending comes where their romance began, on the Cotton Blossom.

Amusement Calendar

On the Stage

MUNICIPAL OPERA—"Show Boat," a revival of the Kern-Hammerstein operetta, opens a two weeks' run tomorrow night. Final production of the season. Cast includes Norma Terris, Ronald Graham, George Rasely, Margaret Carlisle, Vicki Cummings, Jack Sheehan, Helen Raymond and Kenneth Spencer. Last performance of "Gingerbread Man" tonight.

CIVIC THEATER—"Private Lives," a revival of the Noel Coward comedy, opens a four-performance run Wednesday night. Final production of the season.

On the Screen

AMBASSADOR—Don Ameche and Arleen Whelan in "Gateway," with Gregory Ratoff, Binnie Barnes and Raymond Walburn; Jane Withers in "Keep Smiling," with Gloria Stuart and Henry Wilcoxon.

LOEW'S—Robert Taylor in "The Crowd Roars," with Edward Arnold, Frank Morgan and Maureen O'Sullivan; "Rich Man, Poor Girl," with Robert Young, Ruth Hussey and Lew Ayres.

MISSOURI—"Little Miss Broadway," starring Shirley Temple with George Murphy and Jimmy Durante; Harold Lloyd in "Professor Beware," with Phyllis Welch, Lionel Stander and Raymond Walburn.

ST. LOUIS—"Prison Farm," featuring Shirley Ross and Lloyd Nolan with John Howard; "When Were You Born?" featuring Anna May Wong, Margaret Lindsay and Anthony Averill.

Vincent Price's First Film to Be "The Storm"

VINCENT PRICE, young St. Louis actor who has signed a long-term picture contract with the Universal studio, will make his screen debut in "The Storm," a dramatic story of wireless operators on the high seas.

Others in the cast will include Charles Bickford, Barton MacLane, Andy Devine, Nan Grey, Frank Jenks and Samuel S. Hinds.

Price made a reputation on Broadway in the role of Albert, opposite Helen Hayes in Victoria Regina. He also won high praise for his work with the Orson Welles group in the Mercury Theater.

Garbo as Mme. Curie

Two assignments await Greta Garbo on her return from Sweden Nov. 1. Her first picture will be an original story titled "Ninotschka," translated from the Russian "Love Is Not So Simple," by Melchior Lengyel. The screen play is being prepared by Jacques Deval, noted French playwright.

Her second picture will be a screen adaptation of the biography, "Madame Curie," translated by Vincent Sheean. The screen play is being prepared by Aldous Huxley, noted English author.

Two to the Good, on Loew's Program

By Colvin McPherson

A PRIZEFIGHT picture is a part of the training of every Hollywood glamor man and at Loew's Theater this week, the record of Robert Taylor's course in leather-pushing is attracting many customers, getting much approval. "The Crowd Roars," as synthetic as a star discovery, is still a lively, funny, and sometimes thrilling diversion.

The major conflict is a social one. Edward Arnold, who owns Robert's contract, thinks Robert isn't good enough to be seen with his daughter, Maureen O'Sullivan. Now Arnold himself is only a big-shot gambler but he keeps that fact concealed from Maureen, who is in school learning to mince the English language even worse than she does normally. Boy gets girl, anyway, after kidnaping, murder and mayhem, the last in Madison Square Garden.

Nobody can make beautiful Bob look tough enough to be convincing as a prizefighter but many other features of the 90-minute fiction are believable. Arnold, Lionel Stander and Nat Pendleton have every qualification for gambler, trainer and gambler, respectively. Frank Morgan overshadows even the star as the lad's booze-fighting parent. The crowds all look real and the final fight is keyed up to a fine pandemonium.

Most important of all, "The Crowd Roars" has a little to say about the bad breaks in the fight game, glows with some of the color of the training gymnasiums and creates a highly contagious enthusiasm at the wind-up by showing the effect of slugging on various spectators.

The strength of the show is surprising but a bigger eye-opener is the second feature at Loew's, "Rich Man, Poor Girl." It is what the industry, with colorful originality, calls a "sleeper." Nobody expected the comedy to be anything like this good—for that reason they just handed it over to Reinhold Schunzel, a newly imported director, for him to do.

Result: The Thayer family of this little howler is so delightful that it almost demands a sequel, to take its place alongside the Jones Family and the Hardy Family. Guy Kibbee is father, Sarah Padden is mother, Ruth Hussey, Lana Turner and Don Castle are the children. The picture gets its name from the romance of Ruth, a pretty stenographer, and her employer, Robert Young.

The stenographer won't marry the millionaire until he sees what kind of family she has. He sees, meeting up with a resident cousin, Lew Ayres, who has grandiose ideas about sharing the wealth and benefiting the middle class. The millionaire decides to board with the family for a while, to study how the other 95 per cent lives. The experiment fills Loew's Theater with laughter.

In the end, of course, millionaire does marry stenographer and as far as the fortune is concerned, Young strikes a compromise between philanthropy and the inevitable. He gives part of his six million away and takes the family in to live with him.

—o-o—

Keep Smiling.

JANE WITHERS steals the show at the Ambassador. Although her "Keep Smiling" is billed beneath Hollywood's epic of Ellis Island, no patron, being honest with himself, will say he gets more pleasure out of "Gateway" than out of the antics of little Miss Withers, who can play Shakespeare, imitate Bobby Breen, make a screen test, climb to a second-story window and start a riot all in one hour. And does.

The plot places her on her own territory—a studio lot. As niece of a drunken director, she has to rehabilitate him, support herself and break into the movies, if possible. Indulging in heavy dramatics only where necessary, she devotes most of her time to caricature, even taking a few shots at members of the cast of "Keep Smiling." Great little comedienne, no doubt of it.

Still attempting to sell Arleen Whelan to the United States, Producer Darryl F. Zanuck uses a familiar publicity stunt in "Gateway." He brings her in on a luxury liner, as a well-dressed immigrant from Dublin. Don Ameche, a war correspondent, is on the same boat and although he doesn't look upon her as news after what he's seen, he thinks she's interesting.

Since Arleen is engaged to Lyle Talbot of New York, and has offers, of a kind, from both Gilbert Roland and Raymond Walburn on the boat, Ameche does not convince her that he is her type until the last reel. By that time, the audience has been treated to a riot or two, a Fourth of July celebration and a conducted tour of Ellis Island. The best features of "Gateway" are two bit performances by Maurice Moscovich and Fritz Leiber, as immigrants.

—o-o—

Prison Farm.

THE horrors of penal oppression, this time on a "Prison Farm," are shown to us at the St. Louis. Shirley Ross, just another foolish young woman, is arrested with Lloyd Nolan, a hold-up man, and they are sent to the same institution. She has to work in a laundry while he is sent to a rock-breaking gang and I tell you it's awful. The only fun the girls get at all is in wrecking the laundry. May Boley, as a habitual offender, is amusing.

In "When Were You Born?", Anna May Wong takes astrology more seriously than it ever should be taken. Just hand her the vital statistics and she can tell who's guilty of anything. If one has anything on his conscience, he should not even think of his birthday at the St. Louis this week.

The week's merriments are rounded out with "Little Miss Broadway," a Shirley Temple musical, and "Professor Beware," a Harold Lloyd comedy of the old type, at the Missouri. Both may be enjoyed by all types of pleasure-seekers.

Cycle of Irish Drama Looms On the New York Horizon

"The White Steed" by Paul Vincent Carroll and "Luck of the Irish" by Harry Maddern Expected for Fall—Abbey Group to Return.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.

By the Associated Press.

PERHAPS in tune with the Corrigan motif, the forthcoming season on Broadway looms as a lusty Irish one, the sort that suddenly appears from nowhere about every seven years.

Of most importance is Paul Vincent Carroll's new drama, "The White Steed," which will follow his current hit, "Shadow and Substance," winner of the Critics' Circle prize for the best foreign play of last season.

Much as "Shadow and Substance" is a picture of the operations of the Catholic religion in an Irish village, so "The White Steed" is reported to be a drama of modern Ireland set against a parochial background. The pertinent difference is that the love story is the major facet in "The White Steed," instead of the religious phase as in "Shadow and Substance." Carroll is a lowly paid instructor in a school in Scotland who is earning a young fortune from his "Shadow and Substance" royalties.

Eddie Dowling, the Irish song and dance man, who suddenly became one of Broadway's most successful producers last season when he staged "Shadow and Substance," also has another Irish drama which he may bring in this fall. This is "The Luck of the Irish," by Harry Maddern, and is the story of an Irish rooming house in New York in the 1850s and the inter-racial matchmaking there which gives it a suggestion of "Abie's Irish Rose."

Also, there is expected a new play which Sean O'Casey has been writing in Dublin between spells of writing his autobiography. If he gets it finished in time this well be O'Casey's first play on Broadway since his "Within the Gates" of four seasons ago. Before that his "The Plough and the Stars" and "The Shadow of a Gunman" were seen on Broadway.

Along with these new Irish drama productions, it is planned to bring the Abbey Players over again from Dublin to tour in their repertory of well-known Celtic plays.

THAT Hardy drama of the sandy cracker country, "Tobacco Road," has passed its 2000th performance and ambles on in pursuit of the Broadway longest run record held by "Abie's Irish Rose," which went 2532 performances before its final curtain.

These two plays are the only ones in the 206 years of Broadway history that have passed the 2000 mark.

Two of the original members of the "Tobacco Road" cast, Ruth Hunter and Edwin Walter, are still playing the parts they created without having missed a single performance since the opening in 1933.

Erskine Caldwell, from whose novel this play was dramatized, was reassured to learn of the play's 2000th performance. When the play first opened he decided to keep track of how many performances the show achieved by tossing a penny in a bureau drawer each time there was a performance.

When he pulled them out to count them recently he found that the drawer was practically empty. A pair of visiting friends had stumbled onto the hoard and immediately became embroiled in a penny pitching contest which ended when they suddenly adjourned to a penny chewing gum slot machine.

ALONG with the array of new plays that will come trooping onto Broadway when the season opens next month, there will arrive an ambitious array of revivals of both the classics and the early modern hits of this generation.

There was a time when stars and managers would revive the old plays simply for the sake of prestige, but since John Gielgud struck such profitable favor with his revivals of "Hamlet" and Maurice Evans with "King Richard II" there has come about a change of opinion as to the box office worth of these old ones.

Cornelia Otis Skinner, who has abandoned her solo performances to revive that sentimental and tender drama of Edward Sheldon's "Romance," in summer stock at Ogunquit, Me., is proceeding on to other roles in the old plays. Her part in "Romance" is the one which Doris Keane played for so many seasons after she created it in 1913.

Miss Skinner rehearses this week in "Much Ado About Nothing" for a Locust Valley (N. Y.) appearance and in the fall she is going to revive "The Beaux Strategem," with Brian Aherne in the cast on Broadway. Too, she has hopes of playing Lady Macbeth and Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew."

After that, she feels, will be an appropriate moment for her to do the role that Mrs. Leslie Carter delightfully created for David Belasco in 1899, that being "Zaza."

John Barrymore, too, is deserting the movies where he has been so long recently and will appear on the Broadway stage again in the fall, although he hasn't decided yet what play he will do. Many of his old stage acquaintances have been urging him to revive, at least for special matinees, his memorable performance of "Hamlet," which he did to resounding cheers in 1922 and which is still so fresh and vivid in the minds of theatergoers that his performance received 43 votes in a poll of the best performances of all time which the New York Sun has just completed taking among a long list of celebrated theatergoers.

The poll, incidentally, was won by Helen Hayes, whose performance in "Victoria Regina" received 81 votes.

Recent revivals of old plays have been more successful than revivals of plays that were first produced in the last 15 or 20 years. Ruth Gordon's appearance again in Ibsen's moody and tempestuous "A Doll's House" last season was eminently successful.

'Private Lives' To End Season Of Civic Theater

NOEL COWARD'S "Private Lives," selected by the Civic Theater as a gayer closing piece than its originally intended "To Quito and Back," will open Wednesday night at the outdoor amphitheater on Warson road, St. Louis County. Four consecutive performances, ending next Saturday night, will conclude the first season for the Civic Theater group.

For its leading feminine actress, the play will have a young Broadway performer, Mary Chamberlin, who has been spending the summer with her father at Lebanon, Ill. Miss Chamberlin is a graduate of Ward Belmont College at Nashville, Tenn., the American Academy of Dramatic Art in New York and has appeared in "Three Men On a Horse" and "Room Service" in the East.

Others in the small cast are Lomax Study, former master of ceremonies with the Junior League Follies, in the leading masculine role; Frances Buss and Gene Krell of previous Civic Theater plays, and Lucy Lockett, in the role of a French maid.

The play centers around the four main characters — Elyot (Study), Amanda (Miss Chamberlin), Sybil (Miss Buss), and Victor (Krell). Elyot and Amanda have been married but divorced and have married other partners—Sybil and Victor. The two new couples arrive at the same hotel in France. Elyot and Amanda meet on the terrace, realize they still love each other and run away together.

They find, however, that their life will run no more smoothly than before and they are soon embroiled in physical combat, smashing the furniture and pummeling each other. Their abandoned bride and groom follow them but Elyot and Amanda discover they love each other in spite of their battles—in fact, actually enjoy the encounters—and remain together.

One of Coward's most successful works, "Private Lives" was introduced in London in 1930, in New York a year later and became a successful motion picture. The author himself and his frequent leading lady, Gertrude Lawrence, created the roles of Elyot and Amanda.

"Private Lives" at the Civic Theater is being directed by Gordon Carter, who also has charge of the scenic designs. The downtown ticket office of the Civic Theater is at 310 North Eighth street. The theater itself is on the Sebago Club grounds, about three-quarters of a mile northwest of the intersection of Manchester and Rock Hill roads.

TOO ILL TO SING

DOROTHY LAMOUR, WHO IS STILL UNABLE TO SING IN THE CHARLIE McCARTHY HOUR ON KSD AFTER HAVING BEEN ILL FOR TWO WEEKS.

Philharmonic's Stadium Season To End Tonight

THIS morning's Radio City concert, at 10:30 on KWK, will bring performances of the first movement of Ernest Bloch's Piano Quintet, with Henrietta Schumann as the pianist, three movements of Borodin's String Quintet No. 2 and two movements of Dvorak's Piano Quartet, Op. 28, and the singing by Jan Peerce of Leoncavallo's "Mattinata" and a song by Handel.

Georges Barrere, the flutist, will be the soloist in the Chautauqua Symphony's concert at 1 p. m. today on KSD, playing in Telemann's Suite for Flute and Orchestra. The program also will include the overture to Mozart's "Magic Flute" and Brahms' Third Symphony.

Quincy Porter's "Two Dances for Radio" will be the CBS commissioned work in Everybody's Music at 1 p. m. today on KMOX, concluding a program for which Howard Barlow also has selected the "Magic Flute" overture and Mendelssohn's "Italian Symphony." Porter has used the technique of jazz orchestration to some extent in his dance music, even to having a steel fly swatter brushed across a snare drum.

For the final New York Philharmonic Orchestra's broadcast from the Lewissohn Stadium, in New York, set for 6:30 this evening on KMOX, Massimo Freccia has programmed Weber's "Euryanthe" overture, Strauss' "Death and Transfiguration" and Beethoven's Seventh Symphony. Next Sunday, the orchestra and a 750-voice chorus will perform Beethoven's Ninth Symphony at the Music Festival at Silvermine, Conn., for a broadcast on the CBS net and KMOX from 6:45 to 8.30 p. m., with Eugene Ormandy conducting. The orchestra's fall-winter broadcasts will begin Sunday afternoon, Oct. 23, with John Barbirolli again the regular conductor and Deems Taylor as commentator. George Enesco is among the guest conductors engaged for the season.

Marion Talley's concert with Josef Koestner's orchestra is scheduled as usual at 8:30 tonight on KSD.

TOMORROW there will be a concert from Cleveland at 3:00 on the Mutual. Margaret Speaks' songs at 6:30 on KSD will include an aria from "Tosca" and "Summertime" from "Porgy and Bess," and Alfred Wallenstein's orchestra will play the overture to Thomas' "Raymond," a dance by Grieg and the "Vaquero's Song" and "Habanera" from Herbert's "Natoma." At 7 p. m., on the WEAF net, there will be an hour-long concert by the NBC Symphony Orchestra, Hans Willem Steinberg conducting, and Marcel Moyse, flute soloist of the Paris Conservatorium. A Robin Hood Dell concert is scheduled at 7:30 on the Mutual net, and at 8 p. m. on WGN. Marek Weber's concert at 8 p. m. on KSD will be devoted to French music. Opal Craven will sing the "Berceuse" from "Jocelyn" and Weber will play the great contralto aria in "Samson and Delilah" as a violin solo.

Tuesday, there will be a Grant Park concert on WGN at 7:15 p. m., and the Wisconsin symphony at 8:30 on the CBS net.

Wednesday, at 12:30 noon on the CBS net, Gluck's "Der Betrogene Kadi" will be briefed as the first of four chamber operas to be presented in concert form. A National Music Camp concert is set for 7:30 on the WJZ net. The Symphonic Strings concert is scheduled at 8:00 on KWK.

Thursday, at 6 p. m., WGN will carry the Sinfonietta concert. At 6:30 the CBS net will pick up a Goldman Band concert. From 7 to 8 p. m., KSD will broadcast the Toronto symphony concert. Mischa Mischakoff, the violinist, will be the soloist in Mozart's Third Concerto; Jeanne Duseau, a Canadian soprano, will sing an aria from "La Froza del Destino," and the orchestral pieces will be the overture to "The Bartered Bride" and Bach's Suite in D-major, No. 3. At 8 p. m., Victor Bay's concert will come over the CBS net and KMOX.

Friday, at 6 p. m., Lucille Manners, Ross Graham, the Revelers Quartet and Frank Black's orchestra will be heard on KSD. Part of a Robin Hood Dell concert will be carried by KWK at 8 p. m., and KMOX will broadcast part of a Goldman Band concert at the same time. At 9:30, KSD will broadcast a pop concert by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Saturday, KSD will broadcast the Chautauqua young people's concert at 8:30 a. m., a Music Guild concert at 10 a. m., and Along Gypsy Trails at 10:30 a. m. At 5:30, Exploring Music will replace the Workshop drama on KMOX and the CBS net. At 6:30 p. m. on the WEAF net a National Music Camp concert will include the premiere of a "Southland" symphony by Allen Grant, the NBC Chicago studio pianist. This symphony, based on Stephen Foster themes, was scored for Grant by Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, president of the National Music Camp, who will conduct the orchestra. At 7 p. m., KWK will broadcast part of a Robin Hood Dell concert. At 7:30, WGN and the Mutual net will broadcast from the Chicagoland Music Festival.

A Wisconsin Symphony Orchestra concert, with Jessica Dragonette as soloist, will be broadcast on KSD at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Aug. 23, and one by the same orchestra with Lotte Lehmann of the Metropolitan Opera as soloist, at the same time Aug. 30.

Next Sunday's Everybody's Music concert will feature Wendell Diebel, a 24-year-old composer of Des Moines, Ia., in the first public performance of his Piano Concerto in C Minor.

Here and There on the Air

Saturday Metropolitan Opera Performances, Damrosch Music Hour, Town Meeting of the Air and 28-Week Series of Great Plays for Schools Promised for Fall and Winter by NBC.

IN addition to the Toscanini concerts, which will begin Saturday night, Oct. 15, the NBC promises another Saturday afternoon Metropolitan Opera season starting Dec. 3; another America's Town Meeting of the Air series at 7:30 Thursday nights on the WJZ network, beginning Nov. 3; a full season of Walter Damrosch's Music Appreciation Hour at 12 noon Friday's beginning Oct. 7, and a Great Plays series scheduled to start early in October and run for 28 weeks. George V. Denny again will act as moderator of the Town Meeting of the Air broadcasts. Dr. Damrosch's first concert will be scheduled on both the WEAF and WJZ nets, and, as in past years, instruction books and teachers' manuals containing the music to be played will be distributed. The Great Plays performances will trace the development of drama from the early Greek era to the present day, and will be broadcast at a time best suited to school hours.

PEG LA CENTRA, SINGER ON KSD'S FOR MEN ONLY PROGRAM AT 7:30 WEDNESDAY NIGHTS.

Paavo Nurmi, the great Finnish runner and onetime Olympic champion, will speak in a broadcast from Finland at 4:45 p. m. Thursday on the CBS net.

A program by Larry Clinton and his orchestra will be shortwaved for reception in Italy and will be carried by the WJZ net and WLW at 12:30 noon Saturday.

THE National Farm and Home Hour, which has been broadcast according to a standard pattern for 10 years, will be changed in form Sept. 26. For the first 45 minutes from 10:30 to 11:15 a. m. it will continue on a national basis as in the past. But the final 15 minutes of the hour each day will be on a regional basis to provide sectional appeal. Offices will be set up in the South and Far West, two in the Middle West and one in the East with a director in charge of each who will see that the weekly 15 minutes from his zone are keyed to local interests. The hour will remain on the WJZ network. For the first time, part of the Farm and Home Hour will be sponsored—the regional program on three of the five days.

A broadcast from the Lucerne Music Festival Monday afternoon, Aug. 29, will include performances of the Bacchanale from "Tannhauser" and the Prelude and Liebested from "Tristan and Isolde" conducted by Bruno Walter.

A recorded program on WEW at 1 p. m. today will consist of music from "The Barber of Seville" performed by the Berlin State Opera chorus and orchestra with Norbert Feld as narrator.

Three Roosevelt Talks Scheduled For This Week

TOMORROW, President Roosevelt, Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York and Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security Board, are to speak in a broadcast at 8:30 p. m. marking the third anniversary of the signing of the Social Security Act. President Roosevelt will speak in his home at Hyde Park, N. Y. The other addresses will come from a dinner in Washington. The broadcast will be carried by KMOX, WGN and the WJZ and CBS nets. Orson Welles plans to devote the First Person Singular hour at 7 p. m. on the CBS net, KMOX and WBBM to a version of Shakespeare's "Hamlet."

Tuesday, at 1 p. m., the WJZ net will carry a program sponsored by Hungarians in this country which will be short-waved for reception in Hungary. The Four Corners Theater period, at 6 p. m. on the CBS net and KMOX, will present "Spring Waters," a comedy concerning a group of actors stranded in a deserted Colorado mining town and a rich young man from the East.

Wednesday, the story of agricultural research at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station will be told in the Farm and Home Hour. Phillips H. Lord's Gang Busters program will be resumed at 6 p. m. on the CBS net and KMOX with Col. Norman Schwarzkopf again acting as commentator. Effects of pollen from goldenrod and other flowers and weeds on hay fever sufferers will be discussed in the Science on the March period at 5:45 p. m. on the WJZ net. The Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers fight broadcast is scheduled at 8 p. m. Wednesday on the WJZ net and KWK.

ANOTHER Wednesday program, set for 2 p. m. on the WJZ net, will come from a rural and industrial conference at Antigonish, on the coast of Nova Scotia. The conference will be attended by delegates from Nova Scotia, New Foundland, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and this country. It will be sponsored by St. Francis Xavier University, which has played a leading part in establishing a marketing and co-operative system which is restoring prosperity to the fishing district based on Antigonish, where the fishermen now have their own fish plants and lobster canneries and sell direct to Boston and other cities. In addition, they have 48 stores in five centers and their system is spreading throughout Nova Scotia.

Thursday, President Roosevelt's voice will be heard on the networks, WBBM and other stations twice, at 9 a. m. and at 12:45 noon. The first broadcast will come from Kingston, Ontario, where he will receive an honorary degree from Queens University, and will be on the networks. The second broadcast, in which Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General, and Prime Minister McKenzie King of Canada, also are to take part, will cover the formal opening of a $2,000,000 bridge from Collins Landing, near Brockville, N. Y., to Ivy Lea, Canada. The bridge, which is composed of five separate spans and eight and one-half miles of approaches, causeways and connecting roadways, was so constructed as to utilize as many of the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence River as possible so as to reduce expense. The first part of a production of Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" is scheduled for the Pulitzer Prize Play hour, at 7 p. m. on the WJZ net.

Noted Singer Billed on KSD Tomorrow Night

Jessica Dragonette Listed for Ripley's Period—Sir Hubert Wilkins, the Explorer, on Program With Her.

JESSICA DRAGONETTE, who has been out of radio since she began a concert tour last winter, is billed for Robert L. Ripley's program tomorrow night on KSD. She is to introduce Shirley Swinn, a young nurse, whose life she is said to have saved by singing "Ave Maria" for her in a broadcast. Also on this program will be Sir Hubert Wilkins, the explorer, who is to tell how he faced a firing squad three times in as many days, and Roy W. Post, an amateur detective.

In Tuesday night's Attorney-at-Law broadcast, Henry Hunter will play the lawyer whose theory of how a theft might be committed at a wedding lands him in trouble.

KSD will carry resumes of the play in the Newport Casino tennis tournament at 4 p. m. Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday and at 4:45 p. m. Tuesday and Thursday.

Beginning Monday, Aug. 22, KSD will broadcast the Words and Music concerts at 11:15 a. m., Monday through Friday.

THE Highway Patrol dramatization at 9:30 Tuesday night will deal with a man who grew up in an outlaw-infested region in Texas and Oklahoma and never had a chance to develop normally. It will cover his wild ride with another outlaw, a gun fight with members of the Missouri Highway patrol, the kidnaping of a rural mail carrier, his capture by Texas Rangers and his return to Missouri to be convicted and sentenced to 40 years in prison.

The kidnaping of Anita Dix in 1852 by Joaquin Murietta, most dreaded of California bandits, will be recalled in Death Valley Days Friday night on KSD. Anita was taken from her crib on her father's sailing ship following a fierce fight.

Bob Burns' guests Thursday night will be James Stewart and Marie Wilson of the movies, and Nina Gastoni, a young San Francisco soprano, who has sung in Italy and with the San Carlo Opera Company.

The smashing by Oklahoma peace officers and National Guardsmen of a gang which killed four policemen, wounded two others, and killed a man in a holdup, and the final gun fight in which all of its members died except one, will be dramatized in KSD's Public Hero No. 1 broadcast tomorrow evening.

A Cleveland man who rounded up a gang of motor car thieves single-handed, living with the robbers for two weeks, is billed for the Johnny Presents program Tuesday night.

Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing; Jan Peerce, the tenor, and Mrs. Dorothy Hall, an amateur radio operator, will take part in Wednesday night's For Men Only program.

"INTERLUDE in the Big Adventure" is the title of the One Man's Family serial episode scheduled for Wednesday evening on KSD. With Paul idle for the time being so far as his mysterious undertaking is concerned, the Barbour Family will be at home, worried over the climax they sense is coming.

Walter Hampden is to play Svengali in a scene from "Trilby" on Rudy Vallee's program Thursday night. Zasu Pitts is billed in a one-act play, "Miss Pringle Gets a Ticket," and John Sebastian will play unusual arrangements of "St. James Infirmary Blues" and "Dark Eyes" on the harmonica.

Songs and other music featured at the Texas Centennial and Fort Worth Frontier Centennial two year ago and at the Pan-American Exposition and Fort Worth Fiesta a year ago will be recalled on the program at 7:30 tomorrow night on KSD by Jimmie Jefferies, Ruth Bickford, Gloria Faye, the quartet and Karl Lambertz's orchestra.

When the champion cornhuskers of 11 states compete for the national husking title on a South Dakota farm Nov. 3, the NBC will cover the contest in a broadcast in the Farm and Home Hour.

NEGRO SCOUT TROOPS GOING TO CAMP TODAY

11 Troops to Take Over Lion's Den for a Two-Week Period.

A group of 94 Boy Scouts and leaders from Negro troops will go today to Lion's Den, near Seckman, Mo., to attend the first summer camp for Negro scouts in the history of the St. Louis Boy Scout Council. The regular summer season at both Lion's Den and Irondale came to a close last night with council fire ceremonies and a barbecue.

The present session at Lion's Den will continue for two weeks under the direction of W. E. Rand, field executive of the inter-racial division of the local Council. He will be assisted by specialists in scouting and campcraft.

Nine troops will remain in camp for two weeks and three additional units will encamp for a week next Sunday. Enrolled for both sections are Troops 96, 124, 140, 145, 218, 241, 252, 253 and 316.

Troops 201 and 203 will be in camp for only one week, and will be replaced next Sunday by Troops 142 and 179. Members of Troop 101 of Cape Girardeau will encamp at the reservation during the closing week as guests of the St. Louis Council.

DANCE RECITALS THIS WEEK

500 Girls in Board of Education Classes to Take Part.

Five hundred girls who have been pupils in dancing classes sponsored by the Board of Education this summer will give two recitals this week, the first at Beaumont High School Tuesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock and the second at the same time Thursday at Roosevelt High School.

The recitals will consist of 18 numbers divided into four episodes. Small children will feature folk rhythms, while the older girls will give acrobatic, ballet and tap dancing.

Registration at Barat Center.

Registration for courses offered by the Religious of the Sacred Heart at Barat Catholic Action Center, 4222 Minnesota avenue, will begin Tuesday, Aug. 30. Religious, home economics, commercial subjects and cultural studies are offered for women and girls of high school age. Classes will be conducted on Mondays and Wednesdays on afternoons and evenings.

PORT ORFORD METEOR HUNT TO BE RESUMED

Specimen Sent From Oregon to Smithsonian Institution After 1859 Discovery.

By the Associated Press.

PORT ORFORD, Ore., Aug. 13. —Rediscovery of the famous Port Orford meteor depended largely today on how soon a miner's injured back would permit him to search the Southwestern Oregon wilderness.

The treasure, neither gold nor silver, thundered and flashed as it dropped ages ago onto an Oregon unknown to white men. It became a legend in Indian lore.

A Government geologist, Dr. John Evans, who traced the story to its surce in 1859, stumbled across what became known to scientists the world around as the Port Orford meteor.

No one knows when this ball of flame, spewing green and yellow gas lights and jarring the earth with its mighty vibrations, made primitive inhabitants seek cover from the anger of a mysterious god. But there it was, 22,000 pounds of it cooled by the years, when Dr. Evans explored the country nearly 80 years ago.

Specimens in Museum.

He sent specimens to eastern scientists but died before accurately mapping the location. A four-gram bit in the Imperial Mineral Cabinet at Vienna and a 25-gram piece at the Smithsonian Institution have excited futile scientific searches for decades.

Dr. J. Hugh Pruett, University of Oregon astronomer, described the giant mass as a palasite type, the rarest known. Its network of metal traces, about nine per cent nickel in the specimens, is like no other terrestial rock. Scietists and museums have paid from $5 to $100 a pound for true meteors and the lost Port Orford rock was immediately classified in the upper range.

Robert Harrison, a miner, disclosed recently he had been aware of the meteor's location since 1882 when, as a boy of 14, he accompanied his father into the mountains to locate a nickel claim.

He found the claim again in 1900 chiefly because he recalled the presence of a hard, heavy stone, rich in nickel, protruding out of the earth three feet. A Federal geologist identified fragments as meteoric and urged Harrison to send the entire mass to the Smithsonian Institution.

To Assist New Expeditions.

There was no offer of financial assistance, Harrison said, so he promptly forgot the proposal. His interest in the meteor, now probably more difficult to find than ever before because of the dense growth in the moist coastal forest, was revived last winter by an article Dr. Pruett wrote.

As soon as he has recovered from a fractured vertebra, Harrison will assist new expeditions. The rock is about 30 or 40 miles southeast of Port Orford.

Scientists in America and Europe have speculated voluminously on the Port Orford meteor as a major record in the studies of other bodies. Dr. Pruett calculated it might be greater than the 16-ton Willamette meteor, the largest found in the United States, which crashed near Oregon City in 1902.

Dies of Heat at Jefferson City.

LINER BREAKS ANOTHER RECORD

Queen Mary Sails 737 Miles at Average of 32.04 Knots.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. — The Queen Mary broke another record on its eastward run from noon Friday to noon today, the Cunard-White Star Line announced.

The liner, which made a record Atlantic westbound crossing last week, sailed 737 nautical miles at an average of 32.04 knots. From noon Thursday to noon Friday the ship made 730 miles at an average of 31.74 knots. The previous record, made by the French liner Normandie, was 728 miles and 31.65 knots.

Pointe Aux Barques, Mich., Aug. 13.

CAUTIONED to "Come as you were when the ship sank," summer residents at Pointe Aux Barques donned an amusing variety of attire ranging from wet flannel suits to nightshirts and attended a shipwreck party given last Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Boyer Candler at their cottage.

The invitation, written on a charred bit of paper inclosed in a bottle and found floating on a tub of water instead of drifting into shore, read, "S. O. S. All shipwreck victims will find refuge on Candler's Island, Saturday night, Aug. 6, at 2 bells (9 o'clock to landlubbers)."

The "victims" arrived on schedule, not only in wet flannel, such as worn by Frederick Johnson of Bay City, but pajamas, underwear and bath towel creations. One guest, wrapped in an India print tablecloth, represented a welcoming delegation from the Samoan Islands. Another, in long brown "waders" was equipped with an outboard motor, strapped firmly to his body "for rescuing purposes." An orchestra from Saginaw provided music for the castaways, who later were "revived" with a midnight supper.

St. Louis guests were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Platt Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lannan Benoist, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gillette Hotchkiss, Mrs. Robert Whittemore Knapp, Mrs. John Brodhead and her daughter, Miss Barbara; Mrs. David Randolph Calhoun, Mrs. John Rutledge Shepley and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oliver Toberman and their guest, Walker Langan.

Other festivities of the week began Friday, Aug. 5, with a dinner for the older group given by Mr. and Mrs. Murray W. Sales of Grosse Point. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton Farish, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Todd Terry, Mrs. Cornelius Tompkins, Mrs. J. D. Perry Francis, Mrs. Julia Smith Crosby, Dr. and Mrs. Elsworth S. Hyannisport Club Setting for Parties For Summer Guests

Hyannisport, Mass., Aug. 13.

THE Hyannisport Club is the center of social activities during August, when many visitors come to Hyannisport for the late summer. It is here that buffet suppers, duplicate bridge tournaments, parties for the young people, weekly dances and cocktail hours, from 5 to 7 o'clock each day, are held. At some of the parties special entertainers appear.

Last Sunday evening Miss Katherine Sipple, Boston, shared honors with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gorman Lambert, Chevy Chase, Md., at a cocktail party given by Miss Sipple's and Mrs. Lambert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Sipple, formerly of St. Louis, at their summer home here. After the cocktail party the guests went to the Hyannisport Club for a Dutch treat buffet supper. Among those present at the parties were: Mrs. George Stewart Sanders and Miss Mary J. Johnson, Boston, Miss Cynthia Wyres, Wellesley, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Kaltenbach Jr., St. Louis.

Mrs. Dudley French and her daughter, Miss Louise, were guests for a short time at the Sipple home. They were on their way from Pentwater, Mich., where they visited Mrs. Allan Preston Gamble, to their summer home at Annisquam, Mass. Miss French, who will be a debutante in the autumn, will visit friends at Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard, before returning to St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Rundlett, Bronxville, N. Y., have been entertaining house guests at their summer cottage. Mrs. Rundlett is the former Miss Eunice Hodgman, St. Louis. Among their guests have been Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Davis and Mr. and Mrs. James R. Owens, Scarsdale, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Sterling, the latter the former Miss Marion Bridge, St. Louis, are expected this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hudson Barstow and Mrs. Barstow's brother, Dunham Dodge gave a dinner party Friday night in honor of Mrs. Harry Hayward, Boston, and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Samson, Brookline, Mass. Mrs. Wallace D. Simmons will visit Mr. and Mrs. Barstow at the time of the Love-Hitchcock wedding, at Cotuit, Mass., Aug. 23. Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Langenberg will be guests at the Barstow cottage later in the month. They will come here from their summer home at Kennebunkport, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colt Day will give a party Thursday in honor of Mrs. Sheppard Dillingham, New York, and her house guests.

St. Louis visitors were entertained at dinner Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Stephen B. Sheldon at their summer home here.

Mrs. Mary Wright Day is visiting her sister, Mrs. George D. Cutler, Boston, at her summer residence here. She accompanied her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs.

Club at Spring Lake Gathering Place for Summer Colonists

Grand Haven, Mich., Aug. 13.

THE Spring Lake Country Club, of Spanish architecture with red roof and blue trimmings, has always been a favorite gathering place for summer visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Kuhn II, often play tennis together there, while on the golf links may be seen Mr. and Mrs. A. E. White and their daughter, Miss Elise, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Tobin, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pangman, Dr. J. E. Stewart and James Willison, all of St. Louis.

Mrs. Richard S. Hawes entertained at a cocktail party last Saturday for Mrs. D. A. McGilvray of Pasadena, Cal., who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Samuel A. Mitchell at her summer home here. Mrs. William B. Jones of St. Louis, a sister of Mrs. McGilvray and Mrs. Mitchell, shared honors with the visitor. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Preston B. Postlethwaite, Mr. and Mrs. Pangman, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Dr. and Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. W. G. Hight. Mrs. McGilvray departed Tuesday for the East to tour down the coast to Virginia before returning to California. Mrs. Hawes has as her guests her daughter, Mrs. Harold Wilsoon of Phoenix, Ariz., and her two young daughters, Susan and Cary, and Miss Mary B. Lammert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lammert III of St. Louis.

Mrs. Milton Strauss is occupying the Virginia cottage again. Her niece, Miss Valle Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Weber of St. Louis, is visiting her there.

Mr. and Mrs. Postlethwaite have as their guests Mrs. Postlethwaite's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Noel Lash of Little Rock, Ark., and their daughter, Sybil. Mrs. Postlethwaite was hostess at a small party for her sister at the Cottage Tea Room Tuesday. Among the guests were Mrs. Pangman, Mrs. Hawes, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. White, Mrs. Hight and Mrs. Strauss.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes E. Cave were guests for a short time this week of Mr. and Mrs. White. Mr. and Mrs. Cave were on their way home from Mullet Lake, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell Cave.

Charles L. Thompson II arrived Friday to be with Mrs. Thompson and their son, William, who have been here all season with Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guilford Duncan, at their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Marius Darrow and their son, Marius Jr., arrived last week to spend the rest of the summer. Mrs. Darrow's sister, Mrs. Richard J. Collins and her son, Richard Jr., arrived Monday to join them.

Maurice A. Payne arrived Thursday to spend two weeks with his family, who has a cottage here for the summer. Miss Mildred Hammond of Chicago, formerly of St. Louis, is spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Payne.

Mrs. Webster Tilton, who is visiting Mrs. Mitchell, will give a beach party tonight. Her guests will be Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Kuhn, Miss Elise White, James Willison, Henry Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. White, Mrs. Pangman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Douglass Campbell, Sewell Pangman, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and their daughter, Miss Nancy, and Mrs. Hawes.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Cost stopped here for a short visit this week with Mrs. Vincent Carroll, on their way home from a cruise on the Great Lakes. Mrs. Carroll gave a dinner party for them. Among the guests were Mrs. Thomas W. Parry Jr., and Mrs. and Mrs. John C. Tobin, St. Louis.

Mrs. William Steinhoff has as her guests Mrs. Helen McDonald of St. Louis and her son, Dr. George H. McDonald. They will remain for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stangler and their children, Mary and Bob, and Mrs. A. R. McGinnis and their daughters, Mary Louise and Marjorie Ann, have taken a cottage on St. Louis ridge.

Additional St. Louis guests have arrived at the Highland Park Hotel. Mrs. Edward T. Nolan and her daughters and son, Miss Betty Ann and Miss Florence and Edward, arrived Monday for a visit of 10 days. Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Hawley and their daughter, Marie Duchesne, motored up the first of the week for a short visit. Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Whiteaker and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Heman also arrived recently to stay two weeks at the hotel. Mrs. F. H. Benson and her daughter, Fern, and Mrs. Nellie Finck and her daughter, Martha, are also at the hotel. Mrs. Finck will be here two weeks.

Miss Mary Louise Tobin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Tobin, has as her guest Miss Mary Nixon Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sidney Johnston, at her parents' cottage. Mr. and Mrs. Tobin had as guests last weekend their son, John C. Tobin Jr., Peter Gummersbach, Leto Hill and James O'Neal of St. Louis.

William F. Quinn and August C. Erker Jr. motored to Grand Haven Monday to be with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Alvin Quinn, at the Highland Park Hotel.

Mrs. John Weber Jr., and her father, Paul Dillon, arrived Wednesday to be with Mrs. John Weber. Mr. Dillon will remain here for a few days, and then, with Mrs. Dillon, who has been here for several weeks, will go East to visit their son, Philip. Mrs. John Weber Jr. will remain the rest of the summer.

Walter H. Ware joined his family here Friday and will be with them for the rest of the summer at their cottage on St. Louis ridge.

Hyannisport Club Setting for Parties For Summer Guests

James L. Ford, East. Mr. and Mrs. Ford have gone to Lake Sunapee, N. H., to visit Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark Street at their summer home.

The Hyannis Garden Club will hold its seventh annual exhibition Aug. 18. Mrs. Edward F. Smith is opening her home on Main street, for the occasion. Mrs. Charles E. Harris is general chairman of the exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar R. Ewing, Concord, Mass., former St. Louisans, were guests recently at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Percival Wilds of Riverdale-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.

Edward Flad of St. Louis, who spent a week at Stoneleigh Gables Inn, recently departed for two weeks at Yarmouthport, where his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. Towner Deane, Winnetka, Ill., have taken a summer cottage. With Mr. and Mrs. Deane are their daughters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Virginia Deane.

Osterville, Mass.

THE summer residence of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar L. Biebinger has been the scene of much entertaining in the past week. Mrs. E. E. Morris, Rochester, and Mrs. Clyde Eustick are assisting their mother in entertaining summer guests. Mrs. Biebinger gave a luncheon at the Beach Club in Craigville Friday for Mrs. Eugene F. Williams and her house guests, Mrs. Thomas Armstrong and Mrs. Kenneth M. Davis, St. Louis. Mrs. Williams arrived at Oyster Harbor two weeks ago to spend the rest of the summer with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Gates Williams, who with their young daughter, Miss Ann Cary Williams, have been on Cape Cod for several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Biebinger will also have as their guests later in the month, Bishop and Mrs. Ivan Lee Holt of St. Louis. Bishop and Mrs. Holt will also visit other St. Louis friends on Cape Cod.

Wianno, Mass.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID B. WHITE and their daughters, Miss Grace and Miss Suzanne, will give a dinner next Saturday night before the presentation of 'Naughty Naught" by the Jitney Players at the Wianno Club. Mr. and Mrs. White and their family have been at Wianno since the middle of July.

Mrs. Channing McGregory Wells Jr., with her young sons, Peter and Dana Wells left Monday for Southbridge, Mass., after spending a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dana of St. Louis, at their summer home. Another daughter, Mrs. Ward Thorne, Chicago, and her children will arrive today to visit Mr. and Mrs. Dana until after Labor day. Mr. and Mrs. Dana have as their guest, Miss Sally Mott, New York.

Mrs. Marion Clifford Blossom and her son, Bradford Blossom, arrived recently from St. Louis to occupy her summer home here. Another son, Howard C. Blossom, has been here since late in May. Mrs. Blossom, who arrived later than usual this year, will probably remain until the end of September.

Woods Hole, Mass.

MR. AND MRS. GILSON GRAY of New York, formerly of St. Louis, gave a cocktail party Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Gray's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Buffum Jr., Louisiana, Mo., to which all the St. Louisans at Woods Hole were invited. After spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Gray the visitors left Thursday for New York to spend a few days before returning home. Mrs. Charles G. Buffum of Louisiana, arrived today to spend the rest of the summer with her daughter and Mr. Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Plant spent the week at Newport, R. I., aboard their yacht Lili Ana. They entertained Mr. and Mrs. Howard Benoist of St. Louis, on the boat and visited them at their summer home at Jamestown, R. I.

Mrs. Thomas G. Ratcliffe served at the tea table when Mrs. Alfred Meyer, senior trustee of Barnard College, Columbia University, entertained 15 graduates of the college and two members of the faculty at her summer home at Woods Hole Friday. The classes represented ranged from 1901 to 1938. Mrs. Meyer's guests were invited to meet a newcomer to Woods Hole, Mrs. C. Luther Fry, the widow of the late Professor Fry of the University of Rochester. Mrs. Fry was Miss Marion Warren of the class of 1919 at Barnard.

Thomas G. Ratcliffe Jr. arrived yesterday from New York to spend the rest of the month with his mother, Mrs. Thomas G. Ratcliffe, and his sister, Mrs. N. Baxter Jackson of New York. He will speak Sunday night, Aug. 21, at the Methodist Church of Woods Hole on "The Drama from the Church to Hollywood."

Nantucket, Mass.

EARLY AMERICAN houses and furnishings have a fascination judging from the crowds that come to New England to view the striking and unusual examples of such houses every year. Seven interesting old houses were opened Friday for the benefit of the hospital fund.

Mrs. Gwynne Evans gave a cocktail party for more than 50 guests last Saturday night. She was assisted by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. O. Theodore Hess of New York, and her younger daughter, Miss Eugenia Evans. Among the guests present from St. Louis were Miss Grace White, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Desloge, Edward L. Bakewell Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Upthegrove, Mrs. George R. Dobler, Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson L. Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. John Felix Valle and Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Barstow. Mrs. T. L. Wetherill of Washington, D. C., will arrive today to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hess at the Evans cottage.

Mrs. John Felix Valle of St. Louis, who is at the Gordon Folger, gave a dinner for Mrs. Evans last week at which Mrs. Dobler of St. Louis was also a guest. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Desloge were also entertained by Mrs. Valle. Mr. and Mrs. Desloge spent a short time in Edgartown on Martha's Vineyard before coming to Nantucket, where they will remain for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Upthegrove have as their guest their daughter, Mrs. W. W. Kirkbride of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Upthegrove's son, William, also has joined his family. While Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Messick were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Upthegrove in Nantucket recently, Mr. Messick's sister, Mrs. E. M. Senseney and her daughter, Mrs. M. A. Wood, Greenwich, Conn., came to the island for a visit.

Lake George Colony At Tennis Matches

Bolton Landing, N. Y., Aug. 13.

INTEREST of the Sagamore Cottage colony on Lake George centers this week around the tennis courts where the eighth annual Sagamore Invitation Tennis tournament is being held. Play began Wednesday, and finals will be concluded tomorrow afternoon. Robert Weinstock of St. Louis is defending his title in the men's singles, and Miss Martha Bixby is entered in the women's singles and mixed doubles. Miss Bixby and her cousin, Miss Nancy Stevens, are members of a committee for the tennis dance tonight in the French Village Grill of the Sagamore Hotel. A tea dance was given late this afternoon at the Sagamore Golf Club.

Mrs. Charles Pope O'Fallon, accompanied by her grandsons, L. David Dozier III, and John Overton Dozier, are at the Sagamore Hotel for the erst of the month. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Geisinger have arrived for their annual visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Church Bixby. Mrs. Ira Stevens of St. Louis is on the committee for the annual Lake George Flower Show, Aug. 23.

St. Louis children in the cottage colony have become horseshow devotees. Among the prize winners last week was Jimmy Niedringhaus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warne Niedringhaus, who was fifth in the Lake George horsemanship class for children. He also participated in the American Horse Show Association medal class for juniors. Patricia Bixby and her sister, Gloria Mae, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bixby, participated in the Bradley Riding Stables children's class.

ST. CHARLES ITEMS

THE American Legion Auxiliary held its annual election of officers at Memorial Hall, Blanchette Park, Monday night, with Mrs. Perry Compton, of Montgomery City, Mo., outgoing president, in charge.

The following were elected to office: President, Mrs. Fred Borgmeyer; vice-president, Mrs. Erwin Heye; second vice-president, Mrs. Harry Osiek; secretary, Mrs. Wayne O'Neal; treasurer, Mrs. Francis Miller; historian, Mrs. Harry Miller; chaplain, Mrs. Ed Holt; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Leo Algermissen and Mrs. Fred Feilner.

Delegates were selected for the State convention of the Legion Auxiliary at Cape Girardeau, Mo., over the Labor day holidays. Mrs. Walter Horst, Mrs. Edward Hunter and Mrs. Fred Borgmeyer will represent this group.

Plans were laid for the annual picnic of the auxiliary and legion at Blanchette Park, Aug. 21.

A three-day gathering of 150 members of the St. Charles County 4-H clubs was held at Blanchette Park Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Tuesday was spent in a sightseeing trip through St. Louis, ending with attendance of the Municipal Opera. A candlelight service was held Wednesday evening with contests, demonstrations and lectures during the day.

The St. Charles Garden Club held its August meeting Thursday night. A watermelon party on the lawn of Mrs. G. E. Hestwood's country home, south of the city, took the place of a formal program.

Miss Celsa Garza, who has been spending the summer here, will leave in a few days for El Paso, Tex. She is to teach in the Texas school system this winter. Recently, a surprise farewell party was given for her by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Broeker of Overland, Mo.

Mrs. Wayne O'Neal, 703 Adams street, entertained her card club Thursday afternoon.

Miss Alice Belding, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Belding, 1711 Elm street, is vacationing at Colorado Springs and other places of interest in Colorado. She plans to return early in September.

Gregory Palmer returned to Bonne Terre, Mo., early this week after having spent a fortnight with his aunt, Mrs. James E. Wall, 1041 Kingshighway.

The Rainbow Girls are planning a picnic at Blanchette Park, Aug. 16, at which time visitors will be entertained. Mrs. A. H. Schroer, mother adviser, will be in charge.

The All Saints' Parish at O'Fallon, Mo., is planning "Catholic day," which was established as an annual event last year. A program will be followed by luncheon and dinner served by women of the parish. All St. Charles parishes are planning to take part. Ben Kuhlmann is in charge of the committee.

Mrs. Julia Fish of Phoenix, Ariz., is visiting her son, Allen Fish, and Mrs. Fish at Overland, Mo., and with Mr. and Mrs. Alex B. Boulware, 1024 Madison street. Mrs. Fish, a graduate of Lindenwood College, class of '76, was formerly Miss Julia Adams of Danville, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. David Fielding and daughters, Sally and Nancy of Fort Worth, Tex., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Knobel, 1048 Jefferson street, on their return trip from a stay in Chicago.

Mrs. Sigvald Udstad and daughter, Mary Lee, and son Sigvald Jr., who have been here for a month visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Redden, 1025 Clay street, returned to their home in Berwick, Pa., accompanied by Miss Elvera and Miss Liv Udstad, 710 Clark street. The Misses Udstad will also visit their sister, Mrs. Fielding McDearmon of Baltimore, while they are East.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, 312 North Fifth street, are vacationing in Colorado Springs, Colo., this month. Part of their time will be spent in visiting relatives in Colorado. They will return the middle of September in time for Mr. Thomas to take up his work as dean of music at Lindenwood College.

The Rev. and Mrs. Andrew McGaffin and their son, James Farr, of Bristol, Colo., are visiting Mrs. McGaffin's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson, 401 North Kingshighway.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Schroer, 1049 Clay street, and daughter, Miss Betty Jean, returned late this week from an automobile trip through the Virginia mountains, along the coast and to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Gray, 1516 Bennett avenue, and daughter, Melba Lee, are spending a fortnight with relatives in Denver.

Rev. Wilfred Schnedler, formerly of St. Charles, and Mrs. Schnedler have been transferred from his pastorate in Tacoma, Wash, to Huntington, O., where they will make their home.

Robert Main, 410 Monroe street, has returned to St. Charles after a two-month vacation tour of Yellowstone Park and the State of Washington.

John Bohrer, son of V. I. Bohrer, 1101 North Third street, has left for San Diego, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. Moehlenkamp and two children, Virginia and Marjorie, will return to their home at 801 Washington street, tomorrow after a visit with relatives in Memphis, Tenn., and De Witt, Ark.

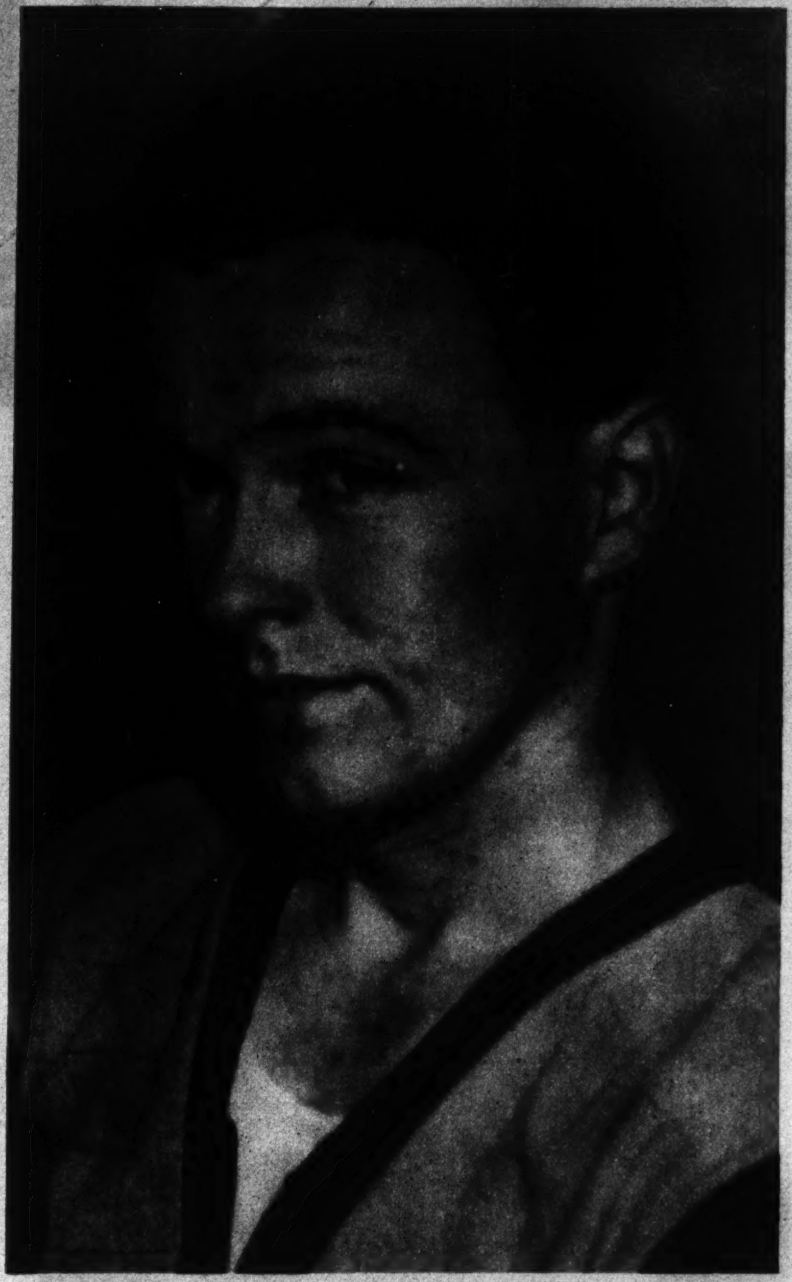
ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

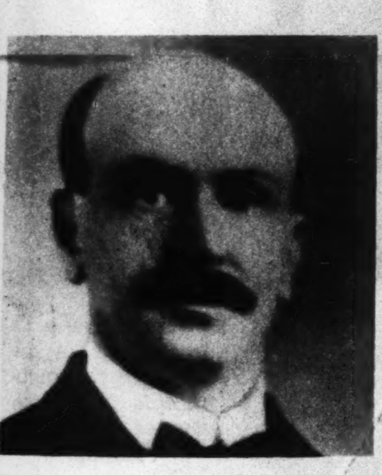
August 14, 1938

The defendant, Francis M. Carroll. The State charges he murdered Dr. James G. Littlefield when the physician accused him of misconduct with his own daughter, Barbara.

Barbara Carroll. The defendant's 18-year-old daughter has attended court sessions daily, listened soberly to testimony against her father given by Paul Dwyer and others.



Paul Dwyer, State's chief witness, serving a life term for the murders he accuses Carroll of carrying out. He asserted he withheld information at the time of his arrest to protect Barbara.



The late Dr. James G. Littlefield of South Paris, Maine.

Strange Maine Murder Case

A FLAT-CHESTED, pale, pimply-faced youth took the witness stand last week in one of the most bizarre murder trials in the history of Maine. The witness, Paul Dwyer, 18, repudiated his confession that he beat and strangled Dr. and Mrs. James G. Littlefield, and accused former Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll, father of Dwyer's sweetheart, Barbara. Bodies of the Littlefields were found in an automobile at North Arlington, New Jersey, last October. Dwyer was asleep in the front seat. He pleaded guilty and received life sentence after giving a rambling account of an unfortunate love affair with Barbara, which had come to the attention of Dr. Littlefield. At that time he said he beat and strangled the physician because he feared exposure of his relations with Barbara, then returned and lured Mrs. Littlefield to a similar death. In the penitentiary he changed his story and supplied details which led, first to the arrest of Francis Carroll on a morals charge involving his daughter, then to indictment of the former deputy for murder. The Sheriff testified that Carroll, at the time of his arrest, said: "My God, Sheriff! You don't think I had anything to do with the Littlefield murder!"

Police found Dr. Littlefield's body in the trunk of the car. Mrs. Littlefield was dead in the back seat. Dwyer was asleep at the wheel.

Why the State Elected to Try the Deputy Sheriff for Maine Murders

In the crowded courtroom, seated directly behind Dwyer's mother (in white hat) is Barbara Carroll (smiling) flanked by her cousin, Lenore, and mother (wearing glasses). (International News Photo)

The jury visiting Dwyer's home to inspect the spot where, he testified, Carroll killed Dr. Littlefield.

ON Wednesday, the tenth day of the trial, Carroll rose nervously from the defendant's chair and took his place on the witness stand. His witnesses, 36 in all, had been barred from the courtroom but they did not include his daughter, Barbara, who throughout the tense proceedings sat between her mother and cousin. Carroll in long testimony presented an alibi, denied he had been suspended by the Sheriff for drunkenness after investigating the Littlefield murder, implied that Dwyer's accusation was cooked up for revenge.

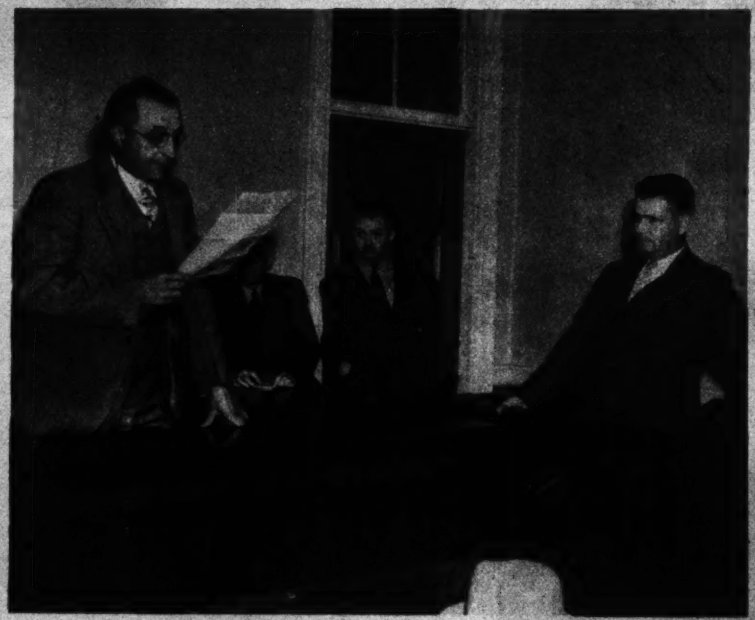
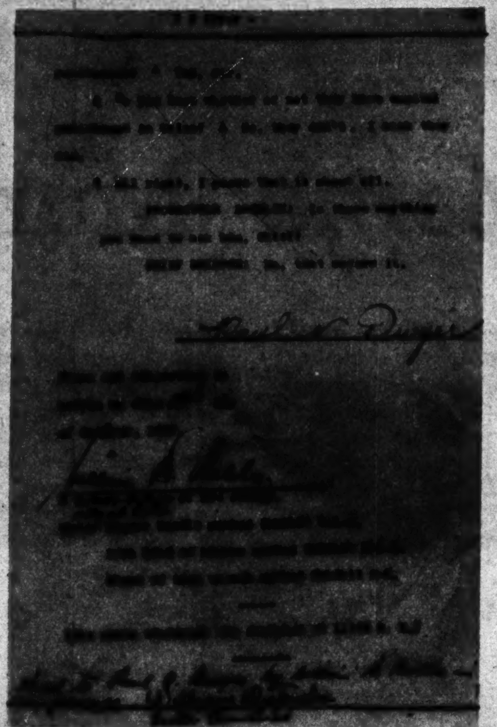
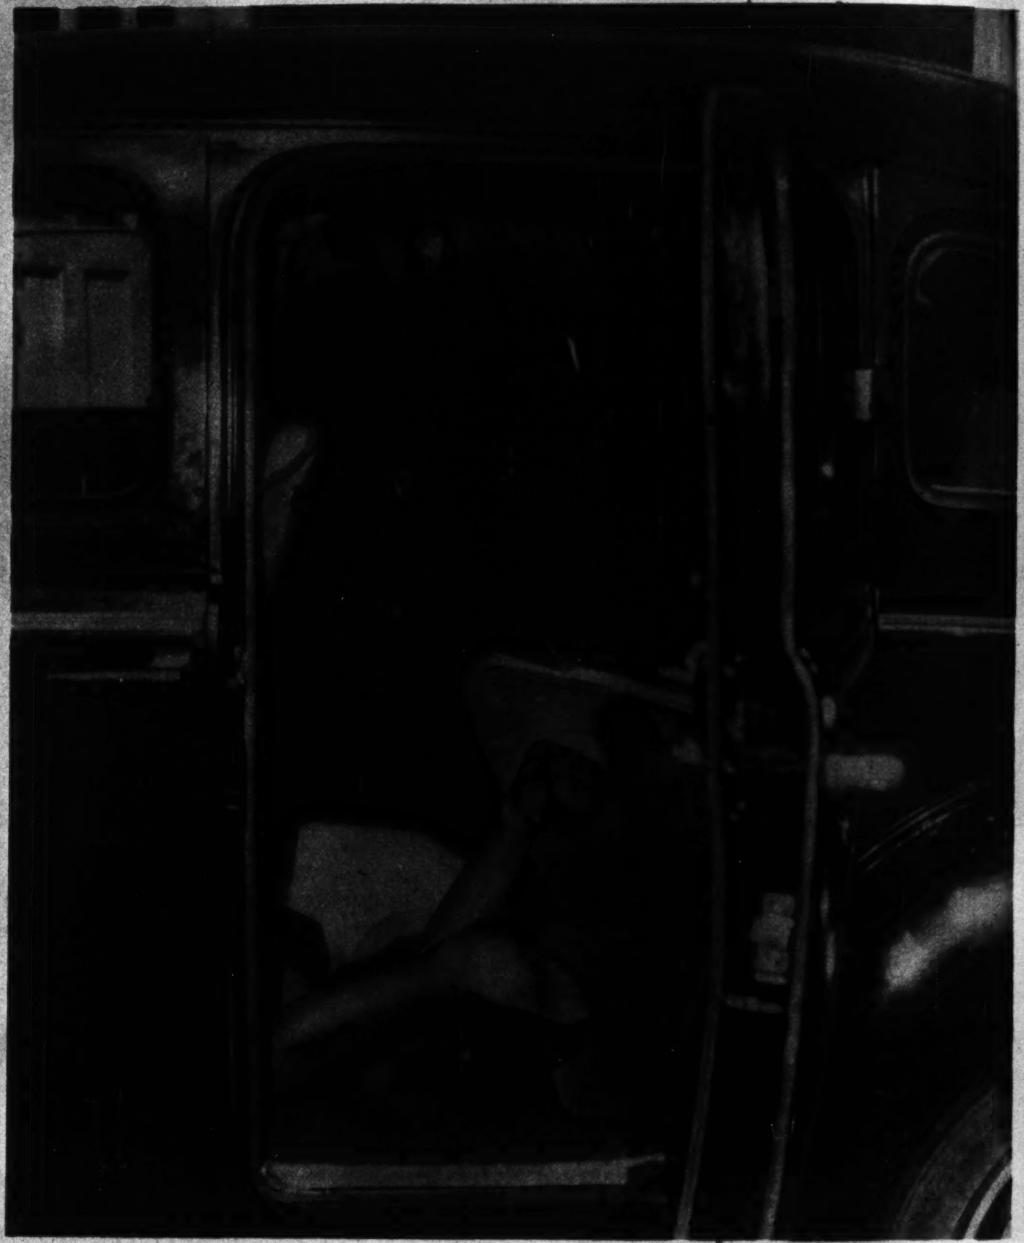
In a prison cell, Dwyer repudiated his confession and produced five letters said to substantiate his explanation that he was afraid of Barbara's father. (International News Photo)



Francis Carroll, 43 years old, a former church deacon, was arraigned May 31 at Norway, Maine, to plead not guilty to a morals charge involving his daughter.



Last page of Dwyer's confession, which he testified he made to protect his sweetheart, Barbara, and because he was afraid her father would kill him if he told the truth.



Mrs. Littlefield's body was in the back of the automobile in which Dwyer was found asleep.

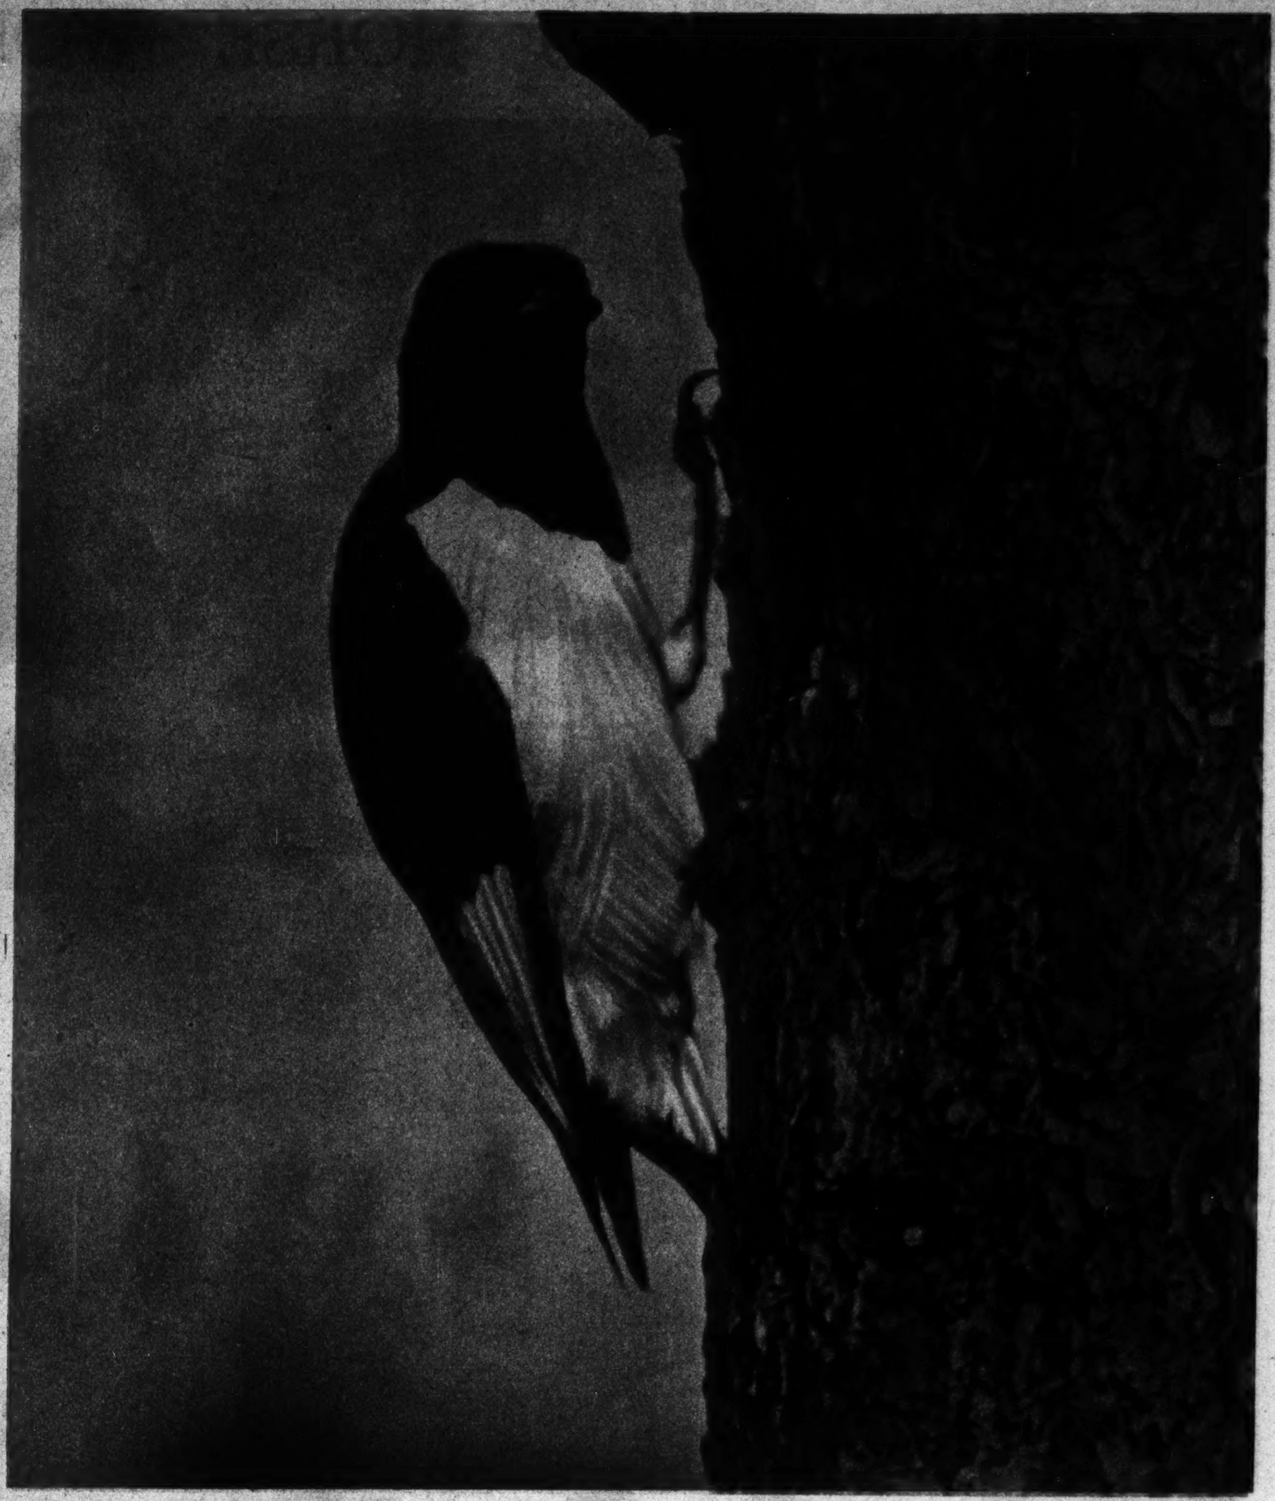
With azure coat and red vest, the bluebird is quite common in the outskirts of St. Louis. Sometimes referred to as April's minstrel, he has a sweet, rather sad warble, that is a little suggestive of complaint.



Clad in flashing red, white and black, the red-headed woodpecker is recognizable to all. The rat-tat of his bill and the guttural rattle of his voice can be heard for long distances.

NATIVE BIRDS OF MISSOURI

Color Photographs, Taken Expressly for PICTURES, of Birds Which Can Be Found in or Near St. Louis

Protected by law now, this small white member of the heron family is still comparatively rare as a result of years of slaughter by commercial hunters.

Although Audubon gave the yellow-billed cuckoo a bad reputation as a robber of nest eggs, this powerfully beaked bird wages relentless war against the tent caterpillar, always destroying many more than it can eat.

With his plaintive little ditty, the wood pewee trusts his moss and lichen nest to some woodland limb. He is one of the best architects of the bird world, his nest generally being so saddled to a bough that it seems a part of the tree.

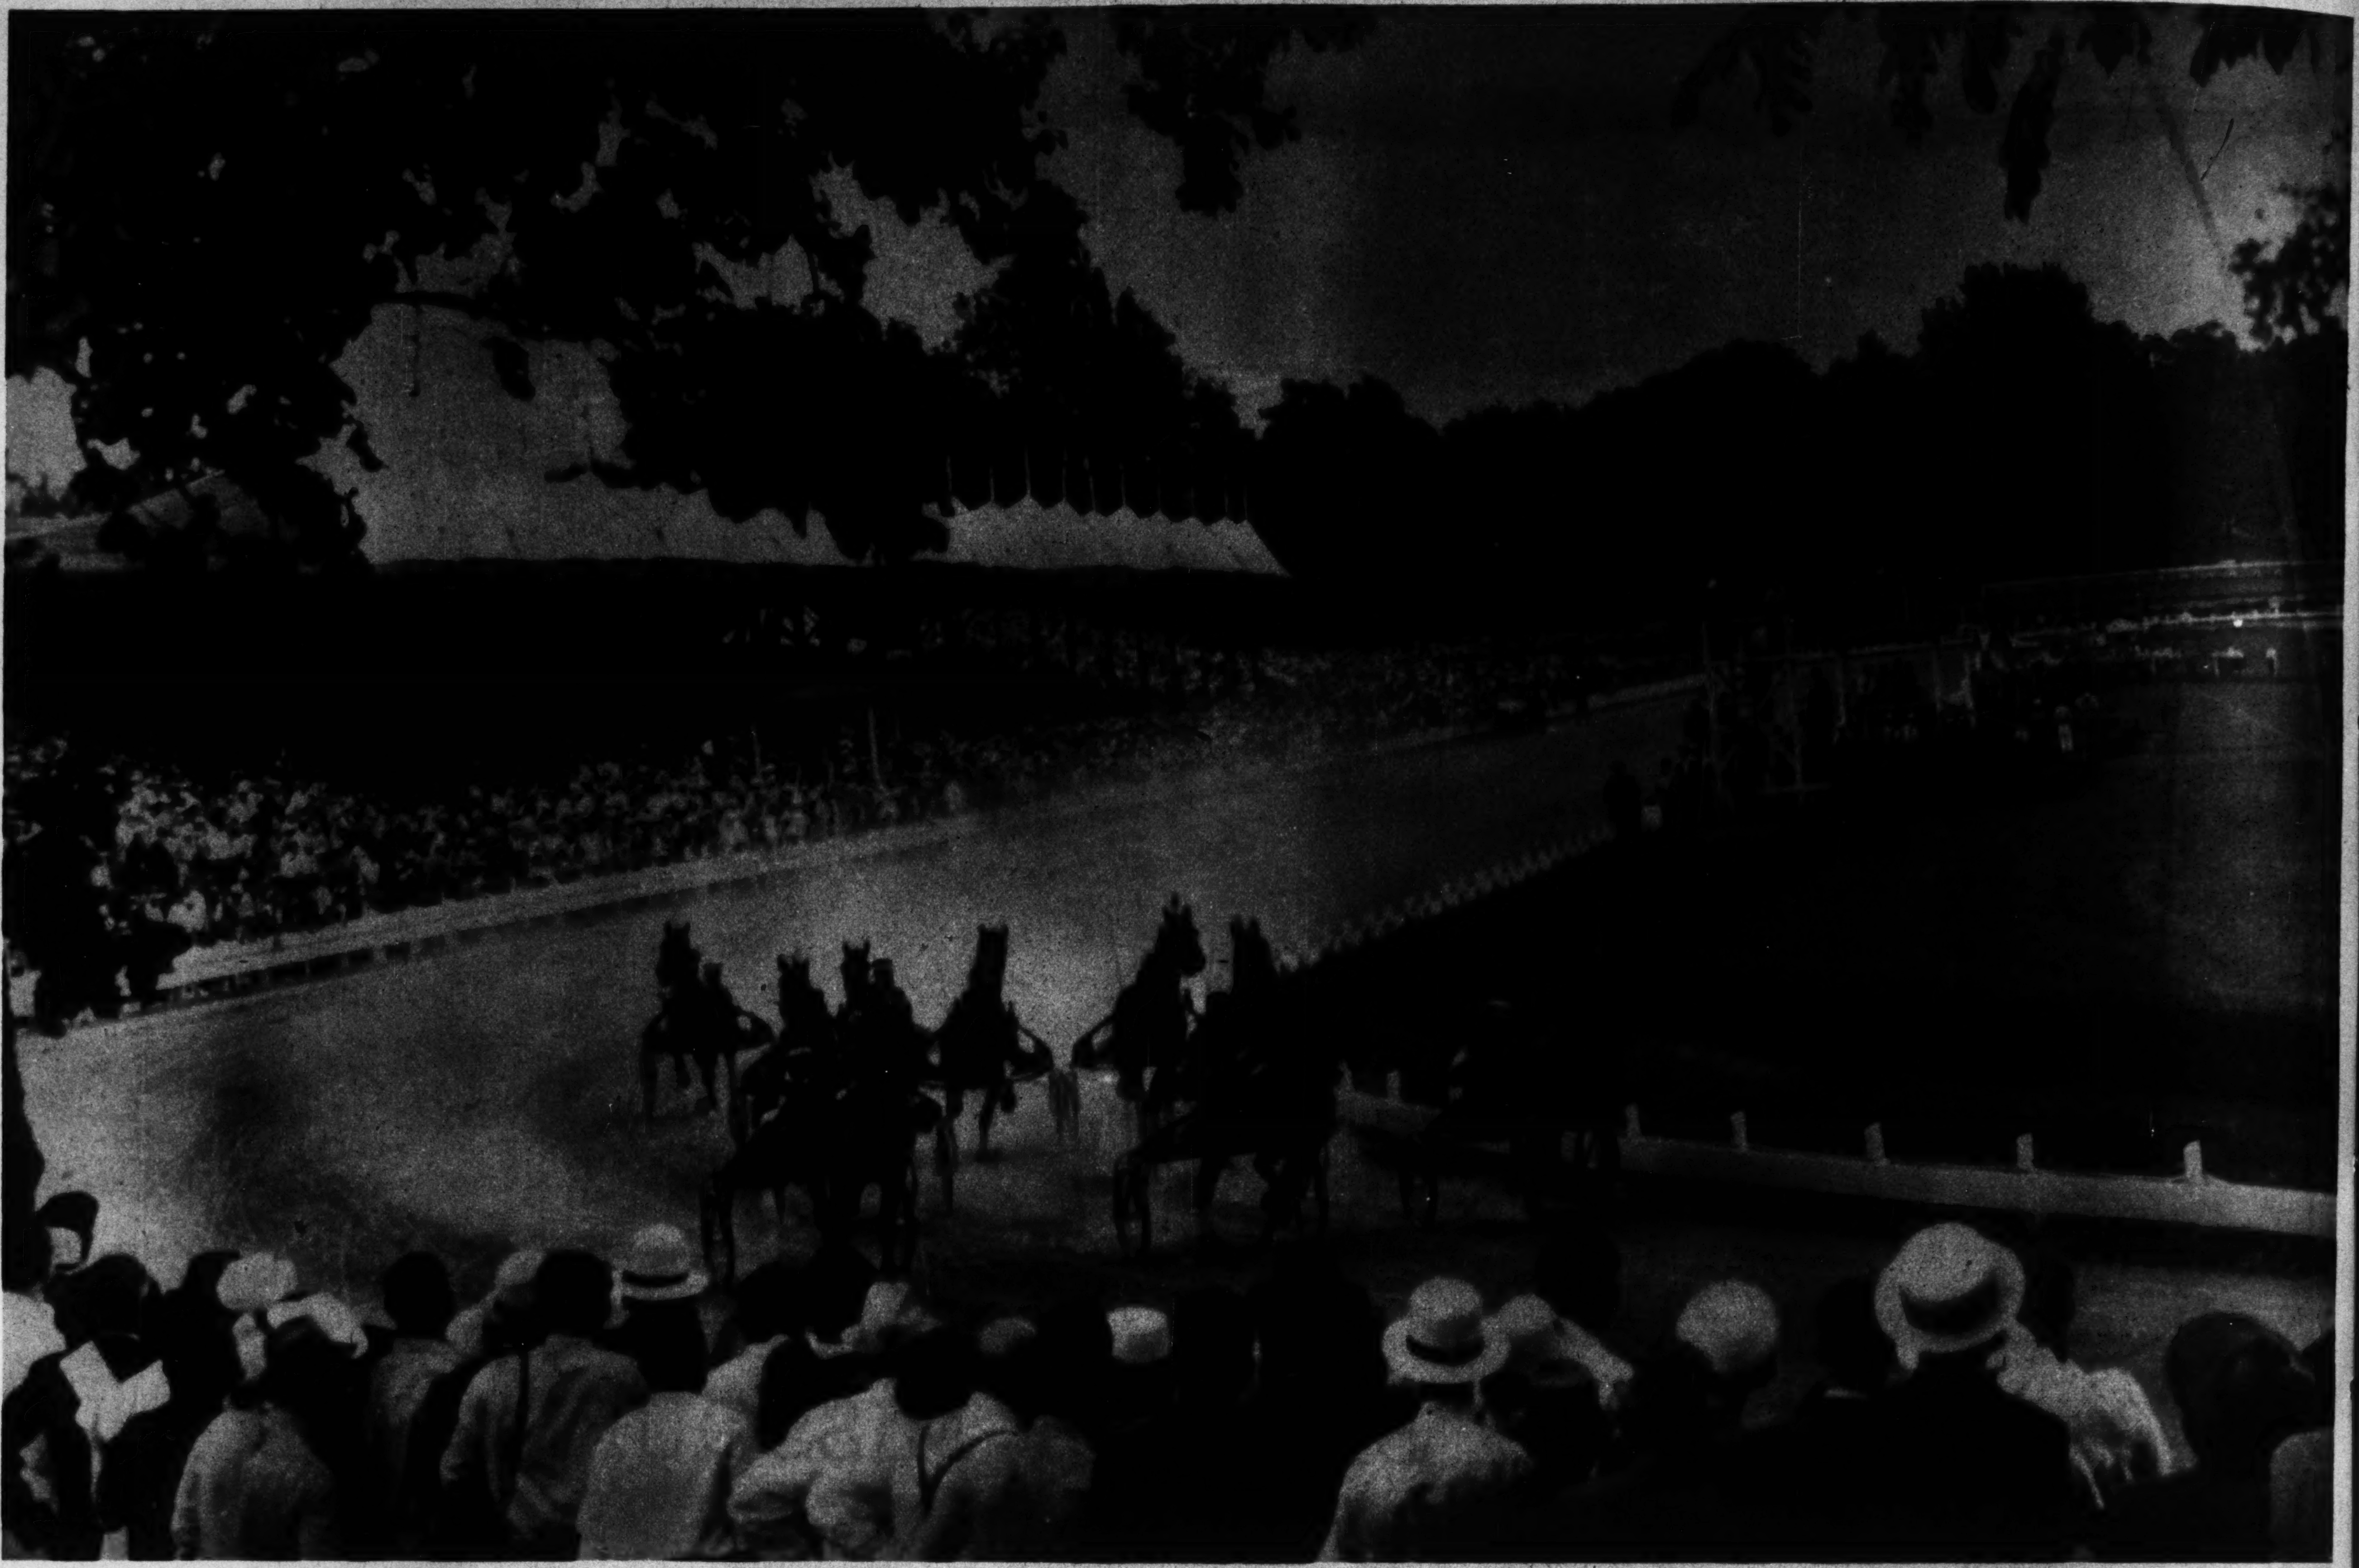
Described by Burroughs as "the wild Irishman of them all," the great-crested flycatcher lines his nest with castoff snake skins. Always ready for a fight, he prowls the woods uttering his harsh war cry and, not only that, he means it.

WHEN $20,000 HORSE WON RICHEST HARNESS STAKE



McLin, a trotter, was sold for $20,000 just two weeks ago. Last Wednesday the horse earned $19,944, by winning the rich Hambletonian. Only $56 more in winnings and Owner Lawrence B. Sheppard of Hanover, Pennsylvania, will have his money back. McLin won in straight heats before a crowd of more than 40,000 persons at Good Time Park, Goshen, New York. The town's normal population is 2900. Above is a general view in the first heat with McLin leading on the rail.

Inventions, 1938: The New 'Zipper' Hot Dog

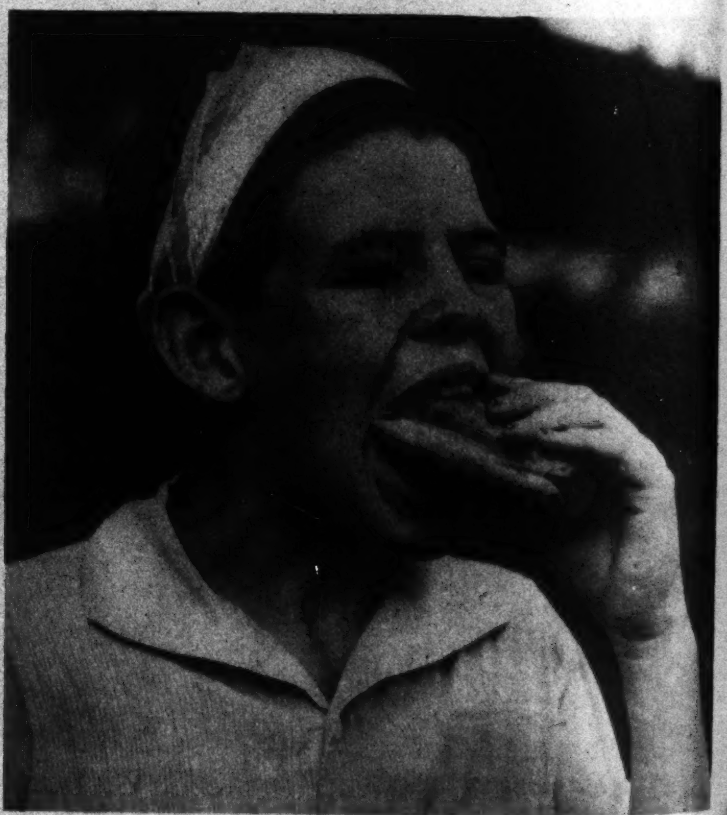
FOR a long time, Alpheus J. Freeman, Chicago inventor, worried about the tough skins on hot dogs. Last week, at the convention of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers at Milwaukee, he introduced his new streamlined "zipper" hot-dog with a casing of vegetable parchment which could be ripped off. He invented a machine which folds and sews 50 feet of parchment casings a minute. He said he was offered $100,000 for the idea.

So that the vegetable parchment skin may be discarded.



No more tough skins.

Miss Oberon wearing a necklace which she is said to have purchased in Paris from a collection of the Emperor Napoleon III.

FROM far-away Tasmania, small island just below Australia, came sloe-eyed Merle Oberon. She is best known to movie fans for her work in "Beloved Enemy," "These Three," "The Private Life of Henry VIII," and "Dark Angel." One film directory gives her real name as Queenie Thompson, another as Estelle Merle O'Brien-Thompson. The Oberon is Hollywood's version of O'Brien. She is 27 years old, five feet two inches tall. She spent her childhood in Bombay and Calcutta. Her father, an English army officer, died before her birth. At 16 she danced and sang with the "Cats," Calcutta Amateur Theatrical Society. The next year she went to England, worked as a hostess and finally obtained a screen role from Alexander Korda of London films. In 1933 she went to Hollywood.

She relaxes on the terrace of her Santa Monica beach home on a day off from the studio. She keeps in trim by a brisk run on the beach in the morning before she reports for work.

Flying High —St. Louis Kite Contest

MORE than 200 boys and girls from 54 school playgrounds competed for honors last Wednesday in the first annual playground kite contest. Finals were held on the Mallinckrodt School playground on Hampton avenue between Chippewa and Pernod streets. The competition included high flying, kite construction, most beautiful kite, kite with hardest pull, and a kite fight.

Walwin Bosche made this kite and got it into the air in two minutes and 25 seconds, taking first place in the construction contest.

END of BIRD GANG

Pallid Charles Bird, Who Chose Crime for His Career, Captured in Baltimore

A FRECKLE-FACED, barefoot boy of 15 boasted to St. Louis police of a series of 200 burglaries back in June, 1926. He was Charles Bird, younger brother of Frank, who was serving a life sentence in the Missouri State Penitentiary at the time for complicity in the murder of a St. Louis policeman and a bystander. Frank later escaped.

The same barefoot boy, now grown to manhood in crime, was taken without a struggle the other day in Baltimore. Again he boasted of his prowess as an enemy of society. His career, he announced, had netted him about $100,000. He seemed proud that the FBI once ranked him "Public Enemy No. 2."

More significant than the details of the many crimes of the Bird gang was Charles' narrative to St. Louis police 12 years ago. Telling of his start in crime, he said, "My father caught me 'crooking' stuff when I was 13 and I ran away from home. Later, when I went to St. Bridget's School I hooked a ride on a bike stolen by another boy and the police got me. I was sent to Bellefontaine Farms. Up there I learned how easy it was to steal stuff and sell it. I ran away 10 times. I was green at first and only took money, but older fellows told me how clothes and jewelry could be sold for cash."

Charles Bird, last of the gang to be captured. His criminal career began 15 years ago in St. Louis. From 1923 to 1932 he was arrested 25 times by police here.

BIGGEST SPENDER

He Made a Piker Out of Brewster and His Millions

Hopkins usually gets started on his day's spending by 10 a. m. He works in his shirt sleeves when the weather is warm. Highly colored suspenders contribute a gala note.

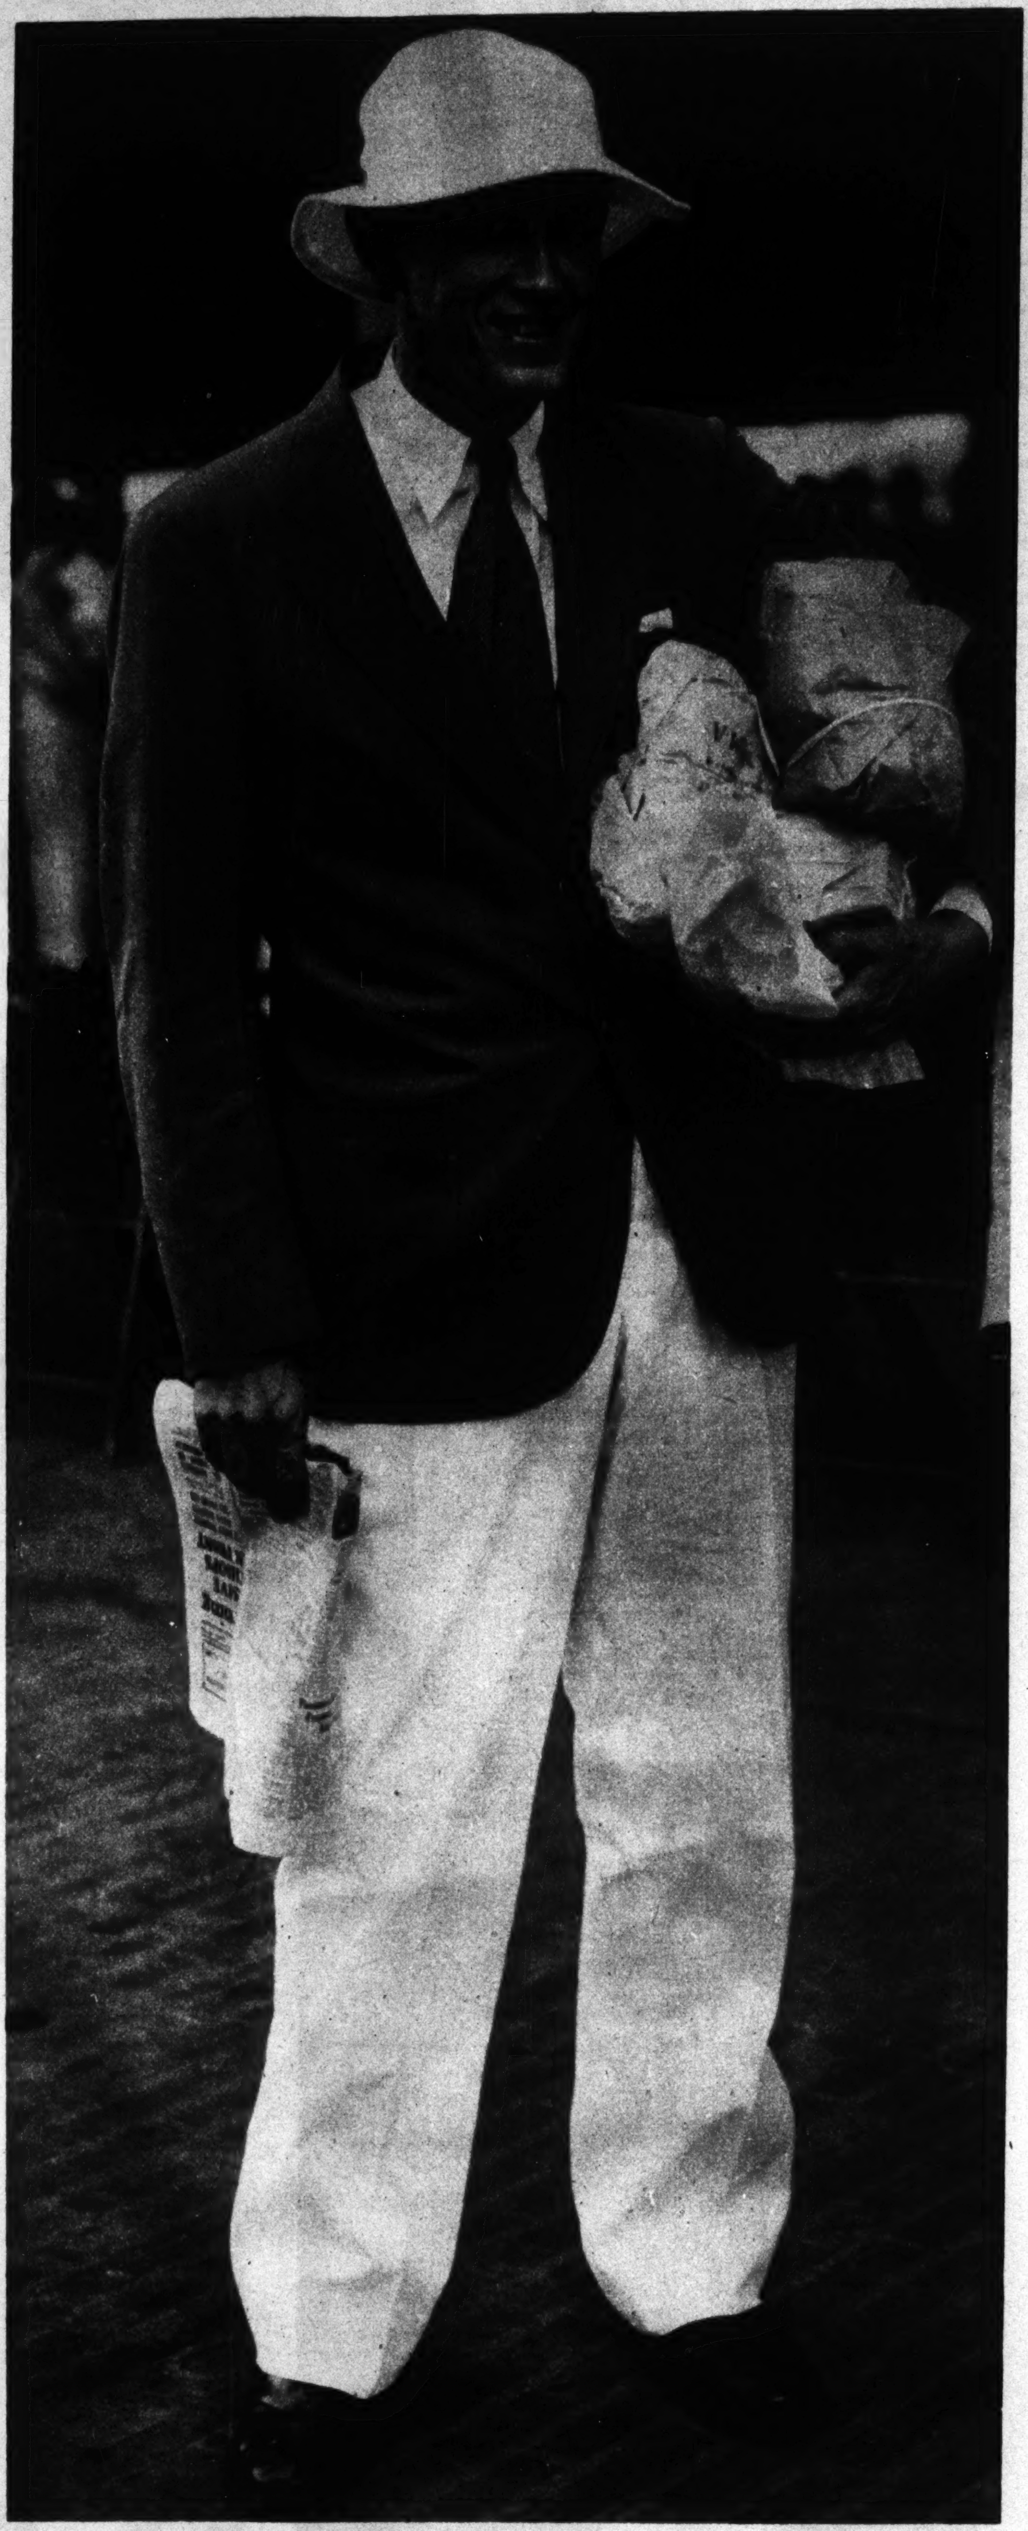
Lunching in his office—a small, unimpressive room on the top floor of an old nine-story building — saves time. He often confers with assistants while he eats.

At the end of the day's work, his chauffeur drives him to his home, a small house in Georgetown. He reads a good deal in the evening —that includes detective stories — sometimes plays poker and occasionally has the companionship of James Roosevelt or other New Dealers.

At such times as this the telephone connection is not infrequently with the White House. He is systematic in his office, but must be reminded to get his hair cut and clothes pressed.



After some private spending. A vain attempt was made in Congress last year to reduce his $12,000 salary to $10,000.

LARGEST spender in the world is hard-working, unpretentious Harry Hopkins. Since becoming the head of Federal relief five years ago he has passed out more than eight billion dollars of Federal funds, and he is now busy with his ninth billion; a few weeks ago he said his Works Progress Administration would spend $1,425,000,000 in the ensuing eight months—money provided by the $3,750,000,000 lending-spending bill signed by President Roosevelt June 21.

Hopkins is also the biggest employer in the world. Last month there were almost 3,000,000 persons on the W P A rolls; at one time in 1936 the number was more than 3,000,000. These people for whom the Government provides work relief draw their pay for a great variety of activities, from building dams to acting in plays.

Thin, lantern-jawed and 48 years old this week, Hopkins is a native of Sioux City, Iowa, a graduate of Grinnell College. After years of professional social work in the East, he became head of the New York State Emergency Relief Administration under Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, whom he had met in 1928. In 1933 President Roosevelt called him to Washington to be Federal Relief Administrator. He has been Works Progress Administrator since 1935. Ardent New Dealer, among the men close to the President, he is held responsible for much of what its friends call the humanitarianism and its enemies call the squandering of the Roosevelt Administration. The word "boondoggling" does not frighten him. Hopkins is concerned for the welfare of the lowly, but he is not meek. He's a tough, sometimes profane, slam-bang fighter for the right to hand out money to the poor. He has said sharply: "Hunger is not debatable," and "Some people just can't stand seeing others make a decent living."

STRAIGHT

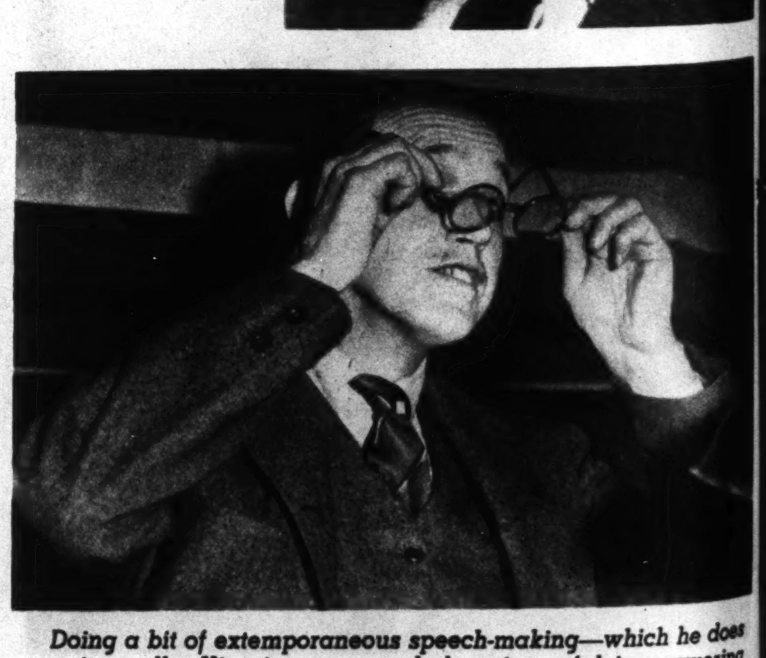
Watching horse races is one of his relaxations. Here he's buying a $2 ticket at the track at Bowie, Maryland. (Wide World Photo)

His principal interest, outside his work, is his daughter Diana, 6 years old, whose mother, his second wife, died last fall. Three sons were born of a first marriage ended by divorce.

Out in the field, talking with workers on a W P A job — something he likes to do when he has time.

Testifying before a congressional committee on unemployment, urging that provision be made for a permanent work-relief program.



Doing a bit of extemporaneous speech-making—which he does quite well. His vigorous vocabulary is useful in answering the violent denunciations of him by anti-New Dealers. Incidentally, he chews his spectacles when conversing.

Where WPA Money Goes

From Office of Spender Hopkins It Pours Into Diverse Projects From Sewing to Public Construction

THE flood of Federal money pouring through Harry Hopkins' hands has spread through the land in thousands of W P A streams. W P A has come to encompass a large and diverse array of human activity. Many persons who need financial help from the Government are not suited for work with a pick and shovel, so instead of building bridges and dams, digging sewers, repairing buildings and such, they are paid to sew, can food, write books, play in an orchestra, paint and sculpture, act in plays, teach, give medical and nursing aid, learn to be housemaids, do clerical work. The Federal Government, as represented by such employes, is working in municipal and state buildings, schoolhouses, clubs, playgrounds, old theaters and churches, storerooms, private dwellings. Characteristic of the mushroom spread of the W P A has been the expansion of its headquarters in Washington.

HOW PLUCKY DIVER BEAT PARALYSIS

An invalid, helpless, in 1937, but still game.

AT 13 years, Georgia Coleman was on her way to swimming triumphs. In 1932, at 19, she won the Olympic diving championship as a member of the U. S. Women's team. Next year she turned pro, swam in exhibitions, taught at swanky clubs, married an amateur golf champion, Roof Gilson. Four years later the sturdy legs which gave momentum to her spectacular springboard leaps were drawn and virtually lifeless from the effects of infantile paralysis. When she left the hospital, instead of rest and braces for a year, she elected walking and exercise directed by a physical instructor. It worked. Georgia now can dive and swim.

BURGLAR'S STRANGE LEAP FROM TOP OF CHIMNEY

IN Jena, Germany, a burglar was pursued by a number of policemen. He ran upstairs to the roof of a building, then, seeing no way of escape, climbed to the top of a large smokestack atop a bakery. The police, certain that he could not escape from his lofty perch, waited to see what he would do. When the burglar saw there was no way out, he became panic stricken. Suddenly he began to undress, throwing down his clothing. Firemen, called to the scene, opened a net. Refusing to jump, the distraught burglar began tearing loose iron sheeting from the smokestack and threw pieces of it at spectators. Firemen were called and turned a hose on him. As the water touched him, he jumped. He seemed to be aiming for another roof, but miscalculated the distance and fell into a backyard. At a hospital he was found to have a fractured skull and several broken ribs. Physicians said there was a chance he would live.

SHE'LL USE ALIMONY TO OPPOSE EX-HUSBAND FOR U. S. SENATE

THEODORE GILMORE BILBO, the junior Senator from Mississippi, who refers to himself in speeches as "the man Bilbo," got a divorce last month on the ground of cruelty. Now his former wife, from whom he separated after 35 years of married life, has announced that she plans to oppose him for re-election to the United States Senate in 1940. She plans to use part of her $20,750 settlement from Bilbo as a campaign fund.

At the end of his second term in 1932, Bilbo got employment through Senator Pat Harrison as a reader and clipper of newspapers in the Department of Agriculture. Newspapers commented that it was the only recorded instance of a man being paid $6000 a year to operate one pair of scissors and two pots of paste.

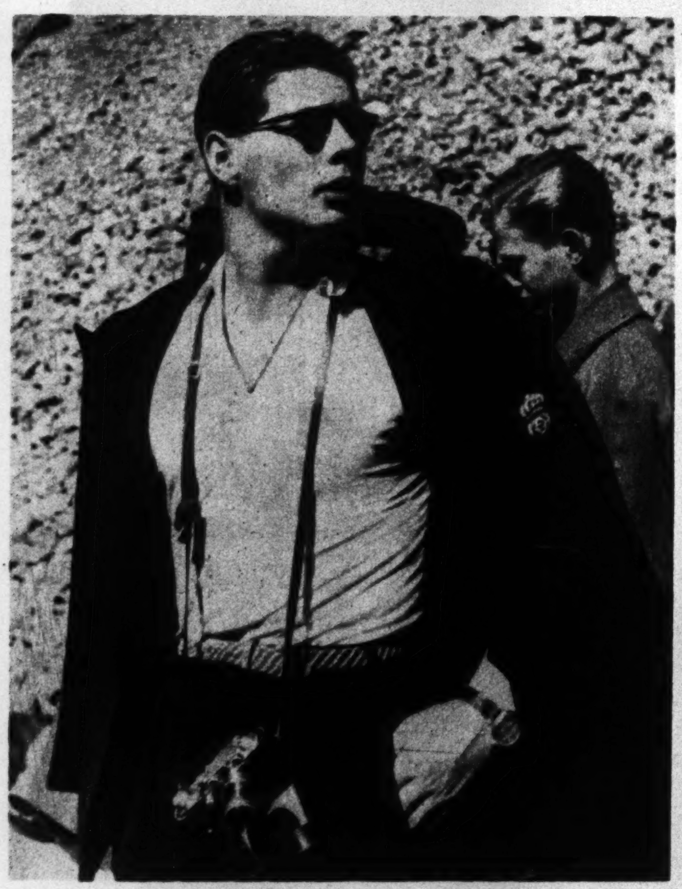
CROWN PRINCE ON A PICNIC



Crown Prince Michael of Rumania glances around for picture possibilities. That's the royal crest on his coat.

HUSKY Crown Prince Michael of Rumania goes to school in the Royal Palace with 20 boys drawn from all walks of life, mostly middle-class families. His father, King Carol, wants the boy to understand the hopes and needs of his people and definitely does not want him to "grow up with a silver spoon in his mouth and a purple cloak on his back."

But a certain amount of deference to the royal personage is inevitable, even on a picnic. Michael doesn't take chances walking across streams, the pictures show. He is carried across.

Michael will be 17 years old in October. He became King at 6 and was demoted to Crown Prince at 9 when Carol returned to the throne from exile in Paris. Michael's favorite retort when scolded by his father is: "I know how to behave, Dad; I was King before you." Twice a year he visits his mother, former Queen Helen, in Florence, Italy, where she lives on allowance under her divorce. Carol gave her up for red-headed Magda Lupescu.

IN ITS third year, the war in Spain rages with no end in sight. On July 18, second anniversary of the outbreak of the rebellion, the Government cause appeared to be doomed, and a speedy collapse of the resistance to Rebel Generalissimo Franco would not have been surprising. The Insurgents had split Government Spain by capturing a strip of Mediterranean coast between Barcelona and Valencia, were driving strongly toward Valencia and were preparing for fresh offensives in the Central and Southwest sections. Franco proclaimed that the Rebels had won the war. Since then, however, the Loyalists have thrown 70,000 men into a drive in Southern Catalonia, recapturing the Ebro Delta, launched assaults in the Teruel sector and eased the pressure on Valencia—demonstrating that they are still strong enough for offensive operations. Though the advantage in arms, supplies and territory is with the Insurgents, it has not proved sufficiently overwhelming to end the desperate struggle in which more than a million persons have been killed and several millions made destitute and hopeless.

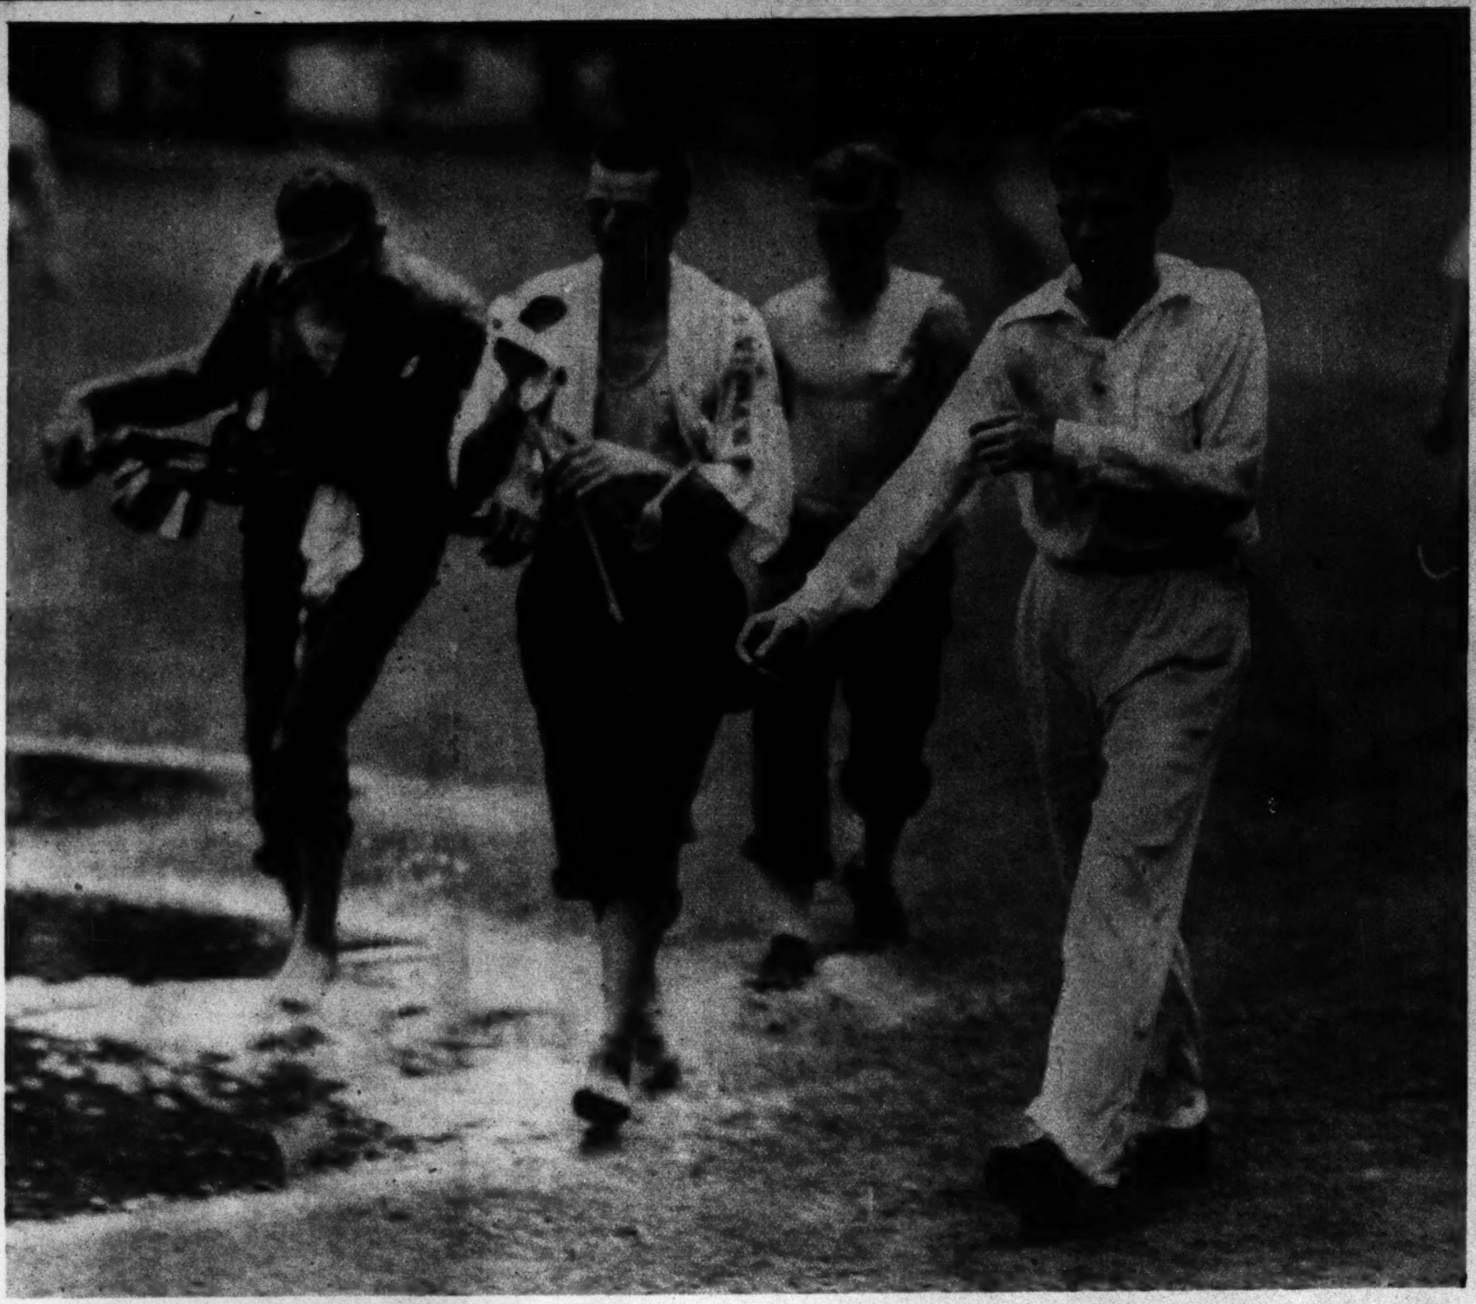
He Won a Farm and $2500 in 144-Hole Chicago Test



J. Smith Ferebee sets the pace for tired caddies in his 144-hole golf marathon to settle a bet.

"Carry me back to Old Virginia."

DISPUTE between two Chicago bond brokers over management of a Virginia plantation led to an unusual wager and settlement. J. Smith (Call-Me-Smitty) Ferebee, who once wrestled for the University of Virginia, bet that he could play 144 holes of golf in not more than 720 strokes—90 or less for each of eight 18-hole rounds. The stakes were half-interest in the plantation, valued at $30,000, and $2500 cash. Ferebee won after a long walk. Teeing off on the tough Olympia Fields course at 5 a. m., Aug. 6, he came in with his worst score of the marathon, 90. Then he made three successive 82s, two 87s, an 88, and ended in a burst of rain, darkness and glory with 89. He wore out 12 caddies, a pair of shoes, soaked four complete outfits, ate three sandwiches, a candy bar, blistered his feet. After a refreshing shower, he posed an hour in the clubhouse for photographers, while the loser, Partner Fred Tuerk, paid off.

MAN CARRIES BULL

JUST FOR EXERCISE AND FUN

"He" Mann and "Three Buck"—powerful man and powerful animal.

"Three Buck" is first shoved up on an especially built bench.

BACK in 1929, Herbert E. (He) Mann, a strapping young Tennessee farmer, read about Milo of Crotona, ancient Greek wrestling champion, who made himself strong by carrying a bull on his shoulders each day, beginning from the time it was a calf and progressing until it was full-grown.

Mann decided to try it. He took a pet male calf named Buck, then weighing 100 pounds, and toted him around the farm-yard, each day. When Buck had grown to 500 pounds, Mann went on a barnstorming tour in an old truck with an itinerant showman, and lifted Buck as many as 18 times a day in various towns. Finally, after Buck was lifted at 926 pounds, he developed a malady and was disposed of.

The progress was repeated with the bull's successor, "Two Buck," who was sold after reaching 800 pounds. The present partner for Mann is "Three Buck," who now weighs 726 pounds and is two years old. The animal gains about a pound a day, and Mann declares he will continue lifting him until he reaches 1200 pounds. But his 926-pound record still stands.

Mann, now 32 years old, is a "sandhog" by trade, and lives in Memphis. He weighs 216 pounds, is red-haired and freckled. He eats no meat, doesn't use tobacco, liquor, tea or coffee.

By a Post-Dispatch PICTURES Staff Photographer.

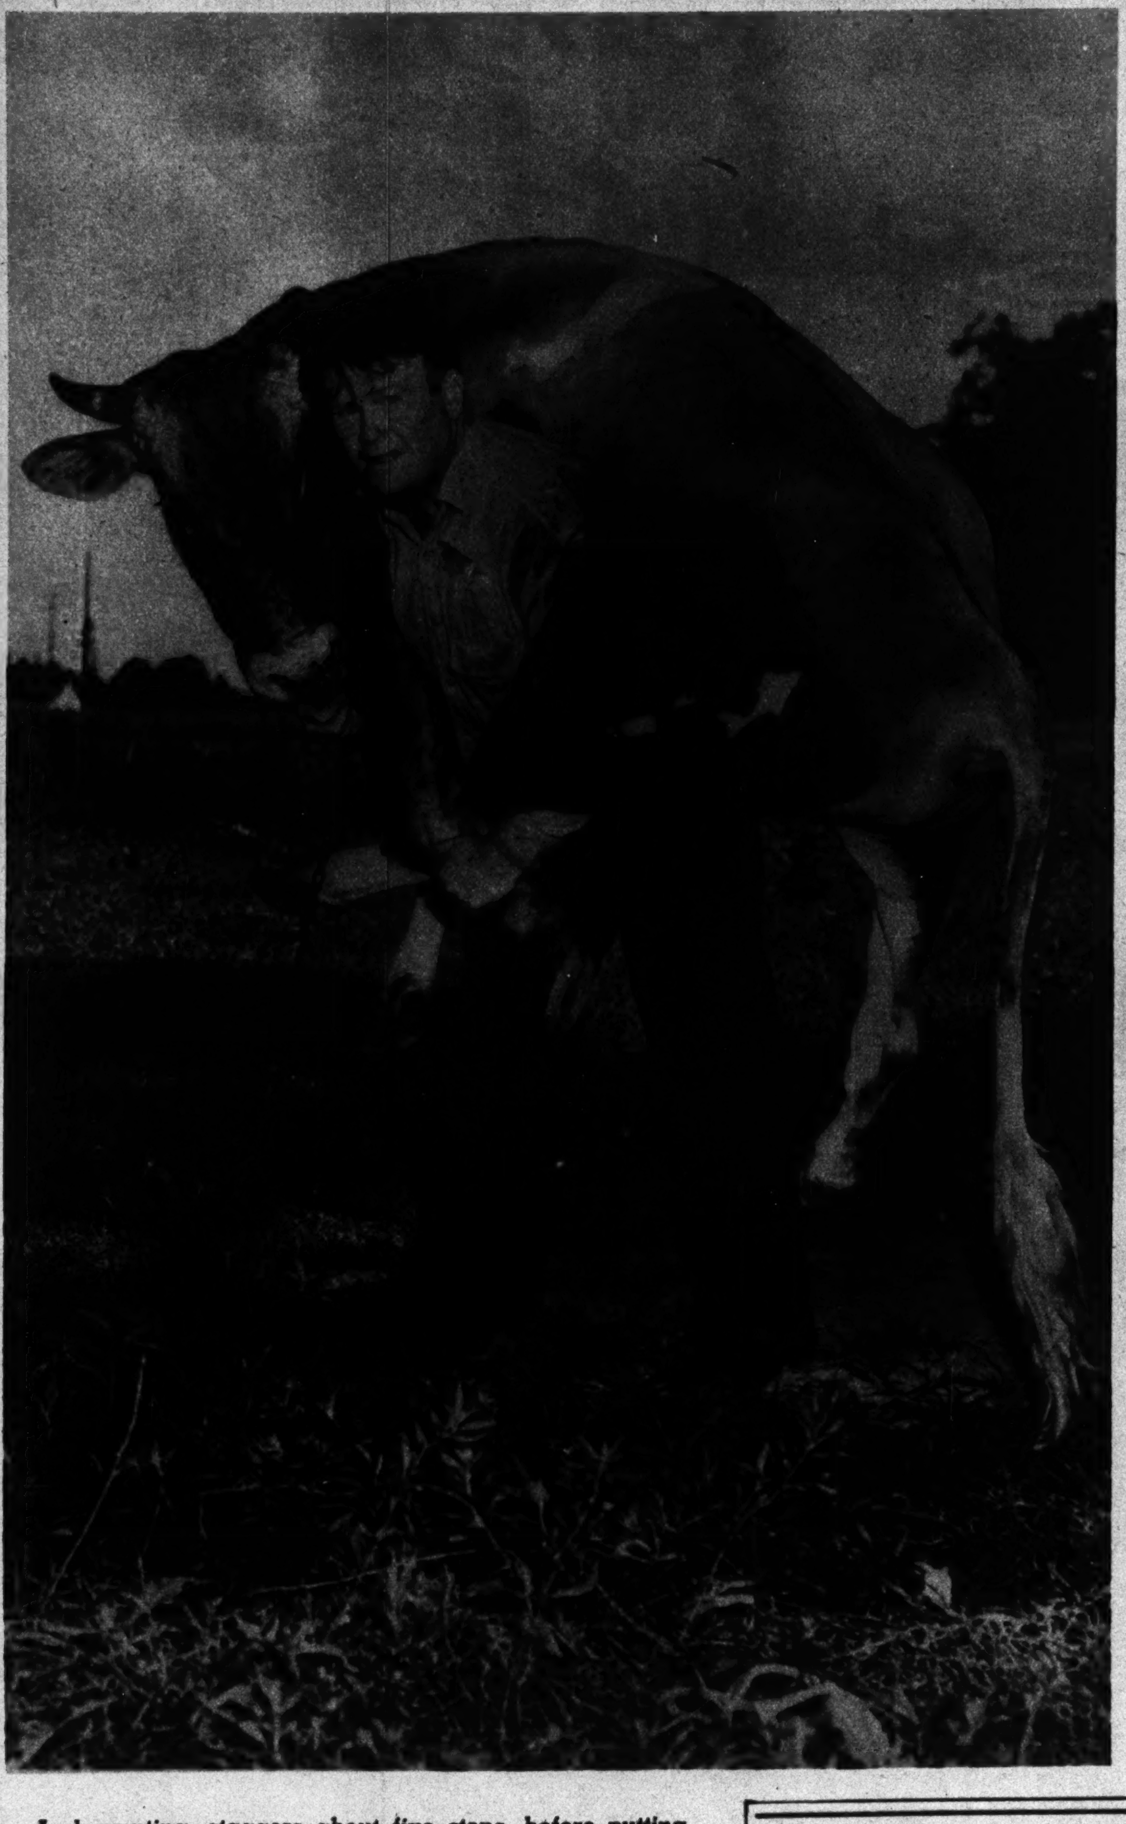
But ten minutes later is able to repeat the feat, with an 110-pound girl added for good measure.



And grunting, staggers about five steps, before putting the bull down.

MURINE
FOR YOUR EYES Cleanses, Soothes!

Is driving your car hard on your eyes? Do they burn and smart—feel tired and irritated? Try a few drops of soothing, cooling Murine, and see how refreshed your eyes will feel! Murine removes dust and grit gently yet thoroughly—soothes delicate eye membranes irritated by dirt, wind, glare, fatigue. Keep a bottle of Murine handy in your car—you'll get more pleasure out of driving! Use it, too, when your eyes feel uncomfortable after the movies, after close work, late hours, etc.

Easy to apply! Just drop Murine on inner corners of lids. No bother with old-fashioned "washes" or messy eye cups.

Murine's 7 scientifically blended ingredients cleanse your eyes more effectively than the one ingredient of boric acid solution. Murine is so successful that already every fourth family in America has benefited by it.

Use Murine daily. Begin now to help nature protect your eyes.

DON'T WAIT TILL GREASE CLOGS UP YOUR KITCHEN DRAIN TO USE Drāno
How Drāno eats up grease and refuse that stops up the bend in the pipe
Drāno makes heat—stirs up the grease and garbage.
Drāno works at the bottom, where the trouble lies.
This Drāno heat and action melts the greasy muck so that water easily flushes it away.
USE IN ALL DRAINS ONCE A WEEK
Drāno
Drāno
OPENS CLOGGED DRAINS
USE REGULARLY AND SAVE PLUMBING BILLS

Keep drains from slowing up or stopping. This triple action drain cleaner melts, stirs and removes grease, muck, garbage and other refuse—Costs only 2¢ a drain a week

Why wait till grease clogs up your kitchen drain to use Drāno? Why wait till the pipe is so stopped-up you have to send for the plumber? At the first sign that the water runs down slow, or whenever you happen to spill grease down the drain, do this. Pour a cup of cold water in the drain and add Drāno. It melts and stirs up the stoppage—the soapy scum, greasy muck and other refuse—at the bend in the pipe. Soon the water runs down. You flush thoroughly—and the drain is free and open.

Use Drāno every week in all household drains. Its regular use keeps pipes clean as new. Get Drāno at grocery, drug and hardware stores everywhere—no matter where you live.

HE'S STILL BOSS IN TENNESSEE

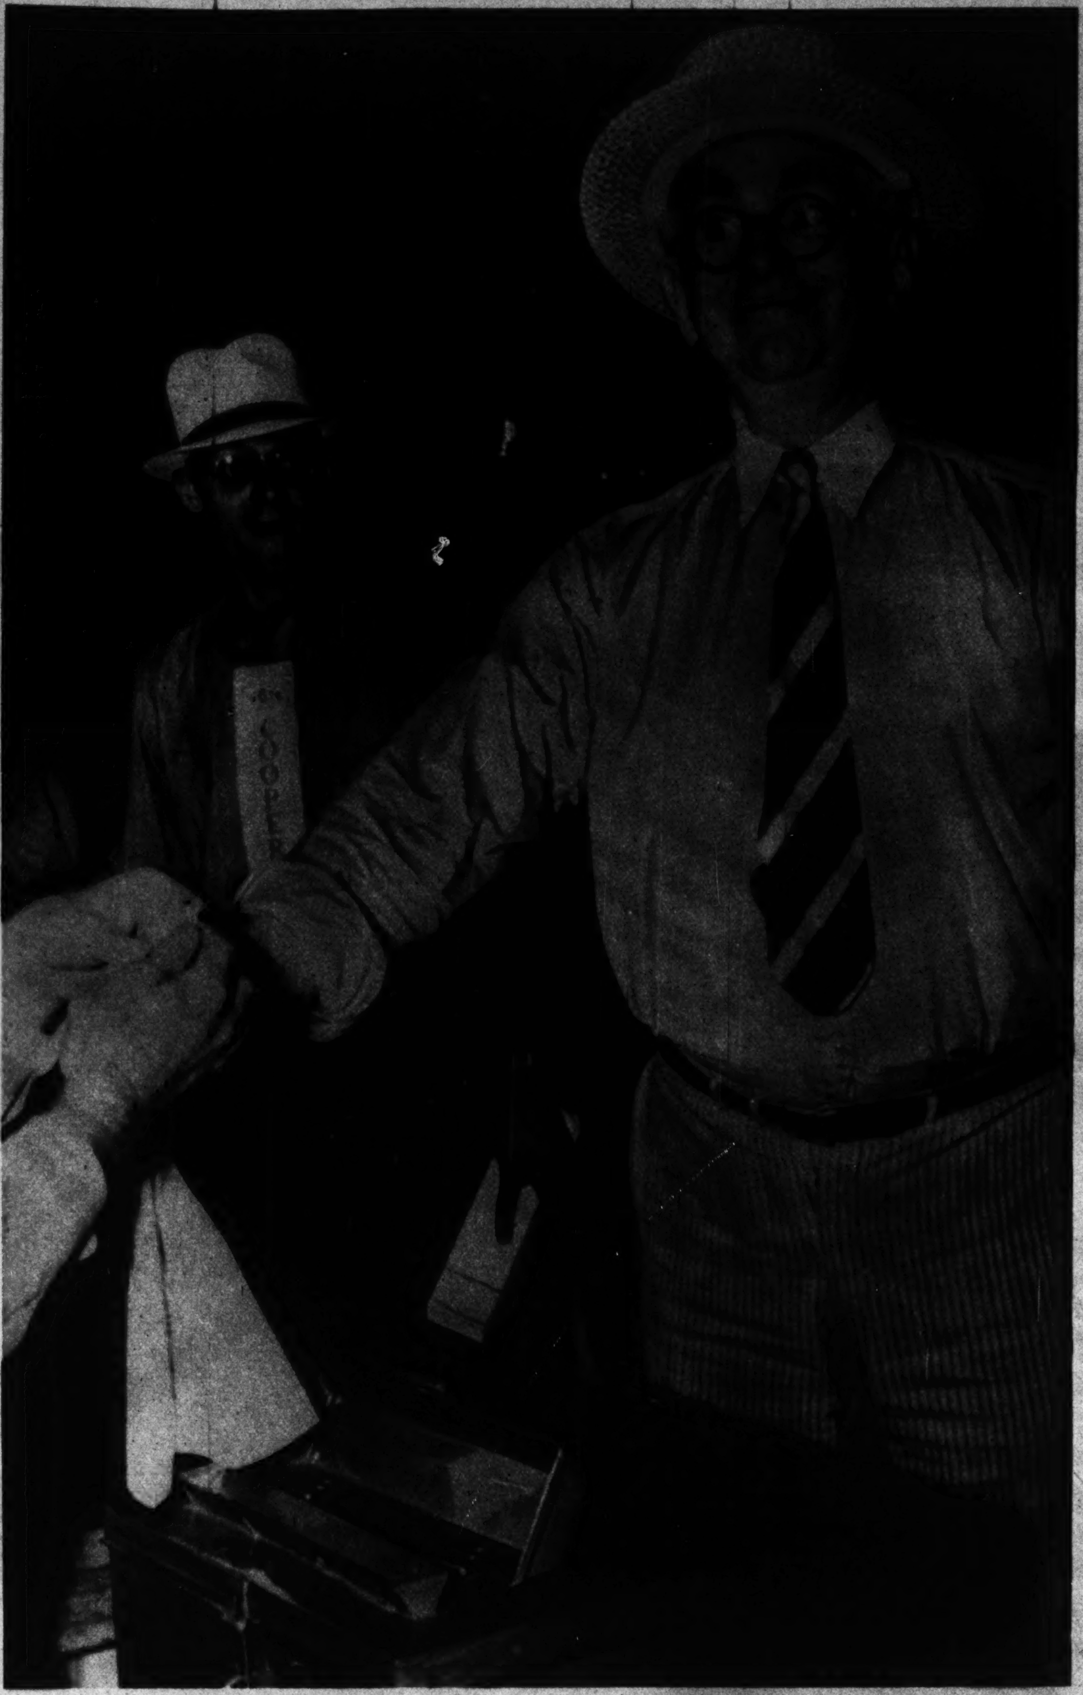
(Associated Press Photo)

DEMONSTRATING that he was one of the most politically powerful individuals in the South, white-headed, jolly, Edward Hull Crump, the "Red Snapper of Memphis," won his most spectacular victory in 30 years when his candidates for Governor and for United States Senator defeated the incumbents in Tennessee's primary. Boss Crump, a Democratic National Committeeman, particularly relishes the downfall of Gov. Gordon Browning, who two years ago received the greatest majority ever given a Tennessee gubernatorial candidate with Crump machine support. The "Red Snapper," born in Mississippi, went to Tennessee at 17, soon took up politics as a business, was elected Mayor in 1909, re-elected twice, went to Congress twice—once by a vote of 25,756 to 994—and in all has held office 19 times. A natty dresser, he backslaps the men, bows with old time Southern grace to the women, makes sure that the Negro goes to the polls for the "right" candidate.



The "Red Snapper of Memphis" casts his vote. He is fond of aphorisms and one of his favorites is: "Plan your work and work your plan."

______

______

ENTER NOW!

First contest closes midnight, August 15, with another daily contest every day except Saturday and Sunday, through September 23.

HERE'S ALL YOU DO TO ENTER:

Purpose of Contest:—To introduce more women to the amazing new, "no-scrub" laundry soap—OXYDOL.

HERE'S the contest you've been waiting for! It gives you twenty-five chances to win each day—a new contest every day for 6 weeks (except Saturdays and Sundays)—750 prizes that must be given away!

Think of it! $1,000 in cash (in the form of ten $100 bills) given each day for 6 weeks! With additional prizes of 15 Longines Wrist Watches awarded every 24 hours! That means $2,050 a day in prizes—totaling more than $61,000 in all!

What you do is as easy as A, B, C. Just complete the sentence about OXYDOL as shown in entry blank at right. It takes only 5 minutes—and may bring you as much as $100 in cash!

This Will Help You

In finishing the sentence, remember that Oxydol is the new "no-scrub, no-boil" soap that does these 4 amazing things:—(1) Soaks dirt loose in 15 minutes without scrubbing or boiling. (2) Cup for cup, Oxydol gets clothes 4 to 5 shades whiter than old-fashioned soaps. (3) Cuts washing time 25% to 40%, compared with old-fashioned methods. (4) Yet so safe that every washable color comes out sparkling, fresh! Further hints on winning are shown above entry blank.

Get Busy Right NOW!

Remember, you have 25 chances to win each day for 30 days. A new contest every day—each with prizes of ten $100 bills and fifteen beautiful Longines Inclinex model wrist watches. Start now—and enter as many times as you wish!

Think what you could do with $100 cash dropped right in your lap—and get busy right away. Ask for OXYDOL at your dealer's. Mail your entry today! Procter & Gamble.

OXYDOL

WINNERS ANNOUNCED DAILY OVER RADIO

For further details of the OXYDOL $1,000-A-Day Contest, tune in "Ma Perkins" or "The Goldbergs." Winners will be announced daily on both of these programs beginning Monday, August 22. See local paper for exact time of broadcast.

450 WRIST WATCHES
Longines Inclinex Model
GIVEN FREE

The world's most honored watch! Winner of 10 World's Fair Grand Prizes and 28 Gold Medals. De luxe Inclinex model, curved to fit wrist. Newest classic design. 17 jewel movement in 14 karat natural gold-filled case. Guaranteed retail value $70.

NOTE:—If preferred, winners may choose man's Longines Wrist Watch—also valued at $70. Send your entry today.

FOLLOW THESE EASY RULES

1 Finish the sentence, "I find OXYDOL the ideal laundry soap because . . ." writing 25 additional words or less. Write your sentence on entry blank shown in lower right hand corner or on one side of a plain sheet of paper. Print or write your name and address. Send no extra letters, drawings, or photographs with your entry.

2 Enclose one box-top from any size package of OXYDOL (or facsimile) with each entry. Mail to OXYDOL, Department N. S., Box 28, Cincinnati, Ohio, making sure to use sufficient postage.

3 There are 30 separate contests, a new contest every day (except Saturdays and Sundays) from August 15th through September 23rd inclusive.

4 Entries received any time before August 15th will be entered in the first day's contest. All entries received on any contest day will be entered in that day's contest. Entries received on Saturdays and Sundays will automatically be entered in the contest for the following Monday. The final (30th) contest on September 23rd will include all entries received on that day and all entries postmarked not later than midnight of that day.

5 All entries will be judged for originality, sincerity, and aptness of thought. The decision of the judges will be final. Fancy entries will not count extra. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of ties. No entries returned. Entries, contents and ideas therein become the property of Procter & Gamble.

6 Anyone may enter these contests except employees of Procter & Gamble, the Longines-Wittnauer Company, Inc., their advertising agencies and the families of these employees. These contests apply only to the United States, Canada, and Hawaii and are subject to all Federal, State, and Local laws and regulations. You can enter each day's contest and enter as often each day as you choose. But be sure to enclose the top of any size OXYDOL package (or facsimile) with each entry.

7 The winners of each day's ten $100 cash prizes will be announced each day starting August 22nd over OXYDOL'S "Ma Perkins" and "The Goldbergs" radio programs from coast to coast and will receive their $100 Cash Prizes by fast Western Union Telegraphic Money Order. The 15 daily prize winners receiving Longines Wrist Watches will be notified by mail approximately one week after the close of each day's contest.

NOTE: — Canadians are invited to enter this contest in addition to the special OXYDOL Contest now being run in Canada for Canadians only.

HELPFUL HINTS ON HOW TO WIN:—

First decide what you like best about OXYDOL. In the thousands of letters received from delighted users of this new miracle soap, the advantages most frequently mentioned are:—(1) OXYDOL gets clothes whiter than old-fashioned methods. (2) Clothes last longer —because of less washboard wear and tear. (3) OXYDOL saves time and money. (4) OXYDOL ends the washday drudgery of scrubbing and boiling. (5) OXYDOL is really safe for washable colors and fabrics.

After you decide what points you like best about OXYDOL, complete your statement to include them. For example, if you like the way OXYDOL gets clothes whiter and saves work, you might say, "I find OXYDOL the ideal laundry soap because it not only gets things whiter so they sparkle more, but it also saves me lots of hard work, too."

Or, if you like the way OXYDOL saves time and makes clothes last longer, you might say: —"I find OXYDOL the ideal laundry soap because it soaks dirt loose so fast and saves my clothes from washboard wear and tear, besides being easy on my hands."

Remember, simple, original statements are what the judges want. No fancy writing —no high-flown language. Just your honest opinion of OXYDOL, expressed in everyday language as though you were talking to your next door neighbor. For additional hints and ideas, read descriptive matter on package of OXYDOL. But the big thing is to get busy right away. Send in your entry NOW!

WHEN JANE BENT TO PICK UP SUE'S PURSE, SHE COLLIDED WITH A MAN WHO WAS TRYING TO PICK UP BOTH SUE AND THE PURSE—
LET ME HELP YOU, LADY!
YOU KEEP OUT OF THIS— I'M PICKING THE LADY UP!
I WAS JUST TRYING TO BE HELPFUL!
I MIGHT HAVE KNOWN SHE'D SPOIL IT!
A VIOLENT INTRODUCTION— BUT SINCE WE FELL FOR EACH OTHER— HA-HA-HA!
IT WAS SO GALLANT OF YOU— JANE SHOULDN'T HAVE BOTHERED —WITH SO MANY HANDSOME MEN AROUND!
I DON'T KNOW HOW HE DOES IT!
IT'S HER PURSE— AS FAR AS I'M CONCERNED IT'S NOTHING BUT A HEADACHE!
IT WAS A PLEASURE, REALLY!
AND HE'S MINE— I SAW HIM FIRST!
WHO WAS THAT MAN, SUE?
EASY— —THE BEST LOOKING MAN IN THE LOBBY!
YOU CAN HAVE HIM— ALL I MEANT WAS, I THOUGHT I KNEW HIM— HIS FACE LOOKED FAMILIAR, BUT I COULDN'T PLACE HIM!
MAYBE HE'S ONE OF THOSE WEALTHY PLAY-BOYS— AND YOU'VE SEEN HIS PICTURE IN THE PAPER!
WAIT TILL I CHANGE INTO MY SWIM SUIT— NOW THAT THE ICE IS BROKEN, I'LL BE ABLE TO TELL YOU ALL ABOUT HIM BY DINNER!
GOSH, YOU'RE SURE A FAST WORKER— WHICH ONE ARE YOU AFTER?
DON'T BE FOOLISH—THE BRUNETTE IS OBVIOUSLY THE MAID—SO THE BLONDE IS MY DISH!
SUE'S GOT HER MAN— IT'S HARD TO TELL WHICH IS THE FASTEST WORKER, HE OR SHE—
GOSH, IF I HAD THAT GUY'S NERVE, I'D JUST WALK RIGHT UP AND SPEAK TO HER!
I WONDER WHY HE LOOKS SO FAMILIAR?

HOW COME YOU GOT SUCH A SWELL IDEA, JAKE?
THAT'S WHAT I SAY—I'LL BET YOUR HEAD WILL THROB FOR MONTHS!
NOW, IF OUR FRIEND WILL JUST PUT IT ON THE AIR FOR US—
IT'S A CINCH—ONE WORD FROM ME AND THEY'D EVEN LET US HICCOUGH FROM COAST TO COAST!
RADIO STATION KZ7
JAKE, IF YOU DROP THAT RECORD AGAIN, I'LL NUMB YOU!
IT CAN'T BREAK OR CRACK, BUD—I PUT PLENTY OF PAPER AROUND IT!
WELL, NED BRANT AND BUD SHEKELS, THE LOST COLLEGIANS! AND YOU, JAKE—HOW ARE YOU?
GREAT, THANKS—AND ALL PRIMED TO ASK A BIG FAVOR
PROGRAM DIRECTOR
YOU SEE, EVERYONE ASKS US TO TELL OUR STORY—
THEY WANT TO KNOW ALL ABOUT HOW WE WERE FOUND AT THE INDIAN VILLAGE—
AND HOW THE PLANE CRASHED ON THE WAY HOME WITHOUT ANYONE GETTING EVEN A SCRATCH
OF COURSE I'LL DO IT! I THINK IT'S SOMETHING OF A RADIO SCOOP FOR US!
B. W. DEPEW
HOW'D YOU LIKE TO SIT HERE AND HEAR YOUR OWN VOICES?
WELL, OKAY—BUT I'D RATHER BE OUT WHERE I COULD HEAR THE CHEERING
"WE THOUGHT OUR CHANCES WERE AS SLIM AS A SLICE OF BALONEY—"
THAT IS I TALKING, MEN—WHAT A RADIO VOICE—WHAT A RADIO VOICE!
I THOUGHT YOU SAID THAT RECORD WOULDN'T CRACK OR BREAK!
SOMETHING'S WRONG!
RIGHT! AND IT'S YOU!

PERFECT WEATHER
O. ZONE, THE WEATHER—MAKER, GOT DISGUSTED AT THE WAY THE FOLKS IN HICKORY HOLLOW GRUMBLED AT THE KIND OF WEATHER HE GAVE THEM—SO, HE DECIDED TO GIVE THEM PERFECT WEATHER.—NEVER WOULD IT GET TOO HOT OR TOO COLD- AND, NEITHER WOULD THEY HAVE ANY CLOUDY DAYS-
OH BOY!! ISN'T THIS WEATHER WONDERFUL?—IT'S NEVER GOING TO GET COLD ANY MORE—AND—THAT MEANS THAT THERE WILL ALWAYS BE PLENTY TENDER LETTUCE AND CLOVER OH BOY!!!
-NICE WEATHER WE'RE HAVING, ISN'T IT?
NICE? WHAT'S NICE ABOUT IT?
NO CLOUDS—NO RAIN—SO THERE ISN'T GOING TO BE ANY WATER —NICE WEATHER BAH!!
HOW DO YOU LIKE THIS WEATHER— TOM TURTLE?
IT MIGHT BE ALL RIGHT FOR YOU RABBITS— BUT FOR US FOLKS WHO WANT RAIN ONCE-IN-A-WHILE IT JUST WON'T DO!!!
DID YOU EVER TRY TO SWIM IN THE DEW?
BOO-HOO TO THINK AFTER ALL THESE YEARS WE'LL HAVE TO LEAVE HICKORY HOLLOW- BOO-HOO
WHAT'S THE MATTER MRS. HOARDER?
COURAGE MAMMA.
THERE ISN'T GOING TO BE ANY MORE COLD WEATHER -SO THERE WON'T BE ANY FROST- EITHER
-SO HOW CAN THE NUTS AND THE ACORNS GET RIPE?
GOSH-
HOW CAN WE BEARS GO TO SLEEP IN THE WINTER—IF THERE ISN'T GOING TO BE ANY MORE WINTERS?
THAT'S AN AWFUL HARD QUESTION TO ANSWER
I MIGHT JUST AS WELL LEAVE THE HOLLOW—THERE'S NO WORK FOR A WEATHER-FORECASTER HERE ANYMORE
THE WEATHER-MAKER IS A FOOL. YOU SHOULD HAVE HIS JOB OTTO GROUNDHOG.
8-14-38
LOVELY WEATHER-ISN'T IT, BILL? NOTHING TO DO BUT EAT AND SLEEP IN THE SHADE HM-M-M-
EVERYBODY IS GRUMBLING ABOUT THE WEATHER—AND TALKING ABOUT LEAVING THE HOLLOW—EXCEPT O.HUM— GOSH-I WISH WE'D HAVE WEATHER LIKE WE USE TO HAVE— THIS PERFECT WEATHER'S GOING TO GET AWFUL TIRESOME
AND NOW EVERYONE, BUT O.HUM, IS GRUMBLING ABOUT THE PERFECT WEATHER— WHAT WILL THE WEATHER-MAKER DO NOW?—

LOVE blooms for Sue
SINCE SHE LEARNED HOW TO GET RID OF "MIDDLE-AGE" SKIN!
I CERTAINLY WAS SURPRISED TO READ ABOUT YOUR ENGAGEMENT TO BOB! THOUGHT YOU TWO HAD BUSTED UP!
WE HAD! NOT MUCH WONDER, EITHER! THE WAY I HAD LET MY COMPLEXION GET... SO DRY, LIFELESS, COARSE-LOOKING. I HAD REGULAR "MIDDLE-AGE" SKIN!
WELL, YOUR COMPLEXION CERTAINLY IS LOVELY NOW! WHAT DID YOU DO THAT MADE SUCH A DIFFERENCE?
I TRIED A LOT OF THINGS. FINALLY, I DECIDED I WAS USING THE WRONG SOAP. SO I TOOK MOTHER'S ADVICE, AND CHANGED TO PALMOLIVE!
BUT WHY PALMOLIVE?
BECAUSE PALMOLIVE IS MADE WITH OLIVE OIL... A SPECIAL BLEND OF OLIVE AND PALM OILS, NATURE'S FINEST BEAUTY AIDS! THAT'S WHY IT'S SO GOOD FOR DRY, LIFELESS SKIN. IT SOFTENS AND REFINES SKIN TEXTURE! CLEANSES SO THOROUGHLY, TOO... LEAVES COMPLEXIONS RADIANT!
IT'S SWELL OF YOU TO TELL ME YOUR BEAUTY SECRET! I'M GOING TO USE PALMOLIVE MYSELF FROM NOW ON YES! A GIRL'S A FOOL TO RISK "MIDDLE-AGE" SKIN, WHEN PALMOLIVE KEEPS COMPLEXIONS SO LOVELY!
IT'S MADE WITH OLIVE OIL! THAT'S WHY PALMOLIVE IS SO GOOD FOR KEEPING SKIN SOFT, SMOOTH, YOUNG!
PALMOLIVE

NO ONE STAYS IN LOVE WITH A MAN WHO HAS BAD BREATH
I'VE BEEN JILTED BEFORE AND GOTTEN OVER IT. BUT I'LL NEVER GET OVER JANE, MOTHER! I'M LICKED!
I'VE BEEN AFRAID THIS MIGHT HAPPEN, JOHN—AND I'M SORRY. I SHOULD HAVE SUGGESTED SOONER THAT YOU SEE THE DENTIST ABOUT YOUR BREATH
JOHN, TESTS SHOW THAT MOST BAD BREATH COMES FROM DECAYING FOOD DEPOSITS IN HIDDEN CREVICES BETWEEN TEETH THAT AREN'T CLEANED PROPERLY. I RECOMMEND COLGATE DENTAL CREAM. ITS SPECIAL PENETRATING FOAM REMOVES THESE ODOR-BREEDING DEPOSITS. THAT'S WHY...
AND THANKS TO COLGATE'S...
YES, DARLING --FOREVER AND EVER!
NO BAD BREATH BEHIND HIS SPARKLING SMILE
...AND NO TOOTHPASTE EVER MADE MY TEETH AS BRIGHT AND CLEAN AS COLGATE'S!
LARGE SIZE 20¢
GIANT SIZE 35¢
OVER TWICE AS MUCH
COLGATE RIBBON DENTAL CREAM

COLGATE DENTAL CREAM combats bad breath. Its special penetrating foam gets into those hidden crevices . . . removes the decaying food deposits that cause most bad breath, dull, dingy teeth and much tooth decay. Besides, Colgate's soft, safe polishing agent gently yet thoroughly cleans the enamel, makes your teeth sparkle!

ABDUCTED PAIR TELL OF 600-MILE RIDE WITH GUNMEN

HE LOOSED GAG TO CALL FOR HELP

D. C. Fahey Jr. Says Two Men Who Took Auto Spoke of Robbery 'Job' on Drive From St. Louis.

Miss Peggy Gross and Daniel Co Fahey Jr., abducted near the Gros home in Ladue by gunmen wh left them bound and gagged lat Saturday night in a field nea Minneapolis, started back to St Louis this afternoon. Accompany ing them were Miss Gross' brother John, who drove to Minneapoli from his home in Chicago afte learning of his sister's abduction and a friend of John Gross.

Fahey and Miss Gross spen much time in the Federal Burea of Investigation office at St. Pau yesterday and today studying pic tures and descriptions of criminal in the hope that this would lead t identification of their abductors They were unable to identify an of the pictures on file.

Miss Gross, treated by a physi cian for nervous shock resultin from her experience, was wel enough today to go on a brief shop ping trip before beginning th journey home.

The Federal agents maintaine their usual secrecy but it wa learned their investigation is pro ceeding on the theory the gunme wanted Fahey's automobile and took Fahey and Miss Gross along to prevent them from notifying police here. Fahey and Miss Gros were not robbed, and were no harmed, except that one of the gun men struck Fahey in the face wit a pistol.

Two witnesses who saw the Fahe automobile as it stopped at th spot where the abductors boun their captives reported to autho ities today. They were Mr. an Mrs. H. J. Valley of Osseo, Minn who live half a mile from the wood ed field in which Fahey and Mis Gross were left. Mr. and Mrs. Val ley observed four persons in th car, but paid no particular atten tion to it.

Abducted at 12:30 A. M.

Miss Gross, 23 years old, is th daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rober H. Gross, 10 Picardy lane. Fahey 31, resides at the home of Willia C. Fordyce, 19 Washington terrac a friend. He is an architect fo the National Park Service in th development of plans for the rive front memorial. He and Mis Gross were abducted, about 12:3 a. m. Saturday, as they were re turning to her home after attendin a concert at Shaw Park, in Clay ton.

Fahey told a Post-Dispatch corre spendent at Minneapolis he had ju parked his automobile on Warso road, near the Gross home, whe the gunmen approached the ca from the rear, flourishing pistol and calling "This is a stickup!"

"I started the car and tried t drive away," Fahey said, "but the jumped on the running board an one of them hit me in the fac with the butt of his pistol.

"They made Miss Gross and m get into the back seat and the got in and drove. They told us we did not make any rumpus the would release us later.

"The first time we had to sto for gas they let us off on a sid road near some town and one o them stayed with us while the othe went in and got the gasoline in th car. After that they let us sta in the car.

Fired Shot at Him.

"Some place in Iowa we got ou to stretch and Miss Gross walke away from the car. I followed he but they yelled at us to stop. guess I didn't stop soon enough, be cause one of them fired a shot a me.

"Otherwise they treated us de cently. They got us some food an something to drink. They said the had 'a job to pull' in North Minne apolis, and spoke of having a dat in Minneapolis for 11 o'clock.

"When we got near Minneapoli they gave us our choice of goin with them on the 'job' or being pu out of the car, bound and gagge

"When they put us out they tie our hands and feet with some wi that was in the car and stuffe handkerchiefs in our mouths."

Fahey and Miss Gross were pu out of the car about 14 miles nort of Minneapolis, nearly 600 mile from St. Louis, about 9:30 p. They were taken off the road, abou 100 yards into a field.

Fahey worked the gag out of h
